Today

Heat Up, Stocks Down
Mexico's Six-Year Plan
Mr. O'Connell Returns
The Wind in Florida

—By Arthur Brisbane—

IN NEW YORK CITY yesterday the thermometer went up, while stocks went down. The thermometer climbed to 100 in the shade, hottest July 31 of all time. The other hottest July 31, with the thermometer at 96, occurred in 1917, just after this country blundered into the World War.

Perhaps today's temperature celebrates the beginning of the anti-depression war, now well under way.

While the thermometer climbed up, stock and grain quotations went down. Stocks fell from $1 to $11 a share. Wheat dropped five cents, as far as the new law will let it drop in any one day. Speculators on the "bull side" are protected by law against terrific drops, but enough five-cent drops, in succession, could be sufficiently disastrous.

Mexico has a "revival of prosperity" plan. Plutarco Elias Calles, Mexico's "iron man" and former President, will have charge of the undertaking, running over six years.

This country is gratified by the statement that Mexico includes in its plan a trade agreement with the United States.

General Calles tells 10,000 Mexican workmen that the world is about to face a most serious crisis and that Mexico will co-operate fully with other American countries.

Mexico looks forward to an "economic war among continents," and will naturally, stick with this continent. It is unfortunate that Canada, by political alignment is necessarily tied up with non-American interests.

The ideal "League of Nations" would include everything on this continent, from Terra Del Fuego to the North Pole.

And that will come some day, not by any absorption, but by natural, inevitable agreement. Meanwhile, all possible success to Mexico, in her six-year plan.

John O'Connell, Jr., kidnaped in Albany, is returned in care of Louis Snyder, lawyer for a "contact man," who is supposed to have arranged for payment of $42,500 ransom.

"All concerned are reticent," refuse to give any details.

Technically, however, ransoming a kidnaped man is compounding a felony. Now that the young man is safely back, United States authorities might insist on knowing a few details. There is no proof that the kidnaped man was not carried from one state to another, and in any case, the government can interfere, if it chooses. It ought to choose.

On Sunday night, at 8:30, news agencies in New York reported a high wind from the East striking Florida at Fort Pierce and Miami, with some wires down. The facts as given by news agencies were referred to in a radio broadcast, by this writer, with the statement added that the "high wind" amounted to little.

A telegram from Mr. Hollums, of the Miami Herald, and another from the Jacksonville Journal bring the information that the big wind was a northern concoction. Florida knew nothing about it.

The important fact, which should be widely known, is that there are NEVER any high winds in Florida during the tourists' season. October sees the end of them, as the government weather bureau assures you, and for those of common sense there is no danger, even in the high winds, that do blow in from the Caribbean at rare intervals. They move slowly, revolving as they move, going no faster than eight or nine miles an hour. You can drive away from them, in any small car, or go off to one side, and let them revolve past you.

"Germany's beer exports to United States soar."

Why should that newspaper heading be printed in America? Germany makes excellent beer. The United States makes beer just as good, if not better, in Milwaukee, New York, St. Louis, Newark, on the Pacific Coast, and in hundreds of breweries all over the United States.

Beer made here employs American labor at good wages and buys grain, barley, rice and hops grown by American farmers.

Why should American beer drinkers employ foreign labor, and pay for foreign farm products?

If we want to promote prosperity in the United States, why not forbid importation of beer, wine, alcoholic spirits and dozens of other things than can be made here as well or better?

These are code days. The President cannot apply any code to foreign producers, and Americans, producing and employing "under the code," should not compete with code-free foreigners.

In old days, when barbarians fought "civilized soldiers," a determined barbarian, with wild tribes and religious fanaticism supporting him, could cause much trouble. England lost

Continued on Page 4, Column 3

NEWSPAPER DELIVERY WANTED

Girl, Student Killed in Auto Crash

7 P.M. NEWS SPORTS MARKETS

WEATHER
Partly cloudy today, probable thunder showers tonight and tomorrow; moderate westerly winds.
High tides, 7:25 a. m.; 7:47 p. m.
Light all vehicles at 8:34 p. m.
The American is the only Boston daily paper receiving Universal Service and International News Service dispatches plus Associated Press.

BOSTON AMERICAN
EVENING
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

VOL. 30—No. 113 Published Daily by N. E. Newspaper Pub. Co. Entered as 2nd Class Matter at Boston P. O. BOSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1933 2 CENTS ZONE PRICE 3 CENTS

JESSIE IN TEARS AT PLEA; CAPSULES TRACED TO HER

SOCIETY GIRL AND STUDENT KILLED

C. Margot Stanwood and John Cowin Die at Dover

Hurled from their light coupe, out of control on an S-curve in Dover, Miss C Margot Stanwood, 20-year-old Vincent Club member, and John Phister "Jake" Cowin, wealthy Harvard Medical School student, were killed today.

Cowin, son of Mrs. Katherine P. Cowin, of 256 Marlborough st., Back Bay, and the late Col. William B. Cowin, U. S. A., was a Harvard freshman football player and was left $40,000 in his own right two years out of the $500,000 estate of his father.

He and the society girl, prominent in sports and in yachting circles since she was 14 years old, were hurled to the pavement in front of the estate of Donald Cutler in Dedham st., Dover, after their coupe, believed to have blown a rear tire, left the road and overturned.

Their skulls were fractured and they suffered other injuries in the crash.

GIRL AT WHEEL

The dead girl is believed to have been driving the car, owned by Miss Marian H. Stanwood, a sister, with whom Margot lived in Main st., Dover, with their mother, Mrs. Cal-

Continued on Page 2, Column 7

MERCURY RISES TO 91 DEGREES

The heat wave, which left Boston gasping over the week-end and which was temporarily halted yesterday, began to wilt city dwellers as the thermometer jumped more than 20 points during the morning.

Taking a sharp drop from the official high of 98 on Sunday, the needle went down to a comparatively cool 68 degrees at 1 a. m. today.

From that time on the temperature crept swiftly upward, until it passed the 91 mark at 2p. m. Indications pointed to still higher figures and a possible new record before nightfall. Thunder showers are predicted for tonight.

Late News Bulletins

PLANES HUNT MISSING HONEYMOON COUPLE

An alarm was flashed to all westbound planes to search for a crashed ship, when Arthur Kudner, missing honeymooner, failed to put in an appearance in Cleveland, at noon, where friends hoped he might have flown. Airport officials fear that the couple may have crashed in a sparsely settled region. (Details on Page 3.)

TROOPS PROTECT LAWYERS AT SLAYING TRIAL

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Aug. 1 (AP)—Troops were called here today for the trial of three young negroes on charges of slaying a 16-year-old white girl, but only to protect attorneys sent here by the International Labor Defense.

SILK MILL STRIKERS CLASH WITH POLICE

Philadelphia, Aug. 1 (AP)—Windows were broken, automobiles damaged and bricks and other missels were hurled today in a clash between strikers, their sympathizers and police at the Cambria silk hosiery mill. Police charged 150 pickets in front of the mill after stones and milk bottles were thrown at workers approaching the plant.

24,000 Blue Eagles Arrive for Greater Boston Code Drive

ROLLING ALONG

1—Distribution of Blue Eagle insignia to employers who have signed up to adhere to the blanket code begins in Boston postal district postoffices.

2—In New England 5850 employers have signed up, putting 121,869 employes under the "blanket code," which means $14 a week minimum pay in factories, $15 in offices; 35-hour week in factories, 40 hours in offices.

3—At Washington great progress is reported toward adoption of special codes for more industries. Oil industry tentatively sets working week at 36 hours, minimum wages of 45 to 85 cents an hour, with federal supervision of production.

4—Jobs for 1,100,000 unemployed in the United States predicted by Recovery Administrator Johnson as he approves temporary special codes for, retail furniture, hardware, mail order, clothiers and furnishers, shoes and dry goods, department stores, specialty shops and groceries.

5—More than $900,000,000 added to annual wages and buying power in these lines of retail trade.

6—Hiring begins in Boston by several department stores and a big grocery chain.

7—Steel industry, abandoning anti-unionism, lays basis for organization of its 400,000 workers under government recovery plans.

8—Public works program planning speeded up; $850,000,000 industrial recovery bond and note issue oversubscribed on first day.

Buttons to Be Given Consumers for Store Cards

Other Code News. Page 16

Distribution began today in the Boston postal district of Blue Eagle posters to employers who have pledged their adherence to the national recovery code of higher minimum wages and a shorter work week, with no reduction of daily pay for anybody.

The posters arrived at the central post office on State st. in 100 packs from Washington, containing 36,000 Blue Eagles and 240,000 consumers' co-operation cards.

The Blue Eagles were immediately sent out to the various post offices for distribution at the stamp windows to employers presenting signed certificates.

With this distribution, the Blue Eagle became a symbol of progress toward business and industrial recovery, and of adoption of national recovery code rules by the employers.

Appearance of the Blue Eagles speeded up the signing of code pledges by other New England employers. At least 10,000 are expected to be in the fold by tomorrow night.

RUSH AT 80 FEDERAL ST.

There was a big rush of business at the headquarters of the National Recovery Administration at 80 Federal st. today.

At the close of business last night, Hugh D. Butler, head of the recovery forces here, had received

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

BOSTON LAWYER SHOT, DYING

James F. Ryan, Boston and Worcester insurance attorney, was shot and critically wounded, today, by his brother-in-law, George C. McDonald, while they sat talking at breakfast in the McDonald apartment, New York, according to dispatches.

Ryan was shot in the head, chest, neck and arm as McDonald blazed away with a revolver, he had secreted in his inside pocket, during what police believe was a temporary fit of insanity.

Ryan, a 1923 graduate of Holy Cross, was associated with the law department in the Boston office of the Preferred Accident Insurance Co., of New York.

Accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Mary Ryan, the attorney left Boston last Friday to visit McDonald and his wife, who is a sister of Mrs Ryan. The couple planned to return to Boston tonight.

The shooting occurred 10 minutes after Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and Atty. and Mrs. Ryan had finished eating. The women had departed to another room, leaving the men to talk.

30 Shaken Up When Electric Hits Truck

Thirty passengers aboard a Lynn-Boston street car were shaken up and a few received minor injuries when the car collided with a truck at Causeway and Beverly sts. today.

The crash shattered all the glass in the front end of the car.

Gives Son-in-Law Job

Rome, Aug. 1 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today named his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, to head the government press bureau, succeeding Gaetano Polverelli, member of the chamber of deputies.

Capone's Successor Slain by Auto Gang

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—Tony Marino, hailed as successor to Al Capone as head of the alcohol syndicate, was shot down and killed today in Cicero.

A fusillade of bullets poured out of a small sedan car by three occupants spelled the end for the racketeer. Marino slumped to the sidewalk, instantly killed, while the sedan roared on.

SOBS AS 'KISS AND TELL' MAN IS FLAYED; HER STORY TOMORROW

COSTELLO HIGHLIGHTS

1—The state closed its case with the smashing surprise testimony that four months before Costello died, Jessie Costello bought capsules. Previous medical testimony had been that a capsule-like substance was found in Costello's stomach, it being the contention cyanide was thus administered.

2—Jessie, waiting her call to the stand as her own star witness, was greatly agitated by the capsule-purchasing testimony and prompted her counsel in the questioning of G. M. Russell, who gave it.

3—Defense Counsel Rafter, immediately upon announcement by Prosecutor Cregg that the state closed, made a sweeping motion that the jury be directed to return a verdict of not guilty of murder for Mrs. Costello.

4—Previous to this, the state introduced testimony and a letter from Costello to an insurance agent to prove that the fire captain, by a request to cancel insurance, showed he had no intention of committing suicide.

5—Jessie wept softly, but almost continuously, as Rafter tore savagely into McMahon. "He put the scarlet letter on her, but he could not brand her murderess," shouted the eloquent defense counsel as he pressed his motion to direct an acquittal.

6—The greatest crowd of the trial attended today's session in anticipation of hearing Jessie's story. Chances were, she would not testify until tomorrow.

By WIN BROOKS
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Salem Courthouse, Aug. 1—The commonwealth brought its case against Jessie Costello to a smashing fiction-like climax and close today with the testimony of a surprise witness that she bought capsules four months before her husband died of a mysteriously administered dose of potassium cyanide.

It was the state's first evidence linking the widow with the medical testimony indicating

Continued on Page 10, Column 1

Jessie and Bill, the Man Without Smiles

By EDWARD DEAN SULLIVAN,
Author of "Sold Out," "Rattling the Cup," "Ex-It," Etc.

Salem Courthouse, Aug. 1—Today Mrs. Jessie Costello, with that smile which has become a rouged badge of courage on her handsome, troubled face, sits quietly as death doffs its hat to her in a hideous flirtation. The Grim Reaper, ever on the make, has made ample advances and now, sardonically, awaits a word from this vital beauty, who—the state charges—is quick to respond.

Edward Dean Sullivan

Circumstantial evidence has piled up against her. Tangled in a maze of motives, circumstances and treachery, she alone must lift the pressing burden of impending disaster from her self-reliant shoulders. As she talks from the witness chair so the case goes.

In her desperate plight, the cynosure of critical glances from the ever present self-appointed judges who do not have to qualify legally or humanly for their task, she does not cringe.

Here is a woman of spirit, at least. She has dragged her life into a sorry mess through a mad infatuation, the evidence indicates.

The man on whom she bestowed her love; to whom she gave money beyond the measure

Continued on Page 5, Column 1

Balances and Receipts

Washington, Aug. 1 — Today's Treasury balance $833,963,706, U. S. Customs receipts $33,943,306.

JESSIE'S WITNESS GARB

Her remarkable composure undisturbed, Mrs. Jessie B. Costello listened today to a surprise witness who testified that she purchased a dozen capsules about four months before Fire Capt. William Costello died. But only while Jessie broke down and wept when her counsel lacerated McMahon, the kiss-and-tell cop, in his impassioned plea that she be freed. Mrs. Costello changed today to her smart turban hat and to touch off her black ensemble she wore a snowy white jabot. Photo shows her as she will appear on the witness stand. (Boston American photo.)

IN TODAY'S EVENING AMERICAN

American Patterns ..... Page 13
Classified Ads ..... Page 24
Daily True Story ..... Page 24
Death Notices ..... Page 24
Dr. Copeland's Advice ..... Page 13
Edwin C. Hill ..... Page 28
Elsie Robinson ..... Page 26
Fashions ..... Page 13
Financial ..... Pages 18, 19, 20
Keyhole on the News ..... Page 8
"Knave's Girl" ..... Page 15
Harriet Parsons Column ..... Page 14
Magazine Features ..... Page 13
Mark Hellinger ..... Page 15
Martha Lee ..... Page 13
O. O. McIntyre ..... Page 26
Politics ..... Page 7
Radio News ..... Page 20
Robert E. Rogers ..... Page 17
Skippy Comics ..... Page 17
Society News ..... Page 12
Theatre News ..... Page 14
Towne on Books ..... Page 12

Worcester Hospital Inmate Is Rescued

Worcester, Aug. 1—Thomas Prendergast, 67, State hospital inmate, was rescued from drowning early today after he had stumbled and fallen into Lake Quinsigamond early today while taking his morning walk. His cries aroused Irving Sharp, a nearby resident, who swam to his aid.

Gable Under Knife

Hollywood, Aug. 1—Clark Gable, film actor, was to be operated on here today for an appendicitis

BLUE EAGLE CODE BANNERS ARRIVE FOR N. E. EMPLOYERS

BOSTON STORES FIRST ON LIST FOR INSIGNIA

More Than 120,000 Workers Benefit by Signing of Pacts

Continued from First Page.

5586 signed pledges. The mails brought in big batches today.

But the biggest rush came in the appearance of employers with questions and it took a reorganization of the whole system at the bureau to accommodate them. Innumerable special problems have arisen over the actual operation of the code rules.

Highly encouraging news was brought to headquarters by representatives of two big grocery chains, the First National Stores and the "A. & P."

Going under the code means adding 17 per cent to the pay roll of the A. & P. chain, according to William J. Davidson, president of the New England division.

In the First National system it means hiring more than 1000 additional employes (all in New England), and adding $3,000,000 to the payroll.

$3,000 AFFECTED

Davidson said that his chain is 100 per cent behind the national recovery movement, with its 93,000 employes of whom 12,000 are in New England, and its 15,500 stores, of which 2660 are in New England.

This chain has been operating under the blanket code for about two weeks and today began operating under the new code for concerns dealing in retail foodstuffs. The new code is somewhat more liberal than the blanket code.

Davidson added that since 1929 office and warehouse help have not had their pay cut nor have any been discharged. He said employes are enthusiastic about the code.

"New England is showing a wonderful spirit," he said. "The only way to put this through successfully is for all to put their shoulders to the wheel and give fullest co-operation."

7000 MORE EMPLOYERS

President Arthur O'Keeffe of the First National Stores, issued the following statement:

"Well over 1000 employes will be taken on by the First National Stores, Inc., under the Recovery Act, and over $3,000,000 of added payroll will be disbursed, it is estimated.

"First National Stores went on the new code today. 'Help wanted' advertisements by the company appeared this morning on the front paces of the Boston newspapers, a powerful testimony to the fact that immediate addition to the food chain's staff is necessitated.

"Finast is one of New England's largest organizations, owned for the most part in New England, of New England origin and operating exclusively in the six New England states, with 20 or so stores in eastern New York.

"The company does business in 500 cities and towns through 2300 grocery stores and 400 combination markets; that is, complete food stores selling meats, fresh fruits, vegetables and other perishables, as well as groceries, bakery and dairy products, and kitchen supplies—a total of 2700 outlets.

WAREHOUSES INCLUDED

"There are 11,000 employes, most of them in the retail stores. The new code goes into effect not only in the stores but in the warehouses and plants in Bridgeport, East Hartford and Providence and the 3-acre central base in Somerville."

Administrator Butler at 80 Federal st. assigned four tables at which queries relating to retail trade were answered; four for manufacturing, and others for filling stations and other businesses. The switchboard was swamped with calls from persons with questions and difficult problems.

One woman visited the headquarters to state that she conducted a private hospital with three attendants. She said it would be a hardship for her to go under a code, as she could not afford to increase her costs, but she was informed that hospitals came under the code like most everything else.

BUTTONS FOR CONSUMERS

Each Blue Eagle employer received a large poster for his store window and ten Consumers' Co-operation Cards. More of the latter will be available later.

The consumers' cards are to be signed by employes and customers and handed in to the employers, who can exchange them for Blue Eagle Buttons, house posters and auto posters. The buttons are expected here tomorrow.

After a brief delay it is contemplated having a great majority of the houses and autos of American displaying Blue Eagles, and the people wearing buttons.

A fresh batch of 24,000 more Blue Eagle posters were due in the mail this afternoon.

Frank E. Smith has started a school for Boston Trade Association executives to take up problems confronting industries. The Boston Better Business Bureau has assigned William F. Otis to assist the N. R. A. organization. The bureau will also investigate any cases of flagrant misuse of the Blue Eagle insignia.

Soap Kills Man

Dayton, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Perry Nicholson, 27, was suffocated beneath a pile of soap chips in a soap plant here.

Swoops of Blue Eagles -:- Rush Boston Postoffice

CARL W. BETTS POSTMASTER HURLEY

Scores of mail sacks, containing 24,000 Blue Eagle stickers and banners of many descriptions and 240,000 consumers' co-operative cards were dumped in Boston central postoffice today for distribution to various sub stations in the metropolitan postal district and were assorted under direction of Postmaster William E. Hurley by Carl W. Betts and many assistants. The Blue Eagles were made ready for those who have signed or are about to sign the blanket code of the National Industrial Recovery Act in accordance with President Roosevelt's wishes. Nearly 6000 employers already have signed in New England, benefiting more than 120,000 workers and providing jobs for many thousands of others who have long been idle.

JOHNSON SEEKS TO AID 'LITTLE FELLOWS'

Sees Small Merchants Giving Jobs to a Million

Washington, Aug. 1—With today the deadline for signing the President's blanket agreement on shorter hours and higher wages, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, appealed to the country to be patient with "the little fellows" whose intentions are good, but who have not had time to comply.

A million new jobs, scattered through retail shops big and small, from end to end of the country, were held possible because Johnson had ordered into immediate effect hour-reducing, wage-raising agreements presented by the nation's storekeepers.

The door was open to the thousands of retailers not members of any association to join the subscribing groups or to come in through the individual voluntary presidential agreement.

Officials estimated that application of these codes would provide 1,000,000 new jobs, that the retail lines represented employ 4,000,000 men and women.

STEEL WORKERS WIN

Hearings on the steel code were concluded.

The industry yielded with startling suddenness and not a murmur of protest.

Steel's minimum wage scale proposal of 25 cents to 40 cents an hour, assailed by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins as inadequate to restore purchasing power, was stepped up to a 30-cent rock-bottom rate.

Its proposed 40-hour average week week was challenged and thrown open for negotiation when President William Green of the American Federation of Labor cried out for 30 hours and Miss Perkins suggested 30 or 36.

The twelve-hour day and seven-day week, still surviving in parts of the industry, were thrown into the arena by Miss Perkins' demand that they be completely abolished.

Johnson agreed to a temporary work-week of 48 hours asked by food and chain store retailers in order to protect their many small members who were not able to comply at once with the 40-hour week accepted by the six major retail organizations of other lines.

FOOD STORES IN LINE

This decision enabled the retail food stores to come into line today, pending a more permanent settlement of their status. Not only had these retailers in all other lines submitted to a code, but a new code governing the oil industry was before Johnson, following his summary intervention last week when he ordered the dissenting factions to form a committee, then said "lock these guys up until they can come in with an agreement."

Today post offices all over the country began distributing the distinctive insignia which go to those who "do their part." The grand total of applicants was not known but the recovery administration staff at last had added up the telegrams and letters that replied to President Roosevelt's national appeal for cooperation.

Fifty thousand personal messages were in that stack. Thirty thousand telegrams, twenty thousand letters.

Equally important was the increasing momentum in dealing with actual, concrete codes of fair competition for individual industries. The stack of four or five hundred which accumulated at the offices here has been digested, reduced to those which are in shape for handling, and are being moved up to the hearing stage.

Crash Victim

Miss C. Margot Stanwood, Vincent Club girl, and John Phister Cowin, killed at Dover early today when their automobile blew a rear tire and went off the road.

MILK STRIKERS BATTERED BY TROOPERS

8 Clubbed in Upstate New York Clash; 3 in Hospital

Boonville, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Forty state troopers, hurling tear gas bombs and wielding riot sticks, today routed 400 farmer strikers, who, north of this village, sought to block Sheffield milk trucks. The strikers had placed spiked planks across the road.

Five men were knocked unconscious by troopers clubs. Three others were so injured they were sent to a hospital.

The troopers wore steel helmets and gas masks. The clash was witnessed by 800 persons, mostly sympathizing farmers. The troopers werescting as an escore to a truck belonging to the Dairymen's League station at Remsen.

Strikers meantime were pointing to what they described as the effectiveness of the movement. Three dairy plants at Boonville, the United, Dairymen's League, and Sheffield, they said had received a total of 30 cans of milk today as against the normal 1400 cans.

About half the normal supply of 100 was received at the Sheffield plant at Glenfield.

The strike grew out of repeated refusal of the State Milk Control Board to grant to disaffected producers a larger share of the consumer's milk dollar.

At Glenfield and Constableville, 20 state troopers, clashed with scores of road-picketing strikers, swinging night sticks against their heads. Producers stopped a truck on the Boonville-Lowville road and dumped 120 cans of skimmed milk bound for New York.

GENERAL FOODS ACCEPTS CODE

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The General Foods Corporation has accepted President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement and is applying it immediately in 50 factories and sales offices, C. M. Chester, president, announced today.

Factory employes whose working time has been cut from 40 to 33 hours per week will, Chester said, receive the same rate of weekly pay they previously received. Employes who have been working longer than 40 hours a week are having an "equitable adjustment" in their hourly rates of pay to conform to the spirit of the agreement.

The company contemplates hiring of thousands of additional employes in compliance with the code.

Californians Pay Retail Sales Tax

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (US)—Californians will pay to the state, beginning today, a 2½ per cent tax on practically every retail purchase made within the state.

As Gov. Rolph signed the sales tax measure created by the State Legislature he issued a statement in which he laid the necessity for the sales tax on the Legislature itself, and gave a strong hint that he will veto the state income tax measure voted by the same Legislature.

Beer Keg Tapping in Parks Prohibited

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 1 (AP)—Public parks and beer kegs don't mix, the Elgin city council has decided.

In the future there'll be no tapping of beer kegs in the parks, Mayor Myron N. Lehmann said the council held that "keg parties," even quiet ones, are beneath the dignity of the park system. Drinking of bottled beer will be permitted.

Who's Who in Boston's Blue Eagles

Here is a partial list of the employers among the two hundred who called early at the Post Office, in State st., for Blue Eggle Insignia, today:

Morgan Furniture Co.
Wm. Filene's Sons Co., Washington st., Boston.
R. W. White Co., Washington st., Boston.
Jordan Marsh Co., Washington st., Boston.
C. F. Hovey Co., Summer st., Boston.
Standard Glass Co., Sudbury st., Boston.
Reid Machinery Co., 240 State st., Boston.
Boston Chromium Co., 370 Atlantic ave.
Black & Blue Print Co., 342 Purchase st.
Eagleston Supply Co., 259 Franklin st.
McDonald's, Inc., 24 West st.
Lane's, 26 West st.
Economy Grocery Co., 393 D st., South Boston.
Leopold Morse Co., Washington st.
Spinalli Provision Co., Mercantile st.
Kennedy Butter & Egg Co., 178 Atlantic ave.
S. K. Ames Co., 176 Atlantic ave.
Coolidge, Shipley, Bulfinch & Alden Co., Architects, Ames Bldg.
A. M. Sulkin, Bookbinders, Hawley st.
Wolf, Inc., clothiers, 325 Washington st.
Carl T. Vienot, advertising, 147 Summer st.
William H. Gallison, plumbing supplies, 367 Atlantic ave.
B. & S. Fruit Co., wholesale fruit, 19-21 Richmond st.
World Radio Corp., radios, 32 Summer st., Boston.
Independent Coal Co., 88 Broad st., Boston.
Union Oyster House, 143 Stuart st.
Jackson & Fisher Co., cotton brokers, 141 Milk st.
G. R. Armstrong, mill supplies, 138 High st.
Cobbs Coffee Co., tea and coffee, 33 Tremont st., 24 High st.
Hilton Aldrich Co., 48 South Market st.
W. C. Holmes, cleansers, 168 Milk st.
C. E. Donovan, provision brokers, Fruit and Produce Exchange.
Outlast Uniform Co., 64 Allen st.
Montgomery Frost Co., Stationers, Boylston and Bromfield sts., and Mass. ave.
C. G. Maguire Co., Mens Clothing, Cornhill st.
Macomber's Co., Insurance Brokers, 45 Batterymarch st.
Russell T. Shea, Advertising, 60 Congress st.
Steadfast and Rollister, Machinery, 156 Oliver st.
Anthony Automobile Co., 5 Brighton ave., Allston.
Oriental Tea and Coffee Co., 31 India st.
Parker Corp., Investment Trust, 90 State st.
Pioneer Spa, Restaurant, 76 Bedford st.
Merchants Paper Co., 10 Thatcher st.
H. R. Coffin, Note Brokers, 10 Post Office sq.
Fenway Cash Market, Parker st., Roxbury.
Goldsmith Bros., restaurant, 46 North Market st.
Kettell Blake and Reed, 387 Washington st.
Morgan T. Ellis, paper manufacturers, 33 Farnsworth st.
Atlas Electric Co., electrical supplies, 350 Devonshire st.
Boston Plate Window Glass Co., A st., So. Boston.
John H. Sperry, ink ribbons and carbon paper, 146 Oliver st.
Scully Lunch Co., restaurant, 257 Franklin st.
Modern Blue Print Co., 51 Cornhill st.
Bennett Goding, cotton converters, 166 Lincoln st.
Richmond Bros., clothiers, 496 Washington st.
Herrick Sheet Metal Co., 49 Broad st.
Bailey and Broderick Co., dresses, 162 Tremont st.
Textile Aniline and Chemical Co., 380 Atlantic ave.
Wiggin & Leavins, furniture, 32 Canal st.
James Bagley, printers, 127 Federal st.
Elmer. H. Lord, insurance broker, 56 Batterymarch st.
J. L. Hammett, school supplies, 10 Beacon st.
National Credit Office, 140 Federal st.
George E. Donovan, com. sinners, 7 Pemberton sq.
Jim's Barber Shop, 335 Shirley ave., Winthrop.
Wolcott Holcomb, Inc., advertising, 80 Federal st.
Joseph Rizzo, tailor, 53 Cambridge st.
Patterson Wilde and Windeler, insurance, 40 Broad st.
Warren Bros., contractors' supplies, Charles River rd., Cambridge.
Noyes Bros., haberdashers, 127 Tremont st.
Pure Food Shop, 1 Atlantic ave., Swampscott.
George Davies Lunch, 1 Custom House sq.
Scollay Sq. Lunch, Scollay sq.
Adams Radio Co., 111 Washington st.
Market Transfer Co., trucking, 3 North Market st.
Spiller Co., brokers, 90 State st.
R. P. Puffer Co., fruit and vegetables, 3 Richmond st.
National Income Service, 44 School st.
Farran & Curtis Press, printers, 152 Purchase st.
Joseph Burnett, flavoring extracts, 457 D. st., So. Boston.
Sweeney & Lyons Co., fruit dealers, Fargo st., So. Boston.
Walter S. Place Co., stock brokers, 35 Congress st.
Stock Market Financing Co., Congress st., Boston.

Woman, 90, Steps Out as Hitch-Hikers

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 1 (US)—Seized with a sudden wanderlust, Mrs. Bridget Ford, 90-year-old member of a prominent Denver family, ran away and hitch-hiked 75 miles to Colorado Springs, where police officers treated her as an honored guest.

SOCIETY GIRL, DOCTOR KILLED

Continued from First Page.

houn Stanwood. There is another sister, Miss Sylvia Stanwood, and the family formerly lived on Beacon Hill and in Ash st., Cambridge.

Mrs. I. Tucker Burr of Chestnut st., Needham, mistress of hounds at Norfolk Hunt Club and prominent society woman, was first to reach the couple. Mrs. Burr was en route to the hunt club when she saw the wrecked car and the two bodies in the street.

CALLS POLICE

Mrs. Burr, shocked by her discovery, ran nearly a mile to the nearest telephone and summoned aid through a telephone operator.

Police Chief Heinlein of Dover found the dead couple and determined that they had been killed instantly.

Dr. John Hartwell of Norwood, acting medical examiner, viewed the victims at the scene and ordered the bodies removed to the undertaking parlors of Alger E. Eaton & Sons in Highland ave., Needham.

GOT $40,000 FROM FATHER

Cowin was in his 24th year and was born in 1909 at Fort Robinson, Neb., where his father was then stationed. Later the officer became assistant quartermaster of the Army Base in South Boston, but at the time of his death was commanding officer of the Army Supply Base at New Orleans.

Col. Cowin died in Dec., 1928, and when his $500,000 will was filed in Omaha, Neb., his first wife, mother of the accident victim and a native of West Newton, and the second wife, the former Noble, of Monadnock st., Dorchester, one-time telephone operator at the Army Base, opened a fight over the estate.

Only $3000 was willed to the second wife, while the balance of the estate was left to the first wife and her three children, the accident victim being left $40,000 in his own right.

Young Cowin was graduated from Harvard in June, 1932, and completed his first year of medical school last June.

Code Answers

Are you puzzled by provisions of the National Recovery Act code?

The N. R. A. Editor of the Boston Evening American will try to set you right.

Address your queries to him and the answer will be published here as soon as an official answer can be obtained.

There is only one condition: Please be brief.

This service is offered to readers of the Boston Evening American for their benefit and to help in his national recovery project the aims of the President gram.

Today's "Q and A"

Q.—I am a young woman employed in a beauty parlor 10 hours a day and sometimes longer, for $18 a week. What happens to me under the code?

A.—You will work 40 hours a week with a minimum salary of $15 until the hairdressers' code, which is now under preparation, goes into effect.

Q.—I am the proprietor of a small restaurant keeping open 75 hours a week, and paying two people $12 each with meals. What changes will I have to make?

A.—You will have to reduce the hours to 40 and pay the minimum of $15, pending the adoption of the retail code, of 48 hours. Probably you will be permitted to make a reasonable deduction for meals later.

Q.—When will the retail code be adopted?

A.—Probably by Aug. 31 when the large stores go off the summer schedule which has kept most of them operating well within the 40 hours requirement.

Q.—Is there any appeal from the code?

A.—Only when you can prove that it is working a hardship on you, in which case you can apply to a trade association or chamber of commerce for a petition of stay, an investigation will be made.

Hundreds Apply for Store Jobs -:- Under National Recovery Pacts

H. A. WHITE B. F. McGOLDRICK T. F. HARRIGAN LOWA BURROUGHS

Several hundred men, many of them idle for long periods during the business decline, crowded into the First National Stores, Inc., meat warehouse on Mystic ave., Somerville, today, applying for jobs as meat cutters and meat salesmen in response to advertisements calling for such additional help in connection with inauguration of the national blanket code for selling of foodstuffs. Photo shows H. A. White, manager of the meat department; B. F. McGoldrick, vice-president of First National Stores, Inc., and T. F. Harrigan, seated at table, with Lowa Burroughs, at right, filling out an application blank while other job seekers wait their turns to do likewise. Hundreds of others then were waiting outside this room to enter when permitted. (Boston American photo.)

Round Trip Weekend Excursions $12.
BY SEA
From BOSTON to SAINT JOHN
NEW BRUNSWICK
The Two Magnificent Atlantic Liner
"SAINT JOHN"
Al Donahue's famous Bermudians orchestra. Deck games. Elizabethan tap room. Smoking Room. Modern stateroom and suite de luxe. Then ... the historic spots and wonderful Reversing Falls of New Brunswick.
Includes stateroom priced accommodation both ways. Sail Friday; back from Boston Sunday. Or Tuesday. Equally low Excursion Rates to interior points reached by rail.
TAKE ALONG YOUR CAR
$12 for an automobile, any size or weight, when accompanied by 2 adult passengers. Same going and return limits as weekend rates.
$16.75 Week-End Triangle Excursions. Includes stateroom priced accommodation both ways. Sail Friday; back from Boston Sunday. Or Tuesday; back from Boston Tuesday. Equally low Excursion Rates to interior points reached by rail.
ONE WAY TRIP
$10 Boston to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, a popular point in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.
Regular sailings Sunday, Tuesday, and Friday at 5 P. M. Daylight Trips from both Wharf, Boston.
EASTERN STEAMSHIP LINES
For information, reservations or tickets apply 543 Boylston St., Tel. Kenmore 6788; 49 Franklin St., Tel. Liberty 1584; or Rolfe Wharf, Tel. Hancock 1710; Boston.

AIRPLANE HONEYMOONERS MISSING ON FLIGHT TO COAST

BOSTON SHIP IS LONG OVERDUE AT SYRACUSE

Other Airports Are Checked in the Hope Course Was Changed

Flying honeymooners who left Boston en route to Honolulu, but with their first stop scheduled for Syracuse, N. Y., were missing today at that port a dozen hours after they were due.

Friends of the couple at Boston Airport said, however, they had some hopes for the safety of the honeymooners: their pilot and a mechanic, because the bridegroom, owner of the trimotor Ford monoplane, frequently announces an intended destination and then changes his mind in the air.

The honeymooners are Arthur Kudner, wealthy New York advertising man, owner of the big Ford and a Sikorsky twin-motored amphibian, and a week-end flying visitor to Boston for the past year, and the former Miss Madeline Thayer of Cambridge.

They were married early last night and at 9:32 p. m. took off in the big monoplane, with Jake Gorton as pilot and Bill Abrahamson as mechanic and co-pilot. Gorton and Abrahamson were to accompany the honeymooners in the plane to San Francisco and then by boat to Honolulu, the plane going along also.

When the plane departed for Syracuse the weather was clear at Boston, and was good all the way to Syracuse, except for periodic thunderheads building up into electrical storms.

It is believed that the plane may have gone past Syracuse and continued to an airport in the Middle West for the firststop, and officials at the Curtiss-Wright air terminal at Boston Airport, where Kudner keeps his ships while here, today were checking airports in an attempt to trace the honeymooners.

2 BOYS SAVED FROM CHARLES

Thrown into the water when their sailboat capsized, two youths were saved from drowning in the Charles river today.

The two, William Shea, 18, of 41 Boylston st., and John Flynn, 16, of 20 Ferris rd., both Roslindale, were rescued by Patrolman Raymond Green of the Metropolitan police, who sped to the scene in a police launch.

A sudden gust of wind sent the craft over on its side when it was a considerable distance from the Boston shore of the river. The boat shipped considerable water and capsized.

Shea and Flynn clung to the boat as several score persons looked helplessly on from shore. Patrolman Green was attracted by the shouts of the two youths and he sped to their rescue from the Cambridge side.

In the meantime, a call was sent to Cambridge police headquarters for aid. Rescue Co. No. 1 and Ladder 3, of the Cambridge fire department, were sent to the scene. The two youths were safe ashore when they arrived.

One Held, 2 Freed in South End Slaying

Testimony of two women witnesses in the "hat murder" of Stephano Pannino last week in a South End speakeasy, resulted today in John W. Freeman, Columbia road, ball player, being held for the grand jury on a murder charge.

Gilbert Evans, of Elmwood st., Somerville, and Winston Johnson, of Harrison ave., South End, were released after Beatrice Green and Helen Mitchell told Judge Duff they were not implicated.

Six Months in Jail for Tipsy Driver

Harry L. Graham, 56, of Spring st., East Cambridge, was sentenced today in East Boston court to six months in the House of Correction on a drunken driving charge and one month for driving so as to endanger.

Graham, who pleaded guilty to the charges, was the operator of a car which was in collision yesterday afternoon with a truck and two automobiles in Saratoga st., East Boston, injuring two persons.

Drunk Docket Down to Civil War Level

It's been just 72 years since the Boston Municipal Court could boast of only four defendants who had imbibed too freely of spiritous liquors, but today that long record was shattered.

When Judge John Duff asked for the complaints against the drunks gathered over the night, there were only three. Two were given short vacations at Deer Island and the other was placed on probation.

900 Get Work

Richmond, Vt., Aug. 1.—The general offices of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad announced 900 employes have been added since May "because of increased business."

Shorter Work Day -:- Better Pay -:- More Time to Shop

SHORTER HOURS—MORE TIME FOR PLAY

Julia Malis, a blade inspector at Gillette Safety Razor Company, punching clock as she leaves earlier than ever before on her new code working time—35 hours in five days. The N. R. A. code is working here—just fine—for Julia.

FIRST PAY UNDER N. R. A. CODE

No wonder Julia Malis is smiling. She gets her first new code cash. Under old plan she worked 43 1-3 hours weekly at 39 cents per hour. Now she works 35 hours—in five days—at 48 cents an hour.

GIRL WORKER SHOWS WHAT CODE DOES

More Time, More Pay Starts This Maid Shopping

The same pay for a shorter work week.

Jobs for the unemployed.

More money to spend, and more spending.

WORKERS SHOW WAY

That's what the National Recovery Code means to Boston workers, to Boston merchants, and to the wives, children and other dependents of men long out of work.

The Boston Evening American, to sound out how the new deal was working, picked out a worker at random at the big Gillette Safety Razor Company plant in South Boston.

This employe was Julia Malis of Cambridge.

"How does the new code affect you?" she was asked.

"Better hours," she said promptly. "A higher hourly wage. More time to go in town shopping. That means a lot to me and to the other employes, too.

"The girls like to be able to get in town to buy things and shop around."

9-CENT HOUR RAISE

"How many hours a week do you work?"

"Thirty-five now; it used to be 43 1-3."

"And what is your pay?"

"It's now 48 cents an hour, compared with 39 cents formerly. That brings it out practically the same for the week's work, but I work 8 1-3 hours less."

"How are your hours arranged?"

"I start at 7 a. m. and work till 12 o'clock noon. Then I have an hour for lunch. It used to be only 45 minutes. I return at 1 o'clock and work till 4.

BACK THE STORES

"That is seven hours work a day an' it is for five days a week. But I receive a full week's pay.

"With the hour at noon I can eat lunch, run in town and get back to work on time. I have time enough to buy everything I want without hurring much.

"I think people ought to buy in stores that are sticking with President Roosevelt on this plan and I do my buying there. The stores ought to buy from the factories that respect the plan and in that way the recovery will become universal."

The price what she said, Miss Malis lunched while the reporter waited. She left the factory at 12:20, after having her lunch, and rode by trolley to the South Station.

She walked to Coward's Shoe Store on West st., made a purchase and returned to her work at 12:57, three minutes ahead of time.

At 4 p. m. she finished work and returned to Boston for a manicure and to make other purchases before the big stores closed for the day.

She had her manicure at Russo's, where the code has gone into effect, and then went to Hovey's where she got a full dress.

"You see what I told you?" she asked the reporter. "See how it works. It's better all around."

MORE LEISURE TIME TO SHOP

Nine hours less a week toiling—means more time to look after home details—more time to look for bargains—with a chance to select a nice dress now and then. Winifred Lemmon of Hovey's is showing Julia some of the latest.

THEN ON THAT EXTRA DAY OFF—

"It's just grand to have an extra day each week—one can get a manicure—in fact doll-up in general, said Julia Malis, as she sat in Russo's Beauty Salon. Lisa Lindquist is the manicurist. The code will give more vacation hours to thousands—with no loss of pay.

NEW JOBS RULE OF DAY UNDER NIRA CODE

Short Hours Increase Demand for Help; Big Stores Lead

With the sign of the Blue Eagle sweeping the country, and employers flocking by the thousands to join the President's legion of honor, JOBS became the order today.

More than 2000 men flocked to the First National Stores Warehouse on Mystic ave., Somerville this morning in response to a "Men Wanted" advertisement in the newspapers.

Sergts. Joseph A. Dwyer and Hugh Sullivan with eight patrolmen maintained order while the applicants were interviewed by officials.

Department stores in the Boston metropolitan district, who began to hire people to replace those who come under the 40-hour week law,

ADD TO STAFFS

While the stores did not begin to hire in large numbers, due to customary falling off of business during the summer months, they did begin to add gradually to their staffs.

And more important, they intend to continue. Hiring will go on steadily during the summer to reach its apex in the fall when the department stores must have complete staffs.

Leading in the movement was Houghton & Dutton Co., which has more than 100 new employes on the payroll when the store opened for business this morning.

The firm will continue to hire help gradually, and they will be completely staffed by September 1.

250 GET RAISE

In addition, about 250 employes who had been classed in the lower wage bracket found themselves getting the minimum $15 wage as prescribed in the new code. They also have been reduced from a 48-hour week to a 40-hour week, according to A. W. Ackerman, president of the firm.

Filene's added 25 men to their staff of employes. These included truck helpers, engineers, firemen, porters and truck drivers. They, too, will work but 4 days a week, averaging 10 hours per day for their week.

All of the new employes were exempt from the minimum wage clause, but a good number of lesser help found themselves raised to the $15 prescribed in the Recovery Act.

Sears, Roebuck & Co., now operating under the blanket code will continue that until the new Retail Trade code is fully operative. All of the company's messenger boys, errand boys and similar help have had their pay increased approximately 10 per cent.

Continued on Page 4 Column 3

HUNDREDS BALK AT BAN ON AUTO INSURANCE

Manevitch to Head Protest on Ouster by Ryan

The order to all Massachusetts auto operators, whose compulsory auto insurance is carried with Lloyd's Insurance Co., of New York, to get off the roads by midnight unless they take out insurance with another company will send hundreds of irate motorists to the State House today.

The order was issued from the office of Registrar of Motor Vehicles Morgan T. Ryan as a result of instructions sent by State Insurance Comm. Merton L. Brown. The latter claims Lloyd's has failed to meet obligations here in the matter of claims.

Officials of the company deny this. Yesterday Lloyd's officials informed their Boston brokers their organization was solvent and in good condition. It was also stated that the company was prepared to post a bond to cover those insured in the company here if they were given time enough.

The protesting motorists will be led at the State House today by Rep. Hyman Manevitch, of Dorchester, and brokers, representing the company in Boston. Approximately 2000 Massachusetts motorists have insurance in the company and are affected by the Registrar's order.

In most of the cases of those insured by the company here, the fees have been paid in full for the entire year. The holders therefore face the loss of 50 per cent of their compulsory insurance fee in addition to being ordered off the road at midnight.

Girl Saves Chum From Drowning

Plymouth, Aug. 1—Miss Barbara Graffam, 20, today owed her life to Beatrice Roques, 18, the latter rescuing the girl of heroine in a thrilling rescue from Darby's Pond. Miss Graffam was stricken ill while bathing and was about to sink when the Roques girl reached her.

Houghton's
An Entirely NEW and Perfect Way to STOP BOTH PERSPIRATION AND ODOR
A Crystal White liquid with a Patented "No-Mess" Applicator permanently set in the neck of the bottle

Just shake bottle a second to moisten the applicator—then apply
PERSTOP—50¢
The last word in convenience. Keeps underarms dry AND odorless for 3 days or more. The new, patented applicator prevents dripping or spilling—no waste in use. Perstop meets all scientific tests for purity, efficiency. Economical.
APPROVED BY GOOD HOUSEKEEPING
The New Way to Stop UNDER-ARM ODOR without stopping the perspiration itself

PERSTIK—the Original Lipstick Deodorant
50¢
Cannot harm fabrics or irritate skin. Economical—one Perstik lasts months. Gives INSTANT and LASTING protection against odor. Easy to carry with you. Endorsed by Good Housekeeping.
Trial Stocks Dept. Mail Orders Street Floor Filled

SEVEN HEARD IN L CARMEN MUST EVERETT PROBE

Another parade of witnesses passed in and out of Middlesex county grand jury room today as the probe of Everett municipal and racket conditions continued, with Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederic A. Crafts, flying direct today on slot machines in that city.

Henry Meede of Durham, who operates a pool room in Perry st., Everett, was the first witness, and he was followed by Arthur Desrosiers, proprietor of two Everett dining cars, and Edward Collins, proprietor of a ferry st. variety store.

Then came Thomas Della Perte of Revere, a cobbler in Elm st., Everett; Norman T. Ross of Glendale st., Everett, former lieutenant in the Everett fire department, who once was slated to be chief; City Councillor J. Arthur Burke of Everett and Patrolman Hughes of Everett police.

Rockefellers on Visit to Mexico

Mexico, D. F., Aug. 1—Dispatches from Vera Cruz said Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller arrived there en route here on a vacation trip. They were among 76 American tourists who arrived aboard the liner Orizaba.

Dr. Worth Daniels, of Washington, son of Josephus Daniels, United States ambassador, was aboard the ship with his family.

Aged, Poor Widow Seeks to Sell Cemetery Lot

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—A "sacred tradition" stood today at the bar of the New York Supreme Court to mock a destitute widow.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, aged and poor, seeks to sell the cemetery lot in which her husband lies buried. The Greenwood Cemetery Association opposes her. It pleads that the grave of her dead would be to violate a "sacred tradition."

Amail E. Johnson died in 1929. His widow paid $550 for the plot. It is worth nearly double that now.

The years have not been too kind to her. When one is 79 poverty can be most brutal.

"Here," her attorney stated in an affidavit to Justice Strong, "we have an aged lady, practically destitute, desiring to realize what she paid for the cemetery lot and purchase a less expensive one."

"To grant this request," responded the cemetery association, "in these desperate times," her diction."

Justice Strong has reserved decision, "is to shatter a sacred tradition," argued, "it is unreasonable for the cemetery corporation to refuse the request. She is old; and she is very poor."

"To grant this request," countered the cemetery association, "would be to precipitate a flood of similar requests. It strikes a sacred tradition."

How operators of one-man cars of the Boston Elevated read have to examine brakes, sandbox, air supply, tracks and trolley rope before starting out was explained to the wage arbitration board at the hearing at 20 Somerset st., by Business Agent Matthew J. McLaughlin of the Boston Carmen's Union today.

"Sometime, the operator says a prayer as he starts a car out on a trip," testified McLaughlin.

"If we get a bad agreement they drive me out, but if we get a good agreement they keep me in," said McLaughlin, referring to his job as business agent.

McLaughlin was preceded on the stand by John C. Carey, president of Division 589 of Boston Carmen's Union.

He testified the "trend of the times warrant an increase in wages."

Lowell Shoe Plant Adds 100 Workers

The Merrimack Shoe Manufacturing Co., Lowell, today announced through its president, Samuel L. Kliven, that 100 men will be added to their payroll during the coming week.

The company has already made a salary increase of $1500 to the present staff of 300 employes, and has cut the hours from 48 a week to 40, on a five-day-week basis.

Girl Missing From Home in Plymouth

Plymouth, Aug. 1—Mary Reed, 20, who made her home here with Mr. and Mrs. John Coughlin of Darby for the past 13 years, was sought today as a missing girl. The girl left the Coughlin home Saturday night to do an errand and failed to return. She was dressed in a white house dress with red flowers and wore blue sandals.

WELFARE FUNDS GIVEN OUT

The first allotment of federal welfare funds to be distributed to cities and towns throughout the state was made today.

The state emergency finance board agreed to distribute $3,898,554 to re-imburse communities for the money the latter spent during the first three months of this year in welfare work.

The towns that participated in the welfare work will be reimbursed by the government to the extent of 90 per cent of their total expenditures for relief work.

Among the cities to get major portions of the allotment are:

Boston, $8,950,005.17.
Cambridge, $852,182.17.
Fall River, $858,253.46.
Brockton, $36,246.17.
Brookline, $50,096.17.

Mother Gets Lost War Vet's Insurance

Springfield, Aug. 1 (AP)—Leon N. Carpenter, Negro World war veteran who disappeared from an army transport 15 years ago, was officially declared dead today when Judge E. H. Brewster returned a finding by which Carpenter's mother, Mrs. Harriet E. Rose of Somerville, recovers war risk insurance of $10,000.

The case is unique. Carpenter boarded the U. S. S. Covington intoxicated after shore leave. He was put in the ship's brig and was last seen when the ship was a mile from land.

Mexican Treasure May Come to Boston

Mexico, D. F., Aug. 1 (AP)—Prof. Alfonso Caso, discoverer of the Monte Alban jewels now on display at a Century of Progress, conferred with Department of Education authorities today about putting the treasures on display later in other United States cities.

He said New York, Boston, Washington, St. Louis, New Orleans, Houston and San Antonio had asked that the presidential train carrying the jewels visit them. The treasures were found during excavations at Monte Alban, in Oaxaca State.

SEN. JOHNSON'S SON ENDS LIFE

Hillsborough, Cal., Aug. 1 (AP)—Archibald N. Johnson, younger son of Senator Hiram Johnson, committed suicide by shooting at his home here today.

Johnson was divorced from his wife at Reno June 17, and a few later married Comdr. Howard A. Flanigan, U. S. N.

The body, shot through the heart, was found about 3 a. m. by the butler, Sen. Johnson was summoned here from San Francisco.

The son left two notes, addressed to his parents. He was a practicing attorney in San Francisco, where his older brother, Hiram, Jr., also is a lawyer.

In the World War Johnson, a sailor, was wounded at Chateau Thierry.

The former Mrs. Johnson was believed to be in Washington.

Balbo to Hop Tomorrow

Shoal Harbor, N. F., Aug. 1 (AP)—On the strength of favorable weather reports from Ireland today, Gen. Italo Balbo and his air armada completed preparations for a take-off tomorrow on their Atlantic crossing en route back to Italy from the United States.

From Valentia, Ireland, came reports that labor troubles complicated Gen. Balbo's flight. The crews of 20 fishing boats hired to aid in refueling planes on their arrival in Ireland went on strike, demanding an eight-hour day and overtime pay.

Gen. Valle, chief of the Italian air staff, arrived at Valentia to confer with Gen. Balbo. It was believed Gen. Balbo will shortly be placed in supreme command of the navy, army and air ministries.

200,000 CHEER MOLLISONS

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Behind screaming police sirens and under generous showers of confetti and ticker tape Amy and James Mollison, England's famous flying couple rode the heroes' route to city hall today for an official reception and two of the city's shining gold medals.

Police estimated that 200,000 lined Broadway from the Battery to City Hall Park as the parade passed.

The medals were presented by Mayor John P. O'Brien.

After the reception the couple attended a luncheon in their honor at the Advertising Club.

Governor's Crime Board in Initial Session

Gov. Ely's special crime commission organized only after Atty. Robert C. Bushnell scored it as a "flash in the pan," planned to meet in the office of Daniel J. Lyne as 10 Federal st.

Bushnell's statement came in his rejection of service on the commission to which he was appointed with Lyne and Gen. Charles H. Cole, Democratic leader and World War hero.

Prof. Frank L. Simpson was appointed immediately to take the place of Bushnell after the latter told Gov. Ely that the crime investigation did not confer upon the members sufficient powers to bring about the apprehension of gangsters but merely confined their powers to recommendations to the Legislature.

M'GRATH FIGHT IS REOPENED

The first move of Mayor John H. Burke of Medford today, upon returning to his office after a trip to Chicago, was to appeal the decision of Judge Robert W. Hill, who ordered Sergt. John J. McGrath restored to the police department with back pay.

Mayor Burke had City Solicitor Lewis H. Ellers file an application for a writ of certiorari with the clerk of the Supreme court in Boston, as the first review step.

Burke removed Sergt. McGrath after learning he had been secretly married for four months to Claire Annette Murphy of West Medford.

Simpson Chairman of Crime Commission

The special crime commission appointed by Gov. Ely met for the first time at time State House today to give lay plans for its investigation and war on crime in Massachusetts.

The first step taken by the commission was the election of Prof. Frank L. Simpson of Boston University as the chairmanship of the committee.

Worcester Girls Feared Drowned

Worcester, Aug. 1—Discovery of two sets of girl's clothing on the bank of the Quinsigamond lake beach at Coes pond here early today led police to drag in the belief the girls had drowned.

In addition, officers are checking up in the neighborhood to learn whether any residents are missing.

TENNIS DISPUTE STILL IN AIR

That historic controversy existing between the police park officials and members of the Franklin Tennis Association remained unsettled today.

The clerk of the Dorchester district court refused to entertain a charge against two members of the club, who were desirous of making a test case.

Appearing before Clerk Athenis Sanford, the two men, who wanted a hearing to determine whether they were within their rights in playing on the courts at Franklin Field on Sunday mornings, learned that because they had not played a full game last Sunday they could not be brought up on charges.

Clerk Sanford advised the men, Edward Weisberg and John Brody, president and manager of the tennis association, to play a full game next Sunday, so that a test case could be made.

The tennisers were warned to cease playing by Capt. William Lewis last week to conform with a law which prohibits play before 1:30 p. m. on Sundays.

After a consultation with other members of the association the two men decided to play a few practice games so that charges could be made against them.

The men agreed to meet Capt. Lewis in court this morning and air the charges.

They promised to be on hand early Sunday so that they could violate the law to an extent which it will be necessary to try the merits of the case.

Chicago Police Shoot Notorious Thug

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—Eddie Mack, once the notorious bandit pal of Willie Doody, slain killer, today shot it out once too often with police.

Attempting to escape the scene of a holdup, Mack was sent sprawling to the street with police bullets in his body when he refused to obey a command to halt.

A companion of the slain bandit dashed back into a tavern brandishing a pistol and escaped through a rear door. Mack and his pal had invaded the Gra-Man Tavern on the West Side, menaced a dozen customers and forced the proprietor, Samuel Guarina, to surrender $50.

Mallorcan Seeks Freedom of Son

Palma Mallorca, Aug. 1—Miguel Gomila, a resident of Manon, Menorca Balearic Islands, said that he would petition for the release of his son, Miguel Jr., who has been imprisoned in Sing Sing prison in New York state several years after conviction of arson.

He said the petition would be based on the statement of a Puerto Rican woman who had admitted that she accused Gomila falsely at the request of her husband.

Police Step in as Wheel Drops

Rehoboth, Aug. 1—Losing a wheel from a new auto should be misfortune enough, but for Charles S. Angell, 22, of Providence, R. I. it was merely the beginning.

The car swerved up a driveway beside the State police barracks here. A trooper arrested Angell for driving an unregistered car, and for attaching plates from another auto. Angell had just bought the car and was driving it home on borrowed plates.

STORES LEAD IN HIRING HELP

Continue 1 From Page 3

mately $3 per week. The company will hire help gradually and will do their major hiring early in the fall, according to C. M. Henry, general manager.

NEEDS FILLED

The immediate needs of R. H. White & Co. were to have been filled today, according to B. F. Raphael, president. When the store begins to operate the full six day week again in the fall it will mean adding a substantial number of employes to the staff.

Raymond's, which is within the code hours now will not find it necessary to use extra help until the fall, but they will complete their plans shortly and the personnel department will start to make additions.

At Kennedy's the greatest change came to the employes in the reduction of working hours. John White, general manager, who put the code into effect, said that some of his help had benefited by an increase in wages to the new minimum, but that most other salaries had remained stationary. He planned to add help in the near future.

In the theaters, managers admitted that they were not sure yet of their ground, but that it did seem as though they would be forced to increase their staffs of ushers, doormen, porters and skilled help.

The entire clothing industry in Boston found itself under the new code, and manufacturers rushed to amend their scale of wages and hours to fit in with their recently made agreement, following the two-week strike of garment workers.

Working under the new scale which raised their salaries from $35 per week to $42 per week, garment cutters, pressers, fitters and pressers found themselves getting the advantage of a shorter working week. Their hours had been reduced from 44 hours per week to the new scale of 35 hours per week.

A flood of garment workers will go back to work as a result of the new code. The shorter hours caused manufacturers to send out hurry calls for men.

SIX SHOT DOWN IN MINE WAR

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—Six men were shot and wounded in a brush between pickets and deputy sheriffs at the Star Junction Mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company today.

A score of others suffered from the effects of tear gas.

Pickets said they stopped several men who intended going to the mine and were talking to them on the highway when several deputy sheriffs came up, threw tear gas and opened fire.

Dozens of shots were fired and a number of tear gas shells exploded.

Several bullets were through nearby houses and in one home pickets said a baby narrowly missed death. They said there were many women and children in the crowd and that while one was hit they were made ill by the tear gas.

Postal Veterans Retired by Hurley

Postmaster William E. Hurley has announced the retirement of four postal clerks and a letter carrier on annuities. Four of these five have records of over 25 years in the service.

The men are Luke A. Powers, 45 years; William A. Neal, 41 years; Augustus F. Wilder, carrier, 33 years; William H. Barry, 26 years and Robert A. Cole, 13 years.

Hat Workers on Code

Norwalk, Conn., Aug. 1 (AP)—John Cavanagh, president of the Hat Corporation of America, announced today that the organization had adopted a new schedule of hours and wages.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR NEWSIES

Out of a field of 32 ambitious newsboys, 10 candidates best qualified for college careers will be picked for scholarships tomorrow in Boston newspaper publishers and editors, educators, lawyers, bankers and business men.

The panel of judges announced today by the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation trustees, under whose auspices the scholarships will be awarded, is headed by Justice Charles H. Donahue of Supreme Court.

Candidates have all been certified as good students by their high schools, but scholarship will be placed last in the judging. Primary qualifications will be strength of character and financial need, according to Dr. Alfred E. Burton, former dean at M. I. T., scholarship adviser to the foundation.

Mayor of Lawrence Demands Daley Quit

Unless City Clerk John J. Daley of Lawrence resigns by 10 a. m. Thursday he will be summarily removed by Mayor William P. White.

That announcement was made by the mayor as result of a report from the state auditor 10 days ago, that a shortage of approximately $2,480 was found in the accounts of the city clerk's office.

Chester S. Lord, Noted Editor, Dies

New York Aug. 1 (INS)—Chester S. Lord, veteran newspaper editor and chancellor of the board of regents of the state of New York, died today at his home in Garden City, L. I.

Lord worked on newspapers in Oswego, N. Y., and in New York city, serving for 33 years as managing editor of the New York Sun.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

many good men, fighting such rebels, sending men on foot to drive them from their sand hills and rocky fastnesses.

The airplane, with bombs and machine guns, has simplified all that.

At present on India's northwest frontier a rebel whom the British call "The Mad Fakir" causes trouble, stirring up the tribes. But there is no sending of foot soldiers to be shot down from ambush.

Four squadrons of British bombing planes are standing by. Warnings have been dropped from the clouds, telling what will soon happen. The Mad Fakir has replied by shooting with poor rifles at the planes out of range.

If he persists in being bad, the British airmen will keep their promise and the four squadrons will bomb the rebel villages. A few bomb explosions, a little scattering of machine gun bullets among rebel horsemen, will see the end of this Mad Fakir. His followers will conclude that there is something the matter with him and his gods that seem unable to hurt the British flying birds.

War has changed, in favor of the gas engine and explosive bomb.

Poor, determined, sincere Mahatma Gandhi is about to start another campaign against British authority. From time to time, he seems uncertain as to whether his real foe is British rule from abroad or rule by the caste system of India.

For the moment he is against British rule, and will fight it with another disobedience campaign.

As a start on his "new sacred mission," Gandhi will close his College of Devotees, the only thing he possesses and cares for in the world. Some sacrifice, he says, is necessary.

Very pathetic is this leader of 240,000,000 human beings, ruled by a small nation 7000 miles away, with only 100,000 of its fighting men among the 300,000,000 of India.

Gandhi might learn from British history that the way to win independence is to fight for it, and make the other man sacrifice something. And Gandhi might learn something from the early history of this country, which also was ruled by England, and did not have 300,000,000 inhabitants.

Copyright, 1933, King Features Syn., Inc.

TRAIN EXCURSIONS

$3.50 Round Trip NEW YORK SUNDAY, AUG. 6

Going	Lv. Boston (So. Sta.)	11.00 P.M.
Sat. Night	Lv. Back Bay	11.05 P.M.
Arr. 5	Due New York	5.15 A.M.
Returning	Lv. New York	11.45 P.M.
Sun. Night	Due Back Bay	6.05 A.M.
Arr. 6	Due Boston (So. Sta.)	6.05 A.M.

Grand Central Terminal

$5 Rnd. Trip Low Rate Way Coach Fare on Night Trains to New York, via Shore Line Route. Leaves So. Sta. at 11.10 P. M. except Sats. Travel in Thru Comfortable Coach Trains and avoid highway congestion

ONE DAY WEEK-DAY EXCURSIONS

PLYMOUTH—$1.00

Leave So. Station 9.05 A. M. Daylight Saving Time during August. Returning leave So. Station 4.15 P.M. or 5.45 P.M.

OAK BLUFFS—$2.50
NANTUCKET—$3

Leave So. Station 7.35 A.M. Mondays in Vicinity during August. Returning arrive So. Station 5.52 P.M. or 10.15 P.M.

(EASTERN STANDARD TIME)

Limited number of tickets good only in Coaches on Trains indicated, now on sale at Ticket Offices, South Station, North Station, Back Bay and 47 Franklin Street

THE NEW HAVEN R. R.

A&P MEAT SPECIALS

At A&P MEAT MARKETS

prices effective for Boston and Vicinity

★★★ RUMP STEAK choice cuts LB. 39¢ — 100 "Chicago Contest" votes with each steak

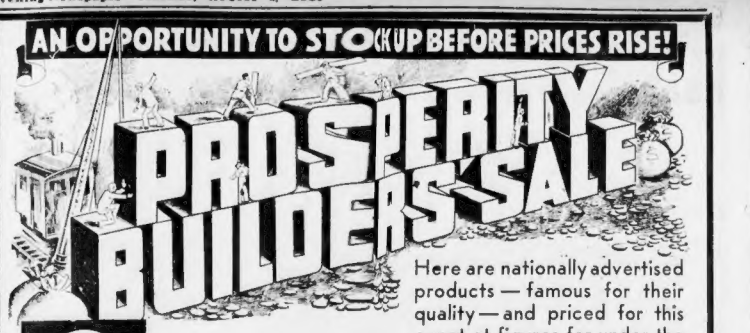
★ FANCY, MILK-FED, 3½ TO 4 LB. AVERAGE—
Chickens LB. 25¢
CUT FROM BABY BEEF—
Beef Liver LB. 18¢
★ SLICED—
Scotch Ham LB. 33¢
FRESHLY GROUND—
Hamburg LB. 10¢
GOBEL'S SKINLESS
Frankforts LB. 23¢
Swordfish fresh sliced LB. 21¢
HADDOCK fresh shore LB. 5¢
MACKEREL fresh small LB. 5¢

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
AT ALL A&P FOOD STORES

★GREEN PEAS 3 LBS. 17¢
100 VOTES
★LEMONS TRIPLE VOTE DOZEN 29¢
★CORN TRIPLE VOTE DOZEN 25¢
SQUASH SUMMER 3 LBS. 10¢
CARROTS 2 BCH. 9¢
CUCUMBERS HOT HOUSE 2 FOR 9¢

A & P MEAT MARKETS
The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Co.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO STOCK UP BEFORE PRICES RISE!



Here are nationally advertised products — famous for their quality — and priced for this event at figures far under the higher prices you will have to pay in a very few weeks. We suggest that you stock up now while these prices last.

"On to Chicago" Contest
Watch for * items they offer EXTRA and BONUS VOTES
 ITEMS carry 100 Votes Each

★★LUX	for all fine laundering	LARGE PACKAGE	20¢
LUX TOILET SOAP		3 BARS	18¢
LIFEBUOY		3 BARS	18¢
★★RINSO	The Granulated Soap	2 PKGS.	37¢

EGGS Wildmere DOZEN 17¢

★GREEN PEAS 3 POUNDS 17¢

Free Trips to the World's Fair for 28 Boys and Girls
Help your favorite—save your A&P Vote Coupons—get them with every purchase in any Mass. A&P Food Store. The youngsters are working to win. Help them. Coach them. Organize Vote Clubs to put your home town choice across!
Ask any A&P manager for details.

BEANS & KETCHUP QUAKER MAID 2 LGE. CANS / QUAKER MAID 14-OZ. BOT. all for 25¢
Quaker Crackels 2 PKGS. 15¢
Kre-Mel Dessert 3 PKGS. 10¢
Corn Flakes SUNNYFIELD 4 PKGS. 25¢
Maine Sardines CAN 5¢

Sweetheart Flakes — Rinses Easily — Quick, Bubbly Suds, for Dishes, Laundry, Washing Machine and all household uses. ★ 5 LB. PKG. 33¢

Rajah Salad Dressing — the richer, smoother Salad Dressing—mixed with a little cream it is the perfect dressing for salads
QUART JAR 29¢ PINT JAR 15¢ 8 OUNCE JAR 8¢

Prince Albert TOBACCO TIN 11¢
Bisquick tastier biscuits in less time PKG. 29¢
Bosco a delightful food drink JAR 23¢
Bovex Old Trusty Dog Food 3 CANS 25¢
★Wheat Bread made with whole wheat and white flour LB. 6¢

Kleen-lin	BOTTLE	13¢
Flit	PINT CAN 47¢ / HALF PINT CAN	27¢
Black Flag	PINT CAN	45¢
Tick INSECT SPRAY	PINT CAN	25¢
Reckitt's Blue	PKG.	6¢

Royal Lunch	NBC 1 LB. PKG. / NBC 1 LB. PKG.	Your choice EACH 19¢
Uneeda Graham
Crown Pilot	1 LB. PKG.

make ICE CREAM with BAKER'S BEXERT
VANILLA 10¢ CHOCOLATE SMOOTH DELICIOUS

prices effective for Boston and Vicinity

BUY NOW BEFORE PRICES ADVANCE—AS THEY WILL VERY SOON!

GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES		2 PKGS. 17¢
FORCE	ONE OF THE FIRST, AND STILL ONE OF THE BEST CEREALS	2 PKGS. 23¢
★ENCORE SPAGHETTI		3 CANS 20¢
FRANCO-AMERICAN SPAGHETTI		2 CANS 15¢

★Pillsbury Cake Flour	PKG. 25¢		Sunnyfield Bran Flakes	PKG.	10¢
Swansdown Cake Flour	PKG. 25¢		Grapenuts	PKG.	17¢
Aunt Jemima PANCAKE FLOUR	PKG. 10¢		Puffed Wheat	2 PKGS.	17¢
Beechnut Spaghetti COOKED	3 CANS 25¢		Post's Bran	2 PKGS.	25¢
Ralston's BREAKFAST FOOD	PKG. 22¢		Muffets	PKG.	12¢
Maltex	PKG. 22¢		Kellogg's Bran	PKG.	19¢
Cream of Wheat	28 OZ. PKG. 22¢		Pillsbury Bran	PKG.	16¢
Mello-Wheat MADE FROM THE BEST OF THE WHEAT	PKG. 15¢		Kellogg's Pep	PKG.	10¢
Wheatena	PKG. 22¢		Chef Boyardee Dinner	PKG.	33¢
Wheaties	2 PKGS. 25¢

A & P FOOD STORES of NEW ENGLAND
The Great ATLANTIC and PACIFIC Tea Company

BECAUSE HOUGHTON'S DO NOT HOLD "COURTESY DAYS" THE BEST HAS NOT BEEN PICKED OVER

HOUGHTON'S FAMOUS AUGUST FURNITURE SALE! NOW!

Mark our words:

This is a year to COMPARE August Furniture Sales

ASK FOR YOUR LEGAL STAMPS

You get one Legal Stamp with every 10c worth of purchase. A full book is worth $2.00 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise of your own selection.

Of course, you'll buy furniture during the August Sales. It's the only sensible thing to do if you will need furniture at any time in the future. However, you are going to have difficulty in determining where you will buy unless you shop around and COMPARE... and compare furniture, not furniture ads.

Certainly prices are up, and are going higher. We told you that months ago. We would have been stupid indeed not to have acted on our judgment, and we believe most other stores also bought in advance. Now it is up to you to determine which stores are going to give YOU the benefit of the low cost. Houghton's, we can assure you, is one that will.

TIME PAYMENTS ARRANGED

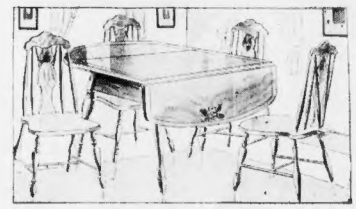
On all purchases of $20 or more you may place it on our budget plan. Make a small down payment and pay the balance in small monthly payments.

This is a good one to compare

GOV. WINTHROP DESK

22.50

Not only is the desk full sized and correctly proportioned, but it is a correct version of the coveted Gov. Winthrop in every detail. Finished in genuine mahogany veneers and gumwood. 4 claw and ball feet. Automatic lid supports, secret pockets and serpentine fronts.

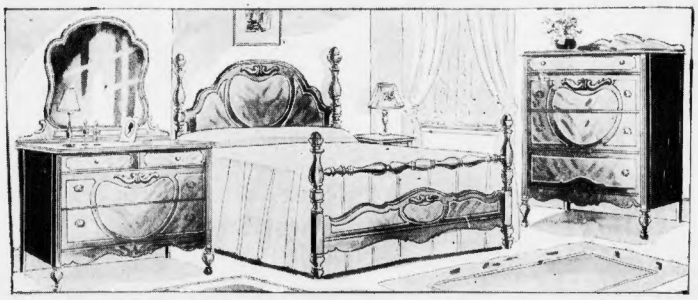


5 PIECE BREAKFAST SETS

12.75

SOLID MAPLE finished in a beautiful lacquer of shaded green or antique maple that is heat and acid proof. The windsor chairs are all braced back to withstand long service. Double drop leaf table.

WE SAY COMPARE, AND YOU'LL BUY FURNITURE AT HOUGHTON'S



3 PIECE WALNUT VENEER BEDROOM SUITE

$45

Here's what we mean when we say COMPARE. $45 isn't much to pay for a bedroom suite of any quality. But for a suite of this quality it's sensational! A large, roomy chest, full sized dresser with large swinging mirror and a full sized 4-poster bed. Finished in genuine figured walnut veneer and gumwood.

COMPARE . . . and you'll buy furniture at Houghton's

2 PIECE LIVING ROOM SUITE

$59

This two-piece living room suite has a solid hardwood frame with mahogany finished Queen Anne legs. Webbed construction throughout which keeps the upholstery and springs from sagging—thus giving longer service. Your selection of rust or green tapestry coverings.

COMPARE . . . and you'll buy furniture at Houghton's

8 PIECE DINING ROOM SUITE

$59

A suite like this is bound to be popular for a long time to come because of its outstanding quality and beauty. Beautifully figured walnut veneer and gumwood, executed in the style of the Tudor period. 60" buffet with ample space for linens . . . polished table with folding disappearing leaf, 5 side and 1 host chair with upholstered seats.

COMPARE . . . and you'll buy furniture at Houghton's

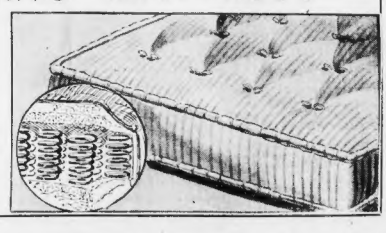
INNERSPRING MATTRESS

10.98

There are 180 resilient coil springs in the center that are deeply embedded in thick layers of sanitary white felt. Carefully covered in durable striped ticking. All regular sizes.



Houghton's

Houghton & Dutton Tremont at Beacon : Boston

WHERE LEGAL STAMPS ARE YOUR EXTRA SAVINGS

Scores of other items in this great sale

It would take more than a whole section of this paper to illustrate and tell you about the other sensational values in this sale.

CURLEY WORKS ON TAX RATE

Boston's 1933 tax rate will be announced by Mayor Curley on Aug 21. It was learned today.

Since his return from Europe the mayor has held conferences with Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox, City Auditor Russell S. Carven, Corporation Counsel Samuel Silverman and Abe Cazeau, municipal legislative agent, with reference to the matter. He hopes to bring the 1933 figure below the $35.50 assessment of last year.

Numerous requests for reduction of levies on property are pending before the assessors, and it is feared that these will prove one stumbling block to a reduced rate.

July Sizzler to Many But Weather Bureau Says No

Boston had six sizzling hot days during the month of July, with the temperature above the 90 mark, but despite this fact is the month as a whole the temperature was 2.5 degrees cooler and somewhat drier than the month of July in past years.

Records at the Weather Bureau atop the Federal building for the month of July this year indicated a deficiency of 65 degrees up to the 20th of the month, an average of three degrees below normal. The three unusually hot days of the month cut off, with a temperature of 98 on Sunday, 25 degrees.

July 3 started the month with a temperature of 95. On July 6, it reached 91 and on July 18 was 90. On July 24 and 30 it hit 88. On July 29 it reached 87. Records show that for 63 years there were only four days when the temperature hit over 90. Normal temperature for July is 71.7. On July 5 the minimum temperature for the month was 52 degrees. It was necessary to wear topcoats on that date.

There was a rainfall of 2.83 inches for the month. This was a deficiency of .75 inches. From January 1 to July 31 the total rainfall was 25.57 inches or 2.19 inches above normal. The average number of thunderstorms for July was seven, but to the hot days. There were nine clear days, ten cloudy days and 12 partly cloudy days, the usual number for July.

M'CORMACK'S BACKERS SPLIT

Reports of dissension in the ranks of political supporters of Jep. John W. McCormack, of Dorchester, whose candidacy for mayor was announced last Saturday evening by City Councillor John F. Dowd, reached city hall today.

Within 48 hours a group of World War veterans, friends of McCormack, are to write Dowd and demand that he withdraw as the McCormack standard-bearer and permit the Democratic City Committee to draft the Dorchester leader as the compromise candidate to oppose former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, it was learned.

Dowd has announced that he will present the McCormack candidacy to the members of his "Secret Fifty," local office holders, at a special meeting in Hotel Statler next Friday evening.

Dowd yesterday made peace with Mayor Curley, following a political war lasting more than three years, during which period he was the most severe critic of the present administration. Mayor Curley has announced that he will not support any candidate.

Thresher's

19 Temple Place
41 West Street

Dollar Sale Values in Silk Stockings, Silk Underthings, Men's Neckties!

DOLLAR SALE

Silks-Velvets-Laces-Cottons-Woolens

Here's your last chance to buy at reductions from old low levels. Prices are jumping rapidly . . . but we bought for this great sale weeks ago when prices were at the bottom; with that further advantage of manufacturer concessions obtained through cash deals and leadership buying! DOLLAR SALE PRICES are below present replacement cost! Comparative Values are based on the original price in our stock before this sale; or the replacement price when this sale is over!

All These for $1 Yard!

$1 Yd.

4.95 DULL LOOP VELVET, no mail orders
4.45 54-INCH MALLINSON'S BORDER CREPES
1.55 DUPLAN'S 50-PURE SILK PRINTS
3.95 PLAID VELVETS, no mail orders
1.15 PURE-DYE MARILLYN CREPES, 65 colors
1.29 EPINGLE FAILLE CREPES, 12 best Fall colors
1.39 CRINKLE AND SEERSUCKER SATIN, best colors
1.19 CANTON AND SATIN CREPE, every color
1.45 FRENCH LINGERIE CREPE, pastels
2.00 QUALITY BLACK SATIN
2.00 FAILLE SILK CREPE, Fall colors
1.45 ALL SILK TAFFETA, 50 colors
1.19 SILK BROADCLOTHS, stripes and checks
1.65 RIBBED SATIN, white, eggshell, rose-pink, black
1.59 HONEYCOMBED CHECK, NOVELTY SILK
1.39 ROSHANARA-LIKE CREPE, 17 colors
2.00 EMBROIDERED CHIFFONS, pastels and dark tones
1.59 CHECKED MOUSSLINE DE SOIE, best colors
1.45 CREPE CHIFFONS, 200 colors
2.45 ALL OUR FINE QUALITY MATALASSES
1.19 ALL SILK CHINESE DAMASK
1.55 ALL SILK RUFFLE CREPES
1.55 EMPIRE STRIPED SILK CREPES
1.55 36-INCH SILK DRESS LACES, also new cotton laces
1.95 SILK TRIPLE SHEERS AND GEORGETTES,

2 Yards for $1 . . . 50c Yard!

50c Yd.

.98 WHITE SILK BROADCLOTH
1.50 PURE-DYE SILK SHEERS, 6 colors
.89 FRENCH LINGERIE CREPE
1.89 VELVET-LIKE CORDS, dark colors
.69 40-INCH SHANTUNG CREPE
.89 CHINESE OPEN-WORK CREPE
1.49 HERRINGBONE SHEERS
1.00 HEAVY ROUGH CREPE
.69 WASHABLE SILK FLAT CREPE
2.95 CHENEY'S RYNDA SHEER CREPES
.69 50-INCH NATURAL PONGEE
.81 ALL SILK PRINTED CREPES
.98 36-INCH DRESS LACES, silks and cottons
1.00 PRINTED SILK ORGANDY
.79 BEMBERG PRINTED SHEERS
CHENEY'S CREPE FILETRIC, in Summer colors and white; in the Fall colors the price is now $1.00 yd.

3 Yards for $1 . . . 34c Yard!

34c Yd.

1.00 COLORED SILK GEORGETTE, 14 colors
.69 PRINTED CREPES AND SHEERS
.69 CRINKLE AND SEERSUCKER SILK CREPES
.48 GAY NINETIES ORGANETTE, NEW COLORINGS
.45 36-INCH PRINTED CAMILLA CREPE
.48 NARROW ALENCON LACES
.48 A GREAT GROUP OF NEW COTTONS, Printed NaRuff Crepes, Seersuckers, Piques, also printed radium seersuckers

No Mail Orders on First Three Items at 34c yd.

PRINTED CHIFFON VOILES, and suede finish linens ALENCON LACES—Edges, panelings and cut-outs 2½ to 4-inch widths. 20c Yd. 5 yds. for $1

A GROUP OF PRINTED COTTONS—Everfins, seed voiles, piques, linens. Replacement price 19c yd. 15c Yd. 7 yds. for $1

ALL SILK NATURAL COLOR JAPANESE PONGEE—Re-curtain the house NOW, make underwear and children's things.

PRINTED PERCALES AND PASTEL SPORTS COTTONS—Hundreds of patterns all fast colors, bought before the spectacular rise in cottons! Will be 19c yd. 12½c Yd. 8 yds. for $1

ALENCON PATTERNED LACES—1 to 5-inch widths, edges, bandings, cut-outs. Will be 15c yd. later. 10c Yd. 10 yds. for $1

CALIENTE SILK PRINTS
SILK SHANTUNGS, plain and printed
RAYON CORDS
TRAVELETTE COTTON PRINTS
PETER PAN MUSLINS
25c Yd. 4 yds. for $1

54-In. Fall Woolens

REPLACEMENT PRICE $1.95 TO $2.95 YD. Sheer dress weights, heavier suitings, and heavy Fall coatings from one of the country's foremost manufacturers.

$1 Yd.

ANOTHER GROUP . . . 2500 YDS. . . . VALUES UP TO $1.95 YD. Sample lengths and full pieces in dress and coating weights. No mail orders or samples.

50c Yd.

Visit THRESHER'S This Week . . . Or, Order by Mail

July 29 it reached 87. Records show Mayor Murphy Out for Office Again

A statement issued by Mayor John J. Murphy of Somerville sanctions the circulation of nomination papers for his re-election. The statement declared he was running as a Democrat although party designation cannot appear on the ballot. He will have an important statement to make on his campaign at the proper time, it was added.

Need Sound Morals for Free Divorce

Camden, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Free divorce proceedings, provided by law for those who cannot afford to pay, hereafter will be restricted to applicants who prove to be of sound moral character. For those who have $60, however, William J. Kraft, advisory master in chancery, will hold hearings regardless of their character.

Harry Metcalf to Head NIRA Editors

Concord, N. H., Aug. 1 (AP)—Announcement was made today of the election of Harry Metcalf of Newport, as president of the Publishers, Printers and Bookbinders Association of New Hampshire, organized for the purpose of operating under the National Recovery Act.

Aviators Own City Hall

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Jimmy Mattern finally got to City Hall steps today at noon.

Jimmy hung up a new world record for borrowing planes.

He says he deserves an honors for his trip. But he sure should get a Congressional Medal for coming back in this kind of weather.

The Mollisons are also due for a big New York reception for finding a soft spot in New England.

Wiley Post is in Radio City Music Hall this week with a ground crew of Roxy ushers.

Our Wall Streeters are always eager to answer famous aviators with ticker tape.

They might as well throw it away. Nobody's reading it any more.

(Copyright 1933, Distributed by Universal Service, Inc.)

O'RYAN HELD UP MAYOR ACTION

New York, Aug 1 (INS)—Maj Gen. John F. O'Ryan, who commanded the New York state national guard regiments in France, put off making a decision today on whether he would accept the nomination for mayor.

Samuel Seabury, who conducted the history-making investigation into New York politics, remained adamant in his refusal to support O'Ryan, because he said the general could not win.

Seabury has suggested Fiorello H. LaGuardia, as the only man with a following strong enough to defeat Mayor John P. O'Brien, the probable Democratic nominee.

JEWRY MARKS FEAST DAY

Today Boston Jewry celebrates the Feast of Tisha B'Ab, marked by fasting as one of the saddest days of the Hebrew calendar. The fast started at sundown yesterday and will end at sunset today.

The day commemorates three of the saddest events which have befallen the Jewish people. They are the destruction of the first temple in Jerusalem, the dispersion of the Jews from the Holy Land a year later and the expulsion of the Jews from Spain in 1492.

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

FOODS YOU KNOW BEST

At Recognized Savings

These are the type of savings that have made steady First National customers of thousands of New England families. Make your food dollars go further this week by taking advantage of these low prices on foods of known quality and reputation at your First National Store.

FRIEND'S BEANS Baked in brick ovens the old fashioned New England way - Pea, Red Kidney or Yelloweye — 2 LGE TINS 27c

IVORY SOAP 2 LGE BARS 17c — 4 SM BARS 19c

POST TOASTIES or KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES PKG 7c

R&R CHICKEN A superior product - fancy light meat - boneless - serve in many summer-time recipes — No ½ TIN 32c

UNDERWOOD'S DEVILED HAM 2 No ¼ Tins 33c — 2 No ¼ Tins 9c — 2 No ¼ TINS 17c

MIRABEL PRESERVES Strawberry - Raspberry Blackberry - Pineapple Cherry - Apricot — 2 1 LB JARS 29c

Finast Pineapple Crushed Hawaiian - packed by Dole - nice served in salads, fruit cup or summer desserts. — 2 NO 2 TINS 25c

Sandwich Spread Made from superior quality ingredients in our own kitchens - a real summer food special. — 2 8 OZ JARS 25c

Richmond Relish A famous recipe - sweet spicy flavor - nice with cold cuts - adds zest to your meal. — PT JAR 17c

MEAT VALUES at Our Markets

Pork Chops Best Center Cuts — LB 15c

SCOTCH HAM Sliced — Mild Sugar Cured. — LB 29c

HAMBURGER Fresh Ground Lean Meat. — LB 10c

MIDDLE RIBS Mildly Cured Corned Beef. — LB 11c

SHOULDERS Smoked - Mild Cure - Lean - Short Shank. — LB 11c

Tenderloin Steak Choicest Tender Cuts - well trimmed - heavy corn fed steer beef. — LB 47c

MACKEREL FANCY FRESH — LB 5c
HALIBUT FANCY EASTERN — LB 21c

FRESH FRUIT and VEGETABLES

Sunkist Lemons	Doz	29c
Mel-O-Ripe Bananas	4 Lbs	19c
Apples FANCY COOKING	5 Lbs	19c
Native Celery	Bunch	12c
Cucumbers NATIVE	Each	5c
Carrots	Bunch	5c

SPECIAL ALL WEEK SWEET RYE BREAD A Popular 10 oz Loaf — 6c

SPECIAL ALL WEEK WALNUT CAKE Made from a famous recipe in our daylight bakery. — EA 15c

FOR MAKING DELICIOUS ICE CREAM AT HOME
NO STIRRING — NO COOKING
For Automatic Refrigerator Or Freeze Ly Hand
VANILLA OR CHOCOLATE

E-Zee Freez	PKG	10c
Baker's Bexert	PKG	10c
Burnett's Ready Mix	2 PKGS	25c

MARSHMALLOW FLUFF	Jar Tin	17c
ALICE TOMATO JUICE	2 Sm Tins	17c
WESSON OIL	2 Pt Bots	19c
SHREDDED WHEAT	Pt Tin	23c
UNEEDA BISCUITS	2 Pkgs	23c
N. B. C. CRESCENT SANDWICH	4 Pkgs	17c
	Lb	23c

PRICES FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY

POLICE ATTACK MILK PICKETS

Rome, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Violence marked the opening of the milk strike today. State troopers used night sticks to disperse strike pickets at Constableville and Glenfield.

Twenty-five striking dairy men held up a truck on the Boonville-Lowville road and dumped 120 cans of skimmed milk en route to New York. Reports reaching this city said that other dumping was going on at the scattered points.

More than 100 farmers were massed in the vicinity of Boonville determined they said, to stop truck shipments from northern points. Forty troopers were in the village under orders to prevent disorder.

Nudist Colony Opens on Pacific Coast

Redding, Cal., Aug. 1 (INS)—The existence of California's first genuine nudist colony, on an isolated ranch on the slopes of Mount Shasta near here, was revealed today.

Natives reported that more than a score of men and women are living unclothed on the ranch. The group plans to seek affiliation with other nudist colonies in the East, according to reports.

4000 Drowned in Chinese Floods

Peiping, Aug. 1 (INS)—Telegrams from the Siaofu district today reported that Kwanchung and Shensi province are suffering from the worst serious flood in history.

Large areas are under water, hundreds of houses have collapsed, crops have been destroyed, and 4000 drowned.

Police Hold Up Bus; Driver Lacks License

Southbridge, Aug. 1—Twenty-nine bus passengers en route from Boston to New York were delayed nearly two hours here, while State policemen held Frank Burkenshaw, 29, of Boston, the driver, for operating without a license.

END OF 4 YEARS' DISCORD

MAYOR CURLEY COUNCILLOR DOWD

Oh where, oh where, did that hatchet go. Seems to have been tossed into the ocean or down the shute, but at any rate, it's lost, buried, forgotten, and everything is all right. Mayor Curley and City Councillor John F. Dowd of Roxbury have called off the war which for the past four years has existed between them. The Mayor and Dowd are shaking hands, as members of the City Council look happily on.

Scientist Seeks Skeletons of 86-Foot Creatures

New York, Aug. 1 (INS)—Dr. Barnum Brown of the American Museum of Natural Science will leave for the West today to fly above the Bighorn Basin in Wyoming looking for the skeletons of dinosaurs, which laid themselves down to die three hundred million years ago.

Dr. Brown does not expect to see the outlines of the 80-foot creatures drawn on the rocks by their fossilized bones. He merely looks for outcroppings of a type of sandstone, which is known to contain such relics.

He then lands and breaks up the stone by blasting and plowing.

If it is a good find he brings back the elements of the greatest jigsaw puzzle in the world. Men in the recesses of the museum spend years fitting together the backbone of one of these creatures, which as all know, could not brush its teeth and therefore failed to survive.

15,000 PLAN SHOE STRIKE

A general walkout of 15,000 workers in Boston, Lynn and Chelsea shoe factories faces employers today as a result of votes taken in the three cities last night.

The workers voted in favor of a "holiday" until union leaders and shoe manufacturers are able to come to terms on agreements to succeed those which will run out today.

The unions and the manufacturers have thus far been unable to come to any agreement on the new terms. Union officials seek increases of about 20 per cent pending the establishing of more permanent agreements.

4 REDS DIE FOR NAZI DEATHS

Altona, Germany, Aug. 1 (INS)—Four Communists were executed on the block today for killing two Nazi storm troopers in a political riot last winter.

The killings occurred on one of the so-called "Bloody Sundays" prior to advent of the Hitler regime. Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Prussian premier and minister without portfolio, refused to pardon the prisoners.

Mrs. Crossley Loses Purse to Thief

Fall River, Aug. 1—Mrs. William C. Crossley, wife of the district attorney of Bristol, Barnstable and Dukes counties, is today mourning the loss of a purse containing a valuable compact, which was stolen from her auto while it was parked near St. Mary's Cathedral here.

THREE SAVED IN SO. END FIRE

Investigation was being made today of the $100 fire which swept a three-story dwelling in Decatur st, South End, last night, during which three persons and a parrot were rescued by firemen.

Those rescued, including Michael A. Sansosso, its first floor occupant, and his pet parrot, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spiratol, who live in the second floor.

The fire apparently started in the basement of the building and worked upward through the structure. Sansosso was aroused by the smoke and his cries caused an alarm to be sounded. Firemen brought him to safety, and then returned to save his parrot. Mr. and Mrs. Spiratol rushed to a front window and attracted the attention of firemen, who went to their rescue.

BURNS FATAL TO NEWTON CHILD

A child's desire for matches accounted today for the death of Mary N. Phillips, 3, of Center st., Newton, and severe burns about the hands of her mother, who frantically tried to save her daughter's life.

Mary was at play on the front steps of her home and had secured a match in some manner her mother was unable to account for. The girl applied the lighted match to a piece of sealing wax and the flame spread to her beach pajamas.

Mrs. Gladys Phillips, 38, mother of the girl, was in the rear of her home when she heard the screams of the child. She raced through the house and beat out the flames, but the girl died shortly after she arrived at Newton Hospital.

Indian Woman Wins Oil Suit for $1,050,000

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 1 (AP)—A Indian cases, to quiet title to certain restricted Indian lands inherited by her from Lena Yahola Alexander, deceased fullblood Creek.

Her word telegram from the Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver affirmed Hanna Anderson, 26-year-old Creek Indian that she had suddenly become immensely wealthy after a lifetime of drudgery.

The telegram read:

"Roberts versus Anderson affirmed."

The message meant that Hanna had won a lingering lawsuit that had tied up oil funds now totaling approximately $1,050,000 for several years.

The Indian woman had instituted suit through Merrick A. Whipple, attorney in many celebrated In-

Traffic Lights for Quincy Danger Spot

Quincy police announced the installation of traffic lights at Beach st. and Billings rd., Wollaston, in an effort to eliminate accidents at the intersection.

There have been many serious crashes at the spot. Only two weeks ago there were four serious accidents within 48 hours at the corner.

Bloomfield Ordered Sent to Florida

Judge James A. Lowell has ordered the extradition of Meyer Bloomfield, of Washington st., Haverhill, to Florida, to answer an indictment there charging him with concealing assets from the trustee of his bankrupt estate and with taking a false oath in bankruptcy proceedings.

$2 TO NEW YORK
Finest Coaches on the Road
Leave 309 Tremont St., at Broadway, Daily
8 A. M.—1 P. M.—10 P. M. and 12 Midnight
Tickets Sold At Our HANcock 5300
HUB MOTOR COACH LINE, Inc.
Take TREMONT ST. SUBWAY CAR at Park St. and Get Off at BROADWAY.

BOB, HAVE YOU NOTICED THAT EVERYBODY SEEMS TO BE SMOKING CAMELS NOW ?
THEY HAVE FOUND OUT THAT CAMELS ARE BETTER FOR STEADY SMOKING!
CAMEL

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES... NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE!

SALE STARTS THURSDAY

OPENS 9 A.M.

Summerfield's News

AUGUST SPECIAL

FURNITURE - RUGS - CARPETS - JEWELRY - BEDDING - CROCKERY - RADIOS - LINOLEUMS - CURTAINS - ETC.

MILLION DOLLAR STOCK

TO BE SOLD AT DISCOUNTS 10% TO 90% OFF

SEE TOMORROW'S PAPERS FOR FULL DETAILS

STORE CLOSED TODAY

TO MARK DOWN PRICES FOR THIS GREAT EVENT

OFFICE OPEN TO CUSTOMERS MAKING BUDGET PAYMENTS - USE WASHINGTON STREET ENTRANCE

HELP WANTED

50 SALESMEN
25 SALESWOMEN

Some experience necessary . . . all prices marked in plain honest figures making selling quick and sure . . . Apply at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow . . . use Stuart St. entrance.

Tomorrow is the Big Day, Folks . . . Tomorrow the news of the Big Million Dollar Sale will be announced . . . and what an event it will be. We can close our eyes and see the enormous crowds . . . we enjoy looking at a sea of cheerful faces of eager bargain hunters . . . But we can't let the secret out until tomorrow . . . So watch for our big double page advertisements in tomorrow's papers.

WATCH FOR SUMMERFIELD'S BIG AD TOMORROW

SEE TOMORROW'S PAPERS FOR THE BIG DOUBLE PAGE ADVERTISEMENT

Copyright, 1933—A. S.

The Keyhole on the News

Work!

Dean Homer Albers, of Boston University Law School, is an enthusiast about manual labor and thinks that generally speaking it should pay well in financial returns. He is always seeking an opportunity to work with his hands. He is proud of the high stacked woodpile in the yard of his summer home and nowadays is busy digging drains in the wooded lot adjoining his property.

"Hard work may put nothing into one's hands but muscle," says the Dean, "but it's the finest tonic in the world. Good for body and mind."

* * *

First Huddle

The huddle system in football originated with Assistant District Attorney Frederick A. Crafts of Middlesex, formerly an Southern half-back on the University of Georgetown eleven. On graduation Mr. Crafts became coach at the Maryland Institute for the Deaf, where obviously the huddle system was mandatory. The mere crook of a finger would give away a play to keen sighted opponents. Mr. Crafts, who greatly resembles Mickey Cochrane of the Philadelphia Athletics, can talk fluently by hand.

* * *

Hot Mousey

You have heard of bugs in a motor, but the auto of Thomas J. Clarke of Marblehead Neck, has a tenant, whose whole point of view is a mystery. It's a field mouse. Every time the hood is lifted he sticks his whiskers out of a remote recess between the carburetor and the cylinder block. He looks pretty indignant, usually and goes back into his studio while the filling process is on. Considering the weather and hang-out behind the carburetor, Mr. Clarke thinks the mouse must be a South American entry, used to heat.

His Story

Superintendent Crowley casts a cold eye on some of the court results on well warranted arrests. Did he burn yesterday! A driver who demolished his car against a curb was charged with driving while more than slightly dizzy. His excuse was a masterpiece. Trying to save the life of a dog which crossed his path, explained the driver, he smashed his car onto the curb.

Not a policeman in sight, as USUAL, he said. Feeling faint, he took a shot of medicinal liquor to fortify himself. STILL no policeman. He took another drink, waiting. When a policeman finally arrived, the driver naturally, was double-groggy.

* * *

Old Crash

Walter Olcott, Charlestown historical writer, insists that America is becoming almost pernicously air-minded. Recently a friend of Mr. Olcott's was showing a western visitor the historic Bunker Hill area.

"This," said Mr. Olcott's friend, "is where Warren fell."

The visitor was much impressed, but a little baffled.

"Warren? Warren?" he asked, "where was HE flying to?"

* * *

About People

Lieut. Gov. Gaspar G. Bacon rides to his office every day in the subway . . . which makes him a democratic Republican . . . Ernest J. Gouldon insists on his chauffeur coming in a full stop at every railroad crossing . . . a technique widely approved by railroad companies— . . . Gov. Ely frequently lunches sitting up at a counter in a Washington st. spa . . . Peter F. Tague retells anecdotes of Vice-President Garner to after-lunch groups . . . Deputy U. S. Marshal John Harvey has a most analytical habit of mind . . . Attorney Frank R. Keenan nightly races from his office to his home to pick up his golf clubs, and from his home to his club in Braintree in a mad endeavor to get in 36 holes of golf before dark . . . Andy McCance is fascinated by the fact that President Roosevelt used only 75 words in urging Congress to pass the beer bill . . . Mayor Curley and Park Commissioner William Long repair to Franklin Park golf course almost every day in an attempt to settle that old question of supremacy . . . James Shore, Probate Court officer, is in Maine, just golfing and fishing . . . not for nominations, either . . . Franklin Hull, government engineer in charge of the erection of the new Federal building, got a laugh yesterday when a man looking for work asked him if there was an "e" in the middle of his name, which makes a considerable difference in the name . . . Edward L. Bishop of East Boston wants to be on the next School Committee . . . When Senator Joseph Langone went to New York to meet Mayor Curley, the Mayor's party was driven over the route of the Wiley Post parade, which had not yet started . . . The crowds took Senator Langone for Mr. Cler and cheered him to the echo . . . Joe bowed . . . Tom McQuaid and Joseph Brennan share the honors for the highest number of hand-shakes in a single day . . . When asked to name a probable winner in the coming election, Atty. John W. Newman replied, that the only reliable fortune tellers in Boston are Dun and Bradstreet . . .

DEBT PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE, ROOSEVELT

President to Advise Europe Larger Instalments Expected

Washington, Aug. 1 (U8)—President Roosevelt will inform debtor nations they must make their December 15 payments on the basis of existing debt agreements, Universal Service learns on highest authority.

He will further advise them he expects the December instalment to be considerably larger, in proportion to the amount owed, than the June payments were.

The President, it is learned, has definitely decided not to attempt to complete any new debt agreement before the December payments are due, and may not even begin consideration of the question.

Debts revision discussions with "eligible" nations—that is those which paid their last December instalments in full and their June instalments at least in part—were to have started early in August, but they were called off by the President. These nations are Great Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, and Rumania. Finland, the only nation to pay her June instalment in full, also is included.

Roosevelt Expects Wool and Ship Codes

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—The heat wave still dominated the summer White House today, keeping President Roosevelt again in virtual seclusion.

The progress of the industrial reorganization movement is receiving the particular attention of Mr. Roosevelt. He is expecting the early receipt of both the wool and shipbuilding codes.

Satisfied that the blanket agreement by industry to shorten working hours and raise wages has gone over the top on a voluntary basis, he is now anxious that the permanent codes for individual industries be put into early effect.

The people of Duchess County are leaving the President alone to get in a few days of complete rest. They are planning for some welcome home celebrations a little later.

Chaplin's Golden Girl of Other Years Lives Only for Her Boys

Even from the exclusive confines of her bath, Lita Grey Chaplin dispelled all reports of any romance to take the place of that which was shattered six years ago in her divorce from Charlie Chaplin, shuffling film comedian. Lita's chief concern is the matter of her two growing boys and her career as a songstress on the vaudeville stage, she said.

Romance With Comedian Obscured by Her Maternal Love

With no talk about romance but happy in her dual role as mother and actress, Lita Grey Chaplin paid Boston a visit today for her first stage appearance in four years.

"Naturally, I miss the boys," said the divorced wife of the frail Englishman, who skated on a pair of misfit shoes to fame.

TALKS OF CAREER

"But they are summering under ideal conditions and I'll soon be with them again."

The trim songstress, Lolita Mc-Murray by birth, Lita Grey by adoption and Mrs. Chaplin by a romance that faded, referred to her two growing boys, Charles Chaplin, Jr., nine, and Sydney Chaplin, eight.

It wasn't so long ago that the Chaplins waged a strange legal tiff over the same two boys when their mother saw careers in pictures for both but was defeated when the shuffling comedian won court intervention.

"But I'd rather not talk about that. It's all been thrashed out," Mrs. Chaplin said.

Instead, she preferred to talk of her career as a songstress and the employment of her pleasing talent on the stage, to augment the financial settlement of six years ago that was reported munificent.

ROMANCE FORGOTTEN

With a brief repertoire, the slim, sleek and beautifully-groomed girl, who was swept to prominence when Chaplin chose her as his leading lady, is touring the RKO circuit. Romance has been talked around her in the six years that followed her divorce from Chaplin, but she says she has had her fill of romance.

Although her name has been linked with many, including Georges Carpentier, one-time French heavyweight champ, the actress-songstress-ingenue declared she is still fancy free.

"Marriage is a forgotten item in my life. All the romance I want is in my two boys," was her way of saying it.

Shotgun Slugs Kill Bridgeport Man

Fairfield, Ct., Aug. 1 (NS)—A man believed by police to be Pasquale Bonofiglio, 50, of Bridgeport, was found murdered near Lawcroft Cemetery today. His chest and head were sprayed with shotgun slugs.

Welcomed by De Valera

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 1—President Eamon De Valera welcomed the delegates of the World Education Federation conference at a reception here.

Father of Star Dies

Los Angeles, Aug. 1—John A. Judge, 65, former editor of the Bridgeport, Ct., Herald and father of Ariene Judge, film actress, died at his Beverly Hills home today.

Retired Jurist Dies

Palo Alto, Cal., Aug. 1—E. Finl Johnson, 73, retired associate ju tice of the Supreme Court of t Philippines, died unexpectedly t day as the result of a stroke.

YOUR OWN HOME MADE MAYONNAISE TASTES fresh BECAUSE IT is FRESH

When you make your own mayonnaise you use an egg just out of the shell and choice Wesson Oil. Perhaps you use freshly squeezed lemon juice instead of vinegar.

These fresh ingredients are whipped to a creamy smoothness and served while you know they are fresh . . . so your own home made mayonnaise always has that delicious "just made" taste . . . and there simply isn't anything to compare with it.

WESSON OIL for making good things to eat

ROOSEVELT IN TARIFF PARLEY

Washington, Aug. 1—President Roosevelt will hold bilateral tariff conferences with Latin American nations and Canada in advance of the Montevideo Pan-American conference in December.

The conferences will be similar to those with French, British, Italian and other envoys prior to the London conference.

The President plans to conduct preliminary discussions through American ambassadors and ministers in the foreign countries, while Mr. Roosevelt himself confers with the foreign representatives here.

In some cases, however, it is planned to invite the larger countries to send special emissaries to Washington for personal first-hand discussions.

Negotiations with Mexico are to get under way in October. Discussions with the Cuban Ambassador, Oscar B. De Cintas, began prior to the President's departure last week.

Negotiations with Canada for a revised trade agreement probably will be started shortly.

Dramatic Episodes of History Modeled in Wax and Reproduced in Colors in The American Weekly, the Magazine Distributed With the August 6th Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Black Eyes in Hollywood

Hollywood, Aug. 1—Hollywood was buzzing about a "biddie party" at which John Considine, Jr., received a black eye and bruises.

Considine, film producer and husband of Carmen Pantages, daughter of the theater magnate, attended a party Saturday night at the Santa Monica home of a screen actress. The guests all came garbed in baby dresses.

Meager reports said during the hilarity Considine was knocked down and kicked by one of the other "biddies."

Dr. W. S. Mortenson, attending him at a Santa Monica hospital, said one eye is discolored and several ribs bruised, but none broken. Considine declined to be interviewed.

Waltham Residents Lose Parking Space

Waltham citizens who have been accustomed to parking their autos in the parking space leased by the city in Central sq. for the past three years will be forced to seek new locations after today.

City officials and the owner of the lot have been unable to reach terms. The city had been paying $500 yearly rental but Mayor Patrick J. Duane has decided the figure is too high.

JAPAN PLANS HUGE NAVY

Tokyo, Aug. 1 (AP)—The largest naval estimates in Japan's history were presented the finance ministry today by the navy ministry for inclusion in the Empire 1934-35 budget, now being drafted, it was learned authoritatively.

Included are 180,000,000 yen (currently $50,000,000) for new construction and 75,000,000 (£21,000,000) for modernization of capital ships.

For the fiscal year, beginning April 1, 1934, the navy is demanding a total of 480,000,000 yen ($190,000,000), exceeding by 30 per cent the largest previous estimates, those of 1921-22, prior to the Washington conference when Japan strained her resources to compete with the United States and Great Britain in the capital ships race.

Japanese and non-Japanese authorities judged that of the three primary motivating influences the most immediate is the Roosevelt administration's navy building program.

107,000 Benefit by Los Angeles Code

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (NS)—One hundred and seven thousand workers in the Los Angeles area were to benefit, starting today, under the National Recovery Act's blanket code, providing shorter hours and higher pay, it was estimated.

Firms employing in excess of that number of workers have already signed up for the code.

Scythia From Boston Held Up by Gale

Liverpool, Aug. 1 (AP)—A heavy gale with which August was ushered in kicked up such a sea that the liner Scythia from New York and Boston remained all night outside the bar and could not dock until morning. Among the passengers are 50 representatives of the American Federation of Women's Clubs on European tour.

Good News in Today's News

Details Elsewhere in This Edition

FEDERAL Reserve Bank of Boston announces further gains for New England industry.

STANDARD Oil of New Jersey announces advance in gasoline prices.

C. F. HATHAWAY Co. is making 50 per cent increase in payrolls.

NATIONAL Bellas Hess, Inc., reports sales volume for half year above company's forecast with rise in public buying.

WORLD consumption of cotton in season just ended shows big gain, New Orleans Cotton Exchange announces.

MORGANS AID RECOVERY

Morgan Furniture Co. executives, one of the first retailers to receive their National Recovery Administration posters on signing re-employment pledge. They were hurried out from the postoffice by Postmaster Hurley. Left to right, E. A. Pratt and Jonas Marson, Morgan Furniture Co. officials.

A&P NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

A Message to A & P Employees

This message is the first official announcement to A & P employees of the Company's immediate acceptance of President Roosevelt's National Recovery Plan.

THE OFFICERS of your company are cooperating with the President to increase employment by shortening hours of labor and to raise minimum wages. As you know, the terms of this agreement have been put into effect in all A&P stores, warehouses, food plants and offices.

YOUR CUSTOMERS may ask you what effect these changes will have on the retail price of food. Tell them that there has been no change in the long established A&P policy of selling the best of foods at the lowest prices. They will continue to save money at the A & P.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

JESSIE COSTELLO BEAUTIFUL ENIGMA AS SHE FACES DEATH

DEFIANT COURAGE MARKS CRISIS IN HER LIFE

Continued from First Page.

By EDWARD SULLIVAN

of her purse and attention beyond the convenience of her every rightful responsibility, has turned on her completely. Not in rage but in whining weakness he has prepared a lethal deadfall for her.

Defiant Courage Shows In Her Attitude

Through all the gingers of small town witnesses, the hellowing of prosecutors, the findings of experts she has sat as she sits today calmly, with her strong shapely hands—not tensed—but resting idly in her lap. She alone actually knows how Capt. William Costello died. If it is true—as the state charges—that he died on agonized schedule devised by her, she maintains a bold front indeed in the face of circumstantial detail that points, as it is pointed, to that eventuality. If she is guilty she is, unlike that unhappy Lothario Edward McMahon, whose conscience irks him to the point of nausea, the very image of defiant courage.

Guilty or not, the evidence so far in this trial has indicated that Jessie Costello is what is known as a bad woman. She is but a new fragment of verification of one of the oldest human premises. Frank Harris wrote of it in Magdalene so eloquently that Anatole France stole his narrative, which had as its purport the world old cosmic inquiry: "Why are bad women such good company?"

Bad as she allegedly was, there is an item or two regarding Jessie Costello which may be remembered.

Her Mother Love One Virtue Unchallenged

Three times she has been a mother. No one has contended that she did not or does not love her children. Oh, sure, it's unconventional love, but it's some brand of mother love, nevertheless. And that's something special—an almost automatic virtue, if you will. With all her widely publicized failings, therefore, there had to be some measure of good in this bitterly criticized character. Unavoidably so!

Cheap men or women, when passion driven, are likely to slight every responsibility with bitter irritability. It would seem that Jessie Costello had the amiable virtue of some reckless and pleasure loving types. She was at least always attempting to "make-up" in kindness, for her erring in conventionality.

In this case, testimony has indicated, there was a triangle. It consisted of Jessie Costello, the accused; William Costello, the deceased, and Edward McMahon, the disgraced. A fire captain, lucky to reach that eminence in a small town; a policeman headed for nowhere and a woman who, circumstances permitting—might be anything, anywhere.

In most tasks persons are measured by their qualifications for the exact labors and conditions in which they are active. Jessie Costello—on sight—has no natural qualification to withstand boredom, pettiness and intermittent poverty. Yet she did put up with some of these factors for protracted periods. Up to that time when she is alleged to have stepped out for the type of adventure which this too virile, young and alluring woman might conceivably seek—and find ever available.

Strange Contrast of Jessie And McMahon

No background of formal education or intelligent associations has given Jessie Costello the perspective which lends genuine contours to her ready smile in the matter of infidelity. True or false, she has heard in court the minute and brazen details of her alleged physical exploits with McMahon. She has registered disgust and indignation—which, regardless of the accuracy of this evidence—might well be her soundly normal reaction.

McMahon—says this desperately fencing woman—is a liar. This title may be correctly or incorrectly applied to him. But other titles which beggar this one in violence have come in a mumbled chorus from the newspaper readers of a nation. Psychiatrists contend that persons who move their lips when they read are deficient in intellect, but this writer contends that the mumbled chorus on McMahon was the epitome of intelligence complementing contempt.

From other small town witnesses has poured testimony of the most lurid type. Ex-friends and neighbors—stolid, not too observing—who suddenly in the climax of death got the drift of things that they had dully wondered about. As witnesses they were almost indignant. They have spouted dynamite from tight mouths in high impressive voices. Some have resembled harmless water guns, suddenly belching flame.

Salem is a staid, pretty town. From the ashes of "witches" burned centuries ago it has bloomed into an almost apologetic beauty. Fine old homes dot the town, flowers are everywhere.

Even Righteous Prefer Passion To Potassium

But in this lovely atmosphere, in perhaps the most prosaic and least interesting structure in the town limits, lethal circumstance has pressed in upon Jessie Costello. A pressure as slow and steady as the terrible machines which pressed out the lives of Giles Corey in this little settlement in the days of Salem horrors. Then a furtive word of evidence from any source sufficed for fiendish retribution. Always in the cause of right, so called, and administered by the so called righteous. With a vicious pleasure quite unanalyzed at that early and saintly period. God's own retainers, self appointed!

Today the righteous—more curious than murderous—nearly squeeze themselves to death to get into this little court room. And, despite their impeccable identities the pressure has been infinitely greater on days of sex rather than scientific revelation. For even the righteous—eternally thin-lipped—prefer passion to potassium. I think Jessie Costello is aware of this, for what other element in this trial could warrant that unfailing, knowing smile?

The character of that smile, incidentally, reminds me in a round about way of a slayer I saw die—years ago—in Chicago. He did not smile, he snarled. But he said something which might explain Jessie Costello's attitude as she gazes about this court room.

As she sees her former friends and acquaintances, forever alienated and aloof, as they thrill to what is for her a matter of life and death but for them merely the heat show in town . . . Oh, the slayer! He said: "I'll miss everything in life, except the swine who here watch my agony."

Something Is Due To Memory Of Costello

It would be hard to tell from what source—unless born in her—comes the sophisticated awareness of Jessie Costello. Anyway, she seems clearly to realize that in her bitter place, in its sexual nuances, but for the grace of God there is room for legions who remain undesignated.

There is a certain slack to this nationally interesting story at Salem, but I must conscientiously take up. Something—more than has been said—seems due Captain Costello. I felt in coming down here that really the men in this case should have their day in the public eye, even though they might make small impress on the public heart. McMahon and Costello!

Any workman—even a writer—is not sympathetically sense the agony which scientific authorities have verified.

Ten feet away from me is Jessie Costello and I have gone the way of all feature writer, in this case. My typewriter begged, with glints in its keys, to take the obvious course to voice in this tense hour of that woman's reckless life.

But Captain Costello will have a word here.

A Man Without Mirth Who Loved His Wife

Every bit of evidence adduced in this courtroom regarding William Costello has inevitably led to the statement that he was a man without mirth. Never did he say amusing things. Few of the witnesses had ever seen him laugh. And, did man, indeed.

He had risen to the position of fire captain in a small town. He loved his wife. Too much to please her. He loved his children and apparently despite the four lithic face, they loved him dearly in return. Men liked him. Though he lived without laughter they accounted for it in the fact that with his small income and sizable family he was barely making his way. Jessie, too, was extravagant.

Yet the troubled Costello could afford to loan his car to a chap named McMahon, a friend of his. He paid for the gas, too, for McMahon, a cheery fellow with no money for anything. Not even for a home, eventually, as Capt. Costello took him in. Out of Costello's scant salary came the money for clothes for McMahon's newly-arrived baby. Costello did not laugh at the thought of an upstanding fellow like McMahon needing all this help. There was no laughter in Costello. Not even bitter laughter.

McMahon, at least so he says, betrayed Capt. Costello. He liked Costello, too. But with his own wife in the hospital without clothes for the baby momentarily expected, McMahon, still according to his own story, spent much of his time in the embraces of Jessie Costello. Beside the bedroom window her children played, unaware. Costello, in miserable health, stayed long hours on duty.

Just An Honest Man, Fooled By Circumstances

His associates at the fire house thought the Captain worried. He talked only rarely, smiled never. They liked him, though. He was always considerate of his friends. Many a time they tried to give him a laugh, but although he put a hand on their shoulder, or otherwise showed that he was well disposed toward them the line of his face seemed to defy the feeble strength of mirth.

What he did not know should not have troubled him, one might imagine, but it is likely that things being as they were, he was a hurt victim of repeated slights, unintended.

Just an honest, serious man, made hard by circumstance. There was nothing, surely, dependent upon the tools he has to work with. Both of these men were tools, the helpless tools of the woman on trial. She found there so unsatisfactory in life as I find them in narrative . . . one pathetically weak, the other painfully dull. In my drab scribbling predicament, determined to say something about them, I look at the week face of McMahon and do not feel bitter enough this morning to hurtle him. I see the etched stomach of William Costello on the blackboard, yet I cannot sympathetically sense the agony which scientific authorities have verified.

Noted Mystery Writer Covering Costello Case For Boston American

VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE

Widow Tired by Freedom Plea

Salem, Aug. 1.—It was with a certain feeling of regret that Mrs. Jessie B. Costello heard the decision of her counsel to ask a directed verdict of not guilty.

In her various conferences with counsel, the comely widow has insisted that she be allowed to testify in her side of the alleged triangle exposed by Edward McMahon, "kiss and tell" policeman.

The matter seems to trouble her more than the fact that her very life is at stake, according to counsel.

to induce laughter in the months before he fell dead in agony.

I, like all here, have no way of knowing whether Jessie Costello, pretty as she is, had steel and venom enough in her to kill her hapless, well-intentioned husband. I hope she didn't.

But if by any chance she did—all things considered—it might be acceptable to send her coldly and impassionately to her own death.

And it might even be hoped that William Costello, off in that measureless area which baffles us all, might be permitted to know the answer of this strange earthly transaction. He might conceivably laugh—one of his first laughs—surely the last!

Lindberghs Fly Over Inland Ice

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 1 (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, making an aerial survey of sub-Arctic areas, have returned to Holsteinborg on the west coast of Greenland, after a flight northward to Ritenbenk, Greenland, a dispatch from Holsteinborg said today.

They flew from Godthaab north to Holsteinborg last week after making the former place a base for a series of short flights over the inland ice. Their base ship reached Holsteinborg last Thursday.

15,700 Chain Stores Operate on Code

New York, Aug. 1 (INS)—Industry in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut today rushed to enroll under the N. R. A. blanket code agreement to raise wages shorten hours. Ten thousand accepted the agreement yesterday and about 200,000 others were expected to line up today.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., with 15,700 stores throughout the country, put its entire organization under the N. R. A. plan today.

FILMS MOVE TO END STRIKE

Hollywood, Aug. 1 (AP)—Actors, writers and directors in Hollywood's film colony today moved to end quickly the prolonged argument between producers and technicians which cost thousands of men on strike July 24.

Through the agency of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences—which has stated the walkout may work irreparable harm to the industry—hearings were started by a fault-finding committee to get at the nub of the controversy.

A veteran actor, Lewis Stone, a prominent director, Frank Lloyd, and a versatile writer, Carey Wilson, were named as members of the group which launched the investigation with approval of the strikers.

Killed by Two Bullets

New York, Aug. 1 (INS)—A tattooed insignia with a heart containing the word "mother" and the date, 1927, were the only means police had to indentify a man thrown out of an automobile today near the civic center of Brooklyn with two bullets in his head.

Arkansas for Repeal

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 1 (AP)—Arkansas called a convention here today to cast the state's official vote for repeal of the 18th amendment. In a referendum July 18, the state voted 67,623 to 46,001 for repeal and elected 75 delegates to register the action formally.

LIGHT-for warm days- Easy to digest- Yet a complete Food—MILK and Johnny Milco-Malt

AT CHAIN AND FOOD STORES EVERYWHERE

ECONOMY GROCERY STORES
ECCO
Famous FOODS AT THRIFTY PRICES

Burnett's READY MIX
Ice Cream Dessert 2 pkgs. 23c
Makes Vanilla or Chocolate Ice Cream

Moxie	Cool and Refreshing contents	2 large bottles	25c
Corn Flakes	Kellogg's	3 pkgs.	20c
Dried Beef	Wafer Sliced 2½ oz jar	10c	5 oz. jar 19c
Green Giant Peas		2 No. 2 cans	29c
Ecco Peaches	Fancy Sliced or Halves	2 No 2½ cans	25c
Baked Beans	Ecco — Calif. Pea, Yellow Eye, Kidney	2 lge. cans	25c
Ammonia	Full Strength	quart bottle	19c
Motor Oil	100% Pennsylvania Medium or Heavy	2 gal. can	95c

THE BEST IN MEATS!

THICK END CORNED BEEF	lb.		17c
Chuck Roast	Boneless	lb.	19c
Calves' Liver	Sliced	lb.	35c
Shoulders	Smoked	lb.	10c
Pork Chops	Center Cuts	2 lbs.	27c
Fowl	Fancy Milk Fed 3-3½ lb. Average	lb.	17c
Hormel's Spiced Ham		lb.	25c
Luncheon Loaf	Gobel's	lb.	19c
Lamb's Tongue		14 oz. jar	29c
Filet of Sole	Fresh Flounder Variety	lb.	15c
Fresh Haddock		lb.	5c
Fresh Mackerel

ECONOMY GROCERY STORES

You Want SECURITY
Established in 1862, this company has grown steadily in business and asset security and has maintained a position as one of the strongest Life Insurance Companies in America
John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
Est. — Over 3 Billion Insurance in Force

UNITED DENTAL SYSTEM
Specializing in Plate Construction Only. Repeats for ALL THIS WEEK. These Special Low Prices.

LIGHT PINK PLATES	WAS $20	NOW	$9.50
GOLD DUST VALCANITE	WAS $25	NOW	$10
VYDON PLATES TRUBITE TEETH	WAS $40	NOW	$22
New Process Plate (specially constructed in this office) PAINLESS EXTRACTIONS $1.	WAS $50	NOW	$35

LOWER PLATES SPECIAL CONSTRUCTION for FLAT MOUTH $15
Broken Plates REPAIRED $1
EXTRACTIONS (Gas) $2

UNITED DENTAL SYSTEM
Dr. D. H. Manis—Surgeon Dentist
172 Tremont St. Cor. Avery
P. S. Nettis—Plate Technician, Inc.
Open Evenings by Appointment

NRA MEMBER U.S.
WE DO OUR PART

The stores whose names are listed below have signed the Emergency Re-employment Code promulgated by President Roosevelt

We enthusiastically pledge our support to the great efforts which the President is making to increase employment and purchasing power, so that the whole nation may enjoy a return to prosperity.

BEST & CO.
BIGELOW, KENNARD & CO.
BEATTIE & McGUIRE
P. F. BONNEY'S SONS
JOSEPH BRECK & SONS
JAMES W. BRINE CO.
CARBONE, Inc.
CHANDLER & CO.
THE CORA CHANDLER SHOP
CONRAD & CO.
DENNISON'S
EASTMAN KODAK STORES
ECONOMY GROCERY STORES
WM. FILENE'S SONS CO.
FIRST NATIONAL STORES
PETER L. FLYNN CO.
I. J. FOX
GILCHRIST CO.
HARVARD COOPERATIVE SOCIETY
HEWINS & HOLLIS, Inc.
THE E. S. HORN CO.
HOUGHTON & DUTTON
HOUGHTON-CORNERY FLOWER SHOP
C. F. HOVEY CO.
J. B. HUNTER CO.
JAY'S
JORDAN MARSH CO.
JOYCE BROS. & CO.
KANE'S FURNITURE CO.
KAY JEWELRY CO.
KENNEDY'S
LAMSON & HUBBARD
LEHRBURGER & ASHER
LEOPOLD MORSE CO.
NICKERSON THE HABERDASHER
THOMAS LONG CO.
MacDONNELL'S
MOLLER'S, Inc.
MORGAN'S FURNITURE STORES
F. P. O'CONNOR CORP.
THE OLD CORNER BOOKSTORE
S. S. PIERCE CO.
JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO.
N. SALLINGER
SCOTT FURRIERS
SCOTT & CO., Ltd.
SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO.
THE 5 STORES
SHREVE CRUMP & LOW CO.
SMITH PATTERSON CO.
SPAULDING, MOSS CO.
SPAULDING & RIEDEL
R. H. STEARNS CO.
A. STOWELL & CO.
SUMMERFIELD CO.
THAYER McNEIL CO.
THORP & MARTIN CO.
THRESHER BROS.
TOURAINE GLOVE CORP.
WARD'S
WASHINGTON JEWELRY CO.
WETHERN'S, Inc.
R. H. WHITE CO.
T. D. WHITNEY CO.
WORLD RADIO CORP.
WRIGHT & DITSON
YAMANAKA

These stores are members of the Retail Board, Boston Chamber of Commerce

JESSIE'S CAPSULE PURCHASE SPRUNG AS STATE DEATH LINK

WIDOW NERVOUS OVER COUP; PREPARES TO TELL STORY

Continued from First Page.

By WIN BROOKS

poison may have entered Fire Capt. William J. Costello's stomach in capsule form.

On it, at 11:11 o'clock this morning, the government dramatically rested its case, and there was a tense pause as the jury was excluded and Francis E. Rafter, defense counsel, began a lengthy and impassioned plea for a directed verdict of not guilty—a plea that brought tears raining down from the smiling widow for the second time since her trial began two weeks ago.

The tears came when the perspiring Rafter, mopping his forehead, shook his fist ceiling-ward and delivered a vitriolic laceration of Edward J. McMahon, the "kiss-and-tell policeman," who claimed an illicit love affair with the widow.

"He Put Scarlet On Her, But Not in Murder"

"It's the old story of Adam and Eve again," Rafter cried. "Blame the woman!

"All he said about Jessie Costello was that he and she had an illicit love affair. He put the scarlet letter on her forehead as was done by a distinguished novelist of this town years ago. But that's all he did.

"Nothing McMahon had to say bears upon a charge of murder and the state has failed to prove its case."

Jessie, who had listened calmly to the explosion of the state's bombshell that she had purchased capsules, sobbed quietly now and when she left the courtroom at 1 o'clock her face was tear-stained although she did her best to smile.

Rafter's argument was still to be completed and there appeared a likelihood that in the event of its denial by Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, the defense would have barely time today to outline its case and that Jessie, first witness for herself, would not reach the witness stand before tomorrow morning.

There was hardly room to move in the big court room, as the state closed its case with a 46th witness. Extra settees had been brought in to accommodate those who came with the expectation of seeing Jessie take the stand.

The atmosphere was stuffy, the heat intense. The white-haired Dr. William F. Boos who had exhibited a cyanide-loaded capsule to the jury last week, gently fanned himself at the state counsel table.

Jessie Nervous Over State's Capsule Coup

On the platform of the judge's bench, arrayed like so many tin soldiers, stood the exhibits of death, the can that contained oxalic acid, the larger can that contained cyanide, and the still larger coffee can in which acid and cyanide were mixed a short time before Costello died. There was an atmosphere of tense expectation.

"The state is about to rest," said Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg. "We have one more witness."

The state's crucial testimony was the first linkink up the murder theory of cyanide in a capsule. It linked here testified that a gelatinous-like substance found in the victim's stomach by Dr. J. Sweeney Rooney was consistent with the substance of a capsule.

George M. Gassell, assistant pharmacist at Millen's drug store, Peabody, a few doors from Curtis' drug store where Jessie bought cyanide the night before her husband's death was called as the government's last witness of any of what has gone before, most important witness.

Costless, with his shirt open at the throat and wearing no necktie, he took the stand obviously ill at ease at finding himself in so important a role.

After questioning by Assistant District Attorney Green he said Jessie and "another lady" appeared in his store about four months preceding Costello's death and that Jessie asked for capsules.

He said he sold her one dozen empty capsules for 25 cents. A box of capsules was shown him and he said they were about the size of those he sold the smiling widow.

They were also about the size of the cyanide-loaded capsule exhibited to the jury last week by Dr. William F. Boos, toxicologist, who said it contained 2.6 grains of cyanide, two-tenths of a grain more than a lethal dose.

The capsules in the box were passed to the jurymen and each in his turn looked at them closely.

Jessie Excited Over Coup, Prompts Grill

Jessie, meanwhile, was in an animated whispered conversation with Rafter, vigorously shaking her head and obviously excited, one of the very few times she has displayed emotion.

Russell said he could give no definite date of purchase but estimated it was about four months before the alleged murder.

Cross-examined by Rafter he said he couldn't say whether the purchase was made a year ago last March and that the lady with Jessie was named Bisson.

To one question in redirect he repeated that the purchase was "about four months before Mr. Costello died."

The state's surprise witness came to court from the golf links.

Russell, who testified regarding Jessie's purchase of capsules, had not told the authorities about it, but word reached them yesterday and today Inspector Murphy of Peabody was sent to find him.

Inspector Murphy found him playing golf on a Peabody course, plucked him out of a foursome and rushed him to court, which accounts for his informal appearance.

"The State rests, your honor," was Cregg's announcement as Russell walked from the stand.

Judge Frederick W. Fosdick dismissed the jury in order to hear Rafter's motion for a directed verdict.

There was one other witness as the State closed. Samuel J. Kerr, swarthy insurance man who wanted to say everything but what the court wanted to hear, testified that three days before Costello died he wrote a letter requesting cancellation of $3000 worth of his $5000 life insurance.

The letter was admitted by Judge Fosdick on Cregg's statement that it would be used as an argument by the State that Costello had no intention of killing himself.

Kerr started off on several conversational veins paying no attention to questions and was finally quieted until Judge Fosdick, after two admonitions, said:

"You're going to get in trouble if you don't look out, Mister."

State's Proof Against Suicide Read to Jury

Kerr testified under examination by Dist.-Atty. Cregg that he signed Capt. Costello up for $5000 insurance and that he collected premiums.

Kerr said he talked with Costello eight or nine months ago. Following the talk he received a letter from Costello asking him to prepare the necessary papers for cancellation of a $3000 policy.

The letter was admitted as an exhibit and was read to the jury. It read:

"Feb. 14, 1933.

"Sam:

"I want you to get the papers ready so I can cash in the $3000 policy and get a loan of $75 on the $2000 policy. The policies are in me locker at the fire station. Be sure and mark where to sign. I can't carry the $3000 policy any longer.

"Very truly yours,

"W. J. Costello."

Judge Fosdick instructed the jury that the letter was admitted for the sole purpose of showing the attitude of the deceased toward suicide.

The government's argument is that Costello would not have attempted to cancel the insurance if he had contemplated suicide, Judge Fosdick instructed.

Kerr was taken under cross-examination by Defense Counsel Rafter. He declared he received the letter the Monday before Costello died.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Ryan read the policies to the jury when Cregg declared the print was too fine for him to read.

The policies were offered as exhibits and the district attorney asked for a stipulation, saying he thought the state was ready to rest. When court convened, however, the prosecutor called Russell.

In answer to questions by Atty. Cregg, Russell said that Mrs. Costello had purchased a dozen capsules from him about four months before Costello died. A box of capsules, similar in size, were offered as an exhibit.

Defense Fights for Not Guilty Verdict

He was cross-examined by Atty Rafter.

Q—Capsules similar to those in that box were bought by Mrs. Costello in March, 1932? A—I don't remember the date.

Q—Who was with Mrs. Costello when she came to your store? A—A short lady. I didn't know her.

Q—If I say it was Mrs. Bisson, would that help you identify her? A—No, sir.

Q—There was only one occasion that Mrs. Costello bought capsules? A—Yes.

Russell said the store was changed about some two years ago and it was since that time that Mrs. Costello bought the capsules.

Under re-direct examination by Atty. Green, the witness said he did not think it was more than four months prior to Costello's death that the capsules were sold.

Green finished with the witness and the District Attorney rose.

"The Commonwealth rests, if Your Honor pleases," he said. It was then 11:11.

A motion for a directed verdict of not guilty was filed immediately by Rafter and the judge sent the jury from the room while he heard the argument.

The jury was excused after the government rested and Atty. Rafter argued on the motion.

His language was earnest, he employed much feeling in making his points, and Mrs. Costello listened intently to the argument which might mean her freedom.

"I recognize, of course, that I'm not the man to tell your honor what the law is," he began. "The only reference I will make is a statement of outstanding cases for the purpose of discussing the testimony offered by the government.

"No Conclusive Proof of Poison Murder"

"The Supreme Court has said the circumstances must be such as to produce a moral certainty of guilt. The government has no right to go to the jury unless evidence adduced in court is such as to produce a moral certainty of guilt.

"The government has offered 66 or 45 witnesses. Some have contributed a little and others

MONTHS OF WAITING ENDS

Jessie Burnett Costello, accused of the murder of her husband, was all smiles today for after four months of waiting "her day was at hand." The day which she has been waiting for, that on which she hoped to answer her accusers was at hand. She is scheduled to be the first witness called in her defense sometime today. No wonder she smiles. (Boston American Photo.)

Jessie's Jabot Sets Off Her Beauty

Salem Courthouse, Aug. 1—Jessie Costello, wearing the turban style of her four hats, and the same black sheer crepe suit, appeared in court this morning ready for her "big moment." Around her neck was a white Venetian pointed jabot, a becoming relief to the sombre black.

Jessie's Eyes Hang on Her Pleader

Salem Courthouse, Aug. 1—Jessie glued a fixed stare in which could be found inestimable admiration, on Atty. Francis E. Rafter as he argued a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty before Judge Fosdick today.

"She's No Gun Moll, But a Loving Wife"

"Then we come to Katherine Strobehld. She came into the house and meets Jessie in the ordinary manner. There is no nervousness on the part of the defendant, she testified. Human emotion is so great that there would be reflected in her attitude the horror of what she had done.

"She told Katherine to do her ordinary duties, but not to wake Bill when she went upstairs. It is an ordinary request for a considerate wife to make.

"Then she goes upstairs. She comes down frightened and crying, but that is conformity with human nature? She is not the gun moll who can put on a poker face. Isn't it significant to say that her screams were the natural emotion of a devoted mother, who finds the body of her husband?

"Men Walk to Death With Smile on Lips"

"There isn't any question that Costello wasn't a gay man walking out of the death house, but I submit there might have been circumstances which would have caused him to laugh. A soldier going to death in battle or a condemned man walking to the electric chair might laugh.

"The only thing they have the right to consider is his statement that he was going to be a pallbearer the next morning. But what intervened? When he said he would be back in the morning the pain that fortured him that night was not present. He went home and walked the floor until 3 a. m.

"He was a devoted father and husband. When he said that to O'Neil, Brawley and Burns, I'm confident he was wedded to the idea he would return the next morning.

"He had no way of knowing what would happen. He wasn't a seventh son of a seventh son.

"What do they say? The district attorney is entitled to say that Costello said he would come back the next morning.

"I expect that they would be reluctant to tell of the relations between this defendant and the deceased. Bug the superlative terms they used were, 'I saw no trouble; she was a devoted mother.'

"These came from the mouth of people who were intimate friends of Bill Costello. They came from the mouths of people who knew them as 'Bill' and 'Jessie.'

"The government establishes out of the mouths of their own witnesses a devotion between Bill Costello and the defendant at the bar.

"I call your Honor's attention to the fact now, before I forget it, that if she was motivated by a murderous desire she would not have picked a morning when his absence would be marked. A morning when he was to have been a pall-bearer at the funeral of a friend.

"Next comes Purcell with his Sherlock Holmes eyes. It is the contention that the body was moved. It is sensible to believe that if the body was dragged there would be wet spots on the floor. Purcell made an examination and said he saw no wet marks on the floor.

"Purcell walked into the death house and found this woman in tears. Not once came from his mouth the simple expression 'I'm sorry.' He goes upstairs, finds a glass in the bathroom and testifies here that there was no odor, no smell from that glass.

"If William J. Costello went to eternity at 8 o'clock is it shocking to our common sense that the glass would be dry when Purcell examined it.

"The government wants both your honor and the jury to say, 'Well, I guess the glass wasn't used.' It is merely inferential.

"Purcell puts the body in one position. Prendible who came into the house with him places him in another position. That will show the frailty of frailty of human memory. They both looked at the body and came down from the bathroom in an important factor in this case.

"Other Tesimony All Like That Snowboll"

"Mrs. Marie Purcell comes in here. She says nothing of importance. I feel sorry for her, but she was one of the long procession of witnesses.

"I say that when the Purcells, Prendible, the chief of the fire department came in here and told of her relations with her husband that it has the force of the proverbial snowball.

"Everything contributes to show the innocence of this defendant for Bill Costello.

"Chief Mahoney comes in here and tells of finding a revolver and five cartridges in the desk. He tells of the lectures from the book in an effort to fatal cyst de is told about. Costello was uncommunicative.

"That is the description given here by those who were intimate with him. Each recited this description in the adjectives used by the one who preceded him on the witness stand.

"All the talk about the kinds of polish used by the fire department was disproved by saying that Costello did not have the power of purchase nor the right to take it home with him. There is nothing in the records to show that he had the power to take it with him for use in his own home.

"John Barrett said, 'I saw him taking pills six weeks before he died. He took them for his stomach.' Barrett knew Bill was receiving money from the government. The fact remains that Bill Costello had sufficient ailments, that disability, stomach disability, entitled him to some money from the federal government.

"I say that between closing between the kind words that Bill

(Continued on Page 11, Column 4)

Colorado Cloudbursts Leave Trail Of Ruin And Death
SHUTE BEATS WOOD IN BRITISH PLAYOFF, 149-154
Washington Crew Sweeps Across Finish Six Feet Ahead Of Yale Oarsmen
Seaplanes and U. S. Cutter Speeding to Aid Mutiners
EARHART SPANS U. S. FOR NEW AIR RECORD
Kent Crew Captures Thames Cup
Set Up Reign of Terror As China Grimly Trains Men to Repulse Invasion
HEARST
NEWSPAPER HEADLINES COME TO LIFE!
METROTONE
NEWS
FOR LATE NEWS BULLETINS TUNE IN ON BOSTON AMERICAN
"The GLOBE TROTTER"
DAILY RADIO BROADCASTS
STATION WAAB
11 a. m.
12:30 p. m.
3 p. m.
7 p. m.
THE GLOBE TROTTER
What a thrill! You pick up a copy of this, your favorite newspaper, and read of the amazing events that happen daily the world over. You attend your favorite motion picture theatre—and lo and behold a miracle before your very eyes—in less time than seems possible the actual events of which you read are re-created for you in actual talking motion pictures! Count on HEARST METROTONE NEWS for the fastest, most complete newsreel coverage!

LOOK FOR HEARST METROTONE NEWS AT THESE LEADING THEATRES

Loew's State Theatre, Loew's Orpheum Theatre, Fine Arts Theatre, Columbia Theatre (Boston). Thompson Sq. Theatre (Charlestown, Mass.). Chelsea Theatre (Chelsea, Mass.), Mystic Theatre (Malden, Mass.), Mattapan Theatre (Mattapan, Mass.). Revere Theatre (Revere, Mass.). Strand Theatre (So. Boston). Winthrop Theatre (Winthrop, Mass.). State Theatre (Winthrop, Mass.).

MASSACHUSETTS

THEATRE	CITY	THEATRE	CITY
Victoria	Lawrence	Mansfield	Mansfield
Boulevard	Revere	Pembles	Maynard
Cunningham Park	E. Milton	Methuan	Methuen
Mile Hour	Three Rivers	State	Milford
Modern	Lawrence	Bradley Sq.	New Bedford
Quincy	Quincy	Rialto	New Bedford
Bayside	Allerton	New Bench	New Bedford
Orpheum	Dorchester	New Coast	Norwood
Capitol	Fall River	Orleans	Orleans
Mahaiwe	Gt. Barrington	Tyler	Pittsfield
Victoria	Greenfield	Old Colony	Plymouth
Bijou	Holyoke	Rialto	Salem
Circle	Holyoke	Strand	Saugus
Majestic	Holyoke	State	Stoughton
Grand	Indian Orchard	Jamesmck	Swansea
Strand	Ipswich	Elite	Taunton
Victoria	Lawrence	State	Webster
Plymouth	Leominster	Standard	W. Lynn
Rialto	Leominster	Elite	Watertown
Royal	Lowell	Majestic	Worcester

RHODE ISLAND

State	Providence	Castle	Mt. Pleasant
Park	Auburn	Royal	Weaverville
Pastime	Bristol	Broadway	Pawtucket
Community	Centredale	Community	Wakefield
Greenwich	E. Greenwich	Community	Warren
Hollywood	E. Providence

MAINE

Capitman	Bar Harbor	Colonial	Machias
Community	Blue Hill	New Pastime	Madison
Strand	Boothbay Harbor	Strand	Old Town
Brooks	Brooks	Opera House	Presque Isle
Opera House	Calais	Lakeside Pavilion	Rangeley
Lincoln Hall	Damariscotta	State	Rumford
Paramount	Dunforth	Strand	Skowhegan
Memorial Hall	E. Millinocket	Community	So. Lamoine
Dirigo	Ellsworth	Park	So. West Harbor
Cook's	Greenville	State	Waterville
Strand	Jackman	Island Lodge Casino	Wells Beach
Lyric	Kennebunkport	Park Theatre	York Beach
Star	Limerick	Lancaster	York Harbor

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Tremont	Colebrook	Charkarmian Hall	Lincoln
Majestic	Dover	Lisbon Playhouse	Lisbon
Broadway	E. Jaffrey	Premier	Meredith
Park	Nashua	Pineland Hall	Mountainview
Colonial	N. Manchester	Plymouth	Plymouth
Teka	Exeter	Scenic	Rochester
Grenadon	Greenville	Opera House	Sanbornville
Opera House	Millsboro	Casleton	Whitefield
Laconia Gardens	Laconia	Memorial Hall	Wolfeboro
Opera House	Lebanon	Opera House	Woodsville

VERMONT

Opera House	Barre	Savoy	Northfield
Opera House	Bellows Falls	Bellevue	St. Albans
Colonial	Bradford	Star	St. Johnsbury
Holley Hall	Bristol	Auditorium	Sharon
State	Burlington	Auditorium Hall	Stowe
Playhouse	Enosburg Falls	Lyric	White River Jct.
Arcade	Morrisville	Strand	Windsor
Opera House	Middlebury	Strand	Winooski

For news via press, radio and screen read the

BOSTON AMERICAN

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

Produced by INTERNATIONAL NEWSREEL CO RP. — Distributed by METRO-Goldwyn-MAYER

JESSIE READY TO BARE SOUL ON STAND IN FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

WIDOW FACES TWO-DAY TEST ON STAND IN SLAYING

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Salem, Aug. 1—Jessie Costello came to court today prepared to meet the greatest test a woman can face—that of telling her story as a woman accused of a poison murder. Yesterday she listened between bored moments to a long and sinister recital of morbid insinuations which emanated her into an alleged crime.

Today she came ready to combat the past two weeks of harrowing detail and mount the stand, a woman scorned, but still a woman unafraid.

And she came [illegible] with trait[illegible] and composure and [illegible] that [illegible] the name of The Fighting Welsh.

Keen and [illegible] as she was [illegible] the past days, [illegible] by her anxiety to face [illegible] she gave the dazzling [illegible] of her smile.

Garbed in black, Jessie was to mount the witness box like a Duse or the great Bernhardt, prepared to play the most dramatic role of all dramas.

For the first time, Jessie Costello was to face the crowded courtroom, and in her manner there was not to be found the shy and [illegible] wisp of woman in whose facial features was written the anguish of worry.

Adamant in her determination to be the first witness in her own defense, Jessie was to [illegible] the [illegible] of her mind and tell her story first.

If [illegible] court opened this morning the government was to rest its case, its testimony and evidence all in and before the jury content that it had proved and substantiated its charge against the widow of Capt. Bill Costello, climaxed in preparation by the scholarly dissertation of that eminent crime expert, Dr. George Burgess Magrath.

Less eminent Atty. Francis E. Rafter, was to argue for an hour and a half for a directed verdict of not guilty in her behalf. However, Jessie was not so optimistic that the court would permit such a motion to go through and this morning she appeared at the head bridge smiling schooled in what she would say when her turn came.

From all indications, Jessie will take the stand at the opening of the afternoon session, after her counsel, Atty. William Clark, in an hour summation to the jury, outlines the manner of defense that is to be presented for her.

And then the triumphant moment will arrive for that moment hour that she has been patiently waiting for, the hour that has kept her going in an unnatural calm through the past five months of her jail confinement.

For this moment the moment this afternoon at the opening of court—she has been waiting for it and listen to the blackening invective hurled at her from government witnesses, the unexpurgated biography of her unholy love with Peabody "Loved and was sorry" police officer, the testimony of the high-priced medical experts that a crime was committed, and that, shelatingly, was responsible for it.

HOURS DRAG FOR JESSIE

"Now that I have waited so long," she told counsel last night, "it is hardly believable that it has arrived at last. The morning will drag like hours as the approaching zero hour for my turn nears."

With her counsel, Atty. Rafter, Jessie reviewed the government's case against her last night, as comfortably changed into a blue gown she sat leisurely in the jail reception room, giving voice to the expressions which this afternoon will be given life.

Jessie is as eager about her appearance on the stand as a child [illegible] a party.

For one realizes that in her hand and on her shoulders rest the most important affairs of her defense.

To her counsel she has repeatedly denied illicit relations with Edward J. McMahon, though they have pressed her for some information on his testimony.

POSITIVE OF FREEDOM

Yet Jessie refused absolutely to confirm in the slightest detail the Tubelasian recital of the man who claims to have been her lover.

"There is no truth in what he has said. And for the opportunity to give him the lie and to deny his story from start to finish, I wouldn't miss the chance of going on the stand for anything," she declared last night in sheer attorness.

"The government hasn't proved anything against me. Their medical testimony that Bill could have easily died by his own hand I am positive of acquittal. Yet before my freedom is given back to me, I want to confess to the world that I have been a damned woman without provation. I want to tell my story. Everybody else has had that opportunity of saying what they chose to about me.

"Now that my turn is at hand, I want to make the most of it. I want my defense to overshadow not the harrowing thought that their mother was forced to stand trial for a crime she did not commit, but to know for all time that their mother was a good woman."

Jessie was quite confident last night. She was especially confident of the outcome since she considered that the great Dr. Magrath, in whom was expected the recondite psychiatric story of an alleged murder drawn on in his wealth of criminal experience training, "flopped" in proving himself the ace witness for the State.

NO WORRY OVER VERDICT

The Jessie who before Dr. Magrath took the stand, reiterated, "Nothing he can say can hurt me," was assured last night that her prediction had been fulfilled and that the testimony which the eminent crime expert had given before the jury did not hurt her.

Instead of worrying over the imminence of the jury's action, Jessie joshed Atty. Rafter for his reenactment of the position of her husband's body when, on the fatal morning of 17 months ago, he found him dead in the hallway of their stucco bungalow.

"You know, Frank," she told him, laughing aloud with no court restrictions for suppressed fun-making, "when you got down on the floor, I was sure you wouldn't be able to get up again. I bet you practiced that position, did you?"

It was such small-talk which the smiling Jessie indulged in as behind the jail walls, she reviewed the day's testimony and was supported in her belief that before long she would be returned to her children.

"You looked nothing like Bill," she told Atty. Rafter, though this remark was not said facetiously.

TINGE OF SADNESS

Rather a tinge of sadness crept into Jessie's flashing black eyes, as she made reference to the past, the bitter past which has clouded her future and focused the spotlight of unbridled scrutiny upon her.

Jessie has been an attentive listener to the session, keeping in her mind, the salient points that are at all incriminating. For Jessie intends to refute the damaging testimony in her recital of facts which she claims, she alone knows them.

The position in which her husband's body was found and which prosecution yesterday made much of, insinuating that Bill Costello died not where his body was found but had been moved to the position will be gone into at great length when Jessie takes the stand today.

"I know how I found Bill and I alone can tell," she told her counsel.

Nothing that the government has offered to the jury considering her alleged guilt, has bothered the widow. She feels as confident of acquittal now as she did when she entered the courthouse building, exposed to the merciless evidence as prepared by the prosecution.

TWO DAYS ON STAND

Still enslaved to feminine likes and dislikes, she was greatly concerned last night about her appearance in court today. For when she takes the stand and offers her full face to the prying eyes of the spectators, she wants to look her best. Jessie is like any other woman in that respect.

She wants to be considered a well-appearing person, whose very [illegible] and [illegible] in dress would presupposed innocence.

"I haven't a guilty conscience," she explained, "so why should I not try to at least appear as attractive as I can?"

It is estimated that Jessie will be on the stand for about two days. It will take her about a day, at least, to go into every phase of her home life, and the details leading to the sudden death of her husband.

This direct testimony, guided by the deft and kindly manner of her senior counsel, will be simple and easy, and Jessie, whose fluency of speech has always been a decided asset in her favor, will find it no ordeal to bare her soul.

However, the cross-examination, the anathema of every witness will be something else. However of this, like Dr. Magrath's testimony Jessie has no fears.

Will, perhaps, be one of the most bitter and gruelling examinations ever forced upon a woman a cross-examination intended by her State to break her down, and force contradictory admission through the witness herself.

However, Jessie has watched witnesses. She has schooled herself in courtroom deportment. Her counsel have advised her, and Jessie, alwayss eager, cheerful Jessie will take the stand, unwilling to cut short her answer, but bubbling over with joyous enthusiasm to "Tell all."

Word, passed around that Jessie would this afternoon take the stand, spread like wildfire as the largest crowd since the beginning of the trial surrounded the courthouse for a glimpse of the accused murderess.

READY FOR TENT

They came early in the morning, prepared to wait, clamoring for first-row standing room, literally rushing for police lines.

Extra detail of blue-coated state troops were ordered to the courthouse area to keep back the milling mob, whose curiosity was today at fever pitch.

The roped off area was extended across the street, and police were prepared to halt traffic during the periods when Jessie was to make her appearance and departure to and from the courthouse.

Today is Jessie's day and Jessie is prepared for it, mentally, physically and psychically.

Magrath in Snowy White at Trial

Salem Courthouse, Aug. 1—Dr. George Burgess Magrath appeared at Jessie's trial today in a white linen suit and a flowing black windsor tie. Though he had his day in court yesterday, he was a colorful addition to the crowd of spectators today.

Songs of Jurors Cheer Jessie

Salem, Aug. 1—The sound of jury men singing at a court recess drew favorable comment from Mrs. Jessie B. Costello, who faces trial for her life with a smile.

"I'm glad to hear that," the winsome widow remarked. "In a few days, I'll be singing myself in celebration of my freedom."

Incidentally, the jurors have developed into a tuneful group, thanks to the opportunities afforded them by recesses in which counsel prepare questions on technical subjects.

Flames Destroy Town's Only Plant

Hawley, Aug. 1. The wood turning plant of Leon P. Hawkes was destroyed by fire and with it went practically the sole means of livelihood for this village of 324 persons.

The Charlemont department made a 20-mile run over the hills but a prolonged drouth hereabouts had left the brooks dry. The little shop had been humming with activity for the past few months and had prospects of the first good winter in three years. Hawkes had no insurance.

Trump Witnesses for Mrs. Costello -:- Ready to Be Called

CATHERINE McMAHON ANDREW FYFE, JR. DR. ALEXANDER O GOETTLER ANDREW FYFE, SR. MRS ROBERT BLAIR

Counsel for Mrs. Jessie Burnett Costello claim they have a winning hand in these five witnesses, coupled with their star witness, the prisoner at the bar, whom they will call to refute statements made by witnesses for the state. Chief among these will be Catherine McMahon, sister of Edward J. McMahon, of "kiss and tell" fame. In no uncertain manner the defense will make clubs trumps in the bring their testimony before the jury.

Atty. Rafter Pleads for Widow's Freedom

By WIN BROOKS

(Continued from Page 10)

was all right and the evidence here of wast helped him get a veteran's pension, that you should choose to think that his health was impaired.

"Maybe at the risk of tiring you, I want to say that as you fit together the pieces of this picture, you will see the picture of a man who had some trouble, who did suffer from some ailments.

"There is the question of insurance. Do you think, your honor, that if they are going to say that Jessie Costello struck her husband down for the insurance, that they should point out something to show that she knew something about the amount of insurance?

"They may say it can be inferred that she knew, but there is nothing on the records to show that she knew. If she had the insurance complex, if this woman knew so enamored by money that she would take a human life to get it, don't you think she would have taken good care to look up the Fire Department insurance policy, on which Bill's father was beneficiary? Don't you think she would make sure to get every cent? The evidence shows she was not the beneficiary of that policy.

"She Bought Cyanide Boldly, Undisguised"

"This came from Daniel J. Hannon, the God-father of this girl. That Bill Costello, a month before he died, asked for an hour off because his stomach was bothering him. There is the picture of a man harassed by human ills.

"They bring in Tommy Cassidy, clerk at the Curtis drug store, who walked into the store the night before Bill died and bought cyanide and oxalic acid. They knew her and she knew them, well enough to call each other by their Christian names. This is not the case of a woman who went to Malden and gave the name of Mary Smith, later to be identified from that stand as the purchaser.

"No person but one with a mania for killing, with an irresistible desire to do away with Bill, could act that way.

"They may say that she went home that night for privacy and opportunity to lay her plans. I say that Costello had the same opportunity, the same exclusive opportunity.

"There is Mrs. Hoffman. She said she told Mrs. Fyfe, Jessie Costello's mother, about a cleaning powder six years ago. Is there any question in your Honors' mind that even if she did say she didn't talk to Mrs. Fyfe, that it isn't an isolated circumstance.

"If you follow the story you see that she has been consistent. When you go through the government's case all they have is inconsistency. Statements of no consequence.

"But She Never Cursed Her Husband, Bill"

"Just a word about the fight with John J Costello, Sr. I marvel at this man's feelings now.

Bill was asleep, she told him. And she said was not going to wake him 'What was the tone of voice?' asked the district attorney. The answer is tender despair. They ask again and this time the answer is 'little loud.

"Mrs. McDonald told Jessie said 'To hell with the Mick.' I say she probably said it, but for the concern of Bill Costello. I mean like this, 'I'm concerned about Bill Costello. Nothing else matters.' It indicates a high degree of devotion and that is all that counts.

"She has been termed extravagant by the district attorney in his opening. With the exception of the testimony of Anna McDonald, the term is a misnomer. Mrs. McDonald said, 'she had a lot of money.' How much a lot is, is left in the realm of conjecture.

"I am going to quote from the records the profanity testified to by Anna McDonald. She called her father a — — —. Does that indicate by any stretch of the imagination or reason and fair allow for full elasticity, anything except that the woman uses profanity. Does it mean anything at all? Is profanity and first degree murder related to each other even in the nth degree?

"I am not endeavoring to paint the lily, while recalling what they say about her profanity. But I say it has no bearing on this case as far as murder is concerned.

"She said, according to Mrs. McDonald, 'Get the hell out and stay out.' I have found nothing in the records, and I went over them until 3 o'clock this morning, that she ever said to Bill Costello. If she was on trial for the murder of Andy Fyfe it might make a difference. There is no evidence or testimony that she ever used a word of profanity to Bill Costello. It answers a little more in this case.

"Her Outbursts Only Proofs of Innocence"

"Assume that she said of the candy woman 'That—out there' through all the circumstances. Assume that she said it. It only indicates a woman who is master of robust language. She got a call, according to John McDonald and she says, 'Jesse-sake, what does Dive want me for?' That is as consistent with innocence as it is with guilt. That would be duplicated 1000 times with the omission of the Lord's name. They would say 'For heaven sake!' or 'For goodness sake!' The Commonwealth will say it is a consciousness of guilt. I say it is a consciousness of innocence. If the district attorney says it is consciousness of guilt, he has no right to say so. I say it is more in conformance with innocence.

"When Chief Pierce said there would be an autopsy, she said she hoped it would clear up the rumors. If she said, 'No, they are not going to cut up my Bill,' the world would ring with her consciousness of guilt. She didn't say that. They talk of consciousness o fguilt. I say it is a splendid example of the consciousness of innocence.

"When she talked insurance with John McDonald she asked him who was the beneficiary on his policy. He told her Anna, and she said he ought to be — — — sure. She was not sitting there planning anything. It was the spontaneous exclamation of innocence.

"We are trying her for her lack of aesthetic taste. That is not what she is charged with.

'She Never Said Fluid Would Hide Poison"

"There is John J. Costello, Jr., if I ever saw Venom strike the four walls of this courtroom, I saw it that day. He waited her home five times in 10 years. He had no chance to observe. Your honor knows the difficulty of cross-examining a father or a brother about a person deceased. It is a job I do not relish. What did he say? Not one scintilla of evidence escaped the lips of John J. Costello, Jr.

"You heard the neighbors tell how she was a devoted mother and a devoted wife. It is like the theme song of some movie that keeps coming in at times.

"Here is another one He said to Jessie, 'What, in heaven's name, happened to Bill?' she said — John, there was nothing the matter with him' I say the claim of friendship is the same in court as on the street The desire to hurt is not lessened on the stand.

"There is reference to the children being cared for by neighbors. The collapse of that story came before John Costello, Jr., took the stand. It came in a procession of neighbors testified.

"They say Dr. Pomeroy and Len Conway told they would go like Hell to find poison in the body after a gallon of embalming fluid had been injected Pomeroy said he never said it. Conway said he never said it from that he might say she was attributed with a statement she never made. Any inference that is drawn against one will have to be drawn against the other.

I am emotional near the surface. My heart pleads for John J Costello, Sr. To me he has been kinder to Jessie than others, who should have been. There is no venom in him

"He Heard Bill Tell Her to Drop McMahon"

"He told of the talk about Ed McMahon, the policeman. He heard Bill tell Jessie to keep away. That people were talking. And she said something about she would show him she had brains

She told Bill he invited McMahon he should tell him to go. McMahon did not come back. Perhaps that is the answer to why there were no more arguments. That was the only breach in the tranquility existing between Bill and Jessie. And he had said it them for four years.

All we know as the evidence is disclosed is that when Bill Costello entered the chamber occupied by his wife, old night, he said 'It is moved.' She told that to Pierce, Murphy, Griffin and Murray. There is no inconsistency in her statements. Never more so she related the [illegible] of the birth of her husband did they act for an inconsistent statement."

Education Parley Meets in Dublin

Dublin Irish Free State, Aug 1 —President Eamon De Valera was host today to delegates of the world education federation conference.

Paul Monroe, president of the conference responding to the president's welcome, said the idea that education was aimed at creating a new social order was a dangerous theory He added that it was not the function of the school to be a propaganda instrument.

Boston Bound Plane Is Delayed by Fog

New Haven, Conn., Aug 1—An American airways transport plane an unscheduled stop here after the pilot Walter J. Hinton, turned back points of visibility because of poor weather conditions

The transport, en route from Newark to Boston, and carrying seven passengers, hopped off again at 10 40 p m (Eastern Daylight Time) and continued to Hartford. After a stop there, the transport took off [illegible]

Open Wednesday Evenings

No refrigerator has ALL the great features of the new

STEWART WARNER Electric Refrigerator

GREAT FEATURES

Marvelous Force Feed, ided Oil Lubrication tem.

ad Shifter, Vibration- Compressor.

ost Type, Fully Adjust- Shelves.

mpact Freezing Unit Coils Between Trays. matic Cold Control.

Plenty of Ice Cubes. Refrigerates While Defrosting.

Special Double-Depth Dessert Tray.

Automatic Interior Light Uses Standard Sockets.

All-Porcelain Interiors.

Streamline Design. Modern Chromium Hardware.

In all our experience we have never seen an electric refrigerator that so completely fills the needs of women, as these new de luxe Stewart Warners.—And it's no wonder, for they were built to meet the requirements of 11,141 women who told Stewart-Warner exactly what they thought should be in the ideal electric refrigerator. Only in the great refrigerator can you find the fully adjustable food shelves that women have always wanted

Among many other exclusive advantages that you will appreciate are the refrigeration coils placed above and below each ice or dessert tray, instead of just around them, as in ordinary refrigerator units. For this insures fast, yet economical freezing of ice and desserts.

Yet these refrigerators, with the 1000% guarantee of a company famous for quality products for 27 years, are within the reach of all who know the true economy of quality. Introductory prices as low as $99.50.

Sold on Paine's Economical Budget Plan

PAINE FURNITURE COMPANY

81 Arlington Street

No obligation in looking. Come in.

Widow Maintains Weight Despite Ordeal

By Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Salem, Aug. 1—Jessie refuses to let the trial bother her enough to disturb her appetite. Daily she has a big meal sent into the jail from nearby restaurant. Her father has left a standing order at the cafe to give anything she wants for luncheon.

* * *

Jessie looks over the menu, then gives her order to Mrs. Flora Craig. Mrs. Craig conveys Jessie's choices to the restaurant and in a few minutes a hot dinner is placed before the widow.

* * *

The jail fare served for breakfast and supper satisfies Jessie. However, she may have to go without coffee with her meals, but if she desires milk it must be brought in to her.

* * *

Jessie maintains her weight despite the ordeal of the trial and her confinement. She is in excellent health and as yet has not called upon Dr. C. B. Gould, jail physician, for medical treatment. Before her trial she made one trip to an outside dentist for a few fillings.

* * *

Dr. George Burgess Magrath spent the noon recess taking a short walk around the courthouse and conferring with Dist. Atty. Cregg. Dr Magrath never eats at noontime. He goes through the day subsisting on a cup of black coffee "of my own making" taken when he arises

* * *

Juliet Bosworth, secretary to Dist.-Atty. Cregg, was in the courtroom for a few moments during the morning session. She was listening to the evidence closely, until she glanced at the number of her seat. She left suddenly when she saw 13 staring her in face. She did not return.

* * *

The jury took up a $10 collection today for flowers to be sent to the home of Miss Ellen O'Connell, 80, of Lawrence, who died from injuries. Mrs. Ella Brackett, wife of Chester Brackett, juror number eight, was injured in the same crash. Mrs. O'Connell was a second cousin to Mrs. Brackett.

Sheriff Walter Brown notified Brackett of Miss O'Connell's death when the jury returned to the hotel for the night. It is not expected that the trial will be delayed because of the death.

* * *

The jury spent a quiet and restful evening in their quarters. A checkers game and reading broke up the monotony of the evening. Sheriff Frank Raymond keeps the jury supplied with fiction from the jail library.

* * *

Five benches were placed in the aisles yesterday to seat the huge crowds which has been admitted to the courtroom. Sheriff Raymond declared that if he could get a thousand persons in the courtroom he would still have 500 more seeking admission.

* * *

"State Officer Smith" has more friends who seek admission than the district-attorney, defense counsel, court officers, press and court officials combined. Several hundred of "State Officer Smith's" friends are denied admission to the courtroom daily.

The state officer is a fictitious character born in the minds of the weary police officers who are pestered by queries from the spectators who jam the street in front of the courthouse.

* * *

"How can we get in," they are asked a thousand times a day. "Just walk right in and tell them your a friend of State Officer Smith," is the answer given a thousand times a day.

WE PAY CASH

FOR OLD and WORN

FUR COATS

HIGHEST CASH PRICES PAID

IF YOU HAVE AN OLD FUR COAT

Please Bring It This Week Only to 515 WASHINGTON ST.

ROOM 714

We Sell Nothing—We Trade Nothing

No Fee. Pay Us! For Furs for Cash

'beacon hill'

By Betty Alden

THEY HAVE A WAY WITH THEM, those Cohasset Players, of catching your attention and holding it . . . "Tourists Accommodated" made an instantaneous hit at the opening in the playhouse at Cohasset last night . . .

It is a homely play of this generation, the kind of play we don't see enough of . . . and if you have ever taken a paying guest (and who hasn't at some time or other) you will chuckle and sympathize with the Crosbys, each one in turn . . .

MRS. C. P. SYLVESTER

We must admit (probably in the small minority) that our heart went out to Mrs. Crosby and Aunt Phoebe and all-absorbing tourists . . . For he it for us to want the women of their generation to be a pillow for all the rest of the family to rest on with 'nothin' in their lives' . . . except to hear father snore behind his evening paper with his collar off and to prepare a hot dinner for Kate when she returns from the library, not to mention other members of the family returning to their idea of what home should be . . .

We would like to feel that gone forever are the martyrs of women who lived with "nothin' in their lives" but to watch their family grow up and leave an empty shell of a mother behind . . who all her life yearned for contact with the outside world in vain . . .

We are of those who wanted to cheer when she took in tourists from "ev'ry state in the union" and received post cards from them each season, whose life had magically changed from a divine drudge to taking up "her life's work" catering to tourists . . .

There were those whose sympathies were with the other members of the family . . . the comments we heard as we left the theater were interesting and varied . . . and that is what a play should do, present a picture of contemporary life that may be a page in history in another generation . . . We too can understand those who want "beauty" in their lives but we feel that understanding is much more important . . . like 'Tom' we enjoy most those who speak everybody's language . . .

Fashionable Audience for Premiere

A SMART AND FASHIONABLE AUDIENCE TURNED out for the third play in the season's series . . . greeted on all sides by her host of admirers and friends was Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller and her friend, Mrs. C. P. Sylvester . . . they had motored down from Rye, N. H., to Boston and Magnolia, and were driving back after the performance . . .

Mrs. Fuller was amused and interested that her charming daughter, Lydia, was offered the part of the wife of "Good-by Again," the next offering at Mariaden, Peterboro, by the festival players . . . Lydia is firm in her resolution to make the stage an important part of her life's work and her perseverance should enable her to succeed . . . she is always interesting on the stage.

Mrs. Fuller was costumed in a black and white printed silk afternoon dress with hat banded in cherry red . . . pretty Mrs. Sylvester was also in a white and black print with chic feathered hat . . . These two charming women have been friends since girlhood, a delightful intimacy that has stood the test of time and circumstance . . .

It were easier to tell you who among the Cohasset social lights stayed at home than to name all of those who attended this premiere, but we know you want to know what the smart set are wearing these summer evenings so we will remember a few of the noticeably well-dressed . . .

Mrs. French Wears Beige French Chiffon

MRS. MALCOLM BRADLEY FRENCH (who has just returned from a week at the Waumbeck Hotels in Jefferson, N. H.) wore a soft beige French chiffon trimmed with real lace, with a sheer jacket of the same softly printed with green leaves . . . a cluster of nasturtiums adorned the bodice . . . it was beautifully becoming and very chic . . .

Mrs. Paul Revere, a lovely blonde, was girlish in a seersucker blue-striped chiffon with large bolero of organdy . . . very charming.

A perfect love of a gown was worn by Mrs. Newbin Wales of a grey and white polka dot satin on the new tube lines over which was worn a crisp white pique swagger coat . . . her hair is titian.

Mrs. Ruth S. Broughton wore white with a brown velvet jacket to set off her blonde hair, most becomingly bobbed . . .

From Hingham came Mrs. Francis Hastings with her dinner guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. Rodolfo Folsoms, the Arthur Popes, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wabie and the Stephen Fairbanks .

Mrs. Arthur Blake looked very senorita-ish in a rose-colored shawl of voluminous dimensions . . .

Likewise, Mrs. May Fiske Hoffman wore a black lace shawl as evening wrap and very lovely it was over her smart gown . . .

Evening Gown of Black and Silver

IN BLACK AND WHITE PRINTED SILK, Mrs. "Bert" Bigelow attended with her husband and Mrs. Ralph Menard wore a black evening dress topped with a cloth of gold wrap . . .

Constance Kimpton

Lovely Mrs. Fred Cullen was in evidence as usual, her black and silver evening cape very smart indeed . . . Mr. Cullen accompanied her . . . in fact, the South Shore ladies do a most excellent job in getting their husbands to escort them to these plays, and thoroughly enjoying it. There are fully as many men as women in the audience .

Pretty Connie Kimpton was chatting with her lovely mother in the lobby . . . a wine red crepe was most becoming to Mrs. A. R. Kimpton, whose snow-white hair only accentuates her youthful appearance . . .

Two pretty seniors from Smith College were among those present, Elizabeth Tinkham and Mary Talbot, and two charming "little" girls (not yet at the budding stage) were Betty Melcher in a sweet blue taffeta and Ann Lyndon in white with snoozy red velvet cape . . .

Others noted were the Pinkertons, the Bancrofts, the Royden Lornga, the Edward Lincolns, Dr. and Mrs. Ariel George, the W. L. Davidsons, and throngs of others . . .

MISS ELLEN CUSHING CHAIRMAN OF CHARITY DANCE WORKERS

LEISURE ON NORTH SHORE

MISS POLLY GARDINER loves the North Shore and she is an active worker on charity events sponsored by the summer colony around Marblehead. Polly's set is named Black River and they are often seen out for a stroll. Miss Gardiner is the daughter of the Frederick Gardiners of Beverly Farms. (Boston American photo.)

Junior Leaguers Plan Novel Features

MISS ELLEN CUSHING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cushing of Milton and the fiancee of Mr. Francis C. Welch, is chairman of the committee in charge of the large charity dance to be given at Del Monte on August 25 for the benefit of the Mount Pleasant Home for Aged Men and Women.

Miss Cushing has chosen a group of prominent members of the Junior League and Vincent Club to assist her in making arrangements for the dance and to plan some novel features to make the party a huge success. The committee's first meeting today at 2 o'clock at the Junior League headquarters on Marlborough .

Among those on the committee are Miss Cynthia Waters and her sister Miss Sally Waters, Miss Priscilla Phelan, Miss Margaret Lang (general chairman) Miss Mary Otis, Miss Susan Wigglesworth, Miss Louise Fessenden, Miss Harriet Fuller, Miss Helena Thompson, Miss Rue Elizabeth French, Miss Mary Sheldon, Miss Elisabeth Perry, Mrs. Helen Sanborn Ralls and Miss Eleanor O'Brien .

Other members of the committee who will assist with the dance but who are not in town for the meeting today are Miss Elisabeth Hovey, Miss Leslie Blake, Miss Caroline Hunnewell, Miss Dorothea Newman, Miss Linda Collins, Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, Jr., Mrs. Charles L. Hibbard, Jr., Mrs. Ernest B. Lane, Jr., and Mrs. Robert S. Ogden .

Everett Morss Home Open for Musicale

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Morss of Boston and Manchester are opening their home on Thursday for a pianoforte recital by Harold Bauer for the benefit of the Beverly Farms Music School which is a special interest of Mrs. Henry L. Mason .

The music room at The Rocks, Mr. Morss's home, is one of the finest on the North Shore, and was built by the late Mr. Eben Jordan.

Among the patronesses for this delightful musicale are Miss Katherine P. Loring, Miss Grace Edwards, Mrs. E. Sohier Welch, Mrs. J. Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Graeme Haughton, Mrs. Edward M. House, Mrs. Alexander Agassiz, Mrs. Arthur Shaw, Mrs. Ernest B. Dane, Mrs. Frederick Gardiner, Mrs. Francis Peabody, Jr., Mrs. Robert Homans, Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson, Mrs. Charles Hayden, Mrs. Quincy Adams Shaw, Mrs. Robert Winsor, Mrs. Henry Sturgis Grew, Mrs. Frederick Winsor, Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr., Mrs. Richard Saltonstall, FACES HAVE LOST POWDERED LOOK, BUT POWDER IN ITSELF WILL NEVER GO

Much Pleasure Can Be Derived From Use of Body Powders in Hot, Humid Weather

By Therese Deschamps

GONE IS THAT chalky powdered look that faces were wont to have [illegible] many years ago. One powders, of course, but it is artistically done to soften the shine, not to completely [illegible] the countenance. There are some women in the world of [illegible] who [illegible] [illegible] remember a lady [illegible] fashion [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CAROLE LOMBARD TO BE FREE SOON | Still Chums | JANE COWL SEES STAGE COMEBACK

Divorce Decree Expected This Month; Her First Film to Be "All of Me"

By HARRIET PARSONS

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 L. O. P. who's probably just trying to get her name in the column wires me from Cal Neva Lodge to say she spent a l... Lombard, I judge, divorce will be granted Aug... ...to Hollywood and work. Her first f... ...s "All of Me" when George Ra... ...the director. We ey Ruggles directs.

Carole and ... ing in a ... Tahoe duri... were and his ... ing the ... of their ... In fact Ca... role ... crazy ... the f... she's ... some ... ers there.

Nancy ... roll ... for ... in Mr. W... an ... Sebel ... picture ... Henry ... Harriet Parsons

... strike ... time ... Nancy ... lumbia ... tree, ... has the ... Victor ... played ... in Mr. W... Junior ... instead ... postponed ... week.

Bickford Co-Star

Charles Bickford will be co-starred with Charles Laughton in "White Woman" which starts production ... for ... mount with ... reciting Thal... present for Bickford was just finished as assistant director on C. B. De Mille's ... viewed. The Duke of Ka... De Mille was ... of Mr. Bickford's ... schedule don't ... both when he ... Woman." ... ...ford to ... ...ge ... in "White Woman."

Casts and Credits

Leon Man... Baxter ... will leave "Tarzan" ... to play the lead in "Scram for Beauty" ... for which Wi... liam Frawley was ... from the New York ... Mae Murray borrowed ... Mary Boland from Para... Sothern, Mary ... Bob Montgomery, ... Mitchell, Florine ... Evans. No ... for ... Dorothy Libaire ... wife of Director ... Marion Gering, has been hired by Joe Schenck for ... Rarker ... Heaven ... added to cast of ... Hour Of Wom... en" at Fox ... Barker ... Irving ... out. "In Old ... Reginald ... Prince Charles in ... Christiana ...

Cameraman Joe ... finally to New York, to ... graph "Take a Chance" ... Schwab-Rowland musical which will star Buddy Rogers, June ... Knight, Jimmy Dunn and Dorothy Lee. Some cast. Twentieth

Snapshots of Hollywood

LOUELLA O. PARSONS

... Hollywood ... tomorrow night as a ... special entertainer ... EDDIE CANTOR ... ...STADTER ... ...ing the ... LOLA LANE, ...SHA ROSE and LYLE TALBOT ... ...ed to ... on the ... ...ter ... D. A. Sunday ... DAVE BUTTON ... ...at the Palladium ... ...

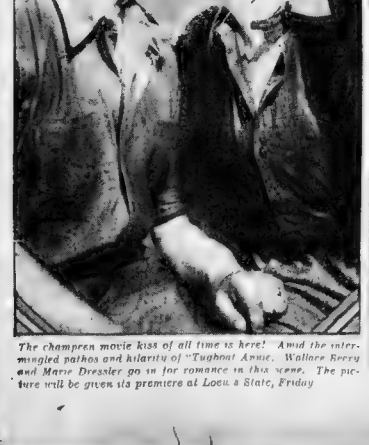
... Parsons ... ...ght col... ...umn from Hollywood will appear ... the Boston Sunday Advertiser also while Louella O. Parsons, the regular contributor, ...

Stage Who's Who

... Boland ... ...ban Band ... ...ten revues appearing ... ...week at Loew's ... ...Boland ... ...than ... ...ask ... ...born ... ...Grand ... ...Opera ... ...accompanied her ... ...education ... ...at the ... ...Metropolitan ... ...Opera ... ...Mary ... ...Boland ... ...Miss ... ...Jo ... ...1927 ... ...won the title ... ...Miss Re... ...Following this Miss Boland joined the Ziegfeld ... ...Ann Boland

... ...choruse and afterward appeared in revues and musical ...

Lips Meet and Love Is Born



The champion movie kiss of all time is here! Amid the intermingled pathos and hilarity of "Tugboat Annie," Wallace Beery and Marie Dressler go in for romance in this scene. The picture will be given its premiere at Loew's State, Friday

HELEN HAYS — CLAUDETTE COLBERT — RUTH GORDON

All Hollywood turned out for a spectacular drawing room polo match, and the news photographers ... hand to snap the celebrities, all of a sudden caught sight of ... stars, seated together, getting a smile out of some players ... The teams were made up of actors of the Beery ... Hall colony. Above are Helen ... Claudette Colbert and Ruth Gordon, three chums from ... when they were on the Broadway stage together. Miss ... is the latest to enter films. Miss Hayes and Miss Colbert have been developing into pals, both on and off the movie ...

International News photo.

Superb Bill of Variety

By HARRIS MORGAN

... Morgan heads ... ...new ... ...bill ... ...composed ... ...assortment ... ...entertainment ... ...with ... ...cents ... ...Mayfair ... ...pieces ... ...new ... ...Hollywood ... ...Fanchon ... ...Marco ... ...Her ... ...Syncopated ... ...Steppers ... ...Adagio ... ...with ... ...blue ... ...and ... ...accordion ... ...a ... ...Hungarian ... ...people.

... ...Passion ... ...of ... ...music, ...dance ... ...has ... ...gathered ... ...the ... ...as ... ...as ... ...entertain ... ...expected ... ...and ... ...Anderson ... ...Ada ... ...a ... ...very ... ...when ... ...is ... ...seen ... ...Sammy ... ...Hayes ... ...the ... ...Grand ... ...Opera ... ...Ada, ...dancing ... ...on ... ...the ... ...D. ... ...Galasso ... ...one ... ...the ... ...finest ... ...of ... ...the ... ...kind ... ...he ... ...has ... ...seen ... ...in ... ...the ... ...United ... ...States. ... ...The ... ...Dayton ... ...group ... ...of ... ...dancers ... ...and ... ...is ... ...Depew ... ...Harris ... ...and ... ...Barbara ... ...Stanwyck.

... ...Mayfair ... ...program ... ...which ... ...Morgan ... ...Harris ... ...and ... ...Mayfair ... ...Girls ... ...appear, ...will ... ...be ... ...featuring ... ...Around ... ...the ... ...world ... ...a ... ...show ... ...of ... ...all ... ...last ... ...vaudeville ... ...Jo ... ...1927 ... ...won ... ...the ... ...title ... ...of ... ...Miss ... ...Re... ...vue.

Opera Fans to Get New Deal

Patrons of the coming two ... ...performances ... ...the ... ...new ... ...Chicago ... ...Opera ... ...Company, ...at ... ...Braves ... ...Field, ...August ... ...10 ... ...and ... ...11, ...will ... ...be ... ...afforded ... ...a ... ...more ... ...intimate ... ...view ... ...of ... ...the ... ...proceedings ... ...than ... ...when ... ..."Aida" ... ...was ... ...produced ... ...at ... ...the ... ...ball ... ...park. ... ...Alfredo ... ...Salmaggi, ...the ... ...producer, ...has ... ...worked ... ...out ... ...an ... ...arrangement ... ...whereby ... ...the ... ...stage ... ...will ... ...be ... ...moved ... ...60 ... ...feet ... ...closer ... ...to ... ...the ... ...stands, ...placing ... ...the ... ...orchestra ... ...approximately ... ...on ... ...a ... ...line ... ...with ... ...what ... ...is ... ...known ... ...as ... ...the ... ...pitcher's ... ...box. ... ...Three ... ...thousand ... ...chairs ... ...will ... ...be ... ...placed ... ...on ... ...the ... ...infield ... ...and ... ...will ... ...occupy ... ...the ... ...space ... ...between ... ...the ... ...orchestra ... ...and ... ...the ... ...grand ... ...stand ... ...seats.

For the recent Aida" ... ...performance ... ...about ... ...25,000 ... ...seats ... ...were ... ...provided, ...and ... ...the ... ...attendance, ...based ... ...upon ... ...a ... ...careful ... ...check-up ... ...of ... ...the ... ...turnstiles ... ...and ... ...ticket ... ...boxes ... ...places ... ...the ... ...attendance ... ...at ... ...that ... ...opera ... ...at ... ...21,000.

Dressler and Beery Co-Starred Again

Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, ...beloved ... ...team ... ...of ... ...Min... ...and ... ...Pete, ...are ... ...again ... ...co-starred ... ...Friday ... ...at ... ...Loew's ... ...State ... ...this ... ...time ... ...in ... ..."Tugboat ... ...Annie." ... ...Miss ... ...Dressler ... ...plays ... ...Annie, ...with ... ...Beery ... ...cast ... ...as ... ...her ... ...shiftless ... ...but ... ...good-natured ... ...mate, ...Captain ... ...Terry. ... ...They ... ...battle ... ...and ... ...make ... ...up ... ...again ... ...for ... ...countless ... ...laughs, ...there ... ...is ... ...a ... ...dramatic ... ...note ... ...of ... ...mother ... ...love ... ...and ... ...a ... ...thrilling ... ...climax. ... ...Most ... ...of ... ...the ... ...picture ... ...was ... ...filmed ... ...in ... ...Puget ... ...Sound ... ...and ... ...was ... ...directed ... ...by ... ...Mervyn ... ...Le ... ...Roy. ... ...Robert ... ...Young, ...Maureen ... ...O'Sullivan, ...Tammany ... ...Young, ...Willard ... ...Robertson ... ...and ... ...Frankie ... ...Darro ... ...are ... ...in ... ...the ... ...cast.

On the stage, Thornton, ...former ... ...Roxy's ... ...Gang ... ...favorite ... ...and ... ...operatic ... ...tenor, ...will ... ...be ... ...held ... ...over ... ...for ... ...a ... ...third ... ...week. ... ...Charles ... ...D. ... ...Hecter ... ...and ... ...his ... ...orchestra ... ...and ... ...vaudeville ... ...acts ... ...will ... ...appear ... ...Sunday.

Exeter Theater

Bill Bowden in "Emergency Call" and Laurel & Hardy in "The Devil's Brother" are the attractions for today and tomorrow at the Exeter.

Louis Sobol's column will appear again after his return from a brief holiday.

Arline Again

Arline Judge, who appears in "Flaming Decision," film featured with "Mary Stevens, M. D." on the Paramount-Fenway program Thursday

Life of Poland on Screen

By LEIGH HARBRIDGE

... Night ... ...ted a ... ...world ... ...know ... ...as ... ...Poland ... ...is ... ...shown ... ...in ... ...this ... ...film, ...also ... ...for ... ...its ... ...technique ... ...which ... ...is ... ...somewhat ... ...different ... ...from ... ...that ... ...with ... ...which ... ...we ... ...are ... ...familiar. ... ...It ... ...is ... ...without ... ...doubt ... ...one ... ...of ... ...the ... ...most ... ...interesting ... ...pictures ... ...ever ... ...produced.

... ...Poland ... ...in ... ...the ... ...throes ... ...of ... ...a ... ...great ... ...struggle ... ...for ... ...freedom ... ...and ... ...the ... ...sympathy ... ...of ... ...the ... ...entire ... ...world ... ...is ... ...portrayed ... ...in ... ...a ... ...manner ... ...that ... ...is ... ...at ... ...once ... ...dramatic ... ...and ... ...thrilling. ... ...It ... ...is ... ...without ... ...question ... ...one ... ...of ... ...the ... ...most ... ...interesting ... ...and ... ...important ... ...pictures ... ...of ... ...the ... ...year.

... ...Jadwiga Smosarska

... ...in ... ...direction ... ...and ... ...theme ... ...it ... ...is ... ...a ... ...picture ... ...that ... ...is ... ...at ... ...once ... ...a ... ...challenge ... ...and ... ...an ... ...appeal ... ...to ... ...all ... ...persons ... ...of ... ...Polish ... ...descent ... ...and ... ...all ... ...who ... ...remember ... ...Poland's ... ...contribution ... ...to ... ...our ... ...own ... ...history. ... ...The ... ...oppression ... ...of ... ...the ... ...people, ...their ... ...struggles, ...their ... ...lives, ...are ... ...finely ... ...portrayed.

The outstanding figure, from ... ...standpoint, ...is ... ...the ... ...leading ... ...actress, ...Jadwiga ... ...Smosarska, ...one ... ...of ... ...the ... ...most ... ...attractive ... ...of ... ...all ... ...film ... ...women ... ...so ... ...beautiful ... ...that ... ...the ... ...American ... ...fan ... ...is ... ...reminded ... ...of ... ...the ... ...glorious ... ...beauty ... ...of ... ...Vilma ... ...Banky. ... ...The ... ...cast ... ...is ... ...entirely ... ...competent ... ...and, ...humor, ...romance ... ...and ... ...the ... ...tragedy ... ...are ... ...all ... ...strikingly ... ...enacted.

Movie Clock

GAIETY—"Mind Reader"; a. m., 8:55, p. m., 1:50, 5:00, 8:10.

PARAMOUNT—"She Had to Say Yes"; a. m., 9:23; p. m., 12:15, 2:50, 5:15, 8:15.

STATE—"Another Language", p. m., 12:25, 2:50, 5:15, 7:40, 10:05.

SCOLLAY—"Baby Face"; a. m., 11:50; p. m., 3:22, 6:45, 9:05.

ORPHEUM—"Storm at Daybreak", a. m., 9:30; p. m., 12:25, 3:10, 6:15, 9:50.

BOWDOIN SQ.—"Midnight Mary"; a. m., 9; p. m., 1, 3:05, 5:15.

METROPOLITAN — "Her Bodyguard"; a. m., 11:00, p. m., 2:00, 5:00, 7:55, 10:30.

FENWAY—"She Had to Say Yes"; p. m., 2:20, 5:02, 7:40, 10:12.

FINE ARTS—"November Night"; p. m., 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30.

MODERN — "I Loved You Wednesday"; a. m., 10:32, p. m., 1:20, 4:18, 6:56, 9:44.

RKO KEITH—"Moonlight and Pretzels"; a. m., 10:05; p. m., 1:08, 4:00, 7:10, 10:05.

INFT'E—"Emergency Call", p. m., 3:50, 6:15, 9:10.

UPTOWN — "Melody Cruise", p. m., 2:09, 4:44, 7:13, 9:45.

Amusements

LOEW'S STATE

Mass. Ave. Doors open 12:15 P. M.

HELEN HAYES
Robert MONTGOMERY
in "Another Language"

EXTRA! THURSDAY — "Parade of Stars"

ALL SEATS 25c after 6:00 40c

Friday—MARIE DRESSLER in "TUGBOAT ANNIE"

Amusements

LOEW'S ORPHEUM

Washington Street & Park Lane Place

ALL-STAR VAUDEVILLE

KAY FRANCIS
NILS ASTHER in
"STORM AT DAYBREAK"
with WALTER HUSTON

ALL SEATS 25c, 30c, 40c Evgs. 40c

Friday — Lionel Barrymore-Miriam Hopkins in "The Stranger's Return"

Amusements

"GOODBYE AGAIN"

Matinee Daily

JANE COWL

Mon., Aug. 7 Seats NOW

in her new version of "CAMILLE" with Rollo Peters

Evgs. $1 to 50c all performances

UPTOWN Prod. Harris Charles Reagan "MELODY CRUISE" 25c

Also "WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE"

NEW GAYETY DOG DAYS 15c ANY TIME

WARREN WILLIAM MIND READER
5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS
"CIRCUS QUEEN MURDER"

Today at YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

CAMBRIDGE

NORTH END Porter 3580 Harvard 50 "INTERNATIONAL HOUSE" Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. The Life of Jimmy Dolan

CHARLESTOWN

HOLLYWOOD Boston Expose "SUCKER MONEY" Ruth Roland "BELOW THE SEA" Edward F. Cline

THOMPSON SQUARE THEATRE "The Little Giant" IRENE DUNN "The Silver Cord"

MALDEN

CAPITOL Sylvia Sidney "Jennie Gerhardt" Charles Bickford "Melody Cruise"

STRAND MALDEN Tel. Malden 3731 "MIDNIGHT MARY" Loretta Young Franchot Tone Ross Alexander "IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE"

REVERE

BOULEVARD and REVERE "PEG O' MY HEART" Marion Davies Orchestra Stevens Conn Raymond Lorch's Young "Zoo in Budapest"

ROXBURY

at the humboldt
"Looking Forward"
Lionel Barrymore Diana Wynyard
"Woman I Stole"
Jack Holt Fay Wray

SOMERVILLE

CAPITOL BALL SQ. Marion Davies Frances Dee Robert Montgomery "Eagle and the Hawk" George Brent Norman Foster PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEARTS

SOUTH END

NATIONAL Tel. 356 Contoocook Eve. 20c-20c James Dunn Zasu Pitts "HELLO SISTER" Barrie Farber "PHANTOM BROADCAST" Every Wed., Vaudeville Mat. and Eve. 12:30 to 11:00

WATCH THIS DIRECTORY
PATRONIZE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE

CHICAGO OPERA—BRAVES FIELD
Tel. Hammond Pond 0100
THURSDAY, AUG. 10th: C A R M E N
FRIDAY, AUGUST 11th:
CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA AND PAGLIACCI
Prices 50c to $1.50 (Tax Extra)
NO HIGHER This Week at Central Div. Ticket Office, Washington Street. Mail Orders Colonial ONLY

EXETER The place where you forget your troubles

Bill Boyd in "Emergency Call"
Laurel & Hardy in "The Devil's Brother"

BOWDOIN SQ VAUDEVILLE ACTS

"Midnight Mary" with Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez
"Wild Boys of the Road" with Frankie Darro, Sally Blane
Com. Thurs.—Jennie Gerhardt, Private Detective 62

Amusements

Metropolitan

"HER BODYGUARD"
EDMUND LOWE
WYNNE GIBSON

A GIANT STAGE SHOW
MOLLY PICON
JOHN FOGARTY
EMIL BORES
HOPKINS
ROSELAND ORCHESTRA

FREE Race and Beauty Contest Every Night

Amusements

PARAMOUNT PUBLIX NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRES

ALLSTON

ALSTON STA 4410 Mats. 20c-Eves. 25c & 35c Robert Montgomery "HELL BELOW" Clark Gable Ruth Chatterton "LILLY TURNER" FREE PARKING

COOLED CAPITOL ALLSTON Sylvia Sidney-Donald Cook in "MADELON CLAUDET" JENNIE GERHARDT "MELODY CRUISE" Positively Air-Conditioned

BRIGHTON CENTER

EGYPTIAN THEATRE—NOW!
BARGAIN MATINEE TODAY 35c
Lorretta Young-Lew Ayres-Una Merkel
"MIDNIGHT MARY"
Minna Gombell-Willard Mack
"WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE"

ALLSTON

CENTRAL SQ. UNIV 0873 "Jennie Gerhardt" "Melody Cruise" Charles Ruggles Gladys Brown Lorna Gray Mae Busch

HARVARD "TODAY WE LIVE" "HELLO SISTER"

CHELSEA

OLYMPIA "College Humor" Jack Oakie-Bing Crosby Richard Arlen Jean Arthur-Evelyn Knapp HIS PRIVATE SECRETARY

DORCHESTER

COMMONS "College Humor" Bing Crosby Burns & Allen Richard Arlen Jack Oakie Mary Carlisle Lorretta Young Evelyn Knapp

SOMERVILLE

FIELDS "PEG O' MY HEART" Douglas Fairbanks Jr. The Life of JIMMY DOLAN

MORTON Peggy Hopkins Joyce "International House" Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. "Life of Jimmy Dolan"

STRAND SOMERVILLE SYLVIA SIDNEY "Jennie Gerhardt" Wheeler and Woolsey "DIPLOMANIACS"

JAMAICA PLAIN

JAMAICA "International House" Peggy Hopkins Joyce W. C. Fields Ruth Chatterton "Lilly Turner" FREE PARKING

MATTAPAN SQ.

OLYMPIA Sylvia Sidney "JENNIE GERHARDT" Wheeler and Woolsey DIPLOMANIACS Free Parking Space 500 Cars Boxtypes & Loveseats Extra

NEWTON

PARAMOUNT NEW 6800 Mat. 2:15 Eve. 7:45 Jack Oakie-Richard Arlen "COLLEGE HUMOR" Bebe Daniels in "Cocktail Hour"

ROSLINDALE

RIALTO "International House" Ruth Chatterton "Lilly Turner"

ROXBURY

RIVOLI HIGH 0100 SYLVIA SYDNEY "Jennie Gerhardt" Chas. Ruggles-Phil Harris "Melody Cruise"

SHAWMUT Peggy Hopkins Joyce "International House" Ruth Chatterton Gen. Dent "Lilly Turner"

SOMERVILLE

STRAND Clive Brook Diana Wynyard "CAVALCADE" Pat O'Brien Evelyn Knapp "The World Gone Mad"

WALTHAM

EMBASSY WALTHAM Wed. 3840 "Melody Cruise" Charles Ruggles-Phil Harris Wm. Powell "PRIVATE DETECTIVE 62"

WATCH THIS DIRECTORY
PATRONIZE YOUR PUBLIX THEATRE

Theater Needs Unification of Interests Recovery Code Can Foster, Star Says

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

Jane Cowl thinks the theatrical code under the N. R. A. is going to help the stage and its people.

"The legitimate theatre's renaissance is under way," she declares, "and I am convinced the application of the recovery code to our profession and its allied crafts, will prove a victorious factor toward the much talked of comeback."

Miss Cowl, summing up ... ...refers to the huskin art as a ... ...industry, ...the latter needs just the kind of unification of ... ...interests that the code can foster.

... ...she ... ...kind of ... ...with ... ...the ... ...new ... ...code. ... ...I ... ...part of the ... ...for ... ...the ... ...means ... ...a ... ...new ... ...era ... ...of ... ...pain ... ...and ... ...suffering ... ...never ... ...be ... ...had."

"I hail the code, therefore, as a chance for salvation," she declares. "It can be a grand adjunct of the renaissance. My immediate hope is that it may bring help to the many of my profession who need it. There are still details in our code that, I think, should be adjusted, and probably they will be. Success, say I to Franklin Roosevelt!"

... ...I ... ...Be ... ...I ... ...be ... ...a ... ...grand ... ...success ... ...in ... ...the ... ...Theatre ... ...of ... ...America ... ...the ... ...Tremont."

She's up in the air in "Camille" and Mansfield Anne, of Art Beckhard's staff. Practically all new company, you know, and just a week to perfect themselves in it. So you'll have to take your chances."

At Rehearsal

Up three flights of stairs ... ...two ... ...rooms ... ...open ... ...like ... ...Armand's ... ...penthouse ... ...perhaps, ...to ... ...the ... ...ladies ... ...of ... ...the ... ...ensemble. ... ...A ... ...run, ...and ... ...the ... ...people ... ...remain ... ...fat ... ...upon ... ...the ... ...grass ... ...that ... ...the ... ...sun ... ...of ... ...May ... ...never ... ...penetrates. ... ...So ... ...we ... ...seem ... ...to ... ...have ... ...come ... ...to ... ...the ... ...wrong ... ...room ... ...for ... ...a ... ...table ... ...and ... ...a ... ...few ... ...chairs ... ...and ... ...prompt ... ...mapped ... ...out ... ...on ... ...the ... ...floor.

Jane Cowl always knows how ... ...First time ... ...saw ... ...her ... ...she ... ...was ... ...in ... ...a ... ...shop ... ...and ... ...she ... ...looks ... ...in a ... ...chair ... ...near ... ...me.

"Haven't seen you—let's see—since we took in 'Smilin' Through at the M-G-M exchange (she is smiling)... And my tears were wet from weeping clear through, remember?

... ...You ... ...information, she ... ...opened ... ...that ... ...story ... ...she ... ...made ... ...on ... ...stage ... ...and ... ...Norma ... ...Shearer ... ...did ... ...on ... ...screen. ... ...She ... ...continues ... ...Tears! ... ...When ... ...you ... ...told ... ...me ... ...over ... ...the ... ...long ... ...distance ... ...that ... ...Nick ... ...Young ... ...was ... ...dead, ...I ... ...cried, ...too. ... ...He ... ...was ... ...an ... ...old-time ... ...friend, ...and ... ...a ... ...true ... ...friend. ... ...A ... ...leading ... ...critic ... ...who ... ...loved ... ...his ... ...theater ... ...as ... ...I ... ...do. ... ...You ... ...must ... ...miss ... ...him ... ...terribly."

Music!

"Queer, just before we started I was thinking of films (she answers). Before I left New York yesterday I had an offer from one of the big companies in Hollywood. They wanted to star me in a drama; I love the story and would have liked to accept. But I was under contract to do 'Camille' here, and couldn't disappoint Mr. Beckhard. So I had to turn the offer down."

Sees Bright Future

... ...

I have two plans in hand now, and shall do one of them. Both are fine. One I shall accept. Which one? I don't know yet 'Camille'? Yes, I will do that, at special matinees, perhaps, during the run of my new play."

Does she love "Camille"? A great favorite, she responds.

"It couldn't have lasted so long if it weren't basic, a great theme, with vast appeal."

Casting Now Difficult

Will the members ... ...get her? "Perhaps. If the story were ... ...right one, I'd be happy. But it would have to be the right kind of a story. I prefer the stage, though. Theater people should stick to the theater. New York looks barren now, so many good actors have gone Hollywood. It makes casting the new plays for the stage a difficult task."

Between scenes we talk more ... ...life, books, art, morals, women, men, clothes, beauty ... a host of topics . . . And what a conversationalist! Brilliant is the word . . . Boston!

"I was born here," she says, "I love it, every bit of it—there is only one city in the world I love better."

What city, pray?

"London," she answers.

'KNAVE'S GIRL' -:- By Joan Clayton

(Continued from Yesterday.)

SAVE YOUR DEFENCE for Clark, suggested Haverholt, not ungenlv. "Whatever you say I will say: your story will be mine. But I very much doubt that you can successfully glid the facts." He hesitated, added: "Clark Tracy simply is not constituted to understand or to sympathize with the peculiar psychology of the adventurers."

"Are you inferring that I am an adventuress?"

"I am merely trying to force you to see your situation from Clark's standpoint. That young man isn't living in the present century where the question of women is concerned."

"I suppose you are," put in Patricia bitterly.

"I am. If I loved a woman I wouldn't give a damn for her past or for her future. I would be too busy with her present. Clark is different. After all," he reminded Pat, "I have known the subject of our discussion longer than you have."

The girl could not confute him. She listened, every fibre of her being in silent protest, as Julian continued his light, mocking dissection of the other man.

"Clark is a Tory through and through. He honestly doesn't realize that the world has moved on since his ancestors stole Manhattan Island from the Indians. He thoroughly believes that nice girls should be sheltered and cloistered and protected; he believes that nice girls should be happily content to occupy themselves with pure, white thoughts until the right man comes along to impart the great secrets of life. He believes, in short, that nice girls should be little pigs. Do you fit into that pattern, Patricia?"

The girl looked at him

"I hate you, Julian," she said. "I'm sorry," she muttered.

"Never mind," said Haverholt, feeling that he had a certain advantage. He seemed assured and confident as if he were playing a game. The moves were not yet certain, but they would be in time. He was satisfied. His assurance frightened her.

"It was all your fault," she said.

"Assuredly," he agreed. He added, "oh, you're still hell-bent for Clark?"

Patricia left the room without answering.

Many times in the week that followed the girl wondered whether Julian Haverholt might not be right. There were a thousand reasons why she should forget Clare Tracy, not one reason for remembering distinctly. "I hate you very much."

Haverholt laughed. Suddenly leaning forward he caught her clenched hands. There was an odd excited light in his eyes.

"Is that a challenge, my dear?"

"It's nothing. Let me go."

"We would make a great team, Patricia. I'm worth a dozen Tracys."

He had moved around the table now; he leaned down to kiss her. There was a sharp, stinging flash Patricia struck him. A red mark appeared on his cheek. The man said nothing. He straightened. Patricia was angry and humiliated with herself. She had, in a moment of rage, completely lost her dignity.

Julian Haverholt did not bring up the matter again, nor would he. Whatever his faults, he was not a nagger.

Patricia flung herself into the business of being a celebrity. She found that it was hard work. She answered countless phone calls, declined countless invitations, appeared in places where she should be seen. Above all she played bridge. She played bridge until she sometimes thought that the cards would be engraved upon her brain.

"Tired, Patricia?"

"Not a bit," she would deny, determined that her every vigor should match Julian Haverholt's. He and she were playing bridge every night. Afternoons, with the assistance of two secretaries, they worked on his new treatise on proper contract bidding. At the moment they were absorbed in reading proof.

"Did you go to Jarrett's yesterday?"

"Yes."

"How was it?"

"Funny," she admitted, smiling wearily at the memory of 200 far-overdressed women, just past the stage of trumping their partners' aces, yet more willing to impart wisdom than to receive it.

To Be Continued.

Copyright, 1933, King Features, Syn., Inc.

PRIZE MARTHA LEE RECIPES

Every day the Boston Evening American awards $10 in cash for the six outstanding recipes sent to Martha Lee. If you have a favorite recipe—one that you are exceptionally fond of—send it to Martha Lees recipes, Boston American, P. O. Box 185, Boston. Each day there is a first cash prize of $5 and five other awards of $1. Prizes will be paid only on recipes that are published. You may submit one or more new recipes every day if you wish.

Twenty dollars in cash prizes is offered by Martha Lee for recipes sent to her for her page in the Boston Sunday Advertiser. Every Sunday a first prize of $10 is offered. Then there will be two $5 prizes and five $1 awards. If you wish to compete for the Sunday prizes, send your recipes to Martha Lee's Recipes, Boston Sunday Advertiser, P. O. Box 185, Boston.

FIVE PRIZES OF ONE DOLLAR EACH

MRS. PAUL C. HOOPER,
46 Adams st., Waltham, Mass.

BROWN-EYED-SUSAN CAKE

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
2¼ cups cake flour
½ tsp. salt
2½ tsps. baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tbsp. milk
2 squares chocolate
½ tsp. soda
1½ tbsps. grated orange rind (about one orange)

Yellow coloring

Cream shortening and sugar gradually and cream well. Add the unbeaten egg yolks and beat well. Sift flour before measuring and sift with salt and baking powder. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the tbsp. of milk and the melted chocolate, to which the soda has been added. To the other part add the orange rind and enough of the yellow coloring to make a yellow batter. Drop by spoonfuls on greased and floured pans, alternating the light and dark as for marble cake. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 30 minutes. Makes a nice September birthday cake.

ICING

4 tbsps. butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar
2 tbsps. cream
Grated rind of one orange
1 tbsp. orange juice
3 squares chocolate
Almonds
Shaved chocolate

Melt the butter in a double boiler stir in the confectioner's sugar and the cream. Leave over hot water for 15 minutes. Divide chocolate into two parts, having the larger portion for the chocolate part. To the smaller amount add the tbsp. orange rind and the orange juice, enough to make it spread easily. To the remaining part add the chocolate and enough cream to have it spread easily. Spread the chocolate icing between the layers and around the sides of the cake and spread the top with the yellow icing. Sprinkle shaved chocolate and grated orange rind over top of cake to give a yellow and brown effect.

MRS. MARIE PERRY,
145 Summer st., Malden, Mass.

Here is a delicious tasting amber colored drink for hot Summer days

1-2 cup lemon juice
2-3 cup orange juice
2 cups tea
1 cup sugar

Mix well together and chill. Just before serving add a small bottle of ginger ale. Pour over cracked ice. A sprig of mint adds to the attractiveness.

MRS. THOMAS MARISETTI,
12 Creighton st., Cambridge, Mass.

POLLO ALLA CACCIATORA (National Dish of Italy)

1 roasting chicken, cut up small
2 red peppers (or red and green)
1 medium-sized onions
¼ cup olive oil
1 can tomatoes
Small clove of garlic
Salt
Pepper

Put into a frying pan or covered baking dish with one half of the olive oil. Heat and place the chicken in it and sprinkle well with salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly for about 1¼ hours. About half an hour before the chicken is done, slice the onions and peppers in another frying pan with the remainder of the oil. Allow onions to cook slowly for 15 minutes. Force tomatoes in a pan and let simmer for 20 minutes. Season to taste and add the garlic, cut up. Remove seeds from peppers and cut in thin strips, add to

Advertisement

Asthma and Hay Fever Disappear Like Magic!

NEW MONEY-BACK REMEDY AFFORDS QUICK RELIEF

Calafo liquid relieves the distressing symptoms of Asthma and Hay Fever or money back. No questions—you are judge. Calafo liquid, a different remedy, promises you relief. You breathe freely—sleep all night—regain health! The distressing symptoms disappear. Don't suffer longer—try Calafo liquid. $1.00. Woolworth, Bentley St., and other drug-gists.

World Radio
82 Summer St., Boston

ZENITH RADIOS

ANNOUNCING a new HIGH QUALITY 1934 Model Set at a LOW PRICE!

- Automatic Volume Control
- Gate Police Calls
- Shadowgraph Tuning
- Advanced Type
- Superheterodyne

42.95
COMPLETE with 6 ZENITH tubes

$2 first payment

You've always wanted to own a ZENITH—here's a marvelous opportunity to get one at an astoundingly low price. It's the latest 1934 model . . . full size cabinet, beautifully finished. Hear it today . . . at your nearest World Radio store.

25% price increase predicted from new Radio Code

New "Zenith" Challenger 26.95

6-tube advanced type Superheterodyne. Cabinet of beautifully figured walnut. Fluted ends that add grace and dignity. Genuine imported marquetry inlay with top border finished in maple burl. 34½" high; 13¾" wide; 6¾" deep.

An Exceptional Value!
BUY NOW while prices are low

WORLD RADIO

SYRACUSE—175 Rantoul St.
SMITH—Main at Pleasant St.
ROCKTON—61 Lenox Parkway
ARRINGTON—76 Main St.
LICHESTER—5 Center St.
AMESBURY—278 Essex St.
OWELL—34½ Merrimack St.
YNN—5 Market St.
FORD—1495 Acushnet
D, ADAMS—82 Holden St.
ATTLEBORO—9 No. Wash. St.
BROOKS—841 Washington St.
TFIELD—34 Eagle St.
NCY—1253 Hancock St.
OBURN—408 Main St.

MAINE
BURN, ME.—18 Turner St.
RTLAND, ME.—32 Forest Ave.
NORD, ME.—121 Main St.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
BERLIN, N. H.—177 E. Mason St.
CLAREMONT, N. H.—5 Tremont St.
CONCORD, N. H.—72 School St.
FRANKLIN, N. H.—18 Franklin St.
KEENE, N. H.—164 Main St.
MANCHESTER, N. H.—1165 Elm St.
NASHUA, N. H.—49 Main St.

RHODE ISLAND
PAWTUCKET, R. I.—32 Broad St.
PROVIDENCE, R. I.—45 Empire St.
WOONSOCKET, R. I.—393 So. Main

VERMONT
BURLINGTON, VT.—151 Main St.
RUTLAND, VT.—32 State

CHIC COSTUMES FOR VACATION

This is the vacation month of the year and proper clothes are easy to select, as told in accompanying article.

Wardrobe Hints for August; Satins and Taffetas Lead

August is the vacation month of the year. Midsummer chic is more emphasized now than ever. But there's no need to get finicky about the proper clothes.

Shirt-and-shorts for tennis, golf, bicycling and skating. One simple piqué or linen for tennis, if you prefer a dress to shorts, and a light little cotton "brunch" coat to throw over your shoulders after a set. A yachting costume of heavy silk or cotton with sailor collar and nautical emphasis. An abbreviated swim-suit, practical but in some unusual weave and, of course, pair of smart gabardine slacks.

So much for active sports. But there are to vacations than tennis, yachting, swimming. Take the races, summer theaters, garden parties, dancing—for which evening clothes come out of their tissues.

By all means go glamorous. (Although glamor may mean one thing to you and another to us.) An example of this was one of the most unusual evening costumes seen this summer at the Atlantic Beach Club. It was a very gay gingham frock of black, red, green and white posed over a white pique underskirt. The contrast between the solid-looking cottons and the fascinating personality of the weaves was a lesson in fashion anyone might benefit by.

So, you see, since glamour is such a personal matter you may be at your best in Cinderella-cottons, and so may look better in the "hot house" variety of fabrics. The kind you associate orchids and camilias with. The kind women twist, curl and lacquer their hair for. And for which they beg, borrow and buy diamond bracelets and pin sparkling little jeweled ornaments in their hair.

Satins and taffetas, for instance. And vaporous chiffons, and mousseline de soies. Take either of the gowns in the accompanying sketch, made on board a floating dance floor. One is exquisite white chiffon, dotted in skipper blue coins. The other, white crepe with lace. Both, rich and new looking. The white crepe and lace, with a decidedly advanced air because of the Cambodian or Javanese dancer's upturned shoulders. And the high, round neckline in front, baring the nude back. And the slit in the tubular skirt.

The other model, with lacquered blue sash, is slim and pillar-like when still. In motion the skirt flutters gracefully about.

No. 133—First Prize Tested Recipes

Five Dollar Prize Recipe for Tuesday

MARY B. JACKSON
Guild St., Norwood, Mass.

PROVIDENCE POTATOES

5 medium-sized potatoes
1 3/4 teaspoons paprika
½ cup melted butter or oil
Worcestershire sauce
1¼ teaspoons salt

Pare and cut the raw potatoes into slices about one-eighth inch thick, cook in boiling salted water for five minutes. Drain well and spread on a greased pan. Pour over them the melted butter which has been mixed with the Worcestershire sauce, salt and paprika. Bake at 400 F. for 15 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender, basting them often with the gravy. Serve immediately upon removing from the oven.

Clip Here and Save

the onions after the first 15 minutes and allow to cook for 10 minutes longer. Add the peppers and pieces of chicken and let simmer for ten 10 minutes then add tomato sauce, first removing the garlic. Serve at once.

A lettuce and egg may be served with this dinner with a dressing made from olive oil, salt, pepper and a little mustard.

MRS. JOHN L. YATES,
87 Sycamore st., Winter Hill
Somerville, Mass.

RAISIN PUFF PUDDING

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1¾ cups flour
4 tsps baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup milk
1 cup raisins

Cream the shortening and the sugar gradually and add the beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients with the flour and add alternately with the milk. Dredge raisins and fold them into the mixture. Pour into a buttered mold. Cover and steam 1½ to 2 hours. Serve hot with whipped cream or hard sauce, or any favorite pudding sauce.

MRS. S. D. STUART,
37 McKinley st., Providence, R. I.

PEACH ROLL

2 cups flour
3 tbsps. sugar
4 tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
4 tbsps. fat
2-3 cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder, salt, but sugar. Cut in fat with knife add milk slowly. When soft dough forms put on ¼ inch thick and spread with peach butter.

Peach Mixture

1 cup peaches
½ cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 tbsps. butter

Mix ingredients with chopped peaches spread on soft dough. Roll up tightly and fit into greased loaf pan. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Unmold while warm, cut in slices with any preferred sauce or whipped cream.

For the Closet

By LAURA WHEELER

Today interior decorators give much time and thought to making the closet beautiful and harmonious with the room.

Each article is decorated with flowers that are all made of different scraps of materials, their effectiveness being enhanced by the simple leaf sprays. The flowers are made from a flower pattern and are two pieces of material sewn together, with an embroidered center. The leaf sprays are done in embroidery.

The pattern, No. 804, comes to you with a transfer pattern of the flowers and leaf sprays, detailed directions and yardage for making each article.

Send 10c for this pattern to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 32 Eighth ave., New York city.

PATTERN NO. 804

$50 HECOLITE PLATE UNBREAKABLE NOW ONLY $12

This is that beautiful pink lifelike plate that so many dentists are charging high prices for. Fully guaranteed. Price includes teeth.

BROKEN PLATES REPAIRED $1.00

Good Set $5
Lightweight Set $10
Gold Dust Rubber Set .. $15
Gold Crowns $5
Bridgework, per tooth .. $5
Painless Extraction $1
Cleaning $1

Examination FREE! Estimates FREE All work FULLY GUARANTEED

ONE DAY SERVICE. Come in our office in the morning, have your dental work completed the same day.

AVERY DENTAL PARLORS
DR. W. S. BROWN, Mgr.
578 Washington St., Cor. Hayward Place
Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. SPECIAL EVENINGS Phone Kenmore 7049

All In A Day

By MARK HELLINGER

The Clean-Up

YOU'LL have to forgive me once again if I present my story for today not as an original, but as one that was unfolded to me over the dinner table the other night.

I should really have created this yarn because it's a typical Hellinger. In other words, it's a long—and it's definitely daffy.

Ready for it? A man stops right up and meets a chap face to face character and he knows if means a long year. Bill are and drank horses.

Very early in life however some one must have assured Bill that he was a horse judge. Because Bill was induced to be very susceptible. He trusted no one but himself.

Each night after the days races were over, Bill would call his cashier and his bookkeeper into his room. Every bet of the day, from the smallest to the largest, was carefully checked. It was certain Bill didn't trust his assistants, he was just a little careful in his dread.

Each winter you would find him at Hialeah, New Orleans or Tia Caliente. And every season he and his retinue operated at Belmont, Empire City and Saratoga. Why, when and how it happened I do not know. But, at the age of 45, Bill Baker went daffy. As quickly that he had ever a little to-five on a legitimate three-to-one shot, our friend wound up in an asylum.

Not that he was a violent case you understand.

I'm happy to be able to report that Bill wasn't particularly worried about his surroundings. The food was fair enough, and nobody seemed to bother him particularly. As a matter of fact, it was something of a vacation for him.

There was but one bad feature about the joint. And that was the fact that he couldn't make book on the horses.

He looked around him and, seeing so many of the people all over the place, he figured that there must certainly be some horse players among them. So he set upon a brilliant idea.

Stopping one of the doctors one morning, he spoke to him about it.

"Doc," he stated, "you know that I am not crazy. I'm probably the only one around here who isn't, but that make no difference. What I want to know is if there will be any objection if I make book for some of the boys."

"I'll cause no trouble. You have my word for that. But I don't want to do anything without first getting permission. Will it be all right with you?"

The doctor nodded gravely. "As long as it's as far as you want Mr. Baker."

So Bill went to work immediately. He inquired around and, in less than two hours, he had dug up five horse players.

Neither Bill nor the players, of to bet. And that, as some of us have found out, is a rather important item around the horses.

But Bill solved that problem in short order. They weren't going to course, had any money with which stop him.

He gathered up a few hundred little white pebbles. And to each player he gave a certain amount. Furthermore, in order to stop the players from getting any funny notions about going broke and ringing in extra pebbles, he painted his stones red. They weren't going to cheat him.

Then began happy days for the former bookmaker. Each morning the players would gather around and Bill would read off the card for the day. Then he would make his own price—and if the players didn't like what was offered, they couldn't bet. So what could they do about it?

Here, indeed, was a bookmaker's Utopia. His own prices, and no competition.

For a few months this went on. And at the close of each day, Bill would collect his pebbles and figure out very carefully just how much he was ahead.

One evening, just when things were moving at their best pace, an orderly came up to disturb the usual routine. One of the players, cheeks flushed and his eyes bulging raced up to the daffy ex-bookmaker. He held his hands before him.

"What's the price?" he asked breathlessly on the favorite in the fourth race?"

Bill Baker looked at his list. "Seven to one," he replied.

The customer nodded and brought his hands around. In them, was a large rock. He placed it on the ground and looked Bill squarely in the eye.

"I'm out of pebbles," he said evenly. "So I'm betting this. But the whole thing on the favorite.

The bookie looked down at the rock and shook his head.

"Nothing doing," he said "I won't take that bet."

The customer stiffened.

"What do you mean," he growled, "you won't take my bet?"

Bill nodded.

You heard me," he smiled. "I'm no sucker. If you want to make a bet that big, you must have some inside information" . . .

TO NEW YORK $2
36 Hours Direct to Chicago $16.00
BRAND NEW PARLOR COACHES
Lv. B. & M. —10 P. M. Daily
From YANKEE COACH TERMINAL
110 Stuart St., near Tremont
Phone Liberty 5756 Arriving Times 8 & 9 A. M.

WOMEN!
BUY KOTEX NOW!
for future use!
Prices are sure to go up soon!

Cotton, gauze, all materials used in making Kotex have gone 'way up. Kotex costs much more to make. . . . Buy several packages now, while prices are still low.

Kotex is worth a great deal more than you have been paying for it. Such phenomenally low prices were possible because of the very low price of materials used in making Kotex.

Today, those prices have advanced tremendously. Kotex prices, to dealers, have already increased.

Pay no more than 25 cents

Equalizer Kotex costs a great deal more to manufacture today than it did a few months ago. So we advise you to buy now for the future.

This is the new type of Kotex with processed center strip . . . the patented Equalizer . . . and ends flattened, rounded, tapered for inconspicuous protection.

20 to 30% greater protection

Is is softer, more fully protective than any sanitary pad you ever knew. Disposable. Can be worn on either side equally well. It is a more expensive article to make. It is bound to cost you more within a short time.

Today, go to your favorite drug, dry goods or department store. Buy as generous a supply as you can at present prices. We believe this fine sanitary protection will never cost so little again.

OIL MAGNATE FREED, REFUSES TO DISCLOSE RANSOM SUM

URSCHEL TELLS OF NINE-DAY CAPTIVITY

Removed the Blindfold Only Twice, Says Oklahoman

Oklahoma City, Aug 1—Charles F. Urschel, 60-year-old oil millionaire, released by kidnapers today upon payment of an unannounced ransom, declared his eyes were kept taped during his nine days' captivity and he did not know where he was taken by the swirling machine gun snatchers.

Urschel said he knew only that his kidnapers drove him "several hundred miles" and freed him in the night near Norman, about 20 miles from Oklahoma City.

Urschel would not discuss the ransom, but Arthur Seeligson, friend of the Urschel family and chief intermediary, said definitely a payment had been made. Quite often mentioned about the ransom, Urschel said firmly:

"That is a family affair."

Seeligson refused to reveal the amount or details of the negotiations, saying simply

"The ransom was paid."

Urschel seemed in good health, although his eyes were bloodshot and he looked tired as he arose from several hours of sleep and appeared on the sunporch of his mansion the spot where the kidnapers seized him as he was enjoying a quiet bridge game with Mrs. Urschel and Mr. and Mrs. W. R Jarrett July 22

COMES HOME IN CAR

The oil man reached home at midnight after calling a taxicab from a barbecue stand near the point of his release.

Mrs Urschel wept after nine days of anxiety over her husband's safety, sat with him as he talked with reporters. Also present were his son Charles, Jr 17, his stepdaughter Jean, 19, and Mrs. Urschel's son, Tom Slick, Jr., 18

The wealthy oil man said he had slept little while he was held captive

"The time seemed terribly long," he said. "The days seemed to drag on forever."

"We got along fine," he reiated, smiling. "They told me, 'We don't want to make this any more difficult than we have to. If you fight we will have to mistreat you. If you don't we will get along.'

ALLOWED TO SHAVE

"They gave me cigars, but they were not my brand."

He said the tape was removed from his eyes only twice during the nine days, once when he wrote a letter used in the ransom negotiations and once when he was allowed to shave himself.

He was held captive in a small shack, he said, and the automobile trip from to Norman required about 12 hours.

Immediately after the kidnaping Urschel and his captors drove for 14 hours straight. He estimated he travelled at least 500 miles.

"All the time I was lying down in the back of the car. They had two machine guns.

"During the 14 hours I was given nothing to eat. I once had a bottle of soda pop.

"I really never did see any of the men. There were some guards where we stopped, but just two people stayed with me all the time.

"The place where I slept was a 3-room shack in more or less rolling country. The weather was fairly cool all the time."

Seeligson said the first contact with the kidnapers came last Wednesday in a letter from Urschel. Another message was received Friday he said.

MAY AID OFFICIALS

"It was an additional assurance to us that he would be given to the right party and it named the place of contact and denominations of the money," Seeligson said.

The first letter did not go through the mails, but was delivered through an intermediary, whose identity Seeligson withheld.

R. H. Colvin, chief agent of the Department of Justice here, put the forces of the government speedily into action. If a ransom demand was sent through the mails the government would have cause for action under the Lech ran anti-extortion law

How Codes Affect Business With Revised Provisions

Washington Aug 1 (AP) New interpretations to clarify the President's voluntary re-employment agreement were issued today by the recovery administration aimed them one providing for business men without employes obtaining the NRA Blue Eagle insignia.

These may get the co-operation emblem by signing the agreement and certificate of compliance.

Other rulings Professional men for purposes of the agreement include reporters, editorial writers, rewrite men and other members of newspaper editorial staffs, lecturers, nurses, hospital technicians and research technicians. All are exempt from the 40-hour week

40 HOUR WEEK CLASSES

The "white collar" worker class limited to 40 work hours a week includes maintenance men such as charwomen, window cleaners, etc

Employes receiving $35 or more per week whose duties are "executive" but not wholly managerial executive are not under work hour limits.

Non-profit organizations are required as employers for all purpo es of the agreement.

Trade areas of larger communities are defined as the territory in which there exists direct competition. If the question arises, the decision should be made by a chamber of commerce or similar organization subject to review by the state recovery board.

OTHER CHANGES

Some pertinent facts about the wage-raising, hours-shortening agreement that go into effect today for retailers and foodstuffs dealers:

One agreement applies to the grocery and food business, the other to furniture, hardware, department store, specialty shop, ready-to-wear clothing, shoe and dry goods retailers.

Both contain stipulations that replace provisions embodied in the general agreement offered by President Roosevelt to all employers. These new stipulations, together with original provisions not supplanted become effective until final codes may be studied and promulgated

RETAILERS' CODE

The retailers' code provides:

A 40-hour week, expanded to 48 for inventories, Christmas and other peaks if the 48-hour service is not demanded more than three weeks out of each six months.

A 48-hour week, or longer, for professional, maintenance, delivery and outside salesmen employes or executives making more than $35 a week. If these are paid time and a third for all over 48 hours

Weekly minimum wages of $14 in cities over 500,000 population, $13.50 in cities of 100,000 to 500,000 and $13 in others down to 2500. $12 a week less in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, District of Columbia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas because of lower living costs.

APPLIED TO FOODSTUFFS

A 20 per cent increase for all in communities of less than 2500 if this does not establish a minimum higher than $11.

This code applies to members affiliated with the following The National Retail Furniture Association, National Retail Hardware Assn Mail Order Assn of America, National Assn of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, National Retail Goods Assn., National Shoe Retailers Assn., non-members may join voluntarily

The foodstuffs code provides

A 48-hour week with days limited to 8 hours, except 12 days in any six months plus the days before each holiday when the daily limit may be expanded to 10.

Longer weeks may be worked outside deliverymen or salesmen, emergency maintenance or repair crews or executives making more than $35 a week if time and a third paid for all over 48 hours.

MINIMUM WAGES

Weekly minimum wages of $15 a week in cities over 500,000 population, $14.50 in cities of 250,000 to 500,00 and $14 in cities from 2500 to 250,000. (One dollar a week less in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Maryland and the District of Columbia because of lower living costs.)

A 20 per cent increase for all in communities of less than 2500 if this does not require minimums in excess of $12.

The foodstuffs code applies to members of the National Association of Retail Grocers, National American Wholesale Grocers Association, National Retailer-Owned Wholesale Grocers, National Grocery Chain Store Association and food chain store distributors. Non-members may join voluntarily.

ROOSEVELT TO OPEN DRIVE ON KIDNAPERS

President and Moley Confer on the Fight Against Gangsters

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug 1 (INS)—Seriously concerned over the wave of kidnaping and gangster outrages spreading through the country within recent weeks, President Roosevelt today called Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley here for a conference.

Moley's visit was something of a surprise.

Today's conference was in the nature of preliminary work for a great federal drive to stamp out kidnaping and drive the gangster racketeer out of American life.

The fact that Moley was called in on this subject, it was said, does not portend that he will be relieved of his State Department duties to take over the federal crime drive. At the same time rumors to this effect were hard in dying.

Moley is an expert in the field of crime investigation. He has been a scholar on this subject for years and several years ago made a study of the situation in New York and Ohio

Just what steps are in the President's mind was not clear, but it was learned that Moley has started a study of federal law with a view to possible simplification and stiffening of existing statutes designed to curb crime.

The visit of Moley here has no connection whatever, it was stated, with the impending visit of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The latter, en route to this country after attending the World Economic Conference in London, will report directly to the executive when he returns.

Moley, however, was to remain here but a short time. He arrived just before noon, and was expected to leave on a late afternoon train.

Post Quits Relief

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Don W. Post of New York City today resigned as assistant director of the Federal Relief Administration

KIDNAP DETAILS

1—Oklahoma City: Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil operator who had been held in $500,000 ransom, released—apparently unharmed—after an undisclosed sum of money was paid

2—Albany, N. Y.: Manny Strezel, intermediary in the release of John J O'Connell, Jr., who was freed after 23 days, held by police for questioning.

3—Washington, D. C.: Renewed interest in proposals that nation police force be organized to end wave of kidnapings.

4—Albany, N. Y.: Gov. Lehman urges th death penalty for kidnaping where 'e victim has not been returned alive. Also asks punishment for those who "deal" with such criminals.

5—Chicago: J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation at Washington, in speech before the International Association of Chiefs of Police, says kidnapings are "a challenge to law and order and civilization it."

TRAP USED ON KIDNAPERS

Albany N Y. Aug 1 (AP)—The trap to catch kidnapers of John J. O'Connell, Jr., was set more than two weeks before the youth was released, when District Attorney John T. Delaney named a list of go-betweens suggested by the political family of the National Guard officer. Two of those on that list, Manney Strewl and Joe Curro, now are in custody.

Strewl, who handled the $40,000 ransom money, and effected the release of O'Connell is "helping the police," Delaney asserted, to a question, "Will he be booked on a charge?" the prosecutor said:

"Yes, we'll eventually charge him."

The district attorney sidestepped referring to Strewl as a prisoner, but he admitted he could not "walk out of our hands."

Delaney outlined his theory as to the origin of the crime. He believes, he said, a group in Albany conceived the plot and employed an out-of-town mob to carry it out.

"It was a clever gang and a tough one," the prosecutor said. "We were ready to shoot it out with them and expected to do so," he continued.

"If Snyder had tipped us off on the payment of the ransom, we'd have nabbed them dead or alive."

GUARD MAN IN KIDNAP THREAT

Lynn and Peabody police were posted at the home and office of Harry C. Batchelder, treasurer of the North Shore Ice Co., today, to guard against harm in a "protection" racket.

Batchelder lives in Lynn st., Peabody, and maintains an office at the ice plant in Boston st., Lynn

According to information given police, Batchelder was approached by a man recently and was told that both his plant and his family were in danger.

Protection was offered for a certain fee but Batchelder promptly informed the stranger that he needed no other protection than that which could be furnished by local police

Woman Dies After Blows From Broom

Worcester, Aug. 1—Miss Theresa Tivnan, 34, inmate of the State Hospital, died as a result of injuries received when struck on the head with a broom handle by another woman patient.

TYPEWRITERS
SOLD RENTED AND REPAIRED

Open All Day Saturdays
E. A. RAPHAEL CO.
48 Bromfield St. Hancock 1840

BROWN'S GREATEST AUGUST SALE VALUES
in Used and Repossessed Furniture
ENTIRE WEEK — JULY 31 TO AUG. 5
CASH or CREDIT
Rugs $4 Room Size
Outfit for Small Apartment
Studio Couch, Gagswell Chair, Lamps, Rug, Table and Kitchen Set. $19 Complete
4-Room Outfit
Consisting of Living Room, Bedroom, Guest Room and Kitchen $49 Complete
12-Pc. Parlor Outfit $15
3-Pc. Tapestry Parlor Suite $5
3-Pc. Porcelain Breakfast Set $7.95
12-Pc. Bedroom Suite $17 Complete
Vanity Extra
Baby Carriage . $4.50
Baby Crib $2.50
BROWN'S FURNITURE CO.
751 WASHINGTON ST.

SPECIAL OFFER
Our Former $45 Genuine Hewdeco Plate Only Set $18
Includes Choice of Best Teeth, Full Upper or Lower Made the Same Day
PLATES REPAIRED WHILE YOU WAIT
Old plates remade like new the same day
Examinations. Estimates Free.
OUR "PATENT" LOCKIN CUSHION LOWER
holds comfortably and rights in the mouth. Made here exclusively with the HEWDECO UPPER U. S. Patent 1721035
5-Years Are Free With Restoration
Do You Know That
We Give One Day Service on All Our Plates
We Guarantee a Fit on All Our Plates
Positive Painless Extractions Always
We Gladly Adjust Troublesome Plates Free wherever worn or made the wrong shape
SPECIAL GENUINE VULCANITE
Lower special construction, the most modern. Double suction wafer $8
We Give One-Day Service on All Our Plates
Crowns and Bridgework at Reasonable Prices
Crowns $5 up
Fillings $1 up
Painless Painless Extractions or Free with Dentures.
All our plates are guaranteed construction
DR. HEWSON DENTAL CO., 427 Washington St.
Over Filene's, Over E. B. Horn, Jeweler
Tel. HUbbard 1335
Hours daily 8:30 A. M. to 8 P. M. Established over 30 years. Bring this ad.

Argentine Strike Protests Nazi Visit

Buenos Aires, Aug. 1 (INS)—A nationwide general strike in protest against the visit of 100 German ex-soldiers alleged to be Nazi propagandists was launched today Labor leaders had repeatedly threatened to call the strike if veterans were allowed to land from the steamer Monte Olivia

Wool Textile Code Signed by President

Hyde Park N Y. Aug 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the wool textile code providing a 40-hour week for the workers in this industry with minimum wages of $14 weekly in the North and $13 in the South. It is expected to put 27,000 additional employes to work.

WHOOPEE CRUISE
EVERY WEDNESDAY NIGHT!
Commencing Tog. 2nd and Every Wednesday and Saturday Until Further Notice. Rain or Shine.
S. S. Dorothy Bradford
DINE AND DANCE
JOE SOLOMON
And His Original Cocoanut Grove Orchestra
Outside the 12-Mile Limit From B. P. M. to 2 A. M.
Come aboard at Long Wharf, foot of State St. from 8 P. M. until 10. Grand Sweep 10 P. M. returns 2:00 A. M. Refreshments, games, top room and many other features.
$2 Per Couple No Stags
Reservations Hub 2630
Under personal direction of Capt Cod S. S. Co
CRUISE LEAVES FOR N. BEDFORD 2 A.M.

Advertisement

Loses 28 Pounds of Fat

The improvement in this woman's figure, after she had lost 28 lbs of unwanted fat can easily be imagined from the comparative measurements which she gives below Note also the effects of the treatment she used. Her method is evidently a good one to follow.

"I am 24 years of age; height 5 ft. 5½ in.; and a short time ago my weight was 28 lbs. above normal. I was listless and without energy Now, after taking Kruschen Salts regularly I have lost 28 lbs. in weight and have much more vitality. Also I have a very good complexion, and I do not have face blemishes of any kind. Surely this must be due to my having pure food, and I attribute the fact to my taking Kruschen Salts.

"I made the above reduction in four months during which time I must admit that I did not touch chocolates or sweets of any description, pastries, potatoes, butter or sugar. I kept to this for four months and lost 28 lbs. I honestly think it would not have been possible without the aid of Kruschen Salts because my weight is now 'normal' for my height and age. I am able to keep it without dieting. Just by continuing with the Kruschen Salts alone"—I give my measurements below.—(Miss) M. S.

	Before	After
Weight	168 lbs.	140 lbs.
Bust	42 ins.	34 ins.
Waist	31 ins.	26 ins.
Hips	40 ins.	36 ins

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy, money back from any druggist. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce and at the same time gain in health and physical charm.

Advertisement

We have yet to know a man who started to smoke Granger who didn't keep on.. Folks seem to like it.

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

IRVENE ESTRICH
LYNN.

LILLIAN D. McCARTHY
QUINCY.

GEORGE V. CARROLL
HAVERHILL

D. HOWARD RANE, Jr.
EAST BOSTON

MARY SULLIVAN
SALEM.

NORMAN HOMSY
ILLSTON.

CHARLES M. BELLEVUE, Jr.
WOLLASTON.

MABEL DEWAR DEDHAM

JOHN LEE
MANCHESTER, MASS.

Typical New England Boys and Girls Entered in Evening American-Sunday Advertiser World's Fair Contest

MARY L. CONROY HINGHAM.

ANDREA L. EATON
HAVERHILL

FIRST WITH LATEST NEWS

BOSTON AMERICAN

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

GREATER BOSTON NEWS

BOSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST [illegible]

WALTER G. FERLAND
MANCHESTER, N. H.

ETHAN ALLEN
CARIBOU, ME.

THIS IS LIFE

Troubles of Writing in the Midst of Moving

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

As they used to say in the old days: "Please excuse pencil and poor paper." As a matter of fact, I am sitting on a front porch crammed with heterogeneous furniture and movers' burlap trying to write on my knee. A large van is drawn up in front of the house, to the discomfiture of traffic, and three large and strong (and very hot) gentlemen are packing the third load of the family furniture to go elsewhere.

Those of you who have in your time "moved" will recognize why I plumb forgot the Tuesday column—until half an hour ago. I was forehanded with the Monday column—and then came Saturday, which was hot and Sunday, which was hotter, and the elements did welt with fervent heat, as the psalter says, and the old cerebrum and cerebellum got all soft and waxy, like a candle. So what with temperatures and thunderstorms and all, to say nothing of the Costello Jury visiting Rockport, it is a wonder we were in any state to move Monday.

Blessing on Monday Movers

Blessed be the old superstitions! We couldn't, of course, move on Friday, which was warmish, since that is plainly bad luck. But we might have moved on Saturday (which was as if all the windows of Hell had been opened at once) had it not been for the blessed adage:

"Saturday's split's a short act," a recondite and Scottish sounding proverb which seems to mean that if you go anywhere on Saturday, you won't stay very long. But since "Monday's child is full of grace," let us hope that Monday moving will be similarly blessed.

The mathematics of moving are interesting. When I moved from my one-room bachelor quarters (which is flattering it) into the five-room apartement to which I brought the Missus, my worldly goods could have been carried on a hand cart. Now on my fifth moving in 15 years the total impedimenta will probably be nearer five large loads than four. And large quantities of it will consist of stuff that we have been promising ourselves for years we were going to get rid of. It will go in the cellar or up in the dark attic to gather dust (most surely) and moths (most likely) and probably corruption.

And all this in spite of the fact that in the five movings tons and tons of accumulation have gone where the woodbine twineth. No wonder Herr Schliemann excavated six cities of Troy, one atop the other, and all six atop the sacred and original seventh. The Trojans probably had no municipal trash collection to help them when they moved. Hence the pyramids! Hence the noble and dusty science of archaeology.

Yet today, as I have been catching glimpses of things I have not seen for years, I wonder whether I really do admire, as much as I used to think I did, those neat and efficient persons who won't allow so much as yesterday's newspaper or last month's magazine to clutter up the house. Their houses—I doubt if they are houses—are dustless and empty of accumulated life. There are no memories in such a house.

But I have just seen my baby's first crib, an absurd thing, like a small chicken coop on rollers. And the gimcrack, also on rollers, into which she was harnessed to teach her to walk. And the little doll carriage. And the lampshade the Missus made with her own hands, because lamp shades, like everything else in war time, were sky high in price, out of reach of a young instructor. And a few bits of the second hand furniture which we

Continued on Page 20, Column 6

FRANCIS X. CAPELLE
ELSDALE ST., DORCHESTER.

DOMINIC METT WORCES.

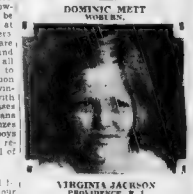
MILDRED JACKSON
PROVIDENCE, R. I.



VIRGINIA JACKSON
PROVIDENCE, R. I

SCHOOL COSTS SLASHED BY 2 MILLION

Salary reductions savings in the maintenance appropriation and the fact that no appropriation has been asked for the construction of new school buildings has resulted in the Boston School Board asking an amount lower than any in the past nine years for maintenance.

The board, at its final meeting, notified the board of assessors that it will be necessary to raise $13,-054,852.03 by taxation to maintain the city's public schools.

This figure is $2,185,567.31 less than the amount raised last year for school purposes by taxation. Last year's amount was $16,-240,309.34.

The amount to be raised this year will be divided so that $13,-825,912.47 will be devoted to maintenance of schools. The remaining $124,939.56 will be expended for lands and buildings, administration expenses and rent of hired school accommodations.

The board will not ask taxpayers to finance the construction of a new West Roxbury high school this year nor the new intermediate school in South Boston. Mayor Curley will be asked to incorporate the construction of these two buildings in his public works program. The cost of the two buildings, estimated at $2,000,000, will thus come from federal recovery loans.

$136,000 Back Pay for Revere

Revere police, firemen, school teachers and other city employes will receive the back pay which is owed them in full within the next few days, it was learned today. The back salaries owed by the city total approximately $136,-000.

The State Emergency Finance Commission made the payment possible by voting to grant Revere a total of $324,040.15 with the understanding city employes would be paid their back wages from the money awarded.

Stolen Auto Burns in Watertown

Auto thieves, who stole the auto of Mrs. Effie McAvoy of Channing st., Watertown, while it was parked in front of her husband's store in Chelsea st., Charlestown, and abandoned it after it caught fire, were being sought by police today.

Police said the thieves had apparently driven the machine without releasing the emergency brake, causing a fire in the ignition and wiring.

Girl River Victim Is Restored to Life

The thrill of being "dead" and then returning to life was that of an Everett girl today as she occupied the attention of doctors and nurses at Whidden Memorial Hospital.

For 15 minutes Theresa Managanaro, 15, of Fairbanks st., Everett, was at the bottom of Mystic river, near the foot of Woodville st., Everett.

FOUND ON BOTTOM

She disappeared while in swimming with several companions and cries for help brought Joseph Dumas, of Pearl st., and John Brewin, of Forest ave., to the scene of her disappearance.

Repeated dives failed at first but Dumas finally located the unconscious form of the girl and brought her to the surface from the river bottom.

Meanwhile, police and firemen responded to alarms and quickly applied resuscitation methods in a desperate effort to restore to life a girl who was to all appearances dead.

En route to the hospital the steady stroke of artificial breathing were applied by an inhalator but no signs of life were received at the hospital doors were reached.

PNEUMONIA FEARED

Doctors worked frantically over the girl at the hospital and it wasn't many minutes before the faint flickers of life gave them the incentive to continue.

Early today Theresa was reported well on the road to recovery her only danger being that of pneumonia as a result of the chill from the cold water.

HUNDREDS JOIN IN TEST FOR FAIR TRIP

(Coupon and Rules on Page 7)

If your picture does not appear in the groups of "Typical New England Boys and Girls" do not let this discourage you. Remember, the space which can be given any department in a newspaper is of necessity limited. That means only a small percentage of the pictures received can be reproduced in the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

The judges will choose this typical boys and girls from the actual photographs submitted, not from those printed in these newspapers.

PICTURES BRING ENTRIES

The full page of pictures in the Sunday Advertiser, the half page in Saturday's Boston American and the page encircled with a border of the pictures in yesterday's American, have brought many results in the way of new entries. Interest in the competition is growing each day and it is going to be an even more difficult job than at first imagined to pick the winners.

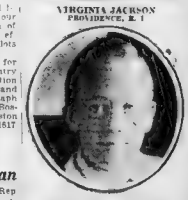
Remember—the first prizes are offered the "typical New England Boy and Girl" and consist of all expense tours, including a trip to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago—and the fortunate winners may take their parents with them—with all of their expenses also paid. But this is by no means all—There are 12 other cash prizes of $100 each for the next 12 boys and girls who qualify in this remarkable competition, the equal of which is seldom heard.

JUST MAIL PHOTO

And the best feature of it all is there is nothing to do on your part, except for the mailing in of your photograph. No work, no effort, no time required, no ballots to be cast.

Get your photograph ready for mailing right now, fill in the Entry Blank with the correct information and mail both photograph and blank—attached to the photograph—to the "Boy and Girl Editor, Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, P. O. Box 1617 Boston, Mass."

RODERICK ALLEN
CARIBOU, ME.



HERBERT JONES
PITCHBURG.

POLICE GUARD MEETING

Acting Police Supt. James McDevitt has assigned two captains, four sergeants and 48 patrolmen to guard a demonstration, parade and meeting of the New England Anti-War League to be held here tonight.

The demonstration will take place between 5:30 and 7:30 p. m. with a parade forming at Boston Common. It will follow a line of march through Beacon, School and Washington sts. to the Old South Meeting House.

Capt. James M. Clafin of the Joy st. station has been assigned to duty during the demonstration with two sergeants and 35 patrolmen from his station. Capt. Joseph McKinnon of the Milk st. station, with two sergeants and 20 patrolmen will make up the rest of the detail.

Dry Agents Hold 3 in Waltham Raid

Three alleged members of the Waltham Literary and Athletic Club, Moody st., Waltham, arrested in a raid on the place by prohibition agents, were at liberty in bonds of $500 each today pending a hearing on their cases in Federal court.

The trio, charged with possessing intoxicating liquor, gave their names as Gerald Osborne, of Adams st., Watertown, and George Robertson of Taylor st., and Harold Morries of Walnut st., both of Waltham.

COPPER BARON IS DEAD

Funeral services for Rodolphe L. Agassiz, 81, member of one of Boston's best known families and identified for many years with the Calumet & Hecla Mining Company will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at St. John's Church, Beverly Farms.

He died at his home in Prides Crossing after a long illness. He also maintained a residence on Beacon st., Back Bay. Born in Cambridge in September, 1871, he was graduated from Harvard in 1892 and in 1894 married the former Mary D. Scott, of Philadelphia.

He was president of the Calumet & Hecla Consolidated Copper Company, a director of the State Street Trust Co., the American Trust Co., and the Edison Electric Illuminating Co.

Last Rites for Norwood Official

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Fred S. Barton, 67, manager of the Norwood municipal electric light department since it was established 26 years ago. The cortege will proceeds from his late home at 9 Beech st., Norwood, for the requiem high mass at St. Catherine's Church, Needham.

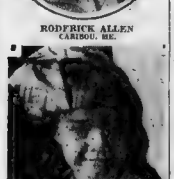
Northampton Man Held on Rum Charge

Littleton, N. H., Aug. 1—Everett Cass, 45, of Northampton, Mass., was fined $200 and cost and given a 30 days' jail sentence, to be suspended on payment of the fine, when convicted in municipal court of possessing liquor here.

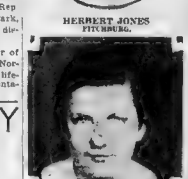
Council Honors Memory of Logan

In memory of the late Rep Joseph A. Logan of Hyde Park, the name of Everett, as in that district will be named Logan eq

The change came in an order of City Councillor Clement A. Norton, of Hyde Park district, lifelong friend of the late representative.



EVELYN PORTER
ANDOVER.



CATHERINE CUSSEN
178 W. 7TH ST., SO. BOSTON.

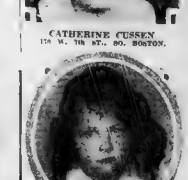
SKIPPY---No Match for the Law

By PERCY CROSBY

THAT MAKES TEN MEN WE ASKED. HOW ARE WE GONNA SMOKE IF WE AIN'T GOT A MATCH?
I'LL BUY YOU A SODA IF I DON'T GET ONE FROM THE NEXT GUY THAT COMES ALONG...
8-1

Percy L. Crosby, Great Britain rights reserved © 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

JOYCE TURNER
WALTHAM.



THERESA A. McCARTHY
AUBURN ST., DORCHESTER.

Phone in News Tips to Liberty 4000 and Win $50 in Weekly Prizes

ALVINS KAPLAN
FALL RIVER.

RUTH ROLLINSON
SWITUCKET, R. I.

JOHN SCHAAF
HUDSON

ETHEL BLOCK
WINTHROP.

RALPH W. FARNUM
WESTERLY, R. I.

EUGENE ALLEN
CARIBOU, ME.

RUTH E. CLEMENTS
PLAINVILLE

RUSSELL A. GARDNER
HUDSON.

AMOS D. CARROLL
HAVERHILL.

MARIE McMASTER
PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

LATEST MARKETS
STATE ST. COMMENT STOCKS AND BONDS
COMMODITY EXCHANGES

BOSTON AMERICAN
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

18 TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1933

BUSINESS NEWS
LEWIS HANEY R. C. FORBES FRANK H. MELOON
SPECTATOR'S COMMENT

STEEL TRADE'S POSITION IS STILL GOOD

Interest for New England Shown to Be Considerable

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor, Boston American

The steel industry's position is plainly still good. The scrap market prices are holding well and the makers have enough orders to carry them through the present month at the current rate. New buying is confidently expected to pick up as soon as the government program is clarified. Naturally uncertainty regarding administration plans has brought about some hesitancy.

• • •

The New England Council aptly points out that the local interest in the hearings on the code of fair competition in the iron and steel industry is greater than many realize

• • •

There is but one blast furnace operating in New England but the U. S. Census lists 14 establishments under the classification of "steel works and rolling mills. These plants employ about 4000 workers and produce steel, steel castings and ingots, wire rod, hot rolled strips, merchant bars, concrete reinforcing bars, bolt, nut, spike and chain rods. The annual value of this production is normally about $35,000,000.

P. D. Saylor

• • •

In addition and also coming under the provisions of the code are 55 establishments producing wire and wirework valued at about $50,000,000 annually. These plants employ about 8000 workers. In all there in New England 109 establishments, employing 12,592 workers with an annual production valued at $83,629,000 that will be subject to the code of the Iron and steel industry.

• • •

Offerings of brewery stocks are freely scored by some writers, careful not to mention the issues of which they disapprove. This looks like an attempt to play "wise." The truth is that a good many people are backing upspringing breweries with their own money, and not looking for help from stock vending sources. Portsmouth H., has a big plant well backed, starting brewing this week and President P. D. Saylor of Canada Dry Ale Co., well known as an executive and speaker in New England, announces Canada Dry is going into the brewing business. A message to this column states Canada Dry may purchase a brewery. This is in line with its past policy of vigorous expansion at opportune times.

• • •

A leading Boston investment banking house in a message sent to this column says:

"The rate of increase in business activity has recently been at a somewhat slower pace, but may be attributed in part to the usual mid-summer slowing down of some lines of industry.

"This milestone is due to turn in favorable reports, the net income being particularly encouraging.

"The second quarter reports of industrial concerns also give abundant evidence of the recovery in business over the past three months."

Pere Marquette's Loadings Increase

Pere Marquette loadings the week ended July 29 totaled 46,804 cars, up 25.5 per cent from 37,304 a year before. In preceding week loadings totaled 4906 cars, up 39.2 per cent from 1932.

Pools Pursuing Policy of 'Hands Off' in Wall St.

By SPECTATOR

Pools and other sponsorship are pursuing a policy of "hands off" in Wall st. This is of course temporary. Investment trust accumulation of some important issues on a scale down, is reported under way. Odd-lot demand continues from all sections of the country though naturally, in view of recent market action, of a cautious variety.

The longer-term outlook is considered encouraging. Retention of investment holdings is advised and selected. Look for a continued period of comparative duliness, and perhaps more testing of late lows. Buying on setbacks rather than following up strength is the plan of numerous traders while another large-sized group is waiting on the sidelines.

BEAR SELLING POORLY BASED

The Street's tendency is to consider weakness as part of the orthodox year-end clearance. The question is whether more selling will be touched off by the break.

Quite a bit of "bear" selling is taking place, based on the belief that the market is in a trading zone and that rallies won't hold . . . That sounds too easy. As long as inflation is a possibility, short selling is loaded with dynamite

• • •

Chrysler's earnings statement and dividend action are pleasant surprises to many.

The packing industry, in search of financing formula of a corporation to finance sale of meat products in Russia with the aid of the F. C. A. We hear the Bacardi family in Cuba has been flooded with American offers to finance that brand in this country.

Tips on the repeal shares aren't meeting with any interest from those who were in the group before the last move

• • •

Quite a few smart ones are bullish on grains but are awaiting the end of the July rally here.

A lot of wheat was for sale at the minimum figures. The private crop reports and the government figures next week should be supporting influences . . . Chart readers favor a good rally here.

There are ideas that the dollar will be prevented from weakening until the government financing is completed.

Mellon Fortune Is Found the Largest

As late as the third year of the depression, accordingly to figures industrial and banking interests owned by the Mellon family totaled $2,492,290,443, and their income from these investments nearly $80,000,000, making the Mellon fortune the largest in the United States. These statements are made by Harvey O'Connor in a biography entitled Mellon Millions: The Biograph of a Fortune," to be published by John Day on August 16.

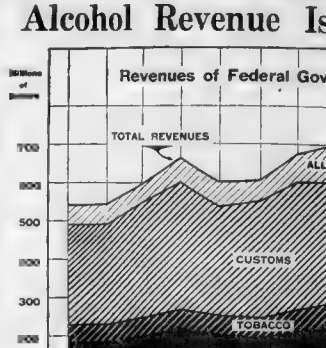
A. & P. Planning to Aid Employment

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. said its 15,700 retail stores, offices, warehouses and food plants throughout the United States would begin operations under N. R. A. Stores will open and close at usual hours, the company reports, adding that operation under N. R. A. means additional employment of many thousands the next few weeks

Seeman's Profit in Year $3.24 a Share

Seeman Bros., Inc., (grocery business) reports for year ended June 30 net of $352,037 after charges, or $3.24 a share on 108,806 common shares, against $427,875 or $3.74 a share on 114,550 average shares a year before

Alcohol Revenue Is Important



By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE

The recent rise and fall of the alcohol stocks in speculative favor together with the striking progress of repeal in the traditional strongholds of prohibition have turned attention to the importance of this industry as a revenue producer not only for the various state and municipal governments but for Uncle Sam. In fact, an examination of the position of this industry as a source of revenue may account in part, at least, for the serious collapse in the alcohol stocks

It may be noted that excise taxes on alcoholic beverages produced approximately one-third of the federal revenue in the 11-year period from 1904 to 1914. If the fiscal status of this industry is again restored after repeal and the revenue from this source assumes a corresponding position in Uncle Sam's income the tax on alcohol will be expected to produce annually from $1,300,000,000 to $1,500,000,000. Obviously, any industry compelled to bear a tax load as heavy as this will find it difficult to show any but the most meager profits. It is well known that the campaign for repeal is not being pushed in order to restore distillery and brewery profits, but on the contrary is being promoted as a tax producer

The Treasury is expected to collect a minimum of $1,000,000,000 annually from alcohol taxes, or more than one-fifth of the total revenue of the government. Add to this the fact that the alcohol industry is again ranking as the second largest commercial nation where alcohol provides on an average about 20 per cent of the government's revenue. In England, for example, the per capita tax payment on this account amounts to $14.83.

Should the federal government in the course of time impose excise taxes of corresponding weight in this country it will result in an annual revenue of more than two billion dollars. This will take care of not only the carrying charges of the new deal construction expenditures, but may be counted upon to reduce other forms of taxation and transfer to the pockets of Uncle Sam the revenue which formerly went to bootleggers.

Live News of Active Leaders in Wall St.

CONSTRUCTIVE Forces is "Big Board" dealings were aided today by an advance in grain prices to the maximum daily limits allowed and by a good rally for cotton futures.

Allegheny Steel Is Out of Red

Another steel is out of the red ink. Allegheny Steel Co reports for quarter ended June 30, 1933, net profit of $224,422 after charges, depreciation and federal taxes, against net loss of $170,785 in June quarter of 1932. For six months ended June 30, last, net profit was 392,485, versus net loss of $537,163 in first half of 1932.

Demand for Penn. Lubricants Strong

Buyers of the oil stocks are somewhat confined to figures of mixed trends. In contrast with the crude oil price situation in the southwest, where a dual structure persists, with the large buyers unwilling to raise their prices 13 cents to the level of several other companies, the Pennsylvania market has exhibited outstanding strength. This is primarily due to the continued heavy demand for Pennsylvania lubricants, the chief product of Pennsylvania crude. Still higher prices for these lubricants are anticipated in the trade. The effect will be, of course, to strengthen Pennsylvania crude still further.

Better Days Near for Film Makers

Better days are believed to be near at hand for film producing companies. Important new money has been attracted into the producing end of the industry lately, and for the first time since the depression started weekly income in July ran ahead of the corresponding period in the preceding year.

In August the film producers start releasing their new pictures and, since earnings depend directly upon the quality of film productions, a good new list is apt to stimulate profits considerably next fall. With improved attendance there will then be an opportunity for slight advances in admission prices. The outlook is considered good for most of the leading companies to show profits in the final quarter of this year.

Ludlum Steel Co. Is Out of the Red

Another steel is out of the red ink column. Ludlum Steel Co. reports for quarter ended June 30 1933, net profit of $20 280 after taxes and depreciation, against net loss of $140 251 in the first half of 1932

June net profit was $12 970 against a net loss of $11,424 in June, 1932.

Business Indices Soften Slightly

Evidences of a belated set-back has been apparent in recent business indices. In the week ended July 22, 11 out of 19 electric power systems showed smaller percentage gains over the preceding week, and one dropped 2% per cent under 1932 after running ahead for the preceding four weeks. Six systems showed further percentage gains over the preceding week

Steel operations, as compiled by one of the important trade publications, recorded a drop to 53 per cent for the week ended July 29, following week from 57 per cent the week before

Test for N. I. R. A. Is Market Factor

The big test for the administration's program for industrial recovery is taking place now, and so that alone is sufficient to account for the uncertainty of the securities markets. For much of the third quarter of the current year, at any rate, increased wages are likely to mean lower corporate profits. An accurate idea of whether the enlarged public buying is going into purchase of goods and increasing the volume of general business, really will not be available until the fall. The obvious consistency over this crucial matter should make for some lessening of speculation in the securities markets.

U. S. Government's Financing Policy

Soft-peddling inflation talk is a logical accompaniment to the government's effort to dispose of $500,000,000 in eight-year bonds, bearing a 3 per cent coupon rate. After all, if inflation talk was rife now, buying long-term government bonds, with a low coupon rate, would not be attractive to investors. All the uncertainty over what the administration had in mind for the value of the dollar made for buying of commodities, equities or speculative bonds, and certainly did not help the government bond market

With a big financing operation ahead, and which will have an important bearing on future government financing operations, the Administration naturally does not want to stir up trouble for itself by talk which leads to nervousness over the value of American currency.

American Dollar Is Advanced in Paris

Paris, Aug. 1 (AP)—The American dollar improved 59 centimes today, closing at 19.13 francs in 227 francs for the franc. Renewed buying accounted for the rise.

Sales Volume Above Company's Forecast

Six months sales-volume figures of National Bellas Hess, Inc., mail order house, indicate that manufactured goods are rapidly moving into consumption, in the opinion of Carl D Berry, president of the company. The sales-volume has likewise just released were well above the usually accurate forecasts of the mail order house

"Statisticians in cities seem to forget that the farmer is the great consumer on earth," said Mr. Berry. "Remember that he wears our shoes and clothes faster than his brother in the city. We expected to sell 811,259 pairs of shoes and rubbers in the first six months of 1933. Actually we sold 891 578 pairs.

"At first rate of selling, the index figures for production of leather and rubber do not look excessive, nor do I believe they are solely the result of speculation or re-stocking.

"Cotton forwardings, I notice, are bothering statisticians, who seem to believe these figures should not be included in business charts since they tend to make that activity look big. Nevertheless, National Bellas Hess sold 3,346,434 yards of piece goods in the first six months of this year, with yardage sales to consumers in recent weeks better than is normally experienced at this season of the year. We believe that sales figures of other organizations will confirm our experience that the consumer is buying."

Other figures for the six months ended June 30 released yesterday by Mr. Berry are: Coats 30,796, dresses 232 738, sweaters and girdles 96,772, women's hats 181,826, hose 755,652 pairs, sweaters 111,380,

FRENCH PLAN TO COPY U. S.

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, Jr.
(Copyright, 1933, by Universal Service, Inc.)

Paris, Aug. 1—Development of Anti-Nationalistic French Socialism, with a state sponsored economic program along the lines of Mussolini in Italy, Hitler in Germany and Roosvelt in the United States is foreseen by French business men as result of recent political events.

The socialist party is split essentially on the question as to whether it is more important to apply Socialistic principles immediately, as is being done in Italy, Germany and the United States, or to persist in the theories of International Socialism.

The majority of the powerful Socialist bloc in Parliament prefers the former, through a certain degree of collaboration with the Deladier Ministry, so long as the ministry shows itself in a receptive mood for raising wages, shortening hours and undertaking an extensive program of public works.

The French leader, Leon Blum, notes an analogy between the programs of the International Labor Bureau, Roosevelt, and his own nationalistic Socialists.

This is causing the greatest concern between the orthodox French finance and business leaders. If Deladier, the radicals and the national Socialists are not able to agree on any sort of an economic program, such a contingency is almost certain to give a jolt to France's old guard which is holding up its hands in horror at what is being done in the United States, or for that matter what is being done anywhere else outside the sacred gold circle.

$19,000,000 Is Gain for Petroleum Corp.

Net worth of Petroleum Corp. of America increased over $19,000,000 during the first six months of 1933, according to a statement sent to stockholders by Huntington Sheldon, president. The net asset value per share outstanding in the hands of the public at June 30, 1933, Mr. Sheldon reported, after deducting all liabilities and reserves, was $17.08 as compared with $7.23 at December 31, 1932, or an increase of more than 120 per cent.

BEST POLICY TO BUY NOW, SAYS HANEY

Only Question of Time Before Prices Soar, Economist Thinks

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics New York University

New York, Aug. 1—This is a good time for most of us to consider buying needed merchandise.

August sales are on. Prices are now almost certainly lower than they will be later.

There are two ways of looking at buying now. One is from the hard headed business standpoint. This suggest buying now because things are cheaper than they will be.

The other is the broader point of view which suggests that by buying now we can help the government's program of stimulating business.

Wholesale prices have risen sharply. At wholesale, the prices of most things are up anywhere from 10 per cent to 40 per cent. It seems to be only a question of time for retail prices to follow.

• • •

But as usual, retail prices have lagged. I am told that some clothing items are still available in stores at prices which are as low as current wholesale quotations.

Of course, retail prices have risen on average, and the cost of living is higher. But there is every probability of a further rise.

Many stores still have low-priced merchandise which they ordered before the rise in wholesale markets. Many manufacturers speeded up production before they had to raise wages and shorten hours.

So, wherever competition exists, one may reasonably expect to find bargains still

It seems to be good business to buy ordinary requirements now Perhaps, too, it may be well to anticipate future requirements to a moderate extent, as a sort of consumer investment

• • •

In a way, this would be safer than buying government bonds, for the latter investments speculative because prices are to rise, which means that the purchasing power of a dollar is going down. But if the dollar goes down, the interest you get from a government bond will be worthless.

As commodity prices go up higher grade bond values will go down.

If you want to support the new deal, you can do it by buying goods now

You can help manufacturers and merchants clean up their overstocks so that they can get higher prices later on

Prices can pay somewhat higher, prices now to help business men meet their rising costs. These rises will come as a part of the new deal. They mean higher wages, shorter working hours and less competition.

• • •

Perhaps 12,000,000 laborers are unemployed today.

Many of the less profitable manufacturers and stores can not cover their increased costs unless you pay higher prices. The blue eagle would look very blue to them if the consumer should not come to the rescue, for otherwise they may fail.

That would mean less employment

In short, the government asks you to spend your money so that others may have money to spend. You are asked to take charges, on $4,000 a year, on 29,160 shares of $6 preferred, on which there is an accumulation of unpaid dividends.

Pursuant to the provisions of the first mortgage $65,000 of the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corporation 6% first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund bonds have been called for redemption through the sinking fund at 105 and accrued interest. They will be due and payable September 1 at any of the offices of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., sinking fund agent, after which date all interest on the bonds will cease to accrue.

Britain to Keep Its Tariff Barrier at Present Mark

By WILLIE KING
London Financial Times
(Copyright, 1933, by Universal Service, Inc.)

London, Aug. 1—"Not a cent will be taken off the tariffs, not a strand of the barbed wire will be broken."

That was the comment on David Lloyd George regarding the economic conference. Nevertheless the gathering of the representatives of 66 nations dispersed on much more friendly terms than once seemed likely, while new alignments may lead to a general international group on trade relations which will put obsolete political suspicions in the background.

In the meantime the British Empire will get about its own business watching hopefully, but dubiously, President Roosevelt's magnificent experiment to reconcile socialism in the United States with the traditional virile enterprise of that country.

The best opinion in the United States will probably be shocked by the following comment on the economic conference by the Evening News, a Rothermere organ.

"Let our government show that it can grab with the best. 'Do as you would be done by,' inspires Roosevelt's new deal; it pays internationally as well as nationally."

"Economist's" monthly trade summary admits that in some respects business has encountered a slight setback, but goes on to say that this is probably only a "seasonal reaction."

Increased employment is fairly general. However, there has been some decline in the automobile and coal trades. Railway traffic has been barely steady at an abnormally low level.

DOLLAR HIGHER, POUND IS OFF

New York, Aug. 1 (INS)—Continued speculative selling combined with the usual seasonal influences lifted the dollar sharply against the pound and other European currencies today. At its current level the dollar is worth 74.3 cents gold against a little more than 72 cents yesterday.

British sterling continued to recede in favor of the dollar, touching $4 44¾, off 3¾ cents.

At the same time the European gold currencies also gave ground. France dropped off five points to 5.23 cents, belgas 23 points to 18.62 cents, Swiss francs 28 points to 23.82 and guilders 53 points to 53.87 cents.

Restricted gold currencies were under pressure, marks losing 75 points at 31.82, lire 5¼ points to 7.03½ cents, and pesetas 13 points to 11.25 cents.

Scandinavian exchanges eased from 20 to 37 points in sympathy with the pound and the Canadian dollar dropped back seven-eighths of a cent to 92¼ cents.

Consolidated Lead to Vote on Exchange

Stockholders of Consolidated Lead Co. are being notified of a special meeting scheduled for Sept. 15, to vote on dissolution of the company and an offer to exchange their holdings for shares in the Eagle Picher Lead Co. Consolidated Lead is virtually a holding company, its assets comprising 90,000 shares of Eagle Picher Mining & Smelting Co., which it received last year in exchange for mining properties.

Hathaway Payroll Is to Increase 50%

An increase of 50 per cent in its payrolls was ordered by the C. F Hathaway Co., manufacturers of shirts, at Waterville, Me., plant, as company adopted a 40-hour week work program to coincide with decision of the Shirt Manufacturers' Association.

To Pass Up Interest

Following meeting of directors of Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., it was stated the company will not pay interest due Aug. 1 on either Colorado Industrial or Colorado Fuel & Iron general bonds

No. American Car Net $4.67 a Share

North American Car Corp. reports for six months ended June 30, net of $136,206 after charges, or $4.67 a share on 29,160 shares of $6 preferred, on which there is an accumulation of unpaid dividends.

Penn. Glass Sand Is Calling Bonds

NEW ERA OPENS FOR NATION IN NEW DEAL

Fate of Plan Rests on Labor, Business and Consumers

By B. C. FORBES

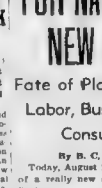
Today, August 1, marks the birth of a really new era in the United States.

Briefly, all industry will pass from employer-control to government-control, from private domination to public domination. Governmentalism supplants individualism.

What will the outcome be?

• • •

What ever doubts, whatever misgivings, whatever apprehensions may be harbored, the general response by employers has been admirable.



B. C. Forbes

Labor has behaved heroically all through its period—all through the national period—of depression and distress. Unfortunately, there have been a few indications here and there that labor leaders want to take undue advantage of the new conditions, that they want to consider their own interests rather than the general public interest.

• • •

One thing certain is that selfishness on the part of either employee or employer will wreck the whole new order.

The humblest will actually play a more important part than the highest in determining the success or failure of the new deal.

How so?

Because more will hinge on the attitude and action of consumers than on dictators or employers or financiers or investors.

• • •

Fear is the plan's most perilous, potentias enemy.

Fear instead boarding. Fear incites slashing by employers. It stifles, slays prosperity.

• • •

Happily, the predominating indications are that the country on the whole is prepared to cooperate with President Roosevelt.

• • •

Assuming that consumers do their part and that labor leaders act reasonably, it is essential that another crisis reasonably—or be promptly dealt with effectively, namely, the unreasonable members of various industries, the kind that have been indulging in ruinous price-cutting. Men like that have been responsible for unfair, unscrupulous tactics which have made it impossible for high-principled concerns to obtain and do business on a high plane.

While every thoughtful person ardently desires that dictators will keep in the background as far as possible, it is imperative that they exercise vigilance, sternness, promptitude in bringing wreckers to terms. If it be found necessary to halt stubborn, shortsighted recalcitrants to court, this should be done and exemplary punishment should be imposed.

Stone & Webster's Net 23 Cts. Share

Stone & Webster, Inc., reports net consolidated operating income, including subsidiary companies, for the 12 months ended June 30 last of $492,518, equal to 23 cents a share on 2,104 391 shares outstanding. For the second quarter of the current year gross earnings amounted to $11,520,015, compared with $13,056,371 in the same period of last year, a decrease of 11.77 per cent.

Federal Motor Loser

Federal Motor Truck Co. for six months ended June 30, 1933, reports net loss of $152,707 after depreciation, interest, etc., against net loss of $298,638 in the first half of 1932.

Bond Sale to Public U. S. Recovery Move

With the announcement of a "baby bond" sale to the public backbone of the government plan to finance the recovery program the administration's strategy in rousing the forces of depression now stands more clearly outlined

It is recalled that Grover Cleveland when President went to the public for financing and obtained a tremendous over-subscription of the treasury's offering Mobilization of industry with every man doing his part is well under way, backed up by the hard-driving Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, admitor of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Mobilization of the individual workingman to lend financial aid to carry out the plan is next on the docket, and both ideas in the opinion of outstanding financial observers here should succeed if present public co-operation is any index.

The half billion offering of long term 3½ per cent bonds on August 15, a figure which may be subsequently expanded, is to be in denominations of $50 and up. As described by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin this will give the public generally a wider opportunity to participate in the government's recovery program.

Making the people "partners" of the government is part and parcel of the administration's philosophy. Bonds of small denomination made popular during the Liberty Loan days have been offered by the treasury since that time but this promises to be of outstanding attempt of recent times. While part of this combined issue of some $350,000,000 will be utilized in the recovery campaign the balance will go toward the refinancing of an Aug. 15 maturity of $470,000,000. Another maturity is in the offing, amounting to over $450,000,000 on September 15. Both of these maturities may be tendered in payment for the new offerings.

Recovery in Business Viewed as Continued

New York, Aug. 1—Despite stock market vacillations and summer heat, the general trend of business has continued upward.

In some directions the advance seasonal factor was reflected mere-ly in the decreasing rate of advance

As far as could be ascertained, business men interpreted the speculative setback as purely technical and it resulted in no alteration of their constructive plans.

There is a growing belief that as industry begin to operate under codes there will be less rush to accumulate goods, and that production will be better synchronized with consumption. Consumption, however, is on an ascending scale as additional men are employed, as wage rates rise, and as the purchasing power of farmers is rehabilitated.

As a matter of fact some industrialists, who believe in the circulation theory are of the opinion that many who think that they have bought far ahead will find that they underestimated their need for materials. Numerous producers of basic products have been seeking to induce their customers to buy right against next-season needs. One motive for this policy has been the belief that higher prices will be paid later in the year.

Indications concerning the expanding volume of business were to be found in increased coal and electric power consumption and enlarged check payments.

In connection with the break of the week before last in the stock market, President Roosevelt wisely departed from the Coolidge-Hoover tradition of meddling in the speculative situation.

Mr. Hoover disclaimed any intention to influence stock prices, yet he was exceedingly conscious of market changes. Believing in the efficacy of propaganda, he was inclined to say things for effect. But canny traders in Wall Street soon sensed this, and as a result started to play his advice in reverse.

MODERATE RISE IS REGISTERED FOR LEADERS

New York, Aug. 1 - Leading shares on the New York Stock Exchange registered moderate advances in today's transactions. Trading was at a slow pace. Gains of one to 3 or more points spread over a fairly broad list with "wet" issues leading in rallying periods and rails showing a better tone. There was a flurry of upside activity in mining shares in the last hour.

While it was expected that the market would respond to any unusual news many financial observers were of the opinion that securities generally should fluctuate in a rather narrow range during the next few weeks.

In the first place, it was pointed out, the recent inflationary spurt seems to have lost some of its power. The wild rush to change dollars into stocks and commodities it was said was ended. Down with a song with the recent backing of the dollar in foreign exchange markets and reports that the administration has quietly put the brakes on talk of drastic currency expansion.

In the first hour of trading the main body of stocks moved irregularly higher. Scotty shares were readily absorbed and prices ate up the period were creeping upward with some exceptions. U. S. Steel was off two and Chemical three as the lowest.

Issues up a point or two at the end of the hour included Industrial Rayon, International Business Machines, du Pont, Consolidated Gas of New York, American Woolen preferred, Armour of Illinois "B", Johns-Manville, Mack, Montgomery Ward, New York Central, New Haven, Owens Illinois Glass, Sears Roebuck, Southern Pacific, Western Union, United Aircraft, Chrysler and U. S. Smelting.

The rise was aided by an advance in grains, some futures raising the limit allowable daily.

Sales to 11 a. m. approximated 310,000 shares.

In the second hour the rally was extended and there were numerous advances, running from fractions to 2 or more points, with J. I. Case up 5 points at the head of the trading group, aided by grain market developments.

Issues up more than 2 points included Cluett, Peabody, Du Pont, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Chrysler, Auburn Auto, American Commercial Alcohol, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and U. S. Smelting.

Point or better gains were recorded for Commercial Products, Crown Cork, Lackawanna, Great Western Sugar, Illinois Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Owens, Westinghouse and Sperry.

Toward the end of the hour specialties interest continued to distinguish but prices held near their best levels.

Sales in noon approximated 840,000 shares.

The third hour saw trading extremely quiet, the market leaders at times at a standstill. The majority of active issues hovered close to their highs for the session, despite the seeming lack of trading interest.

"Wet" issues continued in special favor, with American Commercial Alcohol and National Distillers up 2 or better. Shares up 1 or more as the period closed included Auburn, Western Union, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, du Pont and Chrysler.

J. I. Case was up more than 4 points, showing a point or better gains were First National Stores, Commercial Solvents, Union Pacific, American Telephone, American Can, Liquid Carbonic, Mack, New Haven, New York Central and others.

Rear covering induced by the better action of several pivotal shares was held to account for much of the buying.

Sales in 1 p. m. approximated 1,900,000 shares.

The fourth hour saw main issues still hovering around their best prices for the session, with some of the metal stocks poking ahead in way into new upside territory. U. S. Steel was changing hands close to yesterday's finish after climbing around 2 points earlier.

As the end of this period, issues up 2 or more included Auburn and U. S. Industrial Alcohol. Issues up 1 or better embraced Chrysler, du Pont, International Harvester, Commercial Solvents, Western Union and Union Pacific.

J. I. Case was traded for a gain of more than 5 points.

Net gains of around a point came in A. M. Byers, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, American Telephone, Hudson, American Can, Air Reduction, Texas Corp., Southern Pacific, National Biscuit and others. Bonds were irregularly higher.

Mack Trucks, Inc., made a 2-point advance following publication of a report showing net loss of $115,202 for the June quarter, compared with loss of $202,318 for the corresponding period a year ago. The first six months of 1933 resulted in loss of $462,118 against loss of $516,943 in the first half of 1932. The company announced that in June it operated at a profit for the first time since May, 1931.

Sales in 5 p. m. approximated 1,310,000 shares.

$21,500 Is Paid for Cotton 'Change Seat

A New York Cotton Exchange seat sold today at $21,500, a decrease of $50 from the previous sale.

Boston Curb

	High	Low	Close
1000 Eos-Man	03	03	03
300 Chief Cons	76	75	75
100 Cons Copperm	2⅛	1⅞	1⅞
700 Ohio Cop Co	28	28	28
100 Sun Bear M. Ltd	30	30	30
150 Uni Verde Ext	6¼	3⅞	3⅞
100 Yukon Gold Co	.36	.35	.35

Yesterday's sales 3,865,000
Week ago 3,536,000
Year ago 2,107,196

NEW YORK STOCKS — NET CHANGES

1933 to date 481,166,000
1932 to date 291,836,257
1931 to date 368,904,371

—A—

1933 High	1933 Low	On sale	Sales	Open	High	Low	2:30	Net Change
8¾	1	Adams Expre	1,000	2¾	3	2¾	3	+¼
2	½	Adams Millis	100	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝
12½	5½	Addressograph	100	8½	8½	8½	8½
58	24½	60 Affiliated Prod	800	37¼	37¼	37¼	37¼	+¼
103¼	47½	Air Reduction	1100	89½	90½	89½	90¼	+1¼
31	11⅜	60 Alaska Juneau	1600	23¾	23¾	22½	23½	+ ¾
8¼	3	Allegh Corp	2300	3⅛	3⅛	3	3	-⅛
70¾	20¾	Allied Ch & D	600	112	115½	112	115½	+ 3
26¾	9	Allis Chalm	300	17½	18½	17	18½	+ 1½
9¼	¾	Amal Leather	200	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
6¾	2	Am Ag Chem	100	4½	4½	4½	4½	+ ½
28¾	8	Am Bk Note	100	20	20	20
18⅝	1	Am Beet Sug	400	10	10½	10	10½	+ ½
58	24¾	Am Beet Su pf	40	40	40	40	40	- 2
42½	9¾	60 Am R Sh Fdy	200	30	30½	30	30½	- ½
11¾	3	Am Br. Sh pf	100	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	- ⅛
97½	49½	American Can	2400	81½	84½	81½	84½	+ 1¾
98¾	5¾	Am Cr & Fdy	1200	24	24	24	26	+ 1
26¾	8¾	Am Com Alco	7000	28¾	31	28¾	42½	+ 2⅝
11⅛	4⅜	Am Europ Sec	200	8½	8½	8½	8¾	+ ⅛
35¾	13¾	Am Fey Pwr	3100	11	11¾	11	11¾	+ ⅛
44¾	7¼	Am F Pwr pf	400	31¾	33¾	31¾	33¾	+ 2
9¾	4	Am Hawaiian	500	14½	15	14½	15	+ 1
16⅛	2¾	Am H & Le	1100	9½	10	9½	10	+ ⅝
52½	15½	Am H & L pf	100	38	38	38	38	+ 3¼
10¾	3	Am Home Pd	100	14½	14½	14½	14½	+ ½
17¾	3¾	Amer Ice	1400	10¼	10¾	9¾	10¾	+ ¾
4¾	1	Am La Si & P	100	2½	2½	2½	2½	+ ⅛
29¾	6¾	Am Locom	100	24¾	24¾	24¾	29¾	+ 4¾
22¾	8¾	60 Am Mach Fdy	400	16	16	15¾	15¾	- ¼
25¾	13¾	Amer Metal	400	15¾	16¼	15¾	16	+ ¼
70½	17	1,50 Am News Co	10	26½	26½	26½	26½
4		Am Pwr & Lt	2700	11¾	12¾	11¾	12¾	+ ⅝
19	4¾	Am R & Sc	1000	13¾	14	13	14	+ ¼
15¾	5¾	Am Rolling M	700	18¾	20¼	18	20	+ 1½
96¾	11¾	Am Shipbuil	10	26	26	26	26
14¾	4¾	Am Ship & Com	100	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
42½	10¾	Am Smelt & R	4100	31¾	32¾	31	32½	+ ⅜
48¾	31	Am Sm & R pf	100	74	74	74	74	+ 2
27	4¾	Am Steel Fdy	1200	17¾	18½	17¾	18	+ ¼
27¾	4¾	Am Stl Fdy pf	40	14½	14½	14	14
24	21½	Am Sugar Ref	400	55½	57	55¾	56¾	+ ½
26	6	Am Sumatra	100	16¼	16¼	16¼	16¼
138¾	36¾	Am Tel & Tel	6300	122¾	126¾	120¾	125¾	+ 1½
90¾	49½	Am Tobacco	100	80¾	80¾	80¾	80¾	+ ¼
90¾	37¾	Am Tob B	700	81½	84¾	83¾	84¾	+ 2
27¾	4¾	Am Type Fdrs	700	7	7¾	7	7¾	+ ¾
22¾	10¾	Am Ty Fdy pf	10	26½	26½	26½	26½	+ 1½
10¾	1¾	Am Wat Wks	1000	27	28	27	28	+ 1
80	15	6 Am W W 1 pf	100	70¼	70¼	70¼	70¼	+ 1¾
17	1	Am Woolen	100	15¾	17¾	15¾	17¾	+ 2
61¾	22¾	Am Woolen pf	700	42¾	43¾	41¾	43¾	+ 1¾
4¾	¾	Am. Writ. Inp	100	⅝	⅝	⅝	⅝
14¾	3¾	Am WP Ser pf	100	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾
29¾	5¾	Anacon Cop	9500	15	15¾	15¾	16	- ¼
62¾	60	Anchor C Cora	100	21	23½	21	21	- 2
29¾	9¾	Archer D Mfg	100	25	25	25	25	+ ¾
50	41	Armour D pf	100	85	85	85	85
9¾	1¾	Armour of Ill A	1000	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾
5	¾	Armour of Ill B	1200	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
91	7	Armour of Ill pf	1100	64	67	64¼	66¾	+ 2
17	13	Arnold Constb	700	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼	+ ¼
		Associated Oil	10	11	11	11	11	+ ½
80¾	34¾	Atch T & S F	600	57	58	57	58	+ ¾
79¾	50	Atch T&SF pf	100	63¾	65¾	63¾	65¾	- ¾
20¾	16½	Atl Coast Line	500	41¾	44½	41¾	44½	+ 2¾
31¾	12¾	Atlantic Ref	2300	21¾	23¾	21¾	23¾	+ 2
99¾	9	Atlas Powder	1600	25¾	28½	25¾	28½	+ 4½
5¾	¾	Auburn Auto	1000	4¾	5¾	4¾	5¾	+ ¾
84¾	31¾	2 Auburn Auto	9900	63¾	65¾	53¾	55¾	+ 3¾
5¾	¾	Austin Nichols	100	¾	¾	¾	¾
17	13	Austin Nich pf	20	35	35	35	35	+ ½
16¾	⅝	Aviation Del	6400	9¾	10¾	9¾	10¾	+ ¾

—B—

17¾	3½	Baldwin Loco	4100	11¾	12¾	11¾	11¾	+ ¾
17¾	8½	Balt & Ohio	1200	26¼	27¾	25¾	26¾	+ ¾
8¾	2¾	Balt & Ohio pf	200	27	27¾	27	27¾	+ ¾
40	20	Barge A Amer	400	33	33	32	33	+ ¾
5	¾	Barnsdall Co	2400	8¼	8¼	7¾	7¾	- ⅜
42½	14	Bayuk Bros	400	28¾	28¾	28	28	- ¾
100	27	Bayuk Bros pf	10	90	90	90	90
27	7	Beech-Nut Pack	100	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾	- ¼
12½	3½	Beld. Hem way	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	+ ¼
19¾	5¾	Bendix Aviation	3100	15¾	15¾	14¾	15¾	+ ¾
36¾	9¾	Best & Co	100	25	25	25	25
49¾	10¾	Beth Steel	12200	37¾	38½	35¾	38	+ 1¾
82	25¾	Bigelow-Sanf	1000	63	70¾	63	70¾	+ 6¾
40	20	Binz Aron	1900	15	15	14¾	14¾	- ¼
32¾	14	Bohn Alumin	400	25¾	27	25¾	27	+ 1¾
37¾	18	1,60 Borden Co	4500	31¾	31¾	29¾	29¾	- 2
21¾	5¾	Borg Warner	900	15	15¾	14¾	15¾	+ ¾
12¾	2¾	Briggs Mfg	1000	9¾	9¾	9¼	9¾
18¾	4¾	Bklyn Manhat	1700	7¾	8¼	7¾	8¼	+ ½
83	64	6 Bklyn Man tr	100	80¾	80¾	80¾	80¾	- 2¼
29¾	29½	Brown Shoe	300	46	46	45	45	- 2
18¾	7¾	Brunsw Bal Col	400	11	11	10¾	11	+ ¼
3¾	1	Brunswick T	400	2	2	2	2
6¾	2¾	Buck Creek Oil	500	4¾	5¾	4¾	5¾	+ ¾
19¾	2¾	Budd Wh Co pf	100	10¾	11¾	10¾	11¾	+ ¾
9¾	2¾	Budd Mfg	1400	6¼	6¾	6¼	6¾	+ ¼
9¾	2¾	Budd Wheel	500	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
13¾	2½	Bullard Co	200	8¼	9¾	8¼	8¼	- ½
20	7¾	Burns Bros pf	20	7	7	7	7	- ¼
40	20	Murphy A Sch	1100	14¼	14¾	13¾	13¾	- ¾
28½	7¾	Bush T B pf	10	14¾	14¾	14¾	14¾	- 3¾
2¾	¾	Butte Con & Z	400	3	3	2¾	2¾
9¾	2¾	Butterick	200	4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾
43¾	8½	Byers(A M) Co	5100	28¾	30¾	28¾	30¾	+ 1
80	30½	2 Byers pf	10	60	60	60	60

—C—

		Calif Pack	100	25	25	25	25	½
2	¾	Callahan Z & L	100	1½	1½	1½	1½	¼
3¾	2	Cal & Hecla	400	6¼	6¼	6	6	- ¼
41¾	7½	Can Dry G Ale	1700	26¾	28½	26	26½	+ 2
20¾	7¾	Can. Pacific	4100	15¾	16¾	15¾	15¾
35¾	14	Cannon Mill Co	200	28½	29	28½	29	+ 2
103¾	10½	Case Thr Mch	4700	66	166¾	63	65¾	+ 4¾
29¾	4¾	Caterpillar T	4100	15	18¾	15	18¾	+ 3¾
58¾	4½	Celanese	15300	35¾	37	34¾	36¾	+ 1¾
12¾	1½	Celotex pf	40	9¾	9¾	9¾	9¾	- ⅛
2	1	50 Cent Aguirre A	200	25½	25½	25½	25½	- ½
29¾	2	Cerro De Pas	6500	28¾	30¾	27¾	29¾	+ 1¾
7¾	2	Certain-Teed P		6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
20¾	4¾	Checker Cab	100	10¾	10¾	10¼	10¼	- ¼
42	2	Chesap Corp	600	38	40	38	40	+ 1
7¾	2	Chesap & Ohio	4100	41¾	44¾	41¾	44¾	+ 2¾
8	⅛	Chicago & E I	200	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	- ⅛
11¾	1¾	Chi Gt West	400	11	12¼	11	12	+ ¾
14¾	2¾	Chi Gt W pf	2400	8¼	9¼	7¾	8¾	+ ¾
16¾	1¾	Chi Mil St P	1400	11¾	14¾	11¾	14¾	+ 2¾
16	1¼	Chi & Northw	2400	10	10¾	9¾	9¾	- ¼
17¾	4¾	Chi & Nor pf	100	20	20	20	20	- 1½
21¾	7¾	Chi Pneu Tr	100	9¾	9¾	9¾	9¾	- ¼
11¾	1¾	Chi Pneu pf	100	17¾	18½	17¾	17¾	- ¾
19¾	2¾	Chi R I & Pac	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	- ¼
15¾	2¾	Ch RI&Pac pf	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	- ¼
10¾	2¾	C R I & P tr pf	100	9¼	9¼	9¼	9¼
20¾	7¾	Chickering Co	200	20¼	20¼	20	20
29¾	80¾	Chrysler Mot	8400	31¾	33½	31¾	33½	+ 2¾
25¾	7¾	City Ice & Fu	100	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	+ ¼
3¾	2	City Stores	100	2¾	2¾	2	2	- ¼
11¾	6	Clark Equip	80	10	10	10	10
14¾	4¾	Cluett Peab	100	14¾	14¾	14¾	14¾
7¾	2	Colgate Palm	150	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	+ ¼
29¾	6	Colgate Palm pf	100	26¾	26¾	26¾	26¾	+ ¾
7¾	2	Collins & Aik	200	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ¼
19¾	6	Colo Fuel & Ir	2900	8	8	8	8	- ¼
17¾	4¾	Columbia Br A	200	20¾	20¾	20¾	20¾
28¾	9	80% Columbia G&E	1200	19¾	19¾	19	19¾	+ ¼
4¾	1	Com'l Credit	100	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾	+ ¼
35¾	4¾	Com'l Credit pf	100	35	35	35	35
43¾	18	2 Com'l Inv Tr	100	32¾	32¾	32¾	32¾	+ ¾
29¾	80	Con Reinvest	17200	20¾	23¾	20	23¾	+ 2
4¾	1¾	Con with Ice	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
60¾	21	Comm & So	100	45	45	45	45
29¾	10	60 Consolidtn	100	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	+ ¾
7¾	2	Conrress Cigar	100	14	14	14	14
14¾	4¾	Consol Film pf	200	9	9	9	9	- ¼
64¾	40	1,40 Consol Gas	2000	52¾	52¾	51¾	52¾	+ ¾
60¾	51	5 Consol Gas pf	100	52¾	53	52¾	53
9¾	2¾	Consol Laund	100	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾
15¾	5	Consol Oil	1600	10	10¾	9¾	10¾	+ ¾
11¾	1¾	Consol Ret Co	100	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾	- ¼
10¾	1¾	Consol Tex	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
7¾	1¾	Container A	200	6	6¼	6	6
7¾	1¾	Container B	100	6¼	6¼	6	6
18¾	3	Cont'l Bak A	1000	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾	- ¼
8¾	3	Cont'l Bak	1000	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	- ¼
10¾	1	20 Cont'l Insuran	100	28¾	28¾	28¾	28¾
3¾	1	Cont Motors	100	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	+ ⅛
7¾	1	Cont'l Oil	700	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾	+ ¼
89¾	45¾	7 Corn Products	7000	77	77¾	75¾	77	+ 1¾
114¾	112¾	7 Corn Prod pf	100	116	116	116	116	+ ¾
25¾	2	25 Crm of Wheat	200	29	29	29	29
6¾	2¾	Cotv Inc	1000	5	5	4¾	5
65	14¾	Crown Ck & Sl	2400	44¾	46	44¾	46	+ 3¾
6¾	2	Crown Zellerb	200	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾	+ ¼
7¾	2¾	Crucible Steel	700	25	26	25	26	+ 2¼
11¾	1¾	Cub Am Sugar	700	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ¼
29¾	20¾	2 50 Cudahy Pack	100	44	44½	44	44	- 2
7¾	2¾	Curtis Pub pf	100	4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾	- ¼
4¾	1¾	Curtiss Wright	1000	3	3⅛	3	3
4¾	1¾	Curtis Wright A	8300	4¾	5	4¾	4¾	- ⅛
16¾	4¾	Cutler R Mfg	100	14	14	14	14	+ 2½

—D—

14¾	1¾	Deere & Co pf	1,50	12¾	13¾	12¾	13¾
29¾	6¾	Deere & Co		24¾	27¾	24¾	26	+
93¾	17¾	Delaware & Hud		67	67	67
28¾	5¾	Del Lack & W	7000	28¾	31	28	30	+
4	1	Denver & R G W	100	2	2	2	2
28¾	8¾	Diamond M pf	100	28¾	28
26¾	6¾	Dome Mines	2000	28¾	29
75	18¾	75 Douglas Aircft	200	129¾	133
8¾	3	Dravo Co	100	7½	7½
14¾	4¾	Duluse Tr	1400	46¾	47
86¾	68¾	Dupont DeN	8000	68¾	69½

—E—

96¾	46	3	Eastman Kod	2100	75¾	77
13¾	3		Eaton Mfg Co	1000	12¾	13¾
28¾	8¾		Elec Auto-Lite	100	13¾	13¾
6¾	2¾		Elec Boat	1000	3¾	3¾
19¾	6		Elec & Mus	700	2¾	2¾
35¾	13¾		Elec P & Lt	1200	8¾	8¾
7¾	2¾		Elec P & Lt pf	100	19	19
54¾	21	2	Elec Stor Bat	100	42	42
5¾	1		Elphora Rubr	100	2	2
15¾	5	50	Erie R R pf ww	1100	13¾
14¾	6¾	1	Esmit Office	300	9¾	9¾
25¾	8¾		Erie R R	100	21	21½
19¾	4¾		Erie RR 1 pf	100	21	21
18¾	4¾		Erie RR 2 pf	100	18	18
19¾	3¾		Eureka Vac	100	9	9¼

—F—

7¾	2¾		Fairbks Morse	100	6¾	7
7¾	2¾		Fed Water	100	3¾	3¾
40¾	13¾		Fed Water T&R	400	23	23½
90¾	50		First Nat Str	100	80	80
47¾	14¾		Fisher Body	1600	37¾	40¾
18¾	7¾		Foundation Co	2000	17¾	18½
7¾	2¾		Fox Film A	1000	5¾	5¾
43¾	16¾	2	Freeport Tex	100	36	36

—G—

3¾	1		Gabriel Snub A	100	3¾	3¾
12	2¾		Gen Am Invest	400	11¾	11¾
37¾	13¾		Gen Am Tk C	2500	33¾	37¾
27¾	4¾		Gen Asphalt	1400	17¾	17¾
58¾	24¾		Gen Bakeries	1200	37¾	44¾
6¾	2¾		Gen Bronze	500	5¾	5¾
9¾	2¾		Gen Cable	200	4¾	4¾
49¾	26¾	4	Gen Electric	1100	38¾	38¾
29¾	10¾	40	Gen Electric	1100	22¾	25¾
7¾	2¾		Gen Foods	700	17¾	19¾
19¾	6¾		Gen G & E1 A	100	11¾	11¾
21¾	1	80	General Foods	37700	19¾	21¾
7¾	2¾		Gen Mills	100	58	58
49¾	20¾		Gen Motors	14400	28¾	33¾
5¾	2¾		Gen Mo Am pf	200	52	52
9¾	2½		Gen Outdoor	100	7	7
40¾	13¾	1	Gen Ry Signal	100	35½	35½
6¾	2¾		Gen Realty	200	4¾	5
9¾	2¾		Gen Realty pf	200	16½	16½
7¾	2¾		Gen Refrac	100	13¾	13¾
19¾	5¾		Gillette S R	1200	13¾	13¾
5¾	1¾		Gillette pf	100	4¾	5
19¾	5¾		Gimbel Bros	100	13¾	13¾
19¾	5¾		Gimbel Br pf	100	23	23
24¾	6¾		Glidden Co	200	14¾	14¾
97¾	40		Gold Dust	1700	91½	91
8¾	3		Gobel Inc	1300	9¾	9¾
29¾	12¾	1,20	Gold Dust	4600	27¾	30¾
14¾	3¾		Goodrich Rub	1000	14¾	15¾
49¾	17¾		Goodrich pf	400	37	41
7¾	2¾		Goodyr T & R	1400	5¾	6¾
29¾	7¾		G T A Rinf	100	28¾	28¾
29¾	7¾		Gotham S M	100	28¾	28¾
13¾	3¾		Graham Paige	100	3½	3¾
13¾	3¾		Granby Consol	100	3¾	3¾
29¾	6¾		Grand Union	100	6¾	6¾
7¾	2¾		Gt North pf	200	24	24¾
29¾	7¾		Gt West Sug	100	28	28
29¾	7¾		Gt West S pf	100	105	105
29¾	7¾		Grigsby Grun	200	2¾	2¾

—H—

9¾	3¾		Hahn Dept Sts	600	5¾	5¾
29¾	7¾		Hazel Atlas G	100	26	26
29¾	7¾		Helme (G W)	100	109½	109½
29¾	7¾		Hercules Pow	100	43¾	43¾
29¾	7¾		Hershey Chl	100	84	84
29¾	7¾		Holland Furn	400	8¾	8¾
29¾	7¾		Homestake Min	100	214½	214½
29¾	7¾		Houdaille H B	100	4¾	4¾
29¾	7¾		Houston Oil	200	24¾	25
29¾	7¾		Houston Oil pf	100	4¾	4¾
29¾	7¾		Hudson Motor	12000	10¾	10¾
29¾	7¾		Hupp Motors	100	3¾	3¾

—I—

29¾	7¾		Illinois Cent	3000	8¾	10¾
29¾	7¾		Indust Rayon	900	61	62
29¾	7¾		Ingersoll Rand	200	54	54
29¾	7¾		Inland Steel	300	34	34
29¾	7¾		InspirationCop	200	6¾	6¾
29¾	7¾		Intern Cmb Eng	100	4¾	4¾
29¾	7¾		Intern Harvest	100	40¾	40¾
29¾	7¾		Intern Nickel	100	20	20
29¾	7¾		Intern Paper	100	17¾	17¾
29¾	7¾		Intern Paper pf	100	67	67
29¾	7¾		Intern Paper b	100	4¾	4¾
29¾	7¾		Intern Paper C	100	4¾	4¾
29¾	7¾		Int Paper n	800	13	13
29¾	7¾		Inter Shoe	400	31¾	31¾
29¾	7¾		Inter Silver pf	100	14¾	14¾
29¾	7¾		Inter Tel & T	2400	14¾

RESERVE BANK REPORTS RISE IN BUSINESS

The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston today reported a material increase in the aggregate level of general business in New England during June.

Nearly all industry in the district reflected the improvement in June over May. Even the building industry, which had been unusually slow, was more active.

Industrial activity during the second quarter of 1933 was higher than the first quarter and was higher than during any of the final three quarters of 1932.

The volume of boot and shoe production in New England during June exceeded that of the corresponding month of 1932 by about 30 per cent, and during the first half of 1933 was approximately 10 per cent greater than in the first six months of last year.

Increased activity in the textile industry during June resulted in rise of about 200 per cent in cotton consumption over the June, 1932, volume, and a gain of about 40 per cent during the first half of the current year as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

Wool consumption in New England mills during the month and also during the first half year increased over the corresponding periods of 1932 even more than the percentage gain in cotton consumption. The increase in June amounted to more than 231 per cent, and for the first half year was more than 100 per cent.

Although the cumulative volume of new residential building contracts awarded during the first six months of 1933 was nearly 20 per cent lower than in the corresponding period last year, the June volume was approximately 50 per cent greater than June, 1932, due to the distinct improvement that took place during June and May this year.

The Massachusetts department of labor and industries reported the number of wage earners employed in Massachusetts manufacturing establishments increased 7.5 per cent between May and June and aggregate weekly payrolls increased 13.3 per cent.

Seven of reporting New England retail establishments during June were 5.4 per cent less than in June, 1932, while during the first quarter of 1933 the volume was nearly 30 per cent less than in the corresponding period last year. The ratio for the first half of 1933 was 18 per cent less than the first half of 1932.

Registrations of new automobiles during June were nearly right per cent higher than in June 1932.

St. Paul Loadings Show a Large Gain

Revenue freight car loadings on the St. Paul the week ended July 29 were 21 per cent above the 1932 week, against increased of 33.2 per cent over a year ago the preceding week. The larger percentage increase is accounted for mainly by smaller grain shipments, due to the decline in price

Weeks	Roads	Last
Kent Corporation

Sinclair Refining Raises Gasoline

Sinclair Refining Co. effective immediately has made an advance of 1c cent a gallon in spot gasoline in tank-car lots making the new prices 6½ cents on above 65 octane and six cents on below 65 octane at New York, Tulsa, Kansas City, K. I., Portsmouth, Charleston, Jacksonville and Tampa

Auto Sales Volume for Month Greater

R. L. Polk & Co. reports June sales of new passenger cars at 174,910 units against 160,242 in May and 134,792 in June, 1932. Six months total was 682,376 units against 883,623 units in the first half of 1932.

Adams Express Is Listed in Boston

The Boston Stock Exchange has listed the shares of the Adams Express Co. The Old Colony Trust Co. is the transfer agent and First National Bank registrar. The code letters are A F.

7% Invest for Immediate INCOME

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

Class "A" 7% Shares

Price $25 per Share

or on Monthly 7% Thrift Plan

Mail Coupon or Call Liberty 0800

NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CO. BROKER
Boston, Mass.
100 Summer St. Re- on Line

Please send further details on ... shares of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Class A, at the ...

Name

Address

City

Cotton Farmers Get Checks for Ploughing Under

Years Aug 1 Distribution of checks to farmers for cotton ploughed up in the government acreage reduction program, aimed from textile workers on opening their "New Deal" pay envelopes, and the quick response of employers to President Roosevelt's radio speech were just a few of the high lights in the South's seventh consecutive week of trade expansion.

Reports of wage increases were numerous, while production activity, due to shorter hours, slackened somewhat. This is interpreted by economic observers as encouraging as it allows consumer demand in advance closer in line with production and assures a longer delay in tapering off of the present rate of activity.

Employment gains of the week were fewer, but with those now employed getting more cash, a rapid increase in new jobs is expected before this week is over. Approximately 1500 workers were given jobs last week, which is a small number compared with the 10,000 employed during the week ended July 15.

BANK CREDITS EXPANDING

New York Aug 1 (AP) The monthly credit review of the New York Federal Reserve Bank out today, says that distribution of credit has been resumed by the country as a result largely of discontinuance of interest on demand deposits has been accompanied by changes in the movement of bank credit.

Until mid-June states the review, credit expansion was confined chiefly to New York city but there has since been a substantial expansion elsewhere while some reporting has occurred here.

The New York money market was subject to confusing influences last month.

"On the one hand," says the bank, "the reserves of the principal New York city banks were little, if any, above legal requirements during much of July, so that most of the banks had little or no margin for new employment until near the end of the month. On the other hand, excess reserves of out-of-town banks reached larger figures than at any previous time in recent years, and consequently no substantial volume of funds of these banks was seeking employment in the New York money market."

Bar Silver Is Lower

New York Aug 1 (AP) Bar silver barely steady, 1c lower at 35½.

NEW SELLING IDEA IS HELD BY MERCHANTS

Modern merchandising envisages retailing as a service to consumers. The greatest success consists of combing world markets for products which bes meet the needs and tastes of customers.

This viewpoint is different from the old fashioned theory of taking on what could be bought advantageously and forcing consumers to take it whether they were eager for it or not—through sales pressure.

Newer merchandising experts have developed a philosophy in the timing of offerings. For example instead of respecting traditional times for sales such as June or summer they advocate focussing on merchandise at the time when the consumer is naturally interested in it.

Similarly, August sales are resorted to to stimulate business in what would otherwise be the dullest month. Usually the consumer has no natural immediate needs at the time.

Whatever may be thought of August sales in ordinary years they appear to be out of the interest of the consumer. This is because apparently business is in better position for enjoying than thus far the huge upturns in primary wholesale markets have generally been reflected in retail prices. The cost of living has lagged as it normally does behind that of the early stages of rising prices. But, unless the trend is reversed, retail prices in the course of months must step into line with wholesale prices.

Hence, with these prospects, postponement of purchases will prove costly to the consumer, whereas anticipation of actual requirements needs may represent true economy.

Referring to this situation, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, which reflects the well considered views of William C. Potter, the president, points out

"The cost of living appears thus far to have risen only fractionally more than wholesale, a higher level or raw-material prices almost necessarily implies a higher cost of living later on, and a sharp rise in industrial output can be maintained only by a corresponding expansion in final consumption . . ."

Standard Fruit to Act on Absorption

Plan for absorption of the Eastern Steamship Lines, and its wholly-owned subsidiary, the American Fruit & Steamship Corp., have been submitted for stockholders at the Standard Fruit & Steamship Corp. Special meeting to vote on the plan is to be held Aug. 15 in New Orleans

Three Banks Merge

Three Waterbury, Ct., savings banks the Waterbury Savings Dime Savings and West Side Savings Banks have merged.

Fair Sales Noted in Boston Wool Market

Aggregate volume of scattered sales in the wool market here are noted as fair during the past several days in a review issued by the Boston offices of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Trading was at a somewhat slackened pace, as many manufacturers have filled their requirements.

Manufacturers have also been given a selling centering attention on the readjustments that will be necessary under the new industrial code that is expected to be applied soon in the wool textile industry. The advancing tendency of wool prices was not as marked as in many of recent weeks, although the undertone of the market is mostly very firm.

Occasional sales are closed on a number of grades of fleeces. Several lots of fine Ohio Delaine combing staple in the grease, although some lines were available at 20 cents. Demand was slow on fine staple, but prices were firm; bids of 32 cents were in some cases turned down on strictly combing staple. Inquiries on ⅜ blood and 48s, ¼ blood, Ohio and similar fleeces encountered limited sales at 33½ cents in the grease for strictly combing staple of each grade and 32 cents for clothing 58s.

A slackened demand from topmakers and manufacturers for the 48s and finer territory wools made quiet conditions prevail. Their needs without raising their average costs of raw wool. Original bag lines have been offered at the same ranges of prices as during the previous week with bulk French combing 64s, 70s quarter territory staple bringing 73-75 cents, scoured basis, while good French combing 70-72 cents, scoured basis, ran as a fair percentage of strictly combing wool sold at 77-78 cents. Quotations were unchanged on the Aggregate volume of scattered sales in the wool market here are noted as fair during the past several days in a review issued by the Boston offices of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Trading was at a somewhat slackened pace, as many manufacturers have filled their requirements.

Manufacturers have also been given a selling centering attention on the readjustments that will be necessary under the new industrial code that is expected to be applied soon in the wool textile industry. The advancing tendency of wool prices was not as marked as in many of recent weeks, although the undertone of the market is mostly very firm.

Occasional sales are closed on a number of grades of fleeces. Several lots of fine Ohio Delaine combing staple in the grease, although some lines were available at 20 cents. Demand was slow on fine staple, but prices were firm; bids of 32 cents were in some cases turned down on strictly combing staple. Inquiries on ⅜ blood and 48s, ¼ blood, Ohio and similar fleeces encountered limited sales at 33½ cents in the grease for strictly combing staple of each grade and 32 cents for clothing 58s.

A slackened demand from topmakers and manufacturers for the 48s and finer territory wools made quiet conditions prevail. Their needs without raising their average costs of raw wool. Original bag lines have been offered at the same ranges of prices as during the previous week with bulk French combing 64s, 70s quarter territory staple bringing 73-75 cents, scoured basis, while good French combing 70-72 cents, scoured basis, ran as a fair percentage of strictly combing wool sold at 77-78 cents. Quotations were unchanged on the Pulled wools were of the finer grades with 46s and 48s predominating in a rather limited demand. Modest quantities of combing and clothing Texas wool sold occasionally at around 75 cents scoured basis.

Prices of spot Australian merino wools were firm on sales of limited quantity. A slightly irregular tone was noted in the market for low crossbred Argentine wools.

Moderate demand at steady prices was reported on mohair top but quiet on yarn with quotations unchanged. Few lots of original hair were offered.

A few lines of woolen wools were more active than during the previous week but generally business was only steady to slow. Pulled wools were very strong at prices fully firm to slightly higher. Demand about clothing wools was rather slow but firmly quoted. Noils were distinctly slower with only a few sales closing at maximum prices of the previous week.

Demand for carpet wools showed further slackening but prices on scarce grades were generally unchanged with the previous week's prices. Foreign markets for carpet wools were reported fairly strong.

The market for wool tops was much quieter but prices were mostly firm in the previous week's selling ranges. Average 64s on combed tops sold at 80 cents. Some contracts were placed. An occasional spinner was looking for spot offerings of tops that could be delivered immediately. Such offerings, however, were difficult to find. Combers continued to be pressed to secure large enough production to meet delivery specifications on their contracts. It has been the largest month in the year for shipments of tops by some of the topmakers.

New York Curb

	High	Low	Last
Air Investors cl ...	2⅝	2⅜	2⅜
Air Investors ws ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Alum Co Am ...	65	65	65
Am Cities Pwr B ...	3½	3⅜	3½
Am Comme A ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Am Cyanm B ...	11⅛	10½	11
Am F Pw wts ...	7⅞	7¼	7⅞
Am Founders ...	1⅜	1⅛	1⅜
Am Gas & El ...	15½	15	15⅜
Am Maracaibo ...	1½	1⅜	1½
Am Superpwr ...	5⅜	4⅞	5
Am Superpwr 1 pf. ...	47	47	47
Armour & Co. ...	10⅛	10	10⅛
Armstrong Cork ...	16⅛	16	16⅛
Armour & Co. wts. ...	3⅜	3⅛	3⅜
Asso Elec Ind ...	4⅜	4⅛	4⅜
Asso G&E 5 pf ...	5⅞	5⅝	5⅝
Atlas Corp ...	13⅝	13⅜	13⅝
Atlas Corp pf ...	30	30	30
Blumenthal S ...	10	10	10
Brit Celanese ...	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜
Can Marconi ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Can Ind Alc A ...	16	15	15
Can Ind Alc B ...	14	14	14
Cana Marconi ...	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
Carib Synd ...	5¼	5⅛	5⅛
Carib Synd rts ...	3-32	1-16	1-16
Carnation Co ...	16	16	16
Celluloid ...	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞
Cent Sta Elec ...	2⅜	2⅛	2⅛
Cities Service ...	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Cities Service pfd. ...	17	17	17
Claude Neon Lts ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
Colonial O&E pr pf ...	100	100	100
Comm Edison ...	65¾	65	65⅞
Commwl & S wts ...	9-16	9-16	9-16
Cons Aircraft ...	9⅜	9⅛	9⅛
Cons Gas Pwr M ...	9⅜	9⅛	9⅜
Cord Corp ...	9⅛	8⅞	9
Creole Petrol ...	6	5⅝	6
Distillers Co ctfs ...	17⅜	17⅛	17⅜
Distil Seagram Ltd ...	22	21	21½
Duval Sulphur ...	2	2	2
East Pw & Pr pf ...	60¼	60¼	60¼
Elec B & S ...	24⅜	23	23⅝
do pf ...	55	54⅝	55
El Bd & Sh com pf ...	48	48	48
Elec U Asso A ...	6⅜	6⅛	6⅜
El P & Lt Op war ...	4⅛	4⅛	4⅛
Europe Asia Corp rct ...	13-16	13-16	13-16
Evans Wallo ...	⅝	⅝	⅝
Fairchild Av A ...	4⅛	4	4⅛
Fairch Pkg ...	4	4	4
Ferro Enamel ...	14	14	14
Fidelio Brew ...	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜
Ford Motor Engl new ...	8¼	8¼	8¼
Ford Motor Ltd ...	8¼	8¼	8¼
Ford of Can A ...	13	12⅜	13
Gen Pow wts new ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Gen Ry Am A ...	4	4	4
Gen Tire & Rubber 93 ...	92½	92	93
Glen Alden Coal ...	17⅛	17	17
Gold Seal Elec ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Goldfield Cons ...	5-16	5-16	5-16
Gorham Mfg Vtc ...	18½	18	18½
Gt A & P Tea pf ...	148	148	148
Gulf Oil ...	44⅛	43⅝	44⅛
Happiness Candy ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Hecla Mining ...	15⅛	15	15⅛
Heyden Chem ...	16	16	16
Hollinger Mines ...	9⅛	8⅞	9
Hudson Bay M & S ...	9¾	9¼	9¾
Humble Oil ...	70⅛	69½	70⅛
Imperial Oil Can ...	13⅛	12⅝	12⅞
Imperial Oil (Can) ...	16⅛	16	16⅛
Int Utilities B ...	2⅜	2⅛	2⅜
Int Util war new ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Investors Equity ...	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
Lake Shore Mines ...	39⅛	39	39
Leonard Oil ...	17	17	17
Louisiana Land ...	1	1	1
Mavis Bat'l A ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Michigan Sugar ...	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
Middle States Pet ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Molybdenum Corp ...	5⅜	5⅛	5⅜
Morrg Bk of Col ...	3	3	3
Mountain Producers ...	15	15	15
Mountain St T & T ...	103½	103½	103½
Nat American ...	2	2	2
Nat Bond & Heil Inc ...	2⅞	2⅞	2⅞
Nat Invest ...	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Nat Rubber M. ...	4	4	4
New Bradford Oil ...	13-16	13-16	13-16
New Brad Oil ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
New Eng Pwr pf ...	55	54½	54½
New Mex & Ariz ...	51	51	51
NY Shipbldg fd sh ...	18½	18½	18½
Newberry J ...	17	17	17
Newmont Min ...	37¼	37⅛	37⅛
Nlag Hudn Pow ...	9⅜	9⅛	9⅜
Nlag Huds P A war ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
North Ships Line ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Nor Sta Pr ...	40	40	40
Ohio Copper ...	5-16	5-16	5-16
Pacific Gas pf ...	23⅜	23⅛	23⅜
Pantepec Oil ...	3	3	3
Parke Davis ...	32⅜	32⅛	32⅜
Penn G & E A ...	8⅜	8	8⅜
Pennroad wts ...	⅜	⅜	⅜
Pepperell Mfg ...	66½	66½	66½
Petrol of Am wts ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Phoenix Sec ...	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝
Phoenix Sec pf ...	25	24½	25
Pioneer Gold ...	11⅛	10¾	11
Pitney Bowes ...	3⅜	3	3
Producers & Refiners ...	9-16	7-16	8-16
Railroad Shares ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
Reeves Daniel ...	3	3	3
Reyburn Co ...	2	2	2
Roosevelt Fld Inc ...	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
Royal Typewr ...	11⅜	11⅛	11⅜
St Anthony Gold ...	5-16	5-16	5-16
St Regis Pap ...	5⅜	5⅛	5⅛
St Regis Paper pf 6% ...	39¾	39½	39¾
Salt Creek Prod ...	6¼	6¼	6¼
Schenley Distill ...	27	25½	25⅝
Seaboard Util ...	⅛	⅛	⅛
Selected Indus ...	2⅛	2	2
Sherwin Williams ...	36	34	34
South Penn Oil ...	15⅛	15⅛	15⅛
S Cal Ed pf A ...	25⅛	25⅛	25⅛
S Cal Ed pf C ...	20¼	20¼	20¼
South Corp ...	2¼	2¼	2¼
Southland Royalty ...	5	5	5
Std Oil Ind ...	27⅞	27⅝	27⅝
St Oil of Ky ...	16⅛	16	16
St Oil of Ohio ...	34	32	34
Stand Sur Lead ...	¼	¼	¼
Sterling Prods ...	56	56	56
Swift International ...	24	24	24
Swift & Co new ...	24½	23⅞	24
Tastyeast "A" ...	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
Technicolor ...	7¼	7¼	7¼
Teck Hughes G ...	5¾	5¾	5¾
Union Tobacco ...	5-16	5-16	5-16
United Dry Docks ...	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Unit Fndrs Corp ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
United Gas ...	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
United Gas war ...	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
United Gas pf ...	34¾	34¾	34¾
United L&P A ...	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜
United Molasses ...	3⅜	2⅞	3
U S Foil B ...	7¼	7¼	7¼
Util P&L ...	1⅞	1⅞	1⅞
Util P&L Ind pf ...	4	4	4
Walgreen Co ...	17	17	17
Walker G & Worts ...	34¾	34½	34½
Wil-low Cafe ...	3½	3½	2 3½
Wright Harg Mine ...	6¾	6¾	6¾

BANKS PLEDGE EASIER MONEY

New York, Aug 1 (INS)—Pledges by New York's 11 biggest banks to support Roosevelt's program and to lend more freely to business virtually assures success, temporarily at least, for the National Industrial Recovery Act, if the banks practice what they preach.

The banks making the pledge are the Chase, now dominated by the Rockefellers; General Motors Bank of Manhattan, National City, Bankers First National Irving Trust, Chemical, Manufacturers, Bankers Guaranty, and New York Trust.

The last two are the Morgan banks. The Bankers is now considered Landon K. Thorne's

In winning over these bankers, President Roosevelt and his recovery administrator—Gen. Johnson—have succeeded where President Hoover and his aides failed.

This may be partly due to the fact that two of the biggest banks on this list have seen fit within the year to change pilots: control of a third has passed into new interests, and, lastly, the House of Morgan has publicly embraced inflation and the Roosevelt program.

All the Morgan banks are on this list. This is a real victory for the White House and its program.

Failure of the banks, including some of those on this list, to lend their business men liberally in the last two or three years has tended to nullify all previous government efforts to revive business.

Cotton Crop Only 72.5 P. C. of Normal

Clement Curtis & Co. (Murray) reports condition of cotton July 25 as 72.5 per cent of normal, against 10-year average of 68.5. Production forecast on basis of acreage planted is 35,000,000 bales, an improvement of about 265,000 the past month. Crop last year was 13,002,000 and average for the preceding five years 14,687,000.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET DULL, PRICES UP

Trading was dull on the Boston Stock Exchange today, with prices mostly moderately higher. Adams Express symbol A E was added to the local tape, selling off fractionally from its high after opening at 8⅜, up ⅛ net.

American Telephone Eastern Steamship, Edison and New Haven all moved up a point or better.

Gains were also shown for Kennecott, Pacific Mills, United Shoe, General Electric and American Woolen Mergenthaler and Boston & Maine preferred were traded in a couple of points. Gillette Safety Razor eased but was inactive.

Banking quarters recall that this far there has been no actual monetary inflation and that the government has not indicated it would use its wide powers in this matter. Currency in circulation now is considerably under that of the same time last year

In line with this theorizing, the apparent oversubscription of the new 3¼ per cent treasury bond offering was cheering to "sound money" advocates. The implication, they hold, is that inflation fears have greatly subsided and that the government would not even attempt a threatened bond issue if it had any idea of going the limit on dollar depreciation.

The $300,000,000 bond offering, it was thought, might also be a forerunner of a move to contract the more than $6,000,000,000 of outstanding Liberty fourth 4¼'s which are callable on any interest date.

Bank Statement

Boston balance $14,000,000
Boston clearance $35,000,000

Boston Stocks

	High	Low	2 50	Chg
Am Can	84⅛	82⅝	84⅝	1⅞
Adams Exp	8⅜	8⅛	8⅜
Am Fer Pwr	11⅛	10⅞	11⅛	⅛
Atlantic R R	38⅛	37⅝	37⅝
Am Tel	122⅞	120½	122	1½
Am Woolen	11	11	11
Amoskeag	9	9	9
Associated	16⅛	15⅝	16⅛
Aplation Sec	6½	6½	6½
Balt & Ohio	26⅛	25¾	26⅛	⅜
Bkln Edison	34	34	34
Beth Steel	38⅝	35½	38⅛	1½
Boo Elev	60	60	60
B & M pf	45	45	45	2
B & M R stp	25⅛	23	25
B M Distp	31	31	31	6⅛
Bruns'k	32⅜	31⅜	32⅜	1⅜
Cities Service	3⅜	3	3⅛
Col Gas	18⅛	18¼	18⅛
Colombia So	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
Con Gas	52⅜	51⅜	52⅜	1
Con Range	8⅜	8⅛	8⅜
Curtiss Wr	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝
E G & F Asso	9⅛	9⅛	9⅛
E G & F A pr	58½	58½	58½
Eastman S B	12⅜	12⅛	12⅜
Edison	164½	163	164½	1½
Elec R & S	24	23¾	24	⅛
Elec Shpg	89¾	89	89¾	¾
Gen Capital	22⅞	23¼	24¾
Gen Elec	22⅜	21⅝	22⅜	⅝
Gen Foods	34¾	34⅜	34¾	⅜
Gen Motors	29	28⅞	29
Gillette	13½	13⅜	13½	⅛
Gombyer	35⅜	34⅝	35⅜
Hudson Mot	10⅜	10⅛	10⅜	1⅛
Int Hydro El	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
Int Tel	14⅛	14⅛	14⅛
Kennecott Cop	19⅛	18⅜	19	2
Lone Star Gas	7	7	7
Mont Ward	21⅜	20⅜	20¾	1⅛
Nash	19	18⅜	18	½
N Y Central	37	36	36
New Haven	24⅜	24⅜	24⅜	1⅛
No American	25½	24⅝	24⅝
North Butte	72⅜	72¢	72¢	—56
Pacific Mills	22	20⅜	22	1
Packard	4⅜	4⅜	4⅜
Penn RR	33⅜	33	33⅜	⅛
Radio Corp	8⅜	7⅞	8
R D Warren	12⅜	12⅛	12⅜
R I Rwnde	12⅜	12⅛	12⅜
Stone & Web	13⅛	12⅝	12⅝
Tex Gas Co	4⅜	4⅛	4⅛
U S Aircraft	31⅜	30⅜	31⅛	1⅛
Un Corp	9⅜	9⅛	9⅜
Un Founders	1⅜	1⅛	1⅛
Un Shoe	52½	51	52½	1½
United Shoe	52½	51	52½	1½
U Twist Dr	12⅜	12⅛	12⅜
U S Steel	63⅜	62¾	63⅜	1⅜
U. S. Steel	52⅜	50⅜	52⅜
Utah Metal	1⅜	1⅛	1⅛
Venezuela-Mex	14⅜	14	14⅜
Waldorf	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞
Warner Pict	5⅜	5⅜	5⅜
Warren Bros	14	14	14
Westinghouse	40½	39¾	39¾

THIS IS LIFE

By Robert E. Rogers

Continued From Page 1, Second Section.

painted ourselves in gaudy colors, to fill up the empty spaces in our first up-and-down house.

All of which takes up space and gathers dust and is tough on moving men. The same is true of stacks of old magazines, every one of which contains some article or picture too precious to lose. There is, of course, no excuse for these. There is perhaps more excuse for the books—the tool of a teacher's trade—which grew from two dozen boxes to 45 boxes at the last moving. this time I hadn't the heart to count them. They must have doubled again in the last four years. And if there is anything that moving men have less affection for than a good, honest, solid, heavily packed book box—say, the Britannica—I cannot at this moment recollect it.

Well, it's over today. Moving is bad enough under any circumstances, but when you drive 90 miles back and forth every day for a week, merely to do the preliminary packing, you are glad it's over. Not that I did it! I wasn't allowed. When the Missus moves she needs professional help, not mine.

I gather from her remark that when a man tries to pack, he totally neglects all the most important and necessary things, and drives everybody mad, himself included, but his anxiety over some worthless bauble which only he prizes. To preserve it he must have boxes and paper and strings and nails and labels and the co-operation and assistance of everyone in sight.

Having attended to that he loses all interest in further proceedings and goes off in a corner with a pipe and a section of a Sunday newspaper three months old. That is why I was not allowed to pack. And yet I am glad it is over.

(Copyright 1933, by Boston Evening American)

RECOVERY UNDER WAY

Evening American on the Air

THE GLOBETROTTER

of the Boston American and Hearst Metrotone News

A complete radio daily newspaper—60 minutes of news, markets, fashions, features, sports, dramatic entertainment.

2:15 M.—Station WAAB—1410 Kc.

11:00-11:15 A. M.—FEATURE PERIOD

Tuesday—Margaret Maison on Fashions.

12:30-12:48 P. M.—PEACH EDITION OF THE AIR

Stock Market Quotations, News Flashes.

3:00- 3:15 P. M.—SEVEN STAR EDITION OF THE AIR

7:00- 7:15 P. M.—SEVEN O'CLOCK EDITION OF THE AIR

News Flashes; Features.

By N. F. T.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of other good men—as per appeals by government officialdom ranging from President Roosevelt down. Today is the day things are expected to get under way along the high road to recovery. Reports by radio for the opening of the year's final keep passing word along as to how things go. Wheat Growers will hear Administration on Friday night (WBZ) at 11 15 p. m.

* * *

Leading figures in the Agricultural Control division of the Federal war on depression are to be heard in a series of NBC network broadcasts this Friday night, brings M. L. Wilson, in charge of Wheat Production control, up here from the microphones to explain the Roosevelt plan involving distribution of $90,000,000 to approximately 1,500,000 growers who sign agreements to reduce wheat farm acreage.

* * *

SPLENDID SPIRIT

Meanwhile the schedules of both NBC and CBS are being altered almost as though it were summer time, embracing various necessary messages to people in all walks and work who must be a part of the entire national program. It's all interesting to hear and educational. Listeners are going to take on the discussions in many cases to the exclusion of entertainment by leading comedians, soloists and orchestras. There's a splendid spirit abroad, with slackers scarcer than flies in a wind storm.

* * *

Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation board, speaks, as guest of the "Radio Forum" featured period tonight (WEEI) at 10:30, outlining the renewed extension of credit with which to turn the wheels of reorganized industry.

* * *

ROSS RESUMES

Another announcement worthy of special note is the return this evening of "Poet's Gold" the striking David Ross dramatic series, after off the air for some time—too long for many admirers of artistic Ross technique. Improvements in dramatic readings are being resumed (WNAC) as a weekly air attraction on Tuesday nights, between 8 15 and 8 30.

* * *

Duals will be twirling some in Denver today, with "Colorado Day" being celebrated at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, Governor Edward Johnson and Senator Costigan from the Rocky Mountain State, will speak, while a chorus of 50 voices and the Denver boys quartet furnish a background, at 4 15 p. m.

* * *

Ruth St. Denis, famed dancer of the theater, is featured this evening (WNAC) during a special Yankee Network Presentation in her honor at 6 30 p. m.

* * *

OZONE OVERSIGHT:

Hey there, you WBZ-WBZA boners, it's "Irish Day" at the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition tomorrow. There's a gala musical celebration appropriately arranged at 5 o'clock and being broadcast out over the National Broadcasting Company network from the Windy City's western metropolis. However, no word is at hand yet about the same being heard here in Mahomet, whatsamatta, not enough Erinites in our community? Sure and the "wild strains of Mendelssohn's March" will fittingly open the program. Boston should certainly be in on that!

Tuesday, August 1

5:00 P. M.

WAAR—Skippy, sketch.
WNAC—Funfest, orchestra

Ten High Spots

7:15—WBZ—Radio in Education
7:30—WEEI—Lum and Abner.
7:45—WBZ—Mimi and Jerry.
8:15—WNAC—Donald Richberg.
9:00—WBZ—Philharmonic Symphony orchestra
8:30—WEEI—Fire Chiefs.
10:30—WBZ—Edgar Guest
10:30—WEEI—Radio Forum
10:45—WAAB—Light Opera Gems.
11:30—WEEI—Talkie Picture Time

WBZ—Agricultural markets.
WEEI—Melodic Thoughts
WHDH—Ensemble
WLOE—Answer Man

5:15 P. M.

WAAR—Records.
WNAC—Four Showmen.
WBZ—Gerun's Orchestra
WHDH—Singing Policeman

5:30 P. M.

WNAC—All American Boy
WBZ—Organ.
WEEI—Piano duo
WLOE—Records

5:45 P. M.

WNAC—Hall's Orchestra
WBZ—Little Orphan Annie
WEEI—Nursery Rhymes
WHDH—Ensemble.

6:00 P. M.

WNAC—Scores, variety
WBZ—Messner's Orchestra
WEEI—Jesse Heron Bair
WHDH—News.
WLOE—Mother Goose Club

6:15 P. M.

WAAR—Reed & Bartlett, songs.
WNAC—Tarzan.
WBZ—Happy Landing.
WHDH—Ensemble.

6:30 P. M.

WAAR—Rapps Orchestra
WNAC—Ogunquit Playhouse program
WBZ—Sports review
WEEI—News, Helen Hart.
WHDH—Song Pictures.
WLOE—Al Pierotti on sports

6:45 P. M.

WAAR—Helen Wills Moody.
WNAC—Racing results
WBZ—Lowell Thomas topics
WEEI—John Pierce, songs.
WLOE—Ermund Lewis, songs

7:00 P. M.

WAAR—American Globetrotter.
WNAC—Gypsy Nina
WBZ—Lum and Abner.
WEEI—Sizzlers
WHDH—Dooley's Orchestra
WLOE—Bergeron Trio

7:15 P. M.

WNAC—Boake Carter news.
WBZ—Mimi and Jerry.
WEEI—The Grolliers.
WHDH—Three Queens and Jack

7:30 P. M.

WAAR—Sinfonia Symphony
WNAC—Evan Evans.
WBZ—Light Opera.
WEEI—Crimmi and Sanderson
WLOE—Eva Brahms, songs.

8:15 P. M.

WAAR—O'Learn's Irish Minstrels
WNAC—John Kelvin, songs
WBZ—Adventures in Health
WEEI—Wayne King Orchestra
WHDW—American Legion Band.

8:45 P. M.

WNAC Novelty Rhythms.
WBZ—Floyd Gibbons.
WLOE—Spiritual Singers

9:00 P. M.

WAAR—Harry Rodgers at Organ.
WNAC—Male Chorus.
WBZ—Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra
WEEI—Ben Bernie Orchestra.
WHDH—Symphonic Strings.
WLOE—Perry's Orchestra.

9:15 P. M.

WAAR—Huston Ray's Orchestra.
WNAC—Weeghman's Orchestra.

9:30 P. M.

WNAC—Vino Martini Recital.
WHDH—Dance Music.
Fire Chief Band under direction of Don Lorenzo Graham in 30-minute master of ceremonies Male Octet, Wamp Cadson, Tavino Holmes.
WHDH—Evening Reveries.
WLO

SUCCESS OF BRAVES TRIP HANGS ON GAME TODAY

Sports Parade

A Rockingham Rain-Check, or a Word to the Wise ↑ ↓ The Point-Out System and Divers Racing Revelations

By AUSTEN LAKE

I am informed by a certain hush-voiced party who has been close to the pulse of affairs at Rockingham during the recent race meeting that matters are going to be run a little more conventionally, with less gold rush crudity, when the flat racers come back for a second helping from the public's funds on September 2.

"There will be a higher class of horses, more of a more moral grade of jockeys and a closer policing of the grounds than in June and July," says my informant, who has the well being of the track and its pecuniary prosperity at heart.

Naturally I am relieved to hear this, because I am still suffering from a stab of conscience ever since the last meeting closed, because of the stories of boat races, tiffs, hot and cold horses, drugstore handicaps and the like, which many of my lean-jawed, squint-eyed friends who would rather make a smart dollar on the track than 10 by honest labor, have been boasting about after their fourth beers. For, posing as something of a customer's man I feel that I owe my public a rain check, or a precautionary something that will prevent them from eating so many of their race stubs when the next meeting comes to hand.

I imagine that Mr. Lon Smith, who is a grisale-chinned gentleman with a mouth full of hair and brass and who fronts for the proprietorship of Bill Dwyer, a self effacing chap who made a considerable fortune by catering to the New York public's taste for high voltage liquids, will welcome this information too, because Smith must have been chagrined by the high jinks that some of his stable guests performed last month.

Lest you are unintiate to the term "drugstore handicap," which is pure track argot, I refer to the findings of the Federal narcotic squad which jumped the hophead ring at Arlington Park, Chicago, last Saturday, and rushed a parcel of trainers into city storage. Drugstore handicaps are usually the sixth and seventh races of a programme, so named because of the habit of starting aged and rickety nags which require medical assistance to stand on their hocks, much less to run a mile and a sixteenth.

Sometimes their legs are frozen with ether to numb the ache of hard legging, and sometimes they are jabbed with a shot of strychnine beneath the thyroid gland, or again their tongues are scrubbed with a pinch of heroin or they are fed capsules of the same with a dash of Jamaica ginger.

Private Tutors for the Betting Citizenry

I would not know about this at first hand, and I would not hint for the world that any of it took place at Rockingham. Except that smart horsemen agree that there are hardly more than a dozen races a year, and those mostly the high stake races like the Preakness and the Derby, which do not contain a representative group of animals that are dynamited. Which is where the hot and cold hosses come in, as in the name for the bangtail that cannot run top form unless he has a snort of "tea," as the boys laughingly call it, in his veins. When thus fortified he is hot, and when not, he is cold or a "stiff."

What I do know is that the Rockingham constabulary, a force of shock-jawed handies that were hired and maintained by the track, did not bag the touts and finger-men who infested the track until the last week of the meeting. And then eight or 10 of the gentry were jugged briefly in the Salem jail and fined modest sums that scaled to $25. Perhaps they were tolerated during the first three-quarters of the way because the public needed their practiced tutoring on how to bet, and were stamped out, all except a selected few, when it became evident that the commonality understood how to poke its currency over the counter in bales and washbasketfuls without any urging.

For example, maybe a trimly dressed, fever eyed gentleman might have attempted to borrow a match as you stood fingering your money before the pari-mutuel wickets. Or he may have lost his card and asks to see yours.

"How you doin'?" he enquires fraternally, flashing a bunch of race stubs which, on close inspection, would prove to be several days old. "I just laid three hun'ert on the nose."

"Zat so," say you, cupping your ears, "What horse?"

"I ain't divulgin' my stuff," grins your new pal cannily, "but I'll put you on a guy."

He points to a perky little rooster some distance away. "See that man. He's in the stove. I'd take you over only he's sore at me. Slide up and ask him for a light."

So you, being all atwitter and still fingering your currency, slip up to the little rooster and beg a match, acquaintance ripens on the instant into friendship.

"How much money you got?" he asks in a voice like a prayer.

You, who had decided to risk a 10 spot with a jangle of nerves, suddenly swell with resolution.

"A hundred," you say, fearing to hear his ridiculing titter.

"O. K.," says the little rooster," just as a favor. But I ain't tellin' you the horse, for fear the noise gets around and the odds go off. Gimme your jack and I'll lay it."

And This is the Point-out System

He goes to the $10 window and comes back with 10 tickets.

"Here's yours," he says, handing over five and pocketing the others, while you stand aghast, framing a protest.

"Don't stew," says the little rooster. "You'll get five for one on that, sure fix."

Maybe you do get five for one, if you are lucky. In that case you will see more of the little rooster until he happens to guess wrong, and each time he will take a 50 per cent cut from your cash bet, which you are only too happy to let him have on account of his technical assistance.

But if, instead your horse blows a cylinder in the stretch, the little rooster will suddenly become very near sighted or have urgent business elsewhere. And if you reproach him he will be very aggressive at your lack of sporting blood, set you down with a saucy shrug and advise to haul your ashes t'ell outa here, or else. And that, in case you are interested, is called the point-out system.

The sport of Kings. Well, maybe!

I am still wondering why the O. V. Whitneys, who are very upper crust, social register people in the horse racing game, matched up their stable, all but a few of the second raters, and ammed out of Rockingham before the meeting was half over. And am wondering about the nag, Muslet, which won a frenzied rallop in the last week of racing and then continued on and on for several extra laps until, in a froth of hysteria, he smashed through the rail and dumped his apprentice boy, Earl Porter, into the infield. And about the various wash sales of horses.

Well, it is comforting to know that there are going to be a ifferent grade of horses, a more moral set of jockeys and a oser chaperoning of the grounds, when the September meeting omes around, because I am still suffering from a stab of conience for not having mentioned this before. It is such fun being customer's man, even if this may be sporting heresy.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Soft Hands Loose Hail of Lead in Storming Coveted Throne

Mrs. Anna May Vance, of Waltham Gun Club, makes ready to ruin a few clay pigeons as she prepares for her assault on the Ladies' State skeet throne. The championship is billed to open at Quincy on Aug. 15. Mrs. Vance ranks with the top flight performers in her favorite sport. (Boston American Photo.)

Diamond Dust

Bob Burke, lanky, lightweight southpaw of the Senators, once pitched a no-hit game against the Red Sox. He should confine his activities to appearance against the Fenway flock. As often as he faces any other rival, just as often do the league-leading Croninmen start losing.

The Solons won the first two games of their crucial four-game engagement with the second-place Yanks. Burke didn't appear in those games. He got in the last two conflicts and the series ended with honors even.

Lefty Bob showed up in the eighth inning of Sunday's game, and that was a signal for the world champions to put over four runs and clinch the decision. All unabashed, he returned in the fourth frame of Monday's tilt and before the frame was over, the New Yorkers scored seven runs to win, 13 to 9.

Thus the defending champions climbed to within one game of the roof and remained very much in the running for their second straight pennant.

Vernon Gomes pitched a steady game for the Yanks after the first inning, when he was found for three runs. Heat forced the Castilian's retirement in the eighth, however, and the Solons made the final score fairly respectable by landing on Wiley Moore for four tallies.

Babe Ruth collected a triple with the sacks loaded, two doubles and a single. Dave "Sheriff" Harris, ex-Brave, led the Solons' attack with two home runs and a double.

Rogers Hornsby made his home debut as manager of the Browns by steering his charges to a 12 to 8 victory over the Indians in the only other game of the day. Eight runs in the lucky seventh, due largely to seven bases on balls issued by Bebe Dean, Oral Hildebrand and George Connally, put the Brownies over despite home runs by Bill Cissell, Odell "Bad News" Hale and Willie Kamm of the enemy.

The defeat cost Walter Johnson's Forest City crew its tie for third place in the American League race.

Cocoa Kid Beaten by Steve Halaiko

New Haven, Aug. 1—Steve Halaiko outpointed Cocoa Kid, of this city, in a 10-round go. Each weighed 137 pounds.

PERRY TO SAIL SATURDAY

London, Aug. 1 (AP)—Frederick J Perry, hero of the British victory over the United States in the Interzone final of Davis Cup play and over France in the challenge round, today announced he would sail Saturday with three other English players to compete in the United States tennis championships at Forest Hills in September.

Accompanying Perry will be H. G. N. Lee, another British Davis Cup player, F. H. D. Wilde and E. R. Avory.

Perry won four of the five matches in which he participated in the two vital Davis Cup contests.

Shute, Hagen Out of P. G. A. Play

Aberdeen, Scotland, Aug. 1 (AP)—Densmore Shute, British open champion, and Walter Hagen, former United States and British titleholder, today said they had cabled their regrets to the Professional Golfers Association and would not compete in the P. G. A. title event starting at Milwaukee Aug. 7.

Bouts Last Night

At Pittsburgh—Sammy Slaughter 159, def. Jack King, 156, K. O. (6).

At Chicago—Henry Firpo, 204½, def. Red Smith, 195½, dec. (8).

At Revere—Tony Shucco, 178, def. Leo Ramsey, 178, dec.

At Fort Rotterdam—Vernon Conrad, Wilson, N. C., defeated Sammy Sampson, New York, 140, referee; Corporal Worcester, defeated Varlas Milling, Philippine Islands, 140.

New Haven—Steve Halaiko, Buffalo, outpointed Cocoa Kid, New Haven, 140; Steve Carr, Meriden, knocked out Tom Sayers, Boston (6).

Biddeford, Me.—Tony Romano, Watertown, Mass., knocked out Billy Smith, Montreal (1).

Chatham, N. Y.—Corn Griffin, 180, Fort Benning, Ga., stopped Johnny Roberts, 170, Huntington, W. Va. (6).

Atlantic City—Tommy Rhea, 134, Wilmington, outpointed Nyron Rose, 131, Baltimore (10); Manuel Quinero, 144, Tampa, Fla., outpointed Eddie McKenna, 147, New York (10).

Louisville—Cecil Payne, 184, Louisville, outpointed Jimmy Loughe, 183, Cleveland (10); Mickey Evans, 132½, Louisville, outpointed Leo Grant, 133, Barberton O. (10).

Jersey City—Leo Lombardi, 131, Jersey City, knocked out Harry Billman, 131, Philadelphia (1).

New Orleans—Ray Kiser, 141, Tulsa, outpointed Rattling Shaw, 137½, New Orleans, Mexican (10).

Sioux City, Ia.—Larry Udell, 168, Aberdeen, S. D., outpointed Jack Chavrez, 167, Topeka, Kan., 167; Willie Millette, 153, Omaha, outpointed Reny Kent, 150, Portland, Ore., 151; Frank Kelly, 152, Topeka, outpointed Kid Margrave, 145, Davenport (8); Young Miller, 167, Sioux City, knocked out Sparks Barrett, 167, Kansas City (2).

Terre Haute, Ind.—Manuel Ybarra, Cincinnati, knocked out Garfield Rice, Evansville, Ind. (1).

Billings, Mont., K. O.—Bobby Edwards, 175, Sioux City, and Ollie Bartlett, 187, Minneapolis, drew 6; Ray Lonetti, 160, Sioux Falls, outpointed Al Paul, 160, Sioux City (8); Johnny Simmons, 161, Minneapolis, outpointed Jimmy Thompson, 157, Sioux City (8); Howard Ryan, 170, Sioux Falls, outpointed Keith Weaver, 170, Sioux City (8).

San Francisco—Jack Henry Lewis, 178, Phoenix Falls, Ariz., outpointed Max Rosenbloom, 178, New York (10).

Sarah Plays Only Doubles in Cup Test

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Helen Jacobs and Alice Marble, all California today were selected as the United States singles players against Great Britain in the Wightman Cup matches to be played at Forest Hills Friday and Saturday.

All three also will play in doubles, Miss Jacobs pairing with Sarah Palfrey, with whom she holds the national doubles title, and Mrs. Moody and Miss Marble joining for the other doubles encounter with the British.

Opposing this team will be Dorothy Round, Margaret Scriven and Betty Nuthall in singles and Misses Round and Mary Heeley and Frieda James and Betty Nuthall in doubles.

The draw for the first day pits Miss Jacobs against Miss Round, Mrs Moody against Miss Scriven and Misses Jacobs and Palfrey against the Misses Round and Heeley.

Mrs. Moody will meet Miss Round No. 1 of the English team in the feature match on Saturday, with Miss Jacobs playing Miss Scriven and Miss Marble and Miss Nuthall resuming their singles rivalry. The final doubles match will send Mrs. Moody and Miss Marble against the Misses James and Nuthall.

Carolin Babcock, Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn and Josephine Cruickshank are the spares of the American side, while Mrs. L. R. C. Michell is held in reserve by the English.

In selecting the team the committee apparently discounted the play of the last few weeks, which saw Miss Palfrey defeat both Miss Marble and Miss Jacobs in singles at Scarsdale and Misses Palfrey and Jacobs lose to Miss Cruickshank and Miss Marble in doubles.

TRIBE, HOME TOMORROW, PLAYS TERRY CLAN IN N. Y.

By JOE CASHMAN

New York, Aug. 1—A month of bitter battling along a sunbaked road that led through every town in the circuit, except Brooklyn, comes to a close for the Braves in the third and rubber game of theeir engagement with the league-leading Giants at the Polo Grounds this afternoon.

And oddly enough, the decision as to whether this longest Tribal jaunt of the season shall be labeled a success or failure hinges on the outcome of this last stand.

The club left home one victory short of the .500 mark and is in exactly the same position today, having won and lost 11 contests on the trail.

BRANDT, HUBBELL DUEL

So they'll return to the Wigwam on the morrow either a game better or worse off than when they started, depending on the result of the mound duel this p m between Ed Brandt and Carl Hubbell, who has 40 13 scoreless innings to his credit.

Starting the journeys, the Warriors didn't count on doing any better than splitting even, but after taking ten out of 17 games from the Western entries, they had visions of returning home with their finest road record in years. The lowly Phils blasted that hope with three straight victories on their trick back yard.

The Tribal collapse in Sleepy Town was a rude hoax, but scarcely a surprise. Clubs below them have cashed our hops far more trouble all season than the clubs above them.

TRIBE SLAMS LEADERS

The third-place Cards have dropped ten out of 15 in the pace-setting Giants have lost eight out of 17 and the second-place Pirates have split even in 14 tilts with the McKechnie clan to date.

On the other hand, the Warriors have lost eight out of 14 to the Phils and have taken but four decisions in 11 efforts against the Dodgers.

All of which explains, in a nutshell why the Wigwamers are not in the money at this writing.

Bill McKechnie says, however, that his nine charges will get even with the Phils and Dodgers in the next few afternoons at the Tepes and he further avers that they will clinch a first-division spot

Continued on Page 22, Column 4

Reggie McNamara Injured in 4300-Mile Bike Race

St. Gabriel De Brandon, Que., Aug. 1 (AP)—With 26 riders tied for first place, the 42 entrants in the transcontinental bicycle race arrived here today from Montreal where the 4300-mile grind started last night.

Joe Laporte, of Montreal, led the field into this little Laurentian village, 69 miles from Montreal. Torchy Peden, of Victoria, B. C., was second, followed by Pierre Gachcon, Montreal, and Polly Parrott, Winnipeg.

Although first to arrive Laporte was well down the list, having lost ground in the 3 miles staged at the Montreal baseball stadium last night. Peden, Gachon and Parrott, however, were among the 26 tied for the lead.

The 26 leaders' elapsed time was six hours and 32 minutes with the majority of the remainder of the field only two minutes behind.

Reggie McNamara, "iron man" of six-day bike racing, was severely cut about the knees when he crashed on the slippery road during the night, and it was doubtful if he would start the lap to Three Rivers.

Horseshoe Pitching Champion a Novice

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—Theodore Allen of Alhambra, Cal., today held the international horseshoe pitching championship. Until he entered the tourney at A Century of Progress Allen had never before pitched in a national title match.

Winning 20 games and losing three, Allen tied with C. C. Davis of Kansas City, Mo., for first place. Davis has been champion five times. In a pitch off between the two Allen defeated Davis in two games, the first, 50 to 38, and the second, 50 to 24.

NOW 5¢

More than a BILLION of these Bayuk "Phillies" were sold for 10¢

BAYUK'S GUARANTEE

in 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America. Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Havana and Domestic long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

Thomas Can Grow Hair

For YOU on the (1) Frontal Point (2) Top of the Head, or (3) Temples

Thomas can re-grow hair for you where you need it and where you want it. Thomas' treatment restores normal hair growth to the (1) frontal point; (2) thin or bald spots on top of the head; or (3) temples. You need only to present yourself for treatment—Thomas does the rest. You have nothing to do at home, nothing to worry about. Sixteen years of success and more than a quarter-million satisfied clients to prove the merit of the Thomas' reliable, dignified scalp treatment.

Don't remain bald! Let Thomas help you re-grow a normal, healthy head of hair. Thomas' treatment not only grows hair, but it prevents baldness by positively eliminating such unnatural scalp conditions as falling hair, dandruff, and itching scalp. Call today for a free scalp examination—learn the truth about your hair and scalp.

THE THOMAS'

World's Leading Hair and Scalp Specialists—Forty-five Offices

453 WASHINGTON ST. Dexter Bldg. 810

Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Saturdays to 6 P. M.

Opposite Jordan Marsh Co.

Write for free Booklet "How Science Conquers Baldness"

SOX TUNE UP FOR NATS IN EXHIBITION GAME AT HARTFORD

THIRD A.L. RUNG HOSE GOAL AS TREK STARTS

By DAVID F. EGAN

Hartford, Ct., Aug. 1—Step right up, ladies and gemmun and watch the Boston Red Sox in action.

They are stopping off here today long enough to play a game of baseball with a semi-professional team known as the Silk Sox, owned and managed by a gentleman known as Walter E. Hayward, the fellow who used to be baseball manager of the Braves.

Mr. Hapgood is one of those entertaining gentlemen who always has his nose stuck deeply into one kind of a money-making racket or another, and they will tell you that it is simply another case of "Happgood Luck" for him to have booked the Red Sox at such a time.

SOX TAKE 9 OF 10 GAMES

The Sox, for the past month, have been providing continual fodder for the baseball fans of the nation. They have won nine of their 10 latest games, and the fortunate Mr. Hapgood expects the peasants to turn out in gratifying numbers to watch the hard-hitting hard-fighting crew in action.

With the exception of Lloyd Brown, who is driving over the road to Washington, the entire team is quartered here for the day, and will move on to Washington this morning. Among the pace-setting Senators in a three-game series.

Today's game [illegible] was up to the nature of dull monotonery for our boys. Johnny Welch, the sleepy boy, was to do the chucking, and "Doc" Leggett the catching. The regulars were to see plenty of real action, but the chief interest of the club officials was in the probable size and amount of the gate receipts.

"BOY" MANAGERS SCRAP

The club itself is waiting to wade into Master Joe Cronin's Senators, when two of the youngest managers in baseball will match guile. The pupils of Martin J. McManus have the same youthful spirit. They are acting on the theory that a team which won't be beaten can't be beaten. It sounds slightly Y. M. C. A.-ish but aptly describes the present spirit of the home heroes.

The Sox are deprived of Lloyd for third play. They have great respect for the Athertonites after mopping up Conway Twitty with their leading 2 three-hitters in three starts, they have less for the Chicago White Sox, for whom they biffed [illegible] but firmly on the beezer five times hand running.

The Clevelands [illegible] are only nine fellows to the roster of Sweeney, who are expected to be living back in Boston's South Station Browns have the privilege of playing with them [illegible]

McMANUS'S CAUTION

In other words, I don't know that they can't hit [illegible] recently, but they feel that third place is certain to be their own. Mr. Agent McManus, of course, is a bit cautious in his predictions.

His favorite statement is that "you never can tell in baseball."

"Yeh, the team is going good right now," he will say, "but then you never can tell."

"Yeh, the pitchers are going along fine," he will say, "and you will walk out on him when he starts to tell you once more that you never can tell.

The hardest part of the schedule will pop up in front of the Sox in the next 10 days when they decide it out with the strong eastern teams.

The strength of the league is along the Atlantic coast, and after the Sox get through with Washington, the Yankees and the Athletics in the next two weeks, they expect to find the going much easier as they storm through the West.

KINGFISH WON'T GET HOOKED SOON IF LENA CAN HELP IT

"Leaping Lena" Levy, who thinks all this love business is a lot of hooey (she calls it phoney), tries to keep her fisticuffing brother, kingfish Levinsky, away from the bait offered by Frances Fay, the blues singer. Lena wants the Kingfish to keep his mind on the fighting business until after his battle with Jack Sharkey, September 6; then if he wants to get romantic, O. K. If he gets romantic before then, Lena fears it will be K. O. Frances Fay is the young lady with the short skirt and the long pole. Lena superintends her careless brother's business affairs.

OFFER M'LARNIN $30,000 TO FACE CALLAHAN HERE

Jimmy McLarnin has been offered a purse of $30,000 to defend his world's welterweight championship against Jack Callahan at one of the local outdoor parks in September.

Johnny Buckley, Callahan's manager, is reported to have wired the offer to "Pop" Foster, McLarnin's manager. Foster has been holding out for $50 000 purses.

McLarnin Interested in Callahan Bout

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (INS)—The east probably will see Jimmy McLarning, Vancouver, B. C., world's welterweight champion, in his next fight.

That was the announcement today of the champion's manager, "Pop" Foster, who declared he was considering the acceptance of a $30,000 offer for McLarnin to meet Andy Callahan in Boston in September.

McLarnin won the title recently by knocking out Young Corbett, III, of Fresno, Cal., in the first round. Foster denied he has signed a contract for a McLarnin-Corbett rematch in San Francisco on Labor Day.

"Unless the promoters and Corbett's manager will bite, Jimmy and I are going east," Foster said.

Grimm Fails to Improve on Rajah

Chicago, Aug. 1 (AP)—Charlie Grimm became manager of the Chicago Cubs a year ago tomorrow and led them to a National League championship, but the record of Grimm's 1933 club bears a marked similarity to that of his predecessor, Rogers Hornsby, at the same stage of the campaign a year ago.

When Grimm took charge of the club, it had won 53 of its 90 games and was in second place, five games back of the Pittsburgh Pirates. That much was accomplished under Hornsby, who now is engaged in the task of trying to hoist the St. Louis Browns out of the bottom of the American League.

Today, Grimm's Cubs had won 52 out of 99 games, the same as Hornsby's record. However, there was a large difference in their standing in the league. Where they were in the fourth hole today, six and one-half games behind the league-leading New York Giants, with the Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals sandwiched in between.

Not one of the club's last three pilots, Joe McCarthy, Hornsby and Grimm, have been able to break the Cubs of the habit of folding up on the road. They won this championship last year after having pulled right on the Giants heels by winning 16 out of 19 games at Wrigley Field.

Today the National League champions opened a short home stand against Cincinnati, which will be followed by Pittsburgh and St. Louis before setting out on another long journey.

PALS BATTLE INGALS NINE AT WINTHROP

By GEORGE UNDERWOOD

If the Weather Man only will behave this is the evening the sandlot fans of the North Shore are likely to pack Ingalls Park, Winthrop, until it bulges out at the sides. It is all on account of the long awaited clash between the Somerset Pals and the Ingals A. C.

In the Inter Suburban League the Somerset Pals, Ingals A. C. and Salem came down the stretch at the end of the first half neck and neck. In the playoff Salem was bumped off. Then the Pals and the Ingals A. C. locked horns. The game ended in a 1 to 1 tie.

A week ago the Pals and the Winthropites attempted to settle the argument but Jupiter Pluvius tipped over his sprinkling can and drowned out the game. This time the two teams hope there will be no interference from the Weather Man. The game should warm the cockles of any fan's heart.

Umpire Molway, a new umpire in the Park Department, rendered a most unusual decision the other night in one of the Class "D" games between boys 12 and 14 years of age.

With two out and a man on third the baserunner attempted to steal home. The pitcher tried to catch him. But the batter leaned into the ball and knocked it out of the lot.

Molway scratched his head in doubt and then, though the sun was shining brightly, announced

"The game is called on account of rain."

Molway claimed that in his judgment it looked like rain and the rules state the players cannot protest the umpire's judgment.

Looks as if Bill Klem can take lessons from that umpire.

Park Teams Battle

In the Boston Park League tonight the Roseblads and the Hemingways will be at it hammer and hammer and will be Roslindales and Neponset. That means a no-scoring game. Other Boston Park League games tonight are St. Thomas vs. Milvey's St. Augustine vs. Borderer and Presentations vs. Maddens.

Those C. M. A. C. sluggers from Lowell, who busted the Boston Twilight League wide open in the first half of the race, will invade West Newton Common this evening to see what Newton has in the line of baseball stuff. The Andy Dillon Club plays in Lexington, Malden goes to Watertown to take on the Y. M. C. A. and Winchesham treks to Lincoln Park, Somerville to mix it up with the Hagane.

Malden, Newton Tilt

Bill Hunnefield's Malden team will play Newton at home tomorrow night. The last time the two teams played was at Newton and Bill Reilly's boys came out on the short end of a 4 to 3 score.

BOSTON PARK LEAGUE STANDING

EAST DIVISION	W.	L.
Roseblads	16	7
Neponset	13	10
Presentation	12	12
WEST DIVISION
Roslindales	15	24
Hemingways	10	20
Milveys	7	18

GAMES TONIGHT

St. Thomas at Milvey's, Marcella st.
Fastindale at Neponset, Savoy.
Presentation at W. Newton, Boston.
Maddens at Presentation, Rogers.
Roseblads at Hemingways, Jefferson.

BOSTON TWI LEAGUE

	W.	L.
Malden	8	1
Y. M. C. A.	7	2
Hagan Club	7	4
Waltham	4	5
Lexington	3	7
Winchesham	2	8
Meridian	2	8
Dillon Club	0	9
Newton	0	8

MONDAY'S RESULTS

Dillon Club 8, Newton 6.

TONIGHT

Waltham at Hagan, Lincoln Pk.
Y. M. C. A. at Meridian.
Malden at Lexington.
Malden at Sheridan, Victory.

ROCKINGHAM
SALEM, N. H.
JULY 26th TO AUG. 12th
2:30 P. M. Daily Except Sundays
$1.00 ADMISSION TO GROUNDS, GRAND STAND, PADDOCK. CLUB HOUSE $2.00
PARI-MUTUELS
R. & M. Special at 1:40 (D. S. T.)
ROUND TRIP $5
HORSE RACING

TODAY'S RACE SCRATCHES

AT DORVAL

1—Maggie Love
2—Whirl Pattern, Bracer, Tetradite Handles, Gold Courage, Miss Bloom
3—Blackie, Frosty, Evening Queen
Gold Badge, Spanish Soldier, Cornea, Clara, Sidney
4—Sir Michael, Omnervius.
5—None.
6—Longitude, Arbitrage Lass, Loudoun Bubble, Jessie Coggage, Rattle Chance
7—Dime, Rayson, Captive, Amaurette Rinderet

AT THISTLE DOWN

1—Son Mate, Ma, Wee Call, Dandy Porte Mike Jr., Border First
2—Bell Lap, Royal M., Grand Outside, Catawah, Time To Win, Three Buggers
3—Marge Lou, Rolling Derby, Lionel Chester Whiting D., The Nile, Trinity Girl Boy or Miss, Master Dunbar.
4—Bob's Choir, Polyrom Polly P., Portland Promise, Knight Rose, Old Pride Monde
5—Grand King, Prince Pebbles, My Desire, Burnt Upset
6—Fay Dee, Fury, Stampede, Hukill, Lucky Pal, Rata
7—Who Shih, Beaters, Dr. Bills, Allegretto, Constance Ann, Tchaikov.

AT CONEY ISLAND

1—Pal Joshe
2—Golden Ruth, Proud Princess
3—Impetus
4—Lazy Mary, Sun Prize, Kentucky Woo, Nashua Boy
5—Carrighaug
7—Major Accident, Doris B, Pantaleous.

AT KENILWORTH

1—Mystic, Convention
2—Barnes M, Flier, Parade Rest, Tribune, Free
4—Brookhaven
5—Carbrell, Tampion, Our Pal, Glee Club

AT HAWTHORNE

1—Olive Sabath, Queen Fels.

NEGRO BATTERS ROSENBLOOM

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (INS)—Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavy champion, was battered from five to rope last night in a 10-round bout with John Henry Lewis, sensational young negro father of Arizona, who won every bout scoring three knockdowns. The title was not at stake.

Lewis opened the first round with a vicious body attack, flooring Rosenbloom, who jumped to his feet before the count was started.

Rosenbloom fell again before the hair lashing body attack in the second round and came out dazed as the third gong sounded.

The champion writhed in agony as the young negro sank a terrific left wrist deep into his stomach. Rosenbloom was helpless in the ropes and would have been counted out. His corner shouted foul, and Referee Eddie Burns stopped the count and gave the champion a five minute rest under the rules of the California commission.

It was the third meeting between the champion and the negro. Each had won a decision in the previous encounters, which, like last night's fight, were non-title contests.

Goodman Master of Chicago Course

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—Johnny Goodman is golf master of the tricky North Shore country club course where he won the 1933 national open championship.

The Omaha youth [illegible] the course yesterday in an [illegible]-70, two strokes under par.

As part of his [illegible] tuning up preparatory to defending his open crown [illegible] Goodman will play in the Columbian exposition golf meet on Sunday in preparation for the national amateur championship at Cincinnati beginning Sept. 11.

Jordan Marsh Nine Edges Filene's, 6-3

The Jordan Marsh Company team won its 19th victory of the season in 20 starts, by defeating Filene's 6 to 3, in a Retail Store League game at Heaney Field Rox. Pitcher Yancovitz, while holding Filene's losers to five hits, hit the only homer of the game.

League Leaders

By The Associated Press
(Including yesterday's games)

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting—Simmons, White Sox, .367. Foxx, Athletics, .356.
Runs—Gehringer, Tigers, 87; Foxx, Athletics, 86.
Runs Batted In—Simmons, White Sox, 84; Foxx, Athletics, 80.
Hits—Simmons, White Sox, 149; Manush Senators, 142.
Doubles—Burns, Browns, 39; Cronin, Senators; Chapman, Yankees; and Rogell Tigers, 28.
Triples—Combs, Yankees, 12; Averill, Indians, 11.
Home Runs—Foxx, Athletics, 28; Ruth, Yankees, 25.
Stolen Bases—Chapman, Yankees, 18; Walker Tigers 17.
Pitching—Lee Allu and Allen, Yankees, 5—3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
—UNCHANGED FROM YESTERDAY.

TODAY'S RACE Yachtsmen Prep Craft for 'Head Race Week

By E. B. SCHRIFTGIESSER

This is a busy week at the boatyards as the owners of racing craft prepare for the opening of Marblehead's annual race week on Saturday.

The whish of scrubbing brush and scraper, the slap of wet paint brushes, and the creaking of tackle as the boats go down the slipway is music to the ear of the racing yachtsman. Clean, smooth bottoms slippery with copper paint or enamel, mean fast footing yachts for the all-important races of the mid-summer series.

CRAFT PRIMED FOR RACES

Large craft are on the ways at various boatyards between Gloucester and Cohasset, where expensive hulls are given a professional finish.

Owners of small boats often do their work themselves. On the floats of every Boston harbor club this week you can see Indians and similar craft in their early unstepped, bilge bottom up while industrious crews smooth the last barnacles off their bottoms.

Several clubs, such as the South Boston Y. C. have blocks on which the 2 boats of other long-legged sloops can be placed, giving their owners a chance to polish the bottoms as the tide recedes.

ADAMS' BAT VICTOR

The Corinthian Yacht Club wound up its first series of Saturday races over the past weekend. Winners of series prizes were in most cases the same boats which captured similar awards under Eastern colors.

In Class Q, however, Charles Francis Adams in the Eat was the victor. Oddly enough, it is resulted in the races of both clubs for the Eight-meter Class; Charles P. Curtis' Ellen winner of a sail-off after a draw in the Eastern series, now must fight it out with W. T. Aldrich's Armida for the Corinthian trophy.

Lincoln Davis' Starling won again among the Thirty Squares; George Poor's Woodcock repeated in Class 5, R. Russell Smith in the Teaser IV also won in the Triangle Class; and Parker Inger in the M.B. 8-oot Comet completed the list of double winners.

Yachtsmen at the Squantum open races were glad to see Ed Poland, veteran Indian skipper, back again on his feet after a long and painful illness.

Dick Blackmur, owner of the Wind Dog has won the first series of a championship in the Twenty-two Square Meter Class at the Hingham Yacht Club. Up to the closing race of the July series he was tied with Eddie Lincoln's Dodo.

Vanitie and Westmoo, after their races at Newport, have no more competition in sight until the New York Yacht Club cruise which begins on August 9. The Constellation Cup races off Brenton's Reef proved only what was known a ready before: that Westmoo is the faster boat in heavy winds.

Sonny in Perfect Health, Physician Announces

Hollywood, Aug. 1 (INS)—When Gus Sonnenberg returns from Reno he will be able to resume his mat career, a personal physician, Dr. E. Eric Larson, announced today.

Sonnenberg planned to depart today by airplane for Reno to establish residence in order that his pretty wife, Judith Allen, film actress, might obtain a divorce in order to continue her career in pictures.

Sonnenberg suffered a heart attack following a rough match he lost to Jim Browning, giant Missourian, two weeks ago, but Dr. Larson said today that "Sonnenberg is in perfect health now. His heart is O. K. He will be able to return to the ring any time he feels like it."

Oarsmen Carry Their Own Water

Philadelphia — Forty oarsmen, coaches and helpers leave today for the national rowing championships in Chicago and take their water with them. Fifty gallons of Philadelphia's drinking water have been bottled for the trip to safeguard against any illness because of a change.

TRIBE FACES GIANTS TODAY

Continued from Page 21.

before they again swing through the wide open spaces.

McKechnie smiled often this a. m., in fact, he smiled just as often as he thought of the very fine pitching displayed by one Bobby Brown in the exhibition game won by the Tribe, 10-1, yesterday at New London. Bobby of Hull hurled for seven innings, struck out four of the semi-pro foes and gave only five hits.

A sore arm has kept Brown idle all season. He thinks he is fit now, and the seven innings' work seem to prove it. So Bobby may step into the picture and help the Tribe greatly in its hoped-for rise to a money berth.

Bobby Smith is due to rejoin the Braves, after an absence of two years, in New York today. McKechnie plans to use the Atlanta boy principally as a relief flinger.

BOB SMITH WAS TRIBE ACE

Bobby should be delighted to return to his first major league love. He was one of the best right-handed pitchers in the league at the Wigwam after being converted from an infielder by Dave Bancroft.

He went from here to Chicago and later to Cincinnati. He was never able to approach his Boston stride in either city. He has seen little service with the Reds this season. He pitched one great game to beat the Braves here and soon after lost a one-hit game to New York, both early in the race. He has been used only to finish up in recent weeks.

Whatever else Bobby does or doesn't do for the Braves, it's certain he won't shirk. He'll gladly pitch every other day if necessary and it's his fervent willingness to work that caused Judge Fuchs to jump at the chance to get him from the Reds on waivers.

With doubleheaders with the Dodgers, tomorrow and Friday, and with the Phillies next Sunday, tasking him in the face Mc-Kechnie has decided to use only next week before send up one of his young hurlers on option to Harrisburg to make room for Smith.

Savoldi Pins Riley

Lawrence, Aug. 1—Jumping Joe Savoldi threw Pat Riley for two successive falls, the first in 24 03 and the second in 7 38 here.

In a semifinal Charlie Strack, Oklahoma, and Nick Lutze, California, went the 30-minute limit to a draw.

MORE ARRESTS IN DOPE PLOT

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—Indication that the federal government may seek to establish a conspiracy case was seen today as the U. S. Grand Jury plunged deeper into its investigation of an alleged wholesale doping of race horses at Arlington Park.

Twenty-two witnesses have been heard by the grand jury thus far and others were scheduled to be called tomorrow. Among those who testified were four of the seven men arrested by narcotic agents. They were Ivan Parke, trainer and former jockey; Dr. Nelson E. Southard, Louisville; Charles Mitchell and William Payne.

All four, together with four Negroes, are charged with violation of the anti-narcotics act.

Federal agents said one of the most important witnesses was H. T. Snyder, trainer of Charley G., a Kentucky Derby entrant of 1933. Other important witnesses to go before the grand jury were Dr. C. J. Fitzgerald, presiding stewart at the Arlington plant; George Brown, Jr., his assistant, and Harry Morrissey, a starter.

Ralph M. Potter, in charge of the Arlington investigation, said he would seek the arrests of additional men believed implicated in the alleged horse doping plot.

SHARKEY BALKS AT $5 'TOPS'

Chicago, Aug. 1 (AP)—Jack Sharkey will return to the ring for the title he lost along with the world heavyweight championship to Primo Carnera, against King Levinsky, Chicago slugger, here September 6, if one difficulty can be removed.

Sharkey's management has signed for the bout, which will be promoted by Sammy Wolff, with the reservation that top price for ringside seats be $10. Wolff today was holding out for $5 "tops," but a compromise price of $7.50 appeared likely.

The bout, at 10 rounds, would be staged at one of the major league baseball parks, or possibly at Soldier Field. Wolff has guaranteed the former heavyweight champion $25,000. Levinsky has signed to fight for a percentage of the gate receipts.

Home Run Tally

MONDAY'S HOME RUNS

Harris, Senators ... 2 Hale, Indians ... 1
Cissell, Indians ... 1 Hamon, Indians ... 1

LEADERS FROM CLUBS

Foxx, Athletics ... 28 Berger, Braves ... 18
Ruth, Yankees ... 25 Klein, Phillies ... 16
Grimm, Yankees ... 19

Wrestling Result

Montreal—Karl Mechaudy, 225, lost one fall, but pinned Mike Romano, 218, two falls.

King Must Meet Sharkey Before He Can Marry

Chicago, Aug. 1 (INS)—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, must meet Jack Sharkey here next month in a 10-round bout before he can marry Miss Frances Fay, Brooklyn blues singer.

Authorities for this state said that Mrs. Lena Levy, the ex-fish peddler's sister-manager,

"I shall not consent to a wedding until King has fought Sharkey, said Sister Lena.

The Sharkey-Levinsky bout has been scheduled for September 6 probably at Soldier Field.

BRAVES FIELD
Tomorrow at 3:30 P. M.
DOUBLEHEADER
Braves vs. Brooklyn
Tickets at Kennedy's Men's Store and Braves Field. Stadium 3000

Shorts Barred at Maidstone

Fast Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Although the heat crowded the 100 degree mark, the players in the Maidstone Club tennis tournament for women appeared in conventional attire. Signs in the clubhouse warned the participants, including Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and the English cup invaders, that shorts would not be permitted.

Echoes of Past Dance in Saratoga Scene

By BILL CORUM

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 1.—I never come back to Saratoga but that it makes me a little melancholy.

With all its modern improvements, most of which can be traced to President Roosevelt's terms as governor of New York state, it is still a town from yesterday, filled with echoes of a gaiety that is dead and gone.

So many grand folks—handsome, gallant gentlemen and lovely ladies—have played their way through Saratoga through the years that it makes mention of their bankrolls.

Down the little hill that leads to what once was Canfield's Diamond Jim Brady used to drive Lillian Russell in a rubber-tired carriage. Now one can see the ghost trickling in a mahogany and rose-velvet dining room that had a carpet on the floor.

Across the street from the telegraph office, the unemployed United States Hotel wanders aimlessly around the block and a lazy lawn is all that is left of the golf course—sleeping under trees that have welcomed the birds of a hundred springs.

Further along the same thoroughfare the famous Grand Union Hotel—the same thing in a slightly more modern, though no less pleasing way.

SEDATE PACE IS SARATOGA'S

Nobody is in a hurry in Saratoga. Not even the fellow who has a good thing in the first race at the track.

Still, you can't beat the setting inside the spacious Union Avenue course, drowning through its years of racing and steeped in a tradition unequalled by any other sporting field in this country.

On this track a horse, fittingly named, Kentucky, first won the Travers Mid-Summer Derby on a sunny August day in 1864. This is the oldest stake race in the United States.

On this track Upset beat Man o' War as a two-year-old in the historic upset that many turfites have ever known. That once and that once only did the golden stallion taste the dust of defeat.

On this track the gallant, crippled Whichone first put away Gallant Fox, the mighty colt son of Belair, only to yield in turn to a nickel boss with the nickel name of Jim Dandy, when the weakened leg buckled beneath him in the stretch.

It was to this track, too, that Colonel Stonewall Jackson, a dusky complexioned individual who loves a great thoroughbred, came to see the filly Miss Joy, win the spin-way. The Colonel's home heath is Churchill Downs, Ky., and in all probability he is the only authorized race horse tout in the world.

COLONNEL WELCOME TOUT

Touts of any color, creed or description are not generally welcomed by the management of race tracks. That's why you always hear them hawking their wares in the trains and outside the gates.

But it's different with the Colonel. For almost 30 years he was the friend of that famed Kentucky horseman, John E. Madden, and they not only allow him inside the gates of Churchill Downs, they have bought him a chair to sit in.

I would not wish to go as far as to guarantee the tips you buy from the Colonel, but he is an honest tips. The Colonel is getting old now and he has been with the horses all his life, but he still believes in them. And when he gives you a tip he believes in that. At least until after the race, which is the way of all followers of the races everywhere.

Yes, the good ones, the lively ones the red-blooded, adventurous ones—both and horses—have been here to Saratoga for the racing.

DIVERS IN MEET FOR N. E. TITLES

Human swans will contest for the championship of New England A. A. U. and low board diving championships tomorrow night at the Natatorium on the Revere Beach boulevard. Both junior and senior crowns will be up for new or old wearers.

Clinton Osborn, senior champion, will be on hand to see what he can do about keeping his title. There will be a good deal of competition for Osborn.

Paul Snyder of the Boston Swimming Association will also be present. He's the junior champion. Others who might dethrone the springboard kings are Herbert Woodward from the Lynn Y. M. C. A., and Robert Ritchie from the Brookline Swimming Club.

NEW YORK via PROVIDENCE Line
WHERE YOUTHFUL ENERGY IS REVIVED
The magic of the sea soothes burdened minds and frazzled nerves. It's tonic for the weary. Enjoy a cool trip and a refreshing sleep to New York on the Providence Line. New low rates on staterooms—$1 00 up.
Convenient Tickets at South Sta., Back Bay and 17 Dock Square. Phone Hubbard 8900.
Boat Trains leave South Station daily 6:10 P. M. Boat due New York 8:00 A. M. (E. S. T.)
$5.00 ONE WAY $8.35 ROUND TRIP
NEW ENGLAND STEAMSHIP CO.

LYNCH FACES REED IN 1ST ROUND OF N. E. AMATEUR GOLF

DRAW AIDS ACE MASS. CROWN CONTENDERS

By BILL GRIMES

Manchester, N. H. Aug. 1—One-half of the field in the first round of the New England Amateur Golf Championship which started this morning at the Manchester Country Club, was composed of Massachusetts golfers, nine were from Connecticut, four from Maine and three from New Hampshire. Rhode Island and Vermont failed to qualify any player.

Although they are very much in the majority, the Bay State players had their work cut out for them today. At this stage of the championship it appears as though another battle between Massachusetts and Connecticut was ahead.

Joe Lynch, the Massachusetts amateur champion; Eddie Kirouac, ex-title holder; Bobby Knowles, the most promising youngster the junior ranks have produced in years; the Heath brothers, Milan and Mel, Jr., and Jack Healey, the long hitter from Longmeadow, today were the mainstays of the Bay State forces.

GRANT NUTMEG STATE HOPE

Connecticut was banking on Bobby Grant, the defending champion; Charlie Clare, the champion of the Nutmeg State; Dom Soccoli, Torrington, and Dow Ahern, Willimantic, runnerup last year.

Of four Maine qualifiers, three were from Martindale, a nine hole course just outside of Auburn. The fourth Pine Tree Stater is Johnny Brown, from Portland. With the possible exception of Wade Roberts, Cocheco, the Granite State offered no serious threat.

Joe Lynch waxplaying C. Searles Reed, Thorny Lea, this morning. The state champion needed in no right on his game for Reed is a fine match player.

Eddie Kirouac, who was the runnerup to Bobby Grant, the medalist, was in the lower quarter of the draw, playing A. Pierson from Middletown, Ct.

The draw favored the Bay State for Lynch and Kirouac, if they won today could not meet until the finals. Bobby Grant and Charlie Clare, rated the best that Connecticut has to offer, were both in the upper half, with Frank Ross and Dow Ahern in the third and fourth quarters respectively.

KNOWLES IS THREAT

Bobby Knowles, the junior from the Country Club was a real threat. For two weeks Knowles has been playing championship golf. He faced Seth Reed, Jr., New Bedford in the first round and was favored to come through for he packed too many shots and too much of a competitive spirit for the former Dartmouth player.

Bobby Grant, the champion, did not expect much trouble getting through his bracket, unless tripped by Jimmie Dolan, whom if all goes well, he will meet in the third round.

But before Charlie Clare can get a crack at his fellow statesman, he needed to dispose of Joe Lynch, which was a tough assignment for any player in the field.

Of the outstanding Bay State golfers, Eddie Kirouac had the toughest row to hoe. There was not a single weak sticker today in his bracket, which included such stars as Dom Soccoli, Dow Ahern, Jack Healey, Mel Heath, Jr., and Art Johnson.

Bobby Knowles, The Country Club, is rapidly being recognized as one of the best golfers of the Bay State. Although he is only 18 years old, Bobby qualified in the State, the Junior and the New Englands.

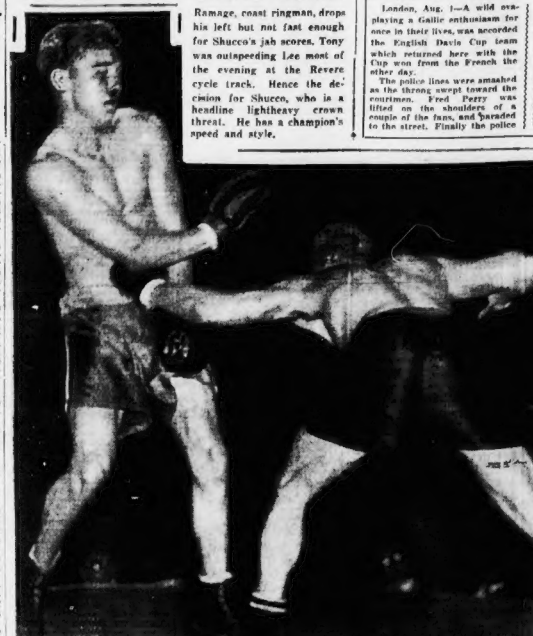
In the interim he won the Belmont Spring four ball tournament with Steve Sleeper as his partner, played in the Jaques Cup and squeezed the field in the qualifying round for the Essex County Club championship, with a 74, just two strokes better than his nearest opponent.

After playing 36 holes and qualifying with a 75—77—152, Bobby Knowles went out and played nine more holes in 36. He is a far better golfer than he has been credited and will eventually win national fame.

Jimmie Fisher, champion of Bear Hill, at last struck his stride in a qualifying round. Jimmie was not so hot in the morning with his 81, but he began to click in the afternoon and turned in a 73.

RAPIER LEFT SINKS HOME

Ramage, coast champion, drops his left but not fast enough for Shucco's jab scores. Tony was outspeeding Lee most of the evening at the Revere cycle track. Hence the decision for Shucco, who is a headline lightheavy crosstown threat. He has a champion's speed and style.



LEE RAMAGE TONY SHUCCO

Britons Fete Davis Cup Team

London, Aug. 1—A wild ovation playing a Gallic enthusiasm for once in their lives, was accorded the English Davis Cup team which returned here with the Cup won from the French the other day.

The police lines were smashed as the throng swept toward the courtmen. Fred Perry was lifted on the shoulders of a couple of the fans, and paraded to the street. Finally the police rescued Fred, who won the deciding match of the series over Andre Merlin of France. Then the players headed for their respective homes. A formal reception is planned later on.

The English win gave the country its first headline court achievement in many years, and marked the end of the reign of the French, who held the net cup for the past few years, after taking it from the United States.

2 SHOWS BILLED TONIGHT FOR MAT FANS

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

Two wrestling shows tonight will keep the boys who closely follow the activities of the cauliflower-ear brigade in and around Boston.

At the Rollaway Rink in Revere Nick Lutze and Nonis Demetroff will mingle in the feature of Alex McLean's carnival, at Mechanics Building. George Dusette will collide with a matman known as King Kong in the main fray of Charlie Gordon's pachyderm show.

And, while other sports still find trouble slowing away the red ink bottle, it wouldn't astound your Uncle George to see quite a few fans at both wrestling shows. For the wrestlers continue to hold the public fancy.

McLean's show will consist of five bouts. Other will be John Spellman vs. Jim White; Bob Russell vs. Tony Costa, Fred Moran vs. Jack Rose and Nick Karavas vs. Tommy Reord.

There will be 15 bouts at Mechanics Building. The semifinal will be Steve Passas vs. Fred Bruno. Two special bouts will be Ted Germaine vs. Dr. Altabilet and Jack Sherry vs. Carroll Cranson.

Count, Martin Meet

Tomorrow night at he Arena will come Steve McPherson's weekly grappling frays. He's got a pair of fine headline bouts and nine supporters to make a card of 11.

The Arena main bout will be Count Zaryneff vs. Bull Martin while Tiny Bill Sargent, 324 pounds, will meet Man Mountain Dean, 325 pounds, for the "super-dreadnaught" title. Feature supporting bouts will be Bull Curry vs. Leo Papianos, and Chief Buck Deerfoot, Osage Indian from Haskell Institute, vs. Joe Kujot.

Meanwhile Alex McLean is hustling along with work on his big charity show for the Estey Post, V. F. W., and admits that he still has plenty of headaches to come even though he's got his main bout signed and sealed, Ed Don George, the champ, vs. The Black Secret.

The show will be held August 9 at Fenway Park. The Black Secret has already opened training work at Carson Beach, South Boston. George will get after his sparring mates tomorrow at Mansion Inn, Wayland.

'Twixt Tee and Cup

By BILL GRIMES

Kirouac, who was in poor physical condition at Worcester, is back in form and he is going to be a tough out for any of the boys to crack, for he is also back on the game that brought him through the state championship last year at Kernwood.

Bobby Knowles a Star

Was Jack Healey's face red going down the first fairway yesterday afternoon! Jack could drop kick a golfball as far as he hit his first two shots and he took a six and another on the second hole. But from the second hole to the turn, the giant Harvard man was one under 38, and made the grade, with strokes to spare.

Dick Heneage Capable

Dick Heneage the junior champion of New Hampshire, can well under qualifying honors for his first round with a fine 76 but he blew wide open in the afternoon and carded a 91. Heneage is a fine looking golfer and he will make the grade within a short time.

E. L. Abbott, who hails from Auburn, Me., and represents Martindale, was the youngest player in the championship. He is only 18 years of age, but he shoots a brand of golf that stamped him as a corker.

Dick Lunn, who lead the field at the end of the first round with a record equaling 40, will enter Princeton this fall. Although Lunn is the club champion at Chevy Chase, Washington, D. C., he has never been able to register in any of the State of Maine championships.

Herman Goldberger, Woodland, displayed plenty of courage to come in with a 76 after taking an eight on the second hole. Most of the contenders would have folded up if they went three over par at the second hole of a qualifying round, but not so Mr. Goldberger, who fought it out and qualified.

Herbert Jaques, president of the United States Golf Association, was here all day yesterday and lent some valuable assistance to the New England Golf Association.

Gastanaga to Fight Perroni

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Madison Square Garden has signed two young heavyweights, Isidoro Gastanaga of Spain and Patsy Perroni of Cleveland, for the 10-round feature bout of an indoor show August 17.

BETTY NUTHALL REGAINS OLD CONFIDENCE

East Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 1 (INS)—Fortified with her victory in the annual Maidstone tournament, it was a confident Betty Nuthall who left here this morning for Forest Hills and the Wightman Cup series, which will be contested there next Friday and Saturday.

The old cheerfulness and cocky attitude which marked the "bouncing Betty" of 1929, when Helen Wills had to go to 8—6, 8—6, 6—8 scores to put her out of the nationals, and 1930 when Anna Harper lost to the robust English girl in the championship finals, are back again.

Betty has her sock once more. The power which four years ago put Miss Nuthall in the forefront of Queen Helen's challengers, and which many thought would eventually dethrone the great Wills, has returned to Betty's driving game.

Alice Marble fell it when she was blown off the courts in the final set of her battle with the British star for the William H. Wooding gold cup, and either Alice or Sarah Palfrey will have to stack up against that punch next Saturday when the No. 3 singles match is played in the international series between England and the United States.

Betty has been pretty much of a disappointment since her Forest Hills triumphs. Nerves was the reason advanced by one of her friends for her rapid descent from the tennis heights. Too much adverse publicity, said another.

All that is past history now. The English girl has conquered her nerves, she isn't reading the sport pages any more, and she has improved her service by throwing the ball out more, and with less height. It's no cannonball, but at least it gets over the net.

Schoolboy Offered Tryout by Detroit

Grand Rapids Mich., Aug. 1 (INS)—Benny McCoy, 17-year-old high school boy, who has been playing sensational ball at shortstop for a local semi-pro team, today was offered a tryout by the Detroit Tigers. He will report to the Tigers at Detroit on Friday.

Benny is a brilliant fielder and a hard hitter but has never played league ball. He is an all-around athlete in school, starring in football and basketball, as well as in baseball.

AUSSIE RACER NEEDS TRIAL

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (UR)—A race between Winonka, Australian champion horse, and Equipoise, American champion, cannot be held until Winonka "had another race under his belt," declared Rufe Naylor, general manager of the visiting equine, today.

"We will race any horse but Equipoise the next time out," said Naylor.

"Winonka needs another race before he can give his best against the American thoroughbred.

"Our idea is to have the champion of Australia meet the champion of this country and we'll stick to that. As soon as Winonka is ready for Equipoise we'll post a $10,000 side bet that Winonka can beat Equipoise."

Coture in Scotch Games Pro Race

Fred Coture of Lowell who will race in the five-mile pro run at the Caledonian Club's Scotch games Saturday at Caledonian Park, West Roxbury, is a native of Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, home of Johnny Miles.

Miles was one of the greatest runners to win the B. A. A. marathon. Coture has in his credit a win over Miles in a ten-mile run.

Ralph Colson, Dedham High School track coach and former University of Penn star, who will face Coture in the pro run, is in shape for the grind. He turned in a mile win in 4 minutes, 40 seconds at the City of Boston picnic the other day.

House of David Nine Defeats Lawrence

Lawrence, Aug. 1—The House of David baseball nine defeated the former Lawrence team of the New England League, 8 to 4, at O'Sullivan Park here.

Jackie Mitchell, girl star from Chattanooga, pitched the first inning for the House of David team, allowed one hit and fanned one.

Diamond Tally

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Teams	1	2	W	T	P.	R.	H.	E.
BOSTON	*	1	4	12	1	6	8	1
Brooklyn	0	*	0	1	.556	1	4	3
Chicago	0	1	0	1	.500	1	4	0
Cincinnati	1	1	2	1	.750	10	10	0
New York	1	0	2	1	.750	11	12	0
Pittsburgh	0	0	1	2	.333	2	5	1
St. Louis	1	0	2	1	.750	9	14	0
Philadelphia	0	1	0	2	.000	3	7	1

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Sign in day—New York.
Low for day—Cleveland.

Teams	1	2	W	T	P.	R.	H.	E.
BOSTON	*	1	0	1	.500	8	11	1
Cleveland	1	*	2	1	.750	11	11	0
Chicago	1	1	2	1	.750	11	11	0
Detroit	1	0	2	1	.750	5	10	0
New York	0	0	2	1	.750	5	10	0
Philadelphia	0	0	1	2	.333	4	7	1
St. Louis	0	0	1	2	.333	4	7	1
Washington	0	0	1	2	.333	4	7	1

Shucco Beats Ramage; Shows Title Class

By GEORGE UNDERWOOD

Strolling down Hanover street this hot August day receiving the congratulations of his Italian friends is the next light heavyweight champion of the world. Meet him, Fans. His name is Tony Shucco.

A few thousands fans sat among the mosquitoes over in the New Cycle Track at Revere, last evening and saw Tony give Lee Ramage, one of the best of California's present fistic crop the lacing of his gay young life. Don't forget the tough young bomber from the earthquake zone is some scrapper himself.

It isn't simply because Tony gave the Young Lochinvar from out of the West a worse beating than Paddy gave the drum that makes one pick the North End Italian as the next occupant of the light heavyweight throne. It is the way he did it.

Now we know how Tony came to beat Maxey Rosenbloom, present holder of the light heavyweight crown, in Holyoke, recently.

TONY SET FOR ALL COMERS

Twenty months ago Tony displayed his fistic wares here and was voted a promising bit of timber. Since that time he has come like a quarterhorse and now is ready for any light heavyweight in the world.

Tony has developed into a smart, heady, two-fisted fighting man. He is faster than a streak of greased lightning, his sharply and cleanly with both hands. Blocks, ducks, sidesteps and slips punches beautifully, and rolls and rides with others. He has something under his shock of hair besides mere bone, and the way he leveled Ramage into fighting his own style proved his ring generalship.

Save for a flurry in the second round when Ramage waded in, ripping away with both hands like a young Dempsey, last night's affair was all Shucco. Tony outboxed Lee in the first round but the second saw Ramage take the lead away with a blazing attack that swept Shucco about the ring like a chip in a whirlpool.

But the third round saw Shucco change his style. He boxed at long range, pouring a stream of left jabs in the California's physiognomy, prodding him off balance, feinting him into bow knots.

SHUCCO HAMMERS FOE

Shucco kept up those bewildering and goat getting tactics until he had Ramage as bewildered and befuddled he didn't know whether he was going or coming. Then Tony unlimbered the heavy artillery again and in the closing rounds tried to knock the young Westerner out of his brogans.

Of the loser it can be said that he'll whip more light heavies and heavies than will whip him. Lee would have made a better showing against almost anyone except Shucco. Tony was too smart, clever and heady for him, that's all.

Tony will be too smart, heady and clever for any of the present 175 pounders. When Maxey Rosenbloom crawls through the ropes against Shucco in a title bout Maxey will crawl out without his title, unless they find a way to shackle Tony, which don't believe can be done. Paste that prediction in your hat.

Shucco tipped the beam at 175 pounds while Ramage scaled 178.

CELLI BEATS NYHOLM

In the preliminaries Tony Celli of Leominster beat Kino Nyholm, the fighting Swede of Maynard. Johnny Dixon, former B. C. football captain, knocked out Joe Wright of Salem, who substituted for Max Reig, in the second round; Johnny Reeds won a questionable decision over Joey Kemp and Ralph Moran gained the award over Benny Lynch.

A good time was had by all. The best time of all was held by the mosquitoes. Those Revere Beach mosquitoes, as Jack Shannon said, not only bite, but scratch and kick.

Slaughter Kayos King in 6th Round

Pittsburgh, Aug. 1 — Sammy Slaughter, middleweight from Terre Haute, Ind., knocked out Jack King in the sixth round of a slated 10-round go here.

Slaughter weighed 159 pounds. King 155.

TAP'S TIPS

HEARST RACERS TO DARE DEATH

Chicago, Aug. 1 (UR)—Spectators who attend the second annual William Randolph Hearst Herald-Examiner gold cup regatta, on the north lagoon of the Century of Progress Sunday, August 20, are assured of more than their quota of spine tingling thrills when Bob Eastman and his fleet of stunt stunters go into action.

The races for the gold cup and the Hearst trophy event, will have plenty of color.

Bob Eastman in his endeavor to thrill has gathered a band of stunt artists from Winterhaven, Fla., who are absolutely without fear. They have no set routine and will try anything suggested, no matter how big the headache.

Traveling at a speed of forty miles an hour on water skis, leaping through a wall of flames in a speed boat and crashing a boat going full tilt into a sea wall are just a few of the many things that Eastman has in store for the spectators in the coming Hearst regatta.

Agassiz Was Star High Wheel Racer

Rodolphe Agassiz, chairman of the board of directors of the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Co., who died at his home in Pride's Crossing yesterday, was a noted bike racer years ago.

Agassiz, when a mere youth, won the first high wheel bike race ever to be held in America, according to Dr. Walter Gardner Kendall, captain of the Boston Bike Club.

At that time Agassiz was a member of the Boston Bike Club and the race was around the Chestnut Hill Reservoir, which, at the time, was circled by a macadam road.

Indians Hammered by Browns, 12 to 8

St. Louis, Aug. 1—The generosity of Cleveland pitchers enabled Rogers Hornsby and his Browns to defeat the Indians, 12 to 8.

In the seventh Tribe hurlers handed out seven passes and ended up with presenting the Browns with eight runs, that cinched the game.

Wells, Hebert, and Blaeholder allowed the Indians six hits between them, while Hudlin, Rhem, Hildebrand and Connally were tapped for 12 by the Browns. Cissell, Hale and Kamm homered in vain for the Indians.

Hawthorne Mutuels

For Monday, July 31.
MUTUELS

Three Races	$83.00
Five Races	$267.65
Seven Races	$218.30

Wishing will not fill your vacancies—advertising will. Use the Classified Rental Columns of the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser consistently, if you want consistent good results.

NRA MEMBER U.S.

WE DO OUR PART

OKAY, MR. PRESIDENT

WE HAVE promised you that we will do everything in our power to make your National Recovery Act the success you want it to be . . . you and 120,000,000 others! Starting today, we are making good on our promise. Our plants are operating, and will continue to operate, under the terms of the N. R. A. We are putting more skilled cigar-operators to work, as fast as they can qualify. Our workers will receive all the benefits set forth in your Act. And, wherever possible, we will improve those benefits of our own free will.

We guarantee that the quality-standards of our cigars will be maintained—irrespective of how much it costs us personally. In other words, we again pledge ourselves to support the letter and the spirit of your Recovery Program.

$10,000 WILL BE PAID TO ANY ONE WHO CAN DISPROVE OUR GUARANTEE!

WE GUARANTEE that today's Girard is a genuine, bona-fide ten-cent cigar. It contains the same high-quality tobaccos as most popular ten-cent brands do. Only imported filler—no domestic.
WEBSTER-EISENLOHR, INC.

* Only because we purchased quantities of expensive, ten-cent-quality tobaccos at a low price, can Girard be sold today at 5c straight.

GIRARD CIGAR

REDUCED FROM 10c TO 5c STRAIGHT

"BARBARA HOLMES FREE RENTAL BUREAU"

"Let's Look at the Records"

OPEN LETTER TO ATTORNEY GENERAL JOSEPH E. WARNER:

As chief of the State's legal department and adviser to the forthcoming legislative investigation of crime and the police department of Boston you will doubtless require in your work the records of the real racket kings of Boston.

Governor Ely was not successful in getting from the police department the names of the real leaders of the underworld. The list he got was composed mostly of small fry and petty offenders.

To help you in your investigation the Boston Evening American will present for your study each day the record of a man whose name stands high up in the list of public enemies and whose name has been withheld from the governor by the police department.

The record of each of these men is available at police headquarters.

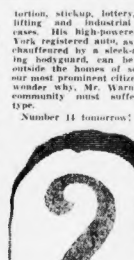
NUMBER 13

The Number 13 is usually associated with hard luck in the battle of life but the character behind today's story no doubt has a different viewpoint. Because for the past 13 years, he has been closely associated with the worst characters of the underworld, both here and in New York City. And in those 13 years, he spent less than two months in durance vile. And that time was while he was awaiting trial in which he was acquitted.

Though the greater part of his criminal activities have been centered in and around Boston, and he has been connected with at least a score of our major crimes during the past seven years, the records of New York and courts fail to show that he ever was charged with any punishable offenses. From confidential sources—as a matter of fact from police officials who know him—we learn that today he enjoys the hospitality of several public officials in their social hours.

His present operation keeps him confined for several hours a day in a nearby police station which he uses in the routine operation of his somewhat limited racket. His criminal operations have brought him in contact with the police in murder, extortion, stickup, lottery, shoplifting and industrial labor cases. His high-powered New York registered auto, as a rule chauffeured by a sleek-appearing bodyguard, can be found outside the homes of some of our most prominent citizens. We wonder why, Mr. Warner, the community must suffer this type.

Number 14 tomorrow!



Daily True Story -:- Love and Insurance

FRIENDS of Officer Patrick Suffolk will be pleased to learn that he has just received a box of 100 fine cigars from Havana.

If you are a friend of Officer Paddy, without a doubt you'll find yourself seated in his comfortable home one of these fine evenings, drawing deeply on one of that hundred, and listening with the liveliest interest to the story of that hundred.

But, of course, when Officer Paddy was on the "night trick," he was walking his beat on Manhattan Bridge. One night he found a young man and a girl prey to his zeal, which lay on the sidewalk.

"You can't committe suicide on this bridge!" growled he.

PADDY IS SYMPATHETIC

Then Officer Paddy saw the young man had been crying and his sarcastic note changed.

"Aw, tell Paddy what's the trouble," the officer asked.

And the boy did—he was little more than a boy.

The boy had gone to college —an engineering school in New England. He had met a girl, senior in a woman's college. They had fallen in love, and, soon as both had graduated, had eloped. The girl's family were angry — had never forgiven her. But they hadn't cared. So youth and love were greater than families. He had secured a job with a big engineering firm — and was making progress when suddenly the company failed and closed its doors.

"You'll find something in a little while, dear," his wife had said to the distant. They moved to a furnished room—and his wife got a job as a waitress.

WIFE FAINTS IN CAFE.

The one day, his wife fainted while on duty at the cafeteria. At the hospital they said she needed—had to have, in fact—an operation and six months in a hot climate. The boy was frantic. Then he remembered his life insurance (five thousand dollars).

He took himself out of Paddy's hand and lunged toward the railing. Paddy, though heavy, was quick. The boy never got over.

After the boy was safely in a cell, Paddy leaned over toward the sergeant in charge of the station.

"Don't book him, George," Paddy said. "He'll be all right in a day or so. We'll just let him cool his heels."

PADDY'S PROBLEM

At ten o'clock, Paddy had found what might be a solution to his problem. He showed up at the office of Davis & Thaler, industrial contractors. He asked to see Mr. Davis.

"There's a boy who's trying to kill himself, and who's an engineer," Paddy told Davis. "If you could give him a job, you save his life."

"You know, Officer Suffolk, how bad conditions have been," Davis said.

Paddy fisted up then.

"To hell with you," he cried angrily. "You're a fine guy, you are. But let me tell you something, that's your son-in-law who's going to kill himself, and it's your daughter who's going to die of a broken heart."

About a week later, Paddy was ordered out in front at rollcall. The captain smiled and Paddy wondered what was up. "Officer Patrick Suffolk," the captain said, "for gallantry above and beyond the requirements of your duties, you have been made a sergeant."

Of course, Davis was behind that, and when his son-in-law sent those cigars from Cuba, on the way to Farmington, Ark., the old man enclosed a note, saying his daughter was happy and smiling. Ever.

All names of characters in this story are fictitious.

Girl Diver to Wed Young Californian

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (UP).—Having dived sensationally to athletic honors, 18-year-old Dorothy Poynton, Olympic and national high diving queen, is about to take the plunge into matrimony it is learned.

Miss Poynton, due to return to Los Angeles today from New York where she won the A. A. U. championship, is to wed Nelson L. Hill, young businessman and sportsman. The engagement was announced ago when the couple met at the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Dartmouth Boys in Long Canoe Trip

St. John, N. B., Aug. 1 (INS)—Two Dartmouth students, C. L. Knight and H. B. Putnam, both 20, began their homeward journey by canoe to Boston today after spending the early summer months sailing from Burlington, Vt., to the Bay of Fundy.

They averaged 27 knots a day. Their closest brush with disaster was off Ships Head, Gaspe Coast, when a 30-foot whale almost capsized them.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FLORISTS

Appropriate Remembrances
Spray Fresh Roses $3.50 up
Spray Fresh Carnations $3.00 up
Fresh Floral Wreaths $5.00 up
CAN BE SENT BY WIRE ANYWHERE
ANYTIME
Penn the Florist 784 TREMONT ST BOSTON

NOTICES

TO BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF BOSTON, 1933.

ORDERED: That due notice be given that this Board is of the opinion that, in the public interest improvements should be made, consisting of:

The laying out and construction of Keith street, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Vermont street northeasterly 0.07 mile.

The laying out and construction of extension of Keith street, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Vermont street 0.07 mile northeasterly.

The laying out and construction of Colonial Path, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Nottingham road to Oxford road, 0.08 mile, the name passed by said Board on said day. Attest:

CORNELIUS A. READDON, Secretary.
8:29 29 31 Aug

LOST AND FOUND

ALL LOST AND FOUND ADVERTISEMENTS APPEARING IN THESE COLUMNS ARE BROADCAST AT 10:15 A. M. DAILY AND 4:30 P. M. SUNDAYS ON WLOE
"The first station on the dial"

BLACK female Spitz puppy lost; paper Bill Acts, 7-28. Finder please call 5062.

BOSTON TERRIER—Female, 6 mos. old, lost in Dor., 7-28. "Queenie". Rew. Col.3456

WHITE Persian cat, female, lost Brookline-Beacon Sts., Brookline. Rew Asp. 5631.

LOST—German Police, male, in Charlestown; reward. R. E. Chadwick, 1 Monument sq., Charlestown.

Waltham wrist watch MDP but Maverick Sq Everett St. Rew. East Bos 3457-R.

LOST—Pocketbook, Brookline-Boston Elevated, Lechmere Sq. to Central Square, Lynn, Rew. Lynn 9170.

SPECIAL NOTICES

MATHESON-HIGGINS CO. 2853
Day, Calling—Meeting—Finishing—Ents., attaching.

BUS TRANSPORTATION

NEWAY LINES
SUPER LUNCHEON SERVICE

Springfield 2 hrs. 10 min.—$2.75—$1.00 R. T.
Hartford 3 hrs. 55 min.—$3.00—$3.00 R. T.
Albany 5 hrs. 30 min.—$4.00—$4.00 R. T.
Main Office—Hub Terminal, Brookline
Main, 2958—Hub, 5118 (Park Square).

$2 HARTFORD—8 TRIPS DAILY
$2 SPRINGFIELD—8 TRIPS DAILY
VICTORIA COACH LINES
257 TREMONT ST. LIB. 5867

FALL RIVER $1 Lv. & Ar. Daily
Direct—No Change 6 Trips Daily
ALL CITY—Hotel, Theatre, everywhere. Quick exp. car owners and passg. reg. free. Write Victory Coach Lines, 44 Hay Street

$2 New York Lv. & Ar. Daily
Rm. 9402. 5 Avenue. Liberty 2870.

WHERE TO DINE

The New Quemster Quemster
154 Mass. Ave. Quality food, reasonable prices. Open 24 hours.

BEER Ale and Food. Italian, Chinese Dishes. BERKO 80 PENTAL-DAVY, before Theatre, at Quaint Heights.

BEAUTY AIDS

HAIR Moles Permanently removed. No pain or scars. Physician references. Mollie Rappert
125 Tremont St. Boston. Tel. Hub. 7286.

SPECIAL PERMANENT $2
EVELYN'S BEAUTY SHOP, 453 Wash. St. Complete HESTER'S BEAUTY SHOP, 370 6513
LOCATED IN REAR OF CORRIDOR

PLANT—OUR PERMANENT $2.50
Henri Croisie, HENRY'S SALON, 455 Wash. St. Rm. E17. Rev. 8047.

REGULAR $3 PERMANENT NOW $2.00
Hollywood Cone Waves $7
ANNETTE, 2 Greater St. Rev. 9161. Dor. 7267.

BEAUTY INSTRUCTION

100 Girls Wanted to Have Beauty Culture Instruction Free. Call or write Hub Academy, 161 Mass. Ave. Room 208.

STODDY Beauty School—thorough training in all branches of beauty culture. 3 months' course. Easy terms. Send for circular. We help place graduates. 325 Tremont St., Bos. 5053. Rev. 7634.

DERMATOLOGY

Face Sag, Nooses
And All Facial Defects Corrected. Call or Write for Free Booklet
E. P. REID, M. D.
18 Huntington Ave.
SUITE 40 KENMORE 4213

MEDICAL

X-RAY
Examination, consultation and trial treatment absolutely free to all who call before 10 A. M. Dr. Lee, graduate physician of the Navy and formerly chronic light specialist at Boston City Hospital, will diagnose any disease of every description. No matter what you have tried, consult Dr. Lee. Daniel J. Walsh, M. D., fulltime clinic office.

STOMACH TROUBLE
Mr. Thos. F. Pope, 370 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass., writes: "For about 2 years I had suffered from stomach trouble and pains in the back and kidneys. About 2 weeks ago my trouble became so severe that I decided to do nothing but drink water. I went to Dr. Walsh to determine the cause of my trouble. I have no words to express my thanks to Dr. Walsh's office. I had Dr. Walsh's treatment until I felt as well as ever. I will recommend Dr. Walsh's success in my case may be of benefit to others who suffer as I did." (Signed) Thomas F. Pope.

D. J. WALSH, M. D.
18 Huntington St., Boston, Mass.
Office Hour: Mon., Wed., Thurs., and Sat. 10 to 1, 2 to 6 and 7 to 8; Tues. and Fri. 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. Closed Sundays and Holidays.

FREE Booklet for sufferers from Piles (Hemorrhoids) or other Rectal troubles. Write to Dwight Clinic, 18 Dwight St., Boston.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

COFFIN—In Boston, July 30, Christina (Sangster), beloved wife of Simon Coffin, of 29 Monmouth St., East Boston. Services at her late residence, 29 Monmouth st., Saturday and London Sts., East Boston, Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

DONATO—In Concord, July 30, Saula (Alibrandi), wife of Joseph Donato of 17 Hancock st., Lexington. Funeral from her late home, 17 Hancock st., Lexington, Thursday, Aug. 3, at St. Bernard's Church, at 6 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

HYNES—In Roslindale, July 30, Kmily (Jones), beloved wife of William G. Hynes. Funeral from her late residence, 305 Beech st., Roslindale, Thursday, Aug. 3, at 8:15 a. m. Solemn requiem high mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends most kindly invited.

POWERS—In Somerville, July 30, Mary E. (Gardner), widow of Mark A. Gardner, and beloved wife of Joseph Powers, formerly of Boston. Funeral services on Wednesday morning, 19 Tenie ave., Somerville, at 8:30 a. m. A. M. Solemn mass of requiem at St. Clements Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

SORRENTINO—In Cambridge, July 30, 1933, Antonetta (nee Locottio), Funeral from her late residence, 19 Pleasant st., Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 8 a. m., thence to St. Anthony's Church, at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

GRAHAM Funeral Service
Specialized Service at Moderate Cost
Non-Sectarian
Services Anywhere in New England
1720 Washington St., Boston

J. S. WATERMAN & SONS
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
195 COMMONWEALTH AVE.

JOHN F. O'BRIEN FUNERAL DIRECTOR
South Boston, 146 Dorchester St. S.B. 1321

George F. McKenna & Son Funeral Director
687 Medford St., Somerville. Som. 0144.

For complete information about any kind of rentals, furnished or unfurnished, hotels, you are invited to use this free service. Call at the Rental Bureau at R. H. White Co., fourth floor, corner of Washington and Bedford Sts.

"Barbara Holmes"
Will be pleased to help you or
Telephone Hancock 4160 9.00 to 5:00

A COMPLETE RENTAL SERVICE CO-OPERATING WITH MANAGERS, REALTORS, OWNERS and OPERATORS

"To order an ad telephone Liberty 4000"

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MEDICAL

ECZEMA—PSORIASIS
INTRAVENOUS INJECTIONS WHEN NECESSARY
Dr. W. Mulcahy, M. D. 32 Boylston St. HAN. 5938

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

FOUND—Pair glasses, Saturday, Aug. 29, Lexington Ave., entrance 17, Apt. 210. Open Sunday.

REFINISHING almost new, massage, facial. 340 Commonwealth Ave., Suite 6, open Sunday.

DENTISTRY

EXTRACTIONS 50c. TEETH $5
DR. G. A. CUMMINGS
29 Warren St., near Dudley St. Station. Sac. 6090.

DETECTIVE AGENCIES

MORSE AGENCY—Reliable operatives. Fine reputation. Han. 2218; nights Mis. 2199

DANCING

BALLROOM starting in 4 WEEKS
PROF. RITTER DAYTON 7 TREMONT ST. DELIVERED 7100
15 PRIVATE LESSONS—UPTOWN SCHOOL $5
30 HOUR BEG. INT. CIRCLE HOUR $5
LATEST STEPS FOX-TROT, WALTZ, TANGO ETC.
BEGINNERS GUARANTEED TO LEARN HERE
PRIVATE lessons modern dancing, only $1 each lesson; private lessons, young lady teacher; street floor. 166 Huntington Ave.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Pierre de Reeder
SPECIALIST IN THEATRICAL ARTS
Complete stage dancing training in Musical and Dramatic instruction. Talent placed when proficient. Free Auditions daily. Reduced August terms. Studio in Studio Tyler Hall, Trinity Court, Back Bay, or phone Kenmore 4826. Good opportunity for either ladies or gentlemen to enroll for private lessons. Pay full tuition after success.
de Reeder Academy of Theatrical Arts

EMPLOYMENT

HELP WANTED—FEMALE

EXP. housekeeper wanted. Good home $5 wk. Bus. 8-5:30. Boston Americus.

GIRL wanted for general housework. Good home. Fewer 2440R-W.

WOMEN to take home stitching on doll's apparel. Only those living within 10c car fare of Boston need apply. Doll Co., 223 Fremont st., Malden, Mass.

HELP WANTED—MALE

SALESMEN Opportunity for a man who wants to work. Commission basis. See Mr. Carney, 354 Stuart st.

SITUATIONS WANTED—Female

COLORED woman desires daily or part time work. Call Mrs. Jones, Rox. 0256.

GENERAL housework, day or part time. $5 per day. Good wages. Gar. 2701.

LAUNDRY—All kinds at home, outdoor drying, reference; collect. Gar. 8438.

FINANCIAL

MONEY TO LOAN

LOANS
Made on furniture with twenty months to pay. No references required. Special Insurance Feature.
BOSTON MORRIS PLAN CO.
209 Washington St., Boston
Quincy, Roxbury and Cambridge

LET US HELP YOU
PLAN FOR SUMMER NEEDS
Vacations—Clothes—Rest and Trips—Rainy Days—Sickness—Emergencies. Any of these SMALL AMOUNTS USUALLY LOANED WITH OUR MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN
Phone for Information HY 8811
Ideal Financing Ass'n, Inc.
333 WASHINGTON ST. Rm. 406. License 33

AUTO AND HOUSEHOLD LOANS
Collateral accepted—we are
Your Present Note Made Smaller
NO ENDORSERS. LIB. 7368
$27 Per $100 Yearly
GLOBE PLAN License

Worried Over Money?
We can help you! Tell us your problem; responsible persons or families of character may borrow $50 to $300 on monthly repayments, are small. Confidential. Call or write.
New England Equity Corp.
405 Old South Building, Room 1021
44 Fed. Street, LIB. 7355

MOTOR LOANS
AUTOMOBILES AND TRUCKS
Cash Advanced—Quickest Service
Call, Write or Phone
MALONE FINANCE & ACC. CORP.
202 STATLER BLDG. HUB. 2200
Eve. Liberty 1892 Univ. 1811

AUTO REPAIRS FINANCED
No Down Payment
We trust All Makes of Cars
STRATTON MOTORS INC.
975-991 Blue Hill Ave. Dorchester
Murray Chandler

Business, Auto, Furniture
Loans easy payments, endorsers
COLEMAN FINANCE CO. Inc.
142 6th St. by 377 Rm. 3, 2nd floor 238

PILGRIM PLAN
LOANS ON AUTOS AND FURNITURE
24 School St. Room 715

FINANCIAL

MONEY TO LOAN

FURNITURE AUTOMOBILE NOTE LOANS UP TO $300
Our LOW CHARGES are figured only on unpaid amount of loan, for actual time you keep the money. Prompt service. Small Monthly Payments. Come in . . . Write . . . or Phone
INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.
AUTO and FURNITURE LOANS
BOSTON 73 Tremont St. Lef. 5533
2nd Fl. Tremont Bldg. Lic. No. 22
CAMBRIDGE 730 Dove St. Som. 3536
2nd Fl. Paris Inst. Bldg. Lic. 105
NOTE and FURNITURE LOANS
EVERETT 471 Broadway Eve. 2144
2nd Fl. Revere Bldg. License 107
DORCHESTER 761 Dudley St. Col. 5370
2nd Fl. Ashmont Bldg. License 604
FURNITURE LOANS
CAMBRIDGE 552 Mass. Ave. Uni. 7800
2nd Fl. Alewife Bldg. License 731
CHELSEA 445 Broadway Chel. 2266
Ch. of Commerce Bldg. License 105
MALDEN 410 Pleasant St. Mal. 3473
2nd Fl. Converse Bldg. License 107
MEDFORD 23 Riverside Ave. Mys. 1036
2nd Fl. Central Bldg. License 199
ROSLINDALE 765 South St. Par. 6089
2nd Fl. Sellers Bldg. License 604
WOBURN 321 Main St. Wob. 1430
Tuesday Hall's Bank Bldg.
Open Mondays until 8 p. m. ▼ Thursdays, ▼ Fridays.
INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.

FURNITURE AUTOMOBILE LOANS
A Friendly Loan Service for Friendly People . . . Up to 20 Months to Repay CAPITAL FINANCING
148 State Street
CAP. 9561. License 37
ROOM 307

REAL ESTATE MARKET

HOUSES FOR SALE

DORCHESTER—12-room house and lot for sale; $3000—$1000 cash. Bargain. Realty, 598 Broadway, South Boston.

BUSINESS PROP. FOR SALE

Store and basement for sale or rent, for light mfg. or sign painter. Heated. See at 30 Winter Ave., West Somerville.

FARMS AND LAND FOR SALE

EQUIPPED FARMS, modern conveniences, 3 cows, 2 horses, 2 calves, 1 pig, 1 sheep, 1 goat, 100 chickens, 1 dog, 1 cat, 1 canary, 1 parrot, 1 rabbit, 1 guinea pig, 1 mouse, 1 rat, 1 snake, 1 turtle, 1 frog, 1 fish, 1 bird, 1 bee, 1 fly, 1 mosquito, 1 flea, 1 louse, 1 tick, 1 spider, 1 centipede, 1 millipede, 1 worm, 1 caterpillar, 1 butterfly, 1 moth, 1 beetle, 1 grasshopper, 1 cricket, 1 ant, 1 aphid, 1 termite, 1 earwig, 1 cockroach, 1 mantis, 1 stick insect, 1 leaf insect, 1 walking leaf, 1 walking stick, 1 walking fern, 1 walking fish, 1 walking bird, 1 walking dead man, 1 walking dead woman, 1 walking dead child, 1 walking dead baby, 1 walking dead animal, 1 walking dead plant, 1 walking dead tree, 1 walking dead bush, 1 walking dead flower, 1 walking dead grass, 1 walking dead weed, 1 walking dead moss, 1 walking dead fungus, 1 walking dead mold, 1 walking dead mildew, 1 walking dead rust, 1 walking dead corrosion, 1 walking dead decay, 1 walking dead rot, 1 walking dead putrefaction, 1 walking dead fermentation, 1 walking dead digestion, 1 walking dead assimilation, 1 walking dead excretion, 1 walking dead respiration, 1 walking dead circulation, 1 walking dead reproduction, 1 walking dead growth, 1 walking dead development, 1 walking dead maturity, 1 walking dead old age, 1 walking dead death, 1 walking dead decomposition, 1 walking dead dissolution, 1 walking dead disappearance, 1 walking dead nothingness, 1 walking dead void, 1 walking dead emptiness, 1 walking dead vacuum, 1 walking dead space, 1 walking dead time, 1 walking dead eternity, 1 walking dead infinity, 1 walking dead God, 1 walking dead universe, 1 walking dead everything, 1 walking dead nothing, 1 walking dead zero, 1 walking dead one, 1 walking dead two, 1 walking dead three, 1 walking dead four, 1 walking dead five, 1 walking dead six, 1 walking dead seven, 1 walking dead eight, 1 walking dead nine, 1 walking dead ten, 1 walking dead eleven, 1 walking dead twelve, 1 walking dead thirteen, 1 walking dead fourteen, 1 walking dead fifteen, 1 walking dead sixteen, 1 walking dead seventeen, 1 walking dead eighteen, 1 walking dead nineteen, 1 walking dead twenty, 1 walking dead twenty-one, 1 walking dead twenty-two, 1 walking dead twenty-three, 1 walking dead twenty-four, 1 walking dead twenty-five, 1 walking dead twenty-six, 1 walking dead twenty-seven, 1 walking dead twenty-eight, 1 walking dead twenty-nine, 1 walking dead thirty, 1 walking dead thirty-one, 1 walking dead thirty-two, 1 walking dead thirty-three, 1 walking dead thirty-four, 1 walking dead thirty-five, 1 walking dead thirty-six, 1 walking dead thirty-seven, 1 walking dead thirty-eight, 1 walking dead thirty-nine, 1 walking dead forty, 1 walking dead forty-one, 1 walking dead forty-two, 1 walking dead forty-three, 1 walking dead forty-four, 1 walking dead forty-five, 1 walking dead forty-six, 1 walking dead forty-seven, 1 walking dead forty-eight, 1 walking dead forty-nine, 1 walking dead fifty, 1 walking dead fifty-one, 1 walking dead fifty-two, 1 walking dead fifty-three, 1 walking dead fifty-four, 1 walking dead fifty-five, 1 walking dead fifty-six, 1 walking dead fifty-seven, 1 walking dead fifty-eight, 1 walking dead fifty-nine, 1 walking dead sixty, 1 walking dead sixty-one, 1 walking dead sixty-two, 1 walking dead sixty-three, 1 walking dead sixty-four, 1 walking dead sixty-five, 1 walking dead sixty-six, 1 walking dead sixty-seven, 1 walking dead sixty-eight, 1 walking dead sixty-nine, 1 walking dead seventy, 1 walking dead seventy-one, 1 walking dead seventy-two, 1 walking dead seventy-three, 1 walking dead seventy-four, 1 walking dead seventy-five, 1 walking dead seventy-six, 1 walking dead seventy-seven, 1 walking dead seventy-eight, 1 walking dead seventy-nine, 1 walking dead eighty, 1 walking dead eighty-one, 1 walking dead eighty-two, 1 walking dead eighty-three, 1 walking dead eighty-four, 1 walking dead eighty-five, 1 walking dead eighty-six, 1 walking dead eighty-seven, 1 walking dead eighty-eight, 1 walking dead eighty-nine, 1 walking dead ninety, 1 walking dead ninety-one, 1 walking dead ninety-two, 1 walking dead ninety-three, 1 walking dead ninety-four, 1 walking dead ninety-five, 1 walking dead ninety-six, 1 walking dead ninety-seven, 1 walking dead ninety-eight, 1 walking dead ninety-nine, 1 walking dead one hundred.

LOTS FOR SALE

6600 Sq. Ft. Land $45
Billerica, handy State Rd. and Concord line. Building restrictions. Easy terms. Call or write Owner, 1 Exchange Pl., Room 1222-W.

SHARON $295 CASH $5 PER MO. INCL. INT.
PHILIP ARONSON, 126 S Main St., Sharon

RENTALS

SUMMER GUESTS

SHORE HAVEN—OCEAN BLUFF—Week-end parties; $15 per week. Hostess: Madge Marshall, 55 or Laf. 9526. Mr. Carr.

SUMMER CAMPS, COTTAGES

Marshfield—Pure cottage porch; Ascutney Lower Lake Bay. $125. Mai. 6674-W. owner.

HOUSES FOR RENT

BROOKLINE—9-room house, all impts. Reduced rent. Longwood 0600.

DORCHESTER—19 Trull St., 8 rooms, hot water heating, garage. $50. Tel. Lib. 7355-W.

MEDFORD HILLSIDE—Singe 6-room house, garage. $35. Arl. 2177.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS

BACK BAY—Modern 1-2-3 rooms, $20 and up. Apply office 41 Arlington St.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS—200 Lake Ave. Cozy furnished kitchenette suite, $6. Ideal location; parking. Cen. 2379-J.

UNFURNISHED APARTMENTS

ALLSTON—Single, 2 rooms, all improvements, new everything, also 2 rooms and bath, unfurnished. B. H. Firth, 38 Jay St., Lal. 7002.

BEACON HILL—Apts. and studios, $23 and up; unfurnished. B. H. Firth, 38 Jay St., Lal. 7002.

BRIGHTON—Washington Sq., 161, one room and kitchenette, $5.50. Open Sunday. Revere Beach cars.

BRIGHTON—Strathmore Rd

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

Copyright, 1933, for the Boston Evening American

According to the National Education Association, with more leisure in prospect, Americans must learn to fill their spare time with "personal creative activity."

Personally, we've always found it easier to fill our wastebasket with personal creative activity.

Right at present, most people spend their spare time worrying about whether or not they're going to have more of it.

* * *

BUT EVERYTHING'S ALL RIGHT NOW!

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)

Dan H. Grant got a marriage license from Recorder Perry last month. Dan, like most other men, dreaded the publicity, within chastivari time, so he asked the recorder to hold it up a few days.

The recorder held it up and then forgot all about it.

When a week passed Dan began to look for a mention in the paper. But not a line.

So, Friday, Dan was in. "How'd it come that nothing was ever said about me getting married?" he asked. The recorder brought his hand down on the table. "By gum, Dan," he said, "I forgot all about it."

* * *

Services private
For Minnie Blake;
She put all her weight
On the emergency brake.

* * *

"But on the other hand," snaps Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "maybe the number of clinging vines has just declined because of the mortage of sturdy oaks."

* * *

ONE ON THE NOSE

(Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, associate director of public relations for the Motion Picture Distributors' Ass'n.)

"The overvexed picture is hateful to Hollywood and all the fault lies with the public for accepting this type of offering."

* * *

Another guy who makes me run and grab my hat
Inquires: "Pat what if everybody was like that?"

* * *

Simile—
Nonchalant as Joe E. Brown with a double-deck sandwich.

FIRST NOVEL

(A Budding Author Decides Not To Venture It.)

Now I am a would-be modernist,
And I'd write with a right good will;
And there isn't a word that I wouldn't use
In depicting humanity's swill.
I would write of the slums, and would write of the dives,
And go seeking my book's subject matter
In back streets and alleys, for low talk and sallies,
Mid odor and tumult and clatter.
I think there's good training minutely explaining
The words that on fences are writ,
And it's good for the sales whenever your tales
Insist that the reader lacks wit.
But though I have learned the right manner to say it,
And would tweak any censor's fat snout,
I've reached the conclusion I will not essay it;
There's nothing to write right about.

Suh Seed Rabinowits.

* * *

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Scintillating Aunt Bella—
What is the difference between romance and marriage?
Expectant.

It's romance when a gent wishes he knew a gal better. It's marriage when he wishes he had.
A. ("Nice Going") Bella.

* * *

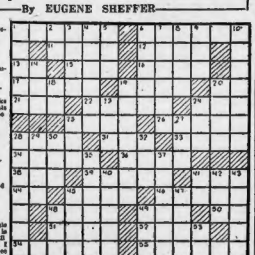
FAMOUS LAST WORDS.
You went into it with your eyes open, didn't you?

* * *

And that will be all.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

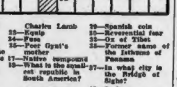
By EUGENE SHEFFER



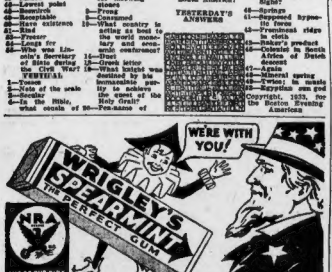
HORIZONTAL
1—Who is the present Postmaster General of the U. S.?
6—Old age
11—Comfort
12—Least whole number
13—European fish
15—Possessive pronoun
16—Hair on the necks of some animals
17—Births with the rich
18—Challenge
20—Scottish article
21—French coin
22—Sedative
24—Winged part
26—Exterior covering of certain seeds
28—What great sculptor executed the famous "Thinker"?
29—Tall Javanese tree
30—What English author said as his epitaph: "Life is a jest, and all things show it; I thought so once and now I know it"
32—Highway
34—Married again
36—Pagoda
38—Utilize
39—Rim from sizzling hot
41—Globe
42—Injure
44—Longest yoke
46—Receive
47—Inhospitable
48—Have existence
51—Kind
53—Freeze
54—Large tub
55—Who was Lincoln's Secretary of State during the Civil War?

VERTICAL
1—Nickname of the crab
2—Scatter
3—In the Bible, what cousin of Moses?
4—Mordecai saved her people?
5—Affirmative,
6—Who wrote "The Count of Monte Cristo"?
7—Animal eaten by throwing
8—Prong
9—Consumed
10—What country is acting as host to the world monetary and economic conference?
14—Tool
15—Greek letter
19—What land was destined by Isaiah to become a habitation for the queen of the Holy Grail?
20—Pen-name of Charles Lamb
23—Equip
24—Pass
25—Poor Gyat's mother
27—Native compound
31—What is the smallest republic in South America?
33—Spanish coin
35—Reverential fear
37—Ox of Tibet
38—Former name of the Isthmus of Panama
40—In what city is the Bridge of Sighs?
43—Springs
45—Supposed hypnotic force
48—Fragrant resin
49—Printed rights in cloth
50—Anker's product
52—Oriental in South Africa of Dutch descent
53—Again
54—Three spring months
56—Egyptian sun god

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS



Copyright, 1933, for the Boston Evening American



BARBARA HOLMES IS ON THE AIR.

Listen for her broadcast every Monday and Thursday morning at 10:30 over station WLOE, 1500K—200M. You'll learn just how the Free Rental Bureau, on the fourth floor of the R. H. White Co., is conducted. You'll go behind the scenes and find out for yourself how Barbara Holmes successfully aided so many people in finding just the right place to live.

• Let Barbara Holmes help you with your rental problems.

THIMBLE THEATRE, starring POPEYE

Now Showing—"Wimpy Stands Corrected"

I YAM GOYNER TAKE HIM HOME TO ME BOARDIN-HOUSE MOST OF A CERTAINTY
I'D LIKE VERY MUCH TO CARRY THE LITTLE FELLOW. WANT TO COME ALONG, WIMPY?
YES, HE REMINDS ME OF DAYS GONE BY.
YA LIKES HIM, DONT YA, WIMPY?
WHEN I WAS AN INFANT IN MY MOTHERS ARMS
OKAY, YA KIN CARRY HIM PART WAYS, BUT YA GOT TO BE MIGHTY CAREFUL AN' DON'T BREAK HIM - BABIES AINT TOUGH LIKE US ADULKS
ROCK-A BYE, BABY, UP IN THE TREE TOPS
AVAST, YA SLOB! THATS NUTHUR WAY TO CARRY A INFINK
YA LUNAKICK, YA MUST BE CRAZY
AN KEEP YER HOOKS OFF'N HIM TILL YA LEARNS SUMPIN' ABOUT BABIES

BRINGING UP FATHER (FOLLOW JIGGS AND MAGGIE IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER) — Dinty's at the Fair!

WHERE IS THAT HUSBAND OF MINE? I'LL BET HE IS WITH THAT HORRID DINTY MOORE AGAIN - HE SHOULD BE HELPING ME PACK THE TRUNKS -
DAUGHTER - CALL UP DINTY MOORE AND TELL HIM I WANT MY HUSBAND TO COME HOME INSTANTLY - JUST LET HIM KNOW I AM ANGRY -
ME ALWAYS KNOWS THAT MOTHER -
THANK GOODNESS - WELL SOON BE ON OUR WAY TO CHICAGO TO THE FAIR AND HE'LL BE AWAY FROM ALL HIS LOW-BROW FRIENDS -
EEK.
MOTHER, DEAR! DINTY MOORE IS AT THE BIG FAIR IN CHICAGO -

POLLY AND HER PALS (FOLLOW POLLY AND HER PALS IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER) — Never Cry Over Spilt Milk

TELL ME SOMETHIN' ABOUT "MILKIN," UNK. I NEVER MILKED IN MY LIFE!
THEY'S A RIGHT SIDE, AN' A WRONG SIDE!
WHICH IS CORRECT?
THEY'RE MOSTLY RIGHT SIDERS!
MOSTLY, HUH? S'POSE I TRY T'MILK HER ON THE RIGHT SIDE, AN' SHE TURNS OUT TO BE A "LEFTY"?
WAL, SON, IN THAT CASE -
-YOU SUTTINLY HAS MY SYMPATHY!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — Dress Rehearsal

PLEASE, COULD I WEAR MY SUNDAY CLOTHES TODAY?? I'LL BE AWFUL CAREFUL NOT TO TEAR 'EM - OR GET SPOTS ON 'EM - OR -
OF COURSE, HONEY - YOU MAY WEAR YOUR BEST CLOTHES - BUT WHAT'S THE BIG SECRET? - A PARTY?
ITS NOT A PARTY - BUT I GUESS ITS JUST AS GOOD
YOU KNOW SUELLINGTON AN' JIMILLINGTON AN' L ILLINGTON
YES, DEAR - YOU MEAN THE MARVO MIDGET FAMILY - THE LITTLE PEOPLE WITH THE LONG NAMES
YEAH - THAT'S THEM - THEY'RE ALL KINDA LITTLE, BUT THEY HAVE A GRANDMA AN GRANDPA - JUST LIKE BIG FOLKS - AN THEIR GRANDMA AN GRANDPA IS VISITING THEM - AN THAT'S WHY I WANNA WEAR MY SUNDAY CLOTHES!
DARRELL McCLURE

BARNEY GOOGLE (FOLLOW BARNEY GOOGLE'S ADVENTURES IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER) — A Battle of the Giants

WHO ARE YOU ?? WHAT DO YOU WANT ??
I'M YOUR FRIEND, MRS. FINNEGAN - I'M HERE TO HELP YOU - YOUR HUSBAND - THE VIPER - HE'S TRYING TO MAKE TROUBLE FOR YOU - AND LITTLE SAWBUCK - YES - LITTLE SAWBUCK - HE'S SAFE - DON'T LOOK AT ME LIKE THAT - PLOP
GOSH - SHE'S FAINTED !!! GET A DOCTOR QUICK - SHE'S -
OH, MY !!! WHAT WAS THAT - AN EXPLOSION !!?
MY, OH, MY !!! IT'S SULLY - AND THE VIPER - THEY'RE KILLING EACH OTHER -

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK (FOLLOW TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER) — Upon the Horizon

OBOY! COLD, FRESH CLEAR SPRING-WATER! I FEEL DRY ENOUGH TO DRINK IT ALL UP, JESS BY MYSELF!
INSTEAD OF FINDIN' 'EM FRENCH MILITARY ESCORT WAITIN FOR 'EM HERE AT TH' OASIS, TH' CARAVAN'S GOIN' TO WALK INTO A NICE TRAP. THAT'S READY TO SNAP AS SOON AS THEY ARRIVE
I WANT YOU ALL TO HIDE AND STAY HIDDEN IN THE PALM-GROVE AND AMONG THE ROCKS WHEN THE CARAVAN IS SIGHTED
DUMONT! THEY'RE COMIN'!

KRAZY KAT — Giving Nature a Hand

YOU, KATS, BYBS, ARE LIKE HEAD-LIGHTS
OH, SURE
A WISE PROVISION OF NATURE.
OH, SURE
HOW EVVA - WE PROVIDES OUR OWN TAIL LIGHTS
DRIP DRIP

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION BY MORE THAN 75,000

TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1933

Home Loan Bank Doubted

This Should Spur It to Best Work

The Boston Evening American receives a great many letters from its readers, and welcomes them.

These letters are, as a whole, both interesting and helpful.

They cover most every subject under the sun and, as you might expect, they reflect the thoughts that are uppermost in the minds of the people on the important news developments of the day.

The bulk of these letters expressed for a time the feelings of the public on the kidnaping of the Lindbergh child.

Then the bank failures elicited a storm of rebuke and indignation.

Next, "Why don't they prosecute the Federal National?"

Now the theme of these letters concentrates quite largely upon the Home Loan Bank and such prospect as it may hold for relief of the sadly-depressed home owners.

The following letter is quite typical and it is published for that reason:

"I have been reading the editorials in the Boston Evening American for the past twenty years and like them very much.

"You have printed recently your belief that the new Home Loan Bank should be a wonderful help for the poor man who is in danger of losing his home.

"I am surprised that you have not been informed differently, because the Home Loan Bill will not help the poor man at all; it is just another racket to give the rich a helping hand.

"If you doubt it, go down to any bank and tell them you have a $5000 mortgage on your home and that you want it financed by the Home Loan. They will tell you they are very sorry, but the government does not guarantee the principal of the bonds, only the interest, that they will not exchange your mortgage for you and you are just out of luck.

"I have $5000 sunk into a $10,000 house, and I realize that I am going to lose it. There are thousands of poor people just waiting for the Home Loan Bank to open, but what a sad awakening they will have.

"I would appreciate it, and I know that thousands of other home owners would also appreciate it, if you would check up the statements in this letter and write an editorial that will give us the facts in the entire matter."

One assumption is inescapable from the letter. It is that some of the private banks are misrepresenting the facts and the purposes of the Home Loan Bank, which ought to be ready for business soon if it is to justify the hopes of the people.

Anyway, the tone of this letter represents the temper of the people who are home-owners, burdened by mortgages and high taxes.

They feel that the Home Loan Bank is "just another of those things." They feel it is a sugar-coated promise to the people as a whole, all the sugar of which will be extracted by the rich and influential for their selfish ends and private gains.

The Home Loan Bank is on trial. It bears a burden of pessimism before it gets into actual operation.

Perhaps this fact will compel it to perform its best work; perhaps it will bend every energy to relieve the humble owners by just and sympathetic treatment of them in their distress.

If it does less than this, it will have to be regarded as just another failure.

Judge-Fixing New Racket

Hurley Favors Short Terms

State Auditor Francis X. Hurley declared in a thoughtful speech that the judges ought not to be appointed for life, but for definite terms, say of ten years, and they ought to be subject to recall by the people.

Before Mr. Hurley is denounced as "a radical," let us make note that the same recommendation has been made in the past by some of our most serious-minded statesmen, including Presidents Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Hurley, as a lawyer, knows that the reputation of the courts is not of the best.

Among lawyers and among laymen there is a common belief that jury-fixing is prevalent and that judge-fixing has become one of the new arts of pernicious racketeering.

In certain courts, the litigant is made to understand that unless he employs a certain ring of lawyers friendly with the Judge he cannot be sure of obtaining the even-handed justice to which he is entitled as a free and independent American citizen.

You can hear nasty tales of rings and cliques in several courthouses. so much so that a demand is now being made for the frequent transfer of the lower-court Judges from one court to another in order that the influence exerted upon them by the local courthouse gang through long acquaintance may be destroyed.

The feeling exists among many of our people that the judges will give the rich litigant any sort of a decision he desires while the average man is abused of his rights and penalized for his indiscretions as if he were a galley slave.

Mr. Hurley's suggestion may not be the one that will correct this evil condition. But it does show that thoughtful men are turning their thoughts to this subject and that some corrective measures must be adopted if the reputation of the courts is to be restored in public sentiment.

Spirit of New England

Gallant Thebaud Carries It to Chicago

Sailing majestically, the Gertrude L. Thebaud is carrying the compliments of Massachusetts to the World's Fair at Chicago.

In her is epitomized the daring spirit of adventure that has marked the history of the Bay State through the generations.

Our people fought the war for freedom. They built the first American Navy. Yankee clipper ships opened the ports of the world to American trade.

New England capital and New England engineering skill developed the transcontinental railroads. New England finances opened copper and other mineral resources of the West.

The Thebaud represents all these things as she rides the sea, her white sails unfurled to the breeze.

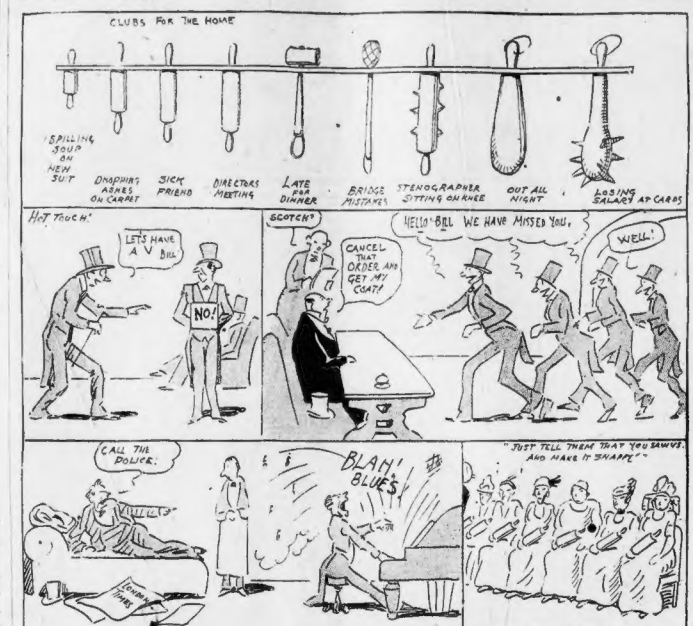
We think she represents the spirit of the present New England as well as the past.

Our people have borne the adversity of the past three years with indomitable patience. Our wealth and our trade exceed our comparative population and area. Our financial institutions, as a whole, weathered the storm more successfully than the other sections of the country. Because of our inherent strength, the country as a whole has looked upon us as in the strongest position to begin the forward march to better times.

Let us not fail. Let us go forward together. Let the Thebaud be the symbol of the present as well as the past, so that it may be said of us, "Massachusetts, there she stands."

Club Code

By T. E. Powers



O. O. McIntyre

New York Day by Day

Stage Entrances

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—It strikes me the best entrance of any actor into a performance was that of Charlie Chaplin in his film "City Lights." The opening scene showed the unveiling of a civic monument with crowds and a band. A beautiful girl pulled the string and there was the ragged Chaplin asleep in the statue's outflung arms.

O. O. McIntyre

A similar idea was unviously exploited, however, by McIntyre and Heath in a musical. Heath was tossing some hay with a pitchfork out of a livery stable mow and dropped his roustabout partner. Fred Stone had an amusing and acrobatic entrance in a play at the Globe.

He was suddenly shot high through a trapdoor of the stage, probably 10 feet in the air. When he landed covered with foam and with a foolish grin, he exclaimed: "I put in one raisin to many!" Nat Wills rolled out, a tatter of rags, when the grocer let down his morning awning.

Frank Daniels entering, jiggling his cockeyed eye-brows, was always good for a laugh. Leon Errol's gutta percha leg also fluted convulsions. Grock, the clown, had a double peep half-body out one side of the stage. And in a flash Grock bounded out the other side. A startling illusion.

* * *

The cut rate theater ticket monopoly which paid the late Joe Le Blang a half million a year for years is a memory. Cut rate ticket slips are handouts at restaurants, newsstands, speakeasies and store counters. Usually there is a small "service charge" at the box office. One movie house is giving away "passes" which for a dime admit bearer. Also several boot-blacks.

* * *

Ferdinand Pecora is one of the most enthusiastic members of the New York Elks, No. 1 and next in succession to the chair of Exalted Ruler. His leisure is spent at the club where he is a devotee of the game of "bearn."

* * *

Sam Rosoff, ex-newsboy whose voice still has an extra edition husk and who made a fortune building subways, is noted at the race tracks for his exuberance when one of his racing stable entries wins. He grips the person standing nearest with a violent bear hug.

* * *

Perhaps the staunchest tie between stage brothers is that linking Willie and Eugene Howard. Eugene is a capable enough straight man. But Willie is the fire-works—the whole show. Yet he will take no contract not including his brother and salaries are equal. Willie has been offered $500 more a week to go it alone. But refused.

* * *

Roy L. McCardell tells of a ball player in a Morning Glory League attending a hotly contested 11-inning tie game between Chicago and New York. He wired friends around the cracker barrel back home: "Best game I ever seen. Eleven endings. Nary one made nary one."

* * *

When an older generation of writers come to town—Meredith Nicholson, Harry Leon Wilson, Booth Tarkington and such, they usually dine one evening at the Brevoort in the shadow of Washington Square. It's a sentimental gesture toward what was once the center of a super-Bohemia. The "Brevoort," built in 1845, is New York's oldest hotel. It was built on the corner of a farm of Hendrick Brevoort, once Mayor of Dutch Haarlem, and was a favorite of King Edward when Prince of Wales.

* * *

The last time I dined at the Brevoort was with a group including Sinclair Lewis. Outside of literati, the clientele is largely French. A giddyap mademoiselle at next table was fluttering in broken Gallic. Like this: "We went to se 'T par le one raisin to many!" Nat Wills rolled out, a tatter of rags, when the grocer let down his morning awning.

Irvin Cobb finally figured it out. She was saying: "Et cetera, et cetera!"

Copyright, 1933, for the Boston Evening American

O. O. McIntyre's article is a feature every week of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

By Edgar A. Guest

Just Folks

Golfers

A golfer is a man who thinks
Exquisite is the putt which sinks,
And goeth home with heart elate
When drives of his were far and straight.

A golfer is a mortal mad
A mashie shot makes sad or glad,
Who counts that day well-spent when he
Scores the four one-shot holes in three.

Lions and dogs and cats reveal
Contentment when they've had a meal;
But golfers, to be happy men,
Must make a "birdie" now and then.

Dinner and dress and fame are not Enough to grace a golfer's lot.
Granted all these, he'll dismal look
If he should either slice or hook.

Golfers are people who will bear
Life's ordinary round of care
Without complaint, and whimper sadly
Because they play a game so badly.

(Copyright, 1933, Edgar A. Guest.)

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Living Dangerously

DOES IT PAY to live dangerously? A "Modern Girl" wants to know?

Elsie Robinson

She has heard a great deal about this notion of "living dangerously" — taking risks — defying conventions — "making a law for oneself." Naturally, this all sounds great to a youngster of twenty.

She's restless and excited, as youth has always been. But she is also reckless and self-confident to a degree which youth did not know in other days. For before her lies a world of chaos—a world of terrific speed and demoralized standards, in which, seemingly, one can go as far and as fast as one desires.

So, then—how far and how fast should she personally go?

As far and as fast as she wishes, regardless? Is that the way to "get the most out of life?" Is it true that those who have gotten the most out of life, the great leaders, have lived in that way?

Yes, it's true. The great leaders have always "lived dangerously."

But that is no proof that you should live dangerously—or that you would "get the most out of your life" if you did.

Not all of us can live dangerously. Most of us are equipped to live safely, simply, within the easy, quiet bonds of established conventions. We may chafe at that convention. We may feel that we are caged lions, rarin' to go into the wildest jungles of human adventuring—BUT WE'RE NOT. AND WE'D HAVE A HORRIBLE TIME IF WE TRIED.

Why are conventions?

BECAUSE MOST HUMANS WANT 'EM.

And why do most humans want em?

BECAUSE MOST HUMANS CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT THEM.

Man is still an imperfect animal; still unadjusted to the perils and complexities of human life. His glands are weak; his will power is wobbly. He has roaring dreams of a brave, free care to but rarely dare he put those dreams into practice. And if he tries to do so, he's speedily disgusted and discouraged.

For dangerous lives are never comfortable lives, or care-free, happy lives. They may, in time, achieve pride and power, but they do so at a ghastly cost of loneliness, discouragement, hardship and humiliation.

Mighty few of us can stand being alone-thinking alone—facing our responsibilities and taking our consequences alone. We THINK we can. We demand a chance. We spend a lot of time pitying ourselves because the chance doesn't come.

So back we come to that question which is agitating every red-blooded Modern—"Will it pay YOU to live dangerously?"

I don't know. No one can determine that but yourself. No one but yourself can decide what you can stand, or what you want out of life.

If you want peace, profit, pleasure, popularity then it's a cinch, you SHOULDN'T try to live dangerously. For none of these things in their accepted sense, accompanies a dangerous life.

But if you want to find Truth at any cost—if the little rewards leave you hungry, and the little safeguards make you mad, and nothing short of the Star Trail will suit your stride, then it's the dangerous life for you.

BUT DON'T WHINE IF YOU GET HURT AND LAUGHED AT—AS YOU CERTAINLY WILL.

Don't blame the other fellow for your difficulties, or insist that he adapt his life to yours to make things easier. He has as much right to live his own life as you have to live yours. And if his instinct for safety hampers your hunger for danger—that's just your bad luck, and you've no right to complain.

Which applies to your nearest and dearest, as well as to society at large.

IF YOU'RE FOUND TO LIV DANGEROUSLY YOU'LL HAVE TO DO IT ON YOUR OWN AND PAY YOUR OWN BILLS. IF YOU CAN'T DO THAT—DON'T START!

Copyright, 1933, for the Boston Evening American

Federal Police Needed

Crime Detection Methods Faulty

The first problem in the correction of any abuse is, of course, to state the problem.

In our fight, however, against racketeering and kidnaping we must do something more than expose conditions that everyone is already familiar with.

We must have a program for the remedy of those conditions.

When any form of crime thrives, notwithstanding the employment of all existing agencies to suppress and punish it, there is something wrong with the existing agencies of crime detection and punishment.

The spread of any given form of crime, despite society's efforts to check it, indicates a deficiency or inadequacy in the means which society employs or in the powers at its command.

The methods employed in this country for the detection of crime and the pursuit of criminals are woefully lacking in coordination and central direction.

State boundaries too often operate as barbed wire entanglements for the pursuing officers of the law, contributing to the success of criminal designs and too often protecting the criminal from discovery and arrest.

President Roosevelt's idea of organizing a country-wide police on the model of Scotland Yard is excellent. Such organization should probably include a larger Federal Secret Service.

But the Federal arm should be closely related to State and local police organizations, both of which are greatly in need of improvement.

Our methods of crime detection are faulty in the extreme.

The so-called detective bureaus are hardly more than a name.

They are merely a department of the ordinary police force, manned more or less by ordinary policemen with no special aptitude or training for the work of the detective.

We have neither an expert personnel for the intricate and intellectual task of detecting crime, nor any systematic and scientific method for its pursuit.

In a few of the States there is a State constabulary. Wherever such a State police force has been tried, it has proved efficient. This is notably true in Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. Such a force should be established in all the States. It lifts the pursuit of crime out of localized areas and gives it Statewide scope.

Finally, there should be genuine and effective co-ordination and co-operation in detective work between the Federal Secret Service, the constabulary of the various States and the city police. It should be possible to close every traveled route or avenue of quick exit from a State by a signal flashed to the State's boundaries before the fleeing criminal can reach them.

Other countries are far in advance of us in their methods of coping with crime. Consequently, other countries have infinitely less crime.

This country is the happy hunting ground of the kidnaper and the racketeer. Murder may be said to be established as a popular outdoor sport.

Not half of the murderers are detected, and not half of those detected ever pay the penalty for their crimes.

The condition is chaotic and needs scientific solution.

Human Side of the News

Secret of Man's Origin to Be Sought Again in Gobi Desert by Dr. Andrews

By Edwin C. Hill

Somewhere in the sand-swept hills of the great Gobi Desert in Central Asia lie hidden the bones of the first man, the first true human. And somewhere in the trackless Gobi, hidden for long centuries, lies the buried treasure of the Mongol conqueror, Genghis Khan. But Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, gogetter for the American Museum of Natural History, would gladly turn his back on the gold and jewels of the great Khan if he could find the trail to the ancient bones and the fascinating secrets they contain.

For years Dr. Andrews has been seeking the greatest prize of paleontology, convinced as he is that the secret of man's origin and kinship with other forms of animal life is to be found on the tableland which lies in the Aryan peoples. He is set to go again, and this fall, from a new headquarters in Manchuria, at Mukden, he will make a fresh start. He was forced to abandon his former headquarters, as he did so he gave the rapacious generals a piece of his mind, and anyone who knows Dr. Andrews knows that his language must have seared the ears of the greedy ones.

Upon the lecture platform in evening clothes and with his black-ribboned pince-nes, he is Dr. Andrews, as he unfolds, in the meticulous English of Nicholas Murray Butler, the ways and wherefores of dinosaurs and their eggs, and expatiates upon the dawn of humanity. But get him downright mad, as the Chinese officials finally succeeded in doing, he speaks the language of a Texas cowboy whom he greatly resembles when he is in the field. He is then attired in khaki, leather puttees and a six-gallon sombrero.

He is bound for Manchuria on his tenth expedition to the Gobi, which he believes is the cradle of humanity. The sand-whipped, arid, Arctic-cold or jungle-hot Gobi is a long jump from Beloit, Wisconsin, where Roy Andrews was born some 49 years ago, the son of a country doctor. Animal life fascinated him even as a youngster. At Columbia University he helped pay his way by mounting deer heads. And then, one day, he walked down to the great Museum of Natural History and applied for a job. He got into the office of the President, the late Henry Fairfield Osborn, whose lore of the antiquity of man and knowledge of paleontology had given him a worldwide celebrity.

Not much impressed by the country boy from Wisconsin, Dr. Osborn asked the lad what he was willing to do for seven dollars a week. The reply was all-inclusive: "Anything." So Roy Andrews went to work at odd jobs in the room and corridors of the vast museum, and presently he was building a whale from the skin of a leviathan stranded on the coast of Newfoundland, and from exact measurement taken by himself. He was so successful at whale-building that Dr. Osborn tried him out at other and more important tasks, and presently he was one of the staff.

That was the way he got the habit of bringing home the bacon and the eggs that went with it—the dinosaurs' eggs. For his first astounding find was a nest of eggs laid by the monsters that roamed the earth many millions of years ago, and that came to their end when the Gobi was young, before the human race had emerged from the slime of the sea. The recent stay he has made in New York, prolonged because of the war that is raging in Manchuria and North China, is the longest that he has made in any one place in 25 years.

Dr. Andrews has two sons who are being educated at Oxford. He has a casket full of decorations from governments, universities and scientific societies. His life has been one long, thrilling adventure, and he knows more good stories of far places and strange people than almost anybody who walks the good earth today. He likes polo, good talk and detective stories, and will lose himself in a crime thriller not really half so exciting as any one of 20 adventures he himself has had with Chinese bandits and arrogant Chinese generals, or fighting sand storms and wild tribesmen in the Mongolian deserts.

Some men spend their lives pursuing gold or fame, or riding the high horse of hobby, but Roy Chapman Andrews has given more than a quarter of a century to pursuing a scientific dream, a will-o'-the-wisp of humanity, the secret of man's origin. When he finds it, as he is certain that some day he will do, he will be able to tell us how closely related we are to the apes, if related at all; whether or no we are lived in trees in the dim and misty ages of a hundred million years ago; why we are like what we are like and do what we do as human beings, not as tailed or tailless monkeys and apes.

Daily Bible Text

"Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth and a foot out of joint."—Proverbs xxv, 19.

By Rev. Robert Walker, chaplain Concord Reformatory.

Next text by Rev. F. L. Valdina, Italian Baptist Church, Hyde Park.